MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS.

Within a few days after these lines get into print we shall be enjoying a new effort in Junior Philatelic Society enterprise—the Paper Making Exhibition. This is to be held in the ancient hall of Clifford's Inn, Fleet Street, and although the primary idea is to show stamp collectors the ins and outs of wove and laid, of dandy rolls and endless webs, watermarks and everything else pertaining to the papers used in the printing of stamps, the Exhibition will appeal to a wider section of the public than that composed of stamp collectors. I understand that the first watermark made in Great Britain will be one of the exhibits. It was made by the first paper-maker to set up business in this country, in the middle of the fifteenth century. The noted firm of Perkins, Bacon & Co. are showing paper

At the same time we are asked to state that Mr. Melville will be greatly obliged to any reader of MEKEEL'S who will lend him any interesting prints or photographs in any way connected with the posts and postage stamps of the United States from 1847 to date. A picture of the P. O. at Washington in 1847, proofs showing the building up of the stamp designs, and any photographs of the early or later production of the stamps, with portraits where possible of the chief individuals responsible for their production and issue. Mr. Melville's address is 14 Sudbourne Rd., Brixton, London, England.

A National Collection.—As readers remember, the death of J. W. Paul, Philadelphia, was regretfully recorded some weeks ago; and now the information is at hand that he has bequeathed his magnificent collection to the Drexel Institute of Philadelphia. It is needless to say that the Paul collection when housed in the celebrated institution will serve the purpose of a national collection and will be an object lesson of the depth and dignity of philately. We have not learned as yet of the provisions that have been made for the care and display of the collection but we feel certain that adequate notice has been taken of all of these details, by Mr. Paul.

TURKS ISLANDS

An IDEAL British Colony for the moderate and for the advanced specialist. A recent purchase of a FINE SPECIALIZED COLLECTION of these interesting stamps places my stock far above the average. Here I mention just a few of the gems, which please remember are all in the BEST POSSIBLE CONDITION:

1867 and 1873-9 issues, all in finest state, including two superb used copies of the ONE SHILLING LILAC watermarked small star. Other values in mint blocks.

N. B. These are among the finest stamps ever engraved by the famous Perkins Bacon house, and they are a SOUND INVESTMENT.

1881. "1/2" on 6d black (no wmk.), all types. "1/2" on 1s dull blue, superb including mint strip of three and pair.

"1/2" on 1d dull red, wmk. small star, TWO COMPLETE SETTINGS se tenant, also LARGE BLOCKS, and a complete reconstructed setting.

"1/2" on 1sh lilac DOUBLE SURCHARGE. Normal "1/2" on 1sh in ALL TYPES in pairs and strips with types se tenant.

2 1/2 on 6d black, no wmk., ten mint copies and one used. Also the two rare types.

2 1/2 on 1sh dull blue, no wmk., superb mint.

2 1/2 on 1d dull red, wmk. small star, both types mint, and strip of three mint.

2 1/2 on 1sh lilac (S. G. No. 28), three mint copies (S. G. No. 30) two mint and a mint pair. Also a partly reconstructed setting of all superb unused copies.

"4" on 6d, (no wmk.), varieties used and unused and some fine pairs. "4" on 1d unused and used, "4" on 1sh lilac unused.

1881. Wmk CC, perf. 14, 1d brown red, half sheet and fine blocks unused, and bisected provisionals used on piece. 1887. CA, 6d yellow brown, complete pane.

1893. 1/2 on 4d grey, fine range of mint singles and pairs.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We are in receipt of a neat little cloth bound catalogue, dealing with the "Adhesive Revenue, Telegraph and Railway Stamps Issued by the Japanese Government," from our advertiser, Mr. Jun Kobayagawa of Yokohama. It is printed in excellent English, and fully illustrated with all the types of the stamps treated. That this will "fill a long felt want" cannot be denied, for unless fiscal collectors can read Japanese, they are apt to have considerable difficulty with the attractive stamps that Japan uses to collect her revenues. These stamps have been listed before, to be sure, in a more or less accurate form, but the little book under review not only gives a correct classification but lists all known varieties of paper and perforation, subjects which have given much labor to those who collect Japanese postage stamps, and upon which the last word has probably not been said in either case.

The reviewer confesses that he has always had more or less of a regard for Japanese revenues, perhaps from his general interest in stamps of the Far East, even though he does not, as a rule, collect fiscals. But the attractiveness of the designs, and the quaint oriental character of some of them, cannot help appealing to the collector who studies his stamps for the pleasure he gets from them. Who would not take a second look at a stamp that bore a caution against counterfeiting on its edges? Or one that showed the sun, moon and stars, together with the signs of the zodiac as the Orient knows them—the rat, the bull, the tiger, the hare, etc.? Then there are the telegraph stamps, showing lightning flashes, batteries, insulators, wires, etc., and the railway parcel stamps of the horseshoe design, with the six Roman letters E at the top, looking quite out of place but showing that the Japanese understand our word "Express." Not the least interesting are the stamps taxing silk-worm eggs, with their representations of cocoons, moths and mulberry leaves.

An "explanatory guide" appropriately appears in which are given the Japanese characters representing the various taxes for which the stamps are used; the ancient and modern form of the numerals; tables of money and weight; and fac similes of the "mihon" characters, meaning "specimen," which are often found on various issues. The reviewer has here but one note of criticism: the list of characters representing the various duties—deed, legal document, calendar, etc.—are given in the ordinary printed or "book" character, whereas on the stamps they appear in general in the more ornamental "seal" character, which would give the novice a "Chinese puzzle" to match up with the former. The headings of the lists and the illustrations should obviate any difficulty on this score, however.

We commend this list to all fiscalists interested in the stamps of Japan. It may be had post free for 50 cents, U. S., from Mr. Jun Kobayagawa, P. O. Box 214, Yokohama, Japan.

Year Book of the U. S. Revenue Society.—We have received an advance copy of the second annual publication of this society and congratulate the secretary upon the substantial book placed before us for review. In addition to the meaty reports of convention officers and committees are features that will be greatly appreciated by the members such as "Paper Varieties of the First Private Issue of U. S. Revenues" by A. F. Henkels, "Dates of Issue of the Private Proprietaries of the Spanish-American War Period," "St. Louis Provisionals of 1898" by Chas. A. Nast, "Testimonial to E. B. Sterling" by C. A. Nast and "New York Stock Transfer Stamps" by W. S. Aldrich assisted by B. D. Forster.

The society has 135 members and is officered as follows: President, Clarence H. Eagle; vice pres., W. S. Aldrich; 2nd vice pres., A. G. Bishop, and sec.-treas., Chas. A. Nast. The Denver Stamp Journal is the official journal. Capable committees have charge of the society's routine work and every lover of U. S. revenues should become identified with this organization. The Managing Editor of the WEEKLY is charter member number one and will be pleased to send blank application and further information on application.

The year book before us consists of 40 large pages and the "foreword" of the committee gives indication that the third annual will produce even larger things for the edification and delight of the lover of U. S. revenues.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—H. L. Wheeler, the New England Stamp Co., John Akerman, Henry A. Mears, Louis G. Barrett and others have called our attention to curious variations in the new stamps, which in some cases are noticeable enough to warrant being catalogued as distinct varieties. It has been discovered that the stamps sold in books have the oval containing the portrait much wider and shorter than it is on the stamps sold in sheets. This is particularly noticeable in the case of the 1c stamp, but the 2c also shows the variation in a marked degree. This is especially true in the case of a pair of stamps submitted by Mr. Mears. He says he purchased the stamp booklet in Boston, and the other came from the New York office, the last having plate numbers 4819 and 4821. The variation appears to be due to a stretching of the paper in the wetting and drying incidental to the printing. All the stamps seen have this extension in the direction of the watermark, and as the booklets have the watermark sideways, the portrait is stretched sideways, while the sheets have it stretched in the opposite direction.

S. E. Young, M. D., reports having seen plate number 4807, 4809, 4810 and 4811 on the new 2c and 4885 and 4886 on the new 1c stamps. Dr. Young also reports having found a pair part perforate in a 2c stamp book, though he omits to give us the particulars. All the stamps are part perforate in the stamp books, so that full particulars are necessary to establish such a variety. Dr. Young has also found one stamp in a similar book, with the "C" of "Cent" without any serif, all the others having the "C" complete.

F. H. Webster sends us an envelope, one of the current 2c on white, with a small colorless dash under the left "2". He reports having found 25 or more with this variety.

The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new 5c blue stamp, which has been issued in sheets.

Latest.—Just as we go to press Mr. Carpenter of the New England Stamp Co. very kindly shows us the new 3c and 4c in fine shades of purple and brown respectively. Both with numerals, the set as issued includes the 1 and 2c without figures of value and the 3, 4, 5 and 8c with figures. There is also the special delivery.

Adhesives.

3c purple.
4c brown.

Dr. A. R. Butler gives us an official item in connection with the new issue as follows: Other denominations will be ready for issue on or about the following dates:

6c orange,	Dec. 30, 1908
10c yellow,	Jan. 5, 1909
13c sea green,	Jan. 9, 1909
15c light blue,	Jan. 13, 1909
50c lavender,	Jan. 9, 1909
$1 pink,	Jan. 9, 1909

Also an item in connection with "Stamps in Rolls":

"The Department is now prepared to issue limited quantities of postage stamps in rolls of 500 or 1000 for use in stamp-vending and stamp-affixing machines. The stamps will be coiled on paper cores 1/2 inch in diameter. To secure stamps in this form postmasters will make requisition, and attach to it a letter stating:

1. Whether the stamps are desired for use in a stamp-vending or stamp-affixing machine.
2. Whether the stamps are desired in coils of 500 or 1000 stamps each.
3. Whether the strips should be arranged with the stamps endwise or sidewise.

4. Whether the blank margin between the stamps should be perforated or unperforated.

ABYSSINIA.—Postal matters in this country seem to be in a very unsettled condition, judging from recent reports printed in our foreign contemporaries. Ewen's Weekly says that a supply of stamps was ordered from France to comply with the requirements of the Postal Union, into which Abyssinia entered Nov. 1, 1908. The new stamps were to have the value inscribed in Arabic figures, but unfortunately the new stamps did not arrive in time, so that further surcharging had to be resorted to to supply the deficiency. These latest surcharges are in two lines, the figures of value being in Arabic and printed above the word "piastre" which is in Roman letters. Up to the date of the issue of these surcharged stamps, Nov. 10, all kinds of combinations of surcharged and unsurcharged stamps were to be met with on correspondence from that country. Of the surcharged values given below, 100,000 of each value were over-printed, all surcharges being in black.

Provisional Adhesives.

1/2 piastre on 1/2 green.
1/2 piastre on 1/2 red.
1 piastre on 1 1/2 blue.
2 piastres on 2 1/2 brown.
4 piastres on 4 1/2 claret.
8 piastres on 8 1/2 lilac.
16 piastres on 16 1/2 black.

BAHAMAS.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly reports that the 1d "Queen's Staircase" stamp is now being issued with the centre in gray black, the frame being in bright rose. The paper is also thinner than heretofore.

BOLIVIA.—Gibbons' Weekly reports that the 50c of 1867,—Scott gives the date as 1869,—has been reissued in a new color. This is the design with nine stars. A similar resurrection is announced as likely to be made in the case of the 1 bolivar stamp of the same issue. Gibbons says the 50c has every appearance of having been printed from the original plate.

Adhesive.

50c vermilion.

CAMEROONS.—Mr. Schachne shows us the 5pf green cards with a single headline "Postkarte" at upper left and the address lines nearer together. The same card has been issued for German Southwest Africa.

CHILE.—The 30c value of the current set, though chronicled months ago, and in fact being listed in the 1908 Scott's Catalogue, was not actually issued until this fall, the New England Stamp Co. showing us a specimen, the colors being the same as those noted in the Catalogue.

CHINA.—One of the necessary consequences of the entrance of China into the Postal Union is the reissue of her nearest equivalent to stamps of 5, 10 and 25 centimes in the regulation U. P. U. colors. The Postage Stamp notes that the 2c has already appeared in green, while the Monthly Circular chronicles the 10c in a new color. The 4c will presumably appear at once in red.

Adhesives.

2c green.
10c blue.

CRETE.—L'Echo gives the following as the quantities of stamps surcharged "Ellas": Regular postage stamps—1 lepton, 150,000; 2 lepta, 100,000; 5 lepta, 150,000; 10 lepta, Prince George; 10 lepta, Hermes, 100,000; 20 lepta, 50,000; 25 lepta, 100,000; 50 lepta, 50,000; 1

Postage Due stamps—1 lepton, 50,000; 5 lepta, 20,000; 10 lepta, 20,000; 20 lepta, 20,000; 40 lepta, 1000; 50 lepta, 2000; 1 drachme, 2000; 2 drachmai, 2000. Probably the stamp referred to is the 1 lepton regular postage of 1900, but there was no 1 lepton value in the list of surcharged stamps as originally published.

FRANCE.—Mr. Schachne shows us the 10x10c card in red. This is the mate to the latest single card red.

GERMAN NEW GUINEA.—Mr. Schachne shows us the 10x10pf card without border and the four headlines at upper left corner.

GERMANY.—Mr. Schachne sends us some new double cards, a letter card and a pneumatic card. All these have the large diamond shaped watermark. This is the only change in the pneumatic card and the letter card and is the first to show a watermark of any kind on these articles. The doubles now have a single headline opposite the stamp on the 5pf and two headlines on the 10pf, thus doing away with all printing at the left of the address lines and leaving a blank space of 45 mm. supposedly to allow the public an opportunity to write there. The address lines are about 33 mm. apart.

Post Cards.

GREENLAND.—According to Der Deutsche Philatelist, three new stamps have been issued for this Colony by the Danish Government. The stamps are said to be parcel stamps and to be issued by the Danish Government authorities, but the low face value of the stamps seems to be against this explanation. "Pakke-Post" means parcel post, it is true, but "pakke" alone has the significance of packet as well as parcel, and packet is a word that is often used in that country as a general name for everything sent through the post. In Greenland "Pakke-Post" may possibly have a wider meaning than in Denmark. NETHERLANDS.—The set of cards with rosette mentioned in No. 932 now includes the 5x5c. Mr. Schachne has them.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not claim this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, post free. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke sends us another provisional from this country, which comes at a time when it might naturally be expected that the first specimens of the new issue which the Republic is said to intend to "put on the stamp market" would be forthcoming. The 2c orange revenue stamp, already so familiar on account of its use for the two sets of official stamps, having now been surcharged with "Correos—1908—Vale 10c" in two lines, in green. For a wonder the "C" is normal and has only one cross line, instead of the two lines so long familiar in the inverted character, which the Nicaraguan printers have so stubbornly adhered to for almost three years. Mr. Focke also sends a copy of the 1c American print with double surcharge of "Vale 15c", one reading down and the other reading up. Mr. Focke suggests that this "shows that the postal authorities are always ready to give a little extra pleasure to the collectors of its numerous provisionals."

PARAGUAY.—Ewen's Weekly gives a list of the surcharged stamps, on the authority of a correspondent in Buenos Ayres, which is so much superior to that printed in No. 938 that we reproduce it here. The dates given are those of the issue of the unsurcharged stamps according to Senf's 1907 catalogue. There are 33 varieties of these surcharges as follows:

On postage stamps, 1900, 5c on 28c orange and 40c blue; on 1905-07, 5c on 2c vermilion, 2c olive, 2c pink, 1c green, 60c dark brown, 60c orange brown, 60c light red and 20c on 30c mauve; on official stamps, 1892, 5c on 15c orange, and 50c gray; on 1903, 5c on 60c purple; on 1904-06, 5c on 10c bright green, 10c dark purple, 10c lilac, 10c bistre, 20c light red, 20c bistre, 20c dark purple, 20c bright green, 30c light gray, 30c blue, 30c blue green, 30c yellow, 60c orange brown, 60c dark blue, 60c dark brown, 60c dull salmon; surcharged "Habilitado" on official stamps, 1904-06, on 5c dark blue, 5c grayish blue, 5c grayish blue, 5c greenish blue and 1p orange brown and black.

BAMFORD, DIDSURY, ENG., Dec. 11, '08.
Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

I see in your paper of Nov. 28 a few stray notes by Harry E. Huber, in which the writer refers to an article on the "Postal Methods and Means During the American Civil War, 1861-5," published in Gibbons Stamp Weekly, and compiled by myself. I cannot agree with Mr. Huber in that "... I can find little more than what we learned in our school histories", in as much as with the exception of the reference to the Clemens paragraph, none of the matter had been previously published. Doubtless, Mr. Huber's criticism is well accounted for in the closing remark: "... and I shall look forward with much interest to the time when an American written article on this subject appears." So shall I, for unlike many people I never claim to be the ideal, or be the possessor of all the knowledge in the world, and I don't doubt that the desired article will surpass mine, as you have material within your reach that I had not. In the above remark of Mr. Huber's, I have italicized the word "American." Perhaps Mr. Huber imagines that there can be no born Americans outside the States, or even resident in Europe?

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23, 1908.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

In this week's MEKEEL'S (Dec. 19 issue) I notice six distinct and separate notices as to U. S. proofs. This is a splendid indication as to the awakening of interest in this direction. Keep at it on proofs and stir 'em up, as every collector of U. S. postage should fill out on U. S. proofs.

It might be interesting to note that when I started the U. S. Revenue Society the collecting and study of proofs, essays, etc., of all United States emissions, whether postage or revenue, was one of my chief ideas and it has worked splendidly, as a number of us are strong in this direction. I have started a half dozen friends this year. Your paper is to be congratulated upon this very remarkable showing.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Monthly, Stanley Gibbons' Stamp Weekly, Stamp Collectors Monthly, Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, Redfield's Stamp Weekly, Scott Stamp & Coin Company's Monthly Circular and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS.

The Recruiting Committee submitted a comprehensive report of its work to date and stated that it had commenced by sending a circular of invitation to join the Society to the philatelists of New England and Nova Scotia.

Resignations of the following members were read and accepted: Nos. 394 and 437.

Applications for membership were received from: H. O. Houghton, Hopedale, Mass., proposed by James C. Woolley; Otto Haker (age 18), Cambridge, Mass., proposed by R. Williams.

Edward M. Bates, Roslindale, Mass., was elected to membership.

Article III, Sec. 6, of the Statutes was amended by adding the words "International Secretary" between the words "Secretary" and "and".

Article IX of the Statutes was amended by striking out Section 1 entire.

Messrs. Howes and Sawyer were appointed a committee to audit the Treasurer's books and accounts.

It was voted that the February entertainment take the form of a subscription banquet at some hotel, to be followed by an entertainment as provided by the Entertainment Committee.

The death was announced of F. P. Richardson, one of the charter members of the Society.

The Chair read a letter from the Secretary stating that on account of ill health and business matters, he would be unable to serve for another year.

The following nominations of officers for 1909 were made: Pres., L. L. Green; Vice Pres., C. K. B. Nevin; Sec., C. A. Howes; Treas., James B. B. Smith; Int. Sec., J. M. Bartels; Supt. Auctions and Sales, J. H. Lyons; Supt. Stamp Bourse, I. W. Risdon; Gov. Board, R. F. Burns, E. F. Sawyer, John Ingraham, C. H. Fowle, A. W. Dunning, J. E. Dennett; Lib. Com., C. K. B. Nevin, C. A. Howes.

The evening's entertainment consisted of a lantern slide lecture prepared by James Abbott of Chicago, and which was read by Messrs. Howes and Wylie. This entertainment was furnished through the kindness of the Chicago Philatelic Society, and a vote of thanks to that Society was passed, in recognition of the pleasure afforded by this highly instructive and interesting entertainment.

APPLICATIONS.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

Theodore CHAMPION & Co.

The Year Books have been mailed nearly two weeks now and if you have not received a copy it probably means that your dues have not been paid for this year. Stop and think for a minute, then act. Send in that $1.20 and the book is yours. You can't afford to miss the best thing the Society has done in years, and "we have just begun to fight". Conservatism has been relegated to the tall uncut, and henceforth our motto is "Progress and Production". Better stay with the ship and come in for your share of the good things that the future seems to hold for us. Need more be said?

Some time ago the Secretary made an urgent appeal to the members to send in their correct address in order that the official list might be as nearly correct as possible. But very few have responded. Whose fault is it that you don't receive your Year Book promptly, the Secretary's because he has the wrong address, or your own because you have neglected to notify him properly?

Just notice the splendid list of applications this week. Why not go to that friend of yours that collects but who does not belong? Show him the Year Book and tell him that our prospects never were so bright, that he ought to be a member for no other reason than a sense of national pride in the Society that is doing most for Philately in the U. S. Tell him about MEKEEL'S, etc. You will get him and be surprised how easy it is, and every time they come easier. Try it!

Cheer up. 1909. One a day.
H. S. ADAIR, Sec.

NOTE THE NEW COMMITTEE!

This week we have a new "Roll of Honor" and it shows in a very tangible form who have done the work of recruiting and who are entitled to the credit.

The best work of the month has been done by Harry L. Perkins of Hartford, Ct., and larger things may be expected from him.

Note the fine list of applications. Yours is not there? Well, remit $1.00 for stock and 70c for dues to Aug. 1909 (with age, occupation and commercial reference) and we will look after you.

You want the year book, also hand-book number one, to say nothing of MEKEEL'S. And these are but a few of the benefits. Send for booklet.

PAYS A WARM TRIBUTE TO

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS.

MEKEEL-SEVERN-WYLIE CO.,
Gentlemen:—Allow me to congratulate you upon the instructive paper you are issuing and to say that the advertisements which are placed before your readers contain items of interest to collectors of many years standing. Regardless of the fact that I have been collecting stamps for over thirty years (and as you probably know, my collection is very large and varied), I have been able to find 16 items of particular interest to me, in the advertisements in your special Christmas issue, which has so appealed to me that I have written letters of inquiry concerning the subjects covered in the advertisements. Kindly see that a duplicate copy of the WEEKLY is sent me for 1909, and I enclose price of subscription.

THE "DR. K. & CO. I. R." SURCHARGES.

By FRANKLIN S. SMITH.

(This article will be reprinted uniform with our previous attempts in this direction and supplied at 5c each, mailed in a pasteboard tube. These reprints are made so that they may be inserted in the leading blank albums. Valuable for reference if kept in a binder which we can supply at 80c each, which just pays cost of manufacture and postage.—Ed.)

Since the list made by Mr. J. W. George, and published by him in the American Journal of Philately for December 1901, a number of varieties have been found. As the distinction between the Celtic and Gothic numerals is not made clear, nor well understood, the following may be of interest and service to collectors of these stamps.

His list gives a history of Dr. Kilmer's efforts to comply with the law and at the same time continue business, a description of the three types with their varieties, and a list of the principal varieties known. It will be necessary to repeat in part a general description, and correct a serious error in Type II.

Taken as a whole there are three classes or "types." First, those surcharged with a large "I. R."; second, with the "I. R." smaller and the title "Dr. K. & Co." in light-faced type called Celtic; and third, with same type used for "I. R." but the "Dr. K. & Co." in heavy-faced square type called Gothic. Under each type there are varieties of dates, and sub-varieties due to the figures of several fonts being mixed, as well as inverts, double surcharge, etc.

The distinction between the Celtic and Gothic numerals is confused in the Am. Jour. of Phil. list, particularly the "7-11-98" and "7-12-98" of Type II. The Celtic "1" is light-bodied, and has a "serif" at the top, and a "foot" at the base; (similar to the ordinary type-writer "1") the Gothic "1" has a pointed top, no serif nor base, and is slightly heavier than the Celtic "1". There is also a heavier Gothic "1" used, of the same general description. The printer in setting up enough groups of type to cover the sheet, evidently used all the Celtic he had, and then drew from a font of Gothic. It is also possible that the two fonts in the "1" box were mixed, and passed unnoticed.

The inverted surcharges are found only on the 3c value, and on every date excepting "7-9-98" where a set contained a 3c value. Whether this was done purposely for a "key" or some other reason would be interesting to know. The proprietors can give no information.

There is a group of surcharges with a short "7". The 1c, 2c and 3c of Type II, 7-7-98 have the first 7 Celtic with a broken stem, the second 7 Gothic, and all the hyphens are light. This fact shows, as might be expected that the same form was used on all the values of a given date.

The Type III Gothic "K" with a short arm seems worthy of place in a complete list. This letter is imperfect, and the upper part of the arm is rounded. If the same form has been used on all the values of a given date, this variety should be carefully looked for.

It is hardly worth while to list the minute variations due to imperfect impressions in printing. For example the "period" after "11" in Type II, 7-11-98 is merely a broken hyphen, or what is likely a speck of dirt got on the hyphen and was brushed off the stamp after printing. The "double surcharge" of Type II 7-11-98, var. B is merely an instance where the sheet of stamps accidentally struck the inked form before receiving the intended impression. If the paper had been ordinary white paper it would not have been delivered, but the stamps were too valuable to destroy.

The letters after each variety in the list refer to specimens either in the collection of Mr. C. H. Eagle, the list of Mr. J. W. George in the Am. Jour. of Phil., or the collection of the writer, Franklin S. Smith, 470 Washington St., N. Y. City.

I should be very glad to hear from all collectors who have varieties not listed, so that an addendum can be published at a future date in MEKEEL'S.

FOR A DOLLAR A YEAR

you will be able to build up a COMPACT, CONCISE, UP-TO-DATE LIBRARY OF BEAUTIFUL, WELL WRITTEN and SUPERBLY ILLUSTRATED BOOKS which will gradually extend over all subjects of interest to the philatelic student. Just send that dollar bill along, and be in at the beginning of this GREAT ENTERPRISE of

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

That dollar bill will be the BEST INVESTMENT EVER! So delay not a moment in sending it to

The accuracy of the Am. Jour. of Phil. list has been taken for granted, but the rest have been seen and carefully studied by the writer.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

TRANSLATED FROM THE FOREIGN PRESS.

By WM. VOIGT.

Hancian and U. S. Envelopes.—Mr. Hancian, the celebrated philatelic author, writes as follows to a German philatelic journal: "I have been busy with a work about the envelopes of the U. S. The work is well advanced, the skeleton of it is ready, but, indeed, I have been perspiring blood and water in order to get so far. I have been crying in anger and almost madness, because I could not find my way. I supposed at first the issues of 1861 and 1864 were in conformity and found 100 varieties of the 3c. Of course I was on the wrong trail and left it. Then I measured the stamps—but no success whatever. I finally took up the types of the head, without taking anything else into consideration and found 40 different types." From the letter anyone can imagine what labor and time it takes to produce a scientific philatelic work. Mr. Hancian is well known for his thorough researches in philatelic matters, some of the best works in this line are from his pen.

Stamp Statistics.—The French philatelic journal Le Timbre Poste contains an article by Rene Adam, in which a statistic is given of all stamps issued during the year 1907, without taking into account different perforations, watermarks and minor varieties:

There have been issued Europe, 158; Asia, 187; Africa, 288; America, 198; Australia and Polynesia, 58; Total, 889. The countries issuing those stamps are as follows:—France, 281; England, 165; Germany, none; Portugal, 13; Spain, 68; U. S., 11; Holland, 31; Russia, 2; Italy and San Marino, 36; Austria, 4; Denmark (Iceland), 36; Luxembourg, 19; Montenegro, 17; Brazil, 36; Paraguay, 18; Salvador, 23; Diff. States, 139; Total, 889.

Since 1840 up to the end of 1907 there have been issued 20,010 different stamps (not taking into account diff. perforations, watermarks, provisionals and minor varieties) by 310 stamp-issuing countries. Since then 67 of these countries have ceased to issue stamps either because political happenings ended their existence or several of them have amalgamated into one larger state. There exist at present 241 stamp-issuing countries. England stands at the head of stamp-issuing. Herself and colonies produced about 42% of all stamps, France about 12%, Germany 9% and Portugal 6½%.

Since 1898 to the end of 1907 there have been issued in England, 1887; France, 1222; Germany, 322; Portugal, 846; Spain, 424; U. S., 168; Holland, 126; Russia, 48; Diff. states, 2969; Total, 8012.

The several continents and islands adjacent in the same period issued the number of stamps as follows: Europe, 1220; Asia, 1452; Africa, 2336; America, 2259; Australia, 735; Total, 8012.

REPRINTS OF SPECIAL ARTICLES.

3 STAMPS FOR NEARLY $9,000.00

Is a record for the sale of three rarities in less than a year, that few firms can equal. This is our record, but we are specialists in goods of this character, and can place them. We have also made numerous sales of stamps worth from $100 to $500 each. If you wish to buy or sell rare stamps, do not fail to communicate with us. We have in stock at present many stamps worth from $100 to $1000 each, and invite correspondence.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Once more the Standard Catalogue is with us—just in time to be a Christmas present. The sixty-eighth edition for 1909 appears in familiar form in a "bistre" cover, which may help out some enquiring amateur who runs across this old fashioned color term, now kept alive mainly by stamp collectors. Within its confines the first thing we note is an apparent improvement in the quality of paper used, which takes the illustrations better, bringing them out more sharply and clearly. The next change we find is the disappearance of the long list of United States locals, which formerly occupied over 22 pages, and of the list of Chinese locals (excluding Shanghai, naturally), an improvement which we heartily commend, though we would suggest that the Formosa locals be added. Lest some one may feel aggrieved, however, we hasten to say that the expunged lists are published together in pamphlet form at a price of 10 cents, or are sent free to purchasers of the catalogue who fill out an order blank to be found therein.

The usual "Hints for Collectors," and tables of technical terms, colonies, money, etc., precede the catalogue proper, but our attention is halted by some "terra cotta" leaves bearing the heading IMPORTANT! and here let us dwell a moment. The first note is on the "Condition of Stamps," and states that the catalogue prices on rare stamps (evidently meaning those quoted at $1.00 and above) are for FINE copies, with all that implies to the fastidious collector. On these there is to be no discount. Average copies, however, may still be obtained at the usual reductions. No doubt this is a good move, for we opine that if this rule is strictly adhered to it will have the effect of stiffening prices on really good stuff, and will make the catalogue more truly reflect market prices than it does at present, in many cases. Where everyone expects at least some "discount from catalogue," no matter what the goods or their condition, it is plainly evident that the varying prices resulting deprive the catalogue quotations of much of their worth. If they can be held and made truly standard for certain accepted conditions, they will accomplish something for the placing of Philately on a firmer financial basis.

Attention is called to skilfully repaired stamps at present in the market, and the fact noted that all such sold by the Scott Co. are plainly marked on the back.

Speculative provisionals come in for heavy criticism, and the publishers announce their policy of excluding this class of stamps which they "do not believe to have been actually sold to the public for postal use." They instance certain stamps of the recent issues for Italian Levant offices as examples. Amen! say we. But why not include all stamps not sold to the public for postal use? We recall offhand Great Britain 8d brown lilac, Ceylon 1s 9d perforated, and Spain 12c of 1857-9. These are not postage stamps within the meaning of the term, for though prepared they were never issued. This fact is mentioned in the catalogue for the latter two, but not for the first.

"Control marks and Hand Stamps" are dealt a blow which the specialist may regret but the much more numerous amateur rejoice in. Their multitudinous varieties in the cases of Mexico and Ecuador are best relegated to the handbooks of specialists, and we think one or two more countries could be operated on with success. The pruning of the lists where hand-stamped surcharges appear, in various colors or shades from any pad at hand, or a careless mixture of several, as well as inverted, diagonal and multiple impressions which can be manufactured at will, is a distinct gain for common sense collecting.

"Chalky" paper varieties of British Colonials are still listed on sufferance, and the publishers express the opinion that the distinction may be omitted at some future time. As it is now the "chalky" variety is only differentiated in unused form, as it is often too difficult to detect after use and especially after soaking.

The same arrangement of the catalogue that has proved so satisfactory is still adhered to—the listing of all main varieties under full catalogue number with minor varieties sub-lettered. An increase is also seen in the number of explanatory notes throughout the lists, by which so much information of great help to the collector is placed right where it is most needful and handy. Concerning prices we feel hardly qualified to criticize; did we begin a comparison with last year's catalogue we should require more space than we can spare. And, after all, is it not fairer to the publishers to let each buy his own copy and look up his favorite country for this information, as that is the main object in issuing the catalogue? We note many changes and substantial increases in popular countries, by the way, which no doubt are well justified. On the whole, our "Standard Catalogue" is keeping well up with the times.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL STAMPS.

(Howard J. Eckweiler favors us with a Washington despatch containing some very interesting news for philatelists. The proposition is endorsed editorially by no less a paper than the Newark Evening News, H. E. Deats submitting a copy of the editorial but which we do not deem of sufficient importance to quote.—Ed.)

WASHINGTON, Dec 29.—A new plan for commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lincoln will be presented to Congress after the holiday recess by Representative Dawson of Iowa. He will introduce a joint resolution for a series of postage stamps bearing Lincoln's likeness and portraying scenes typical of Lincoln's career. Mr. Dawson considers that more people can be reached in this fashion than any other.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MAJOR COSBY.

Press despatches announce the promotion of Major Spencer Cosby to be engineer commissioner of the D. of C. and his friends are congratulating him upon the honor conferred. Chas. R. Morris, writing us in relation to the matter, says:—"You and your readers are well aware that the city of Washington is not governed by a mayor and local elective boards, but by a commission of three appointed by the president, two civilians to be of opposite political faiths and an army officer to be selected from the engineer corps. Major Cosby, who is a member of the A. P. S. and an ardent collector of stamps of countries bordering on the Mediterranean, has just been appointed by the President to this responsible position."

No doubt our readers would like to know a little more about Maj. Cosby and we annex the following from the clipping sent by Mr. Morris:—

Maj. Cosby is familiar with conditions in the District not only because of his detail here for several years past, but through early training received in the local schools and colleges. He was born in Maryland, October 2, 1867, and is the son of Pay Director Cosby of the Navy, who was for many years a resident of this city. The son at

PROSPERITY IN THE AIR.

We do not need to call attention to the advt. of Frank P. Brown. It speaks for itself. The same is true of the announcement of the Scott Stamp and Coin Co.—both advertisements will be widely read.

On our first page will be found a letter from Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey that every advertiser should read. Such a splendid endorsement is one that we may well be proud of.

In the same mail we received a subscription from the N. E. News Co. for A. W. Lawshe, 3rd Asst. P. M. Gen'l. Truly the WEEKLY is the "king of stamp papers and the stamp paper of kings."

It is just the right time to let us hear from you in connection with the Lincoln number we shall issue Jan. 30. What are your plans? An early word as to reservation of space gives you the desired position.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Means Well—The Associated Press has circulated a despatch to the effect that Congressman Dawson of Iowa is favoring a plan whereby the public may assist in the celebration of the forthcoming Lincoln anniversary exercises. Mr. Dawson proposes to persuade the government to order an issue of a special set of postage stamps "which shall be commemorative of the great war president." Congressman Dawson intends to introduce a joint resolution to legalize his object when congress re-assembles. It is needless to say perhaps that the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln will be almost generally celebrated throughout the country with circumstances of solemnity and laudation at the time of Lincoln's natal-day next February. This news in a way is coincidental with that of Senator Ackerman's effort to retain the portrait of Lincoln on the five-cent value of the new set; and the newspaper announcement will attract the attention of stamp collectors in particular.

Pretending—Just what actual result will follow this proposal of the Iowa law-maker is somewhat problematical but if serious consideration is to be given to the report, we say that philatelists will hear with mixed feelings of the possibility of a new commemorative set of stamps. There are many who will say that there cannot be too frequent issue of attractive stamps and that, instead of being prejudicial, they are helpful and have a tonic effect on the pursuit, but to oppose this opinion is the axiomatic condition that novelty has been worn away by the constant repetition of the issue and that the stimulants are followed by a reaction that relinquishes what has been gained. To commoditize the idea of commemorative issues means a slackened interest in each new series that is put forth. We say that the immediate good that a Lincoln commemorative issue would do philately would be balanced by the harmful suggestions of such a set in a philatelic sense. Even the most liberal of collectors feel that there is a certain standard of philatelic purity to be demanded of all stamp issues latterly and they do not countenance the loosening of the lines on any pretext, except that it be of the most plausible kind.

Needless—If a new commemorative set is to be issued on every momentous occasion there will be an avalanche of stamps that must inevitably become cheapened in the estimation of collectors, who, in addition, will not have that feeling of security that is conducive to the most satisfaction in collecting. The time is past when encouragement must be given to any movement for the increase of varieties available for the collector's purpose on the score of philatelic expediency, as the supply of easily obtainable stamps has been multiplied so largely during the recent years that there is an ample number to meet all reasonable expectations. So, many thoughtful collectors while appreciating the arguments of those who favor the set will condemn a special Lincoln set on a purely philatelic basis, although realizing that sentimentally, there is every reason to honor the martyred-president in every fitting manner. While the opponents of the stamps may be said to take unpopular ground, they know that the dictates of their inmost convictions demand that the stand be taken.

Opposed—The post-office department will not give comfort to the suggestion that a special set of stamps be issued for the Lincoln anniversary, we take it, and will protest against being put to the extra work entailed by the appearance of a second set of stamps in addition to the one in ordinary use. The department has the Seattle exposition stamps in prospect and it will turn a wry face indeed to the campaigners for another series as indicated. If the postal division of the government indulged its real feelings and consulted only the practical side of the question, it would, if it were the court of last resort, register a mandate that would forbid special or commemorative issues. As it is, we suppose that it is influenced by circumstances over which it has no control.

Not in Time—It is safe to say that there will be no Lincoln stamps in February; if they come, they will be here later. If stamps that are projected one month will be in the hands of the public the next month, a celerity in stamp production will have been attained that will astound. There is more to the issue of postage stamps than the layman supposes and the one effective argument against the emission of the Lincoln stamps is that they cannot be prepared and distributed to really mark the Lincoln anniversary.

His Views—Our readers are aware of the mission of the Red Cross stamps and how admirably they have performed it. We spoke of the labels as unworthy of philatelic notice but highly deserving of every charitable consideration. In view of this opinion, we are interested in the following letter in the Chicago Tribune of recent date: "Is there any good reason why the sale of Red Cross stamps should cease with Christmas? Why not prepare a batch of these same stamps with the surcharge of the motto: 'Happy New Year,' and continue the sale to the end of the year at least? In the meantime let another lot be prepared—still keeping the Red Cross feature—to commemorate other anniversaries, such as Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, St. Valentine's day, Fourth of July (thereby contributing greatly to a saner celebration), Arbor day, and especially Labor day. The surcharge could readily be added with a rubber stamp, or, if not, the surcharge could be made at the place where the stamps are printed. This feature will commend this unique issue to the philatelists and insure the sale of many thousands." N. W. Cady of Logansport, Indiana, is the correspondent.

Unphilatelic—The correspondent just quoted is entitled to credit for possessing ideas but we cannot commend them, as they have been expressed, from a philatelic viewpoint. We cannot see how surcharging could loan interest to stamp collectors in an item wholly devoid of philatelic suggestion. It is impossible to force an interest philatelically in labels that purport to be nothing but what they are—a pleasing emblem conveying cheer and charitable suggestion; and philatelists who buy the stamps do so not to get the labels as objects of collection but for sweet charity's sake. The plan advocated by Mr. Cady was commented upon adversely by another newspaper on the grounds that the continuous presence of the stamps would render them commonplace and without meaning or sentiment.

Same Lot—A. C. Stewart, manager of the Toledo Stamp Company writes: "We noticed your editorial on the two-cent imperforate Canada, current issue. There was a person from Brooklyn who passed through here a few days ago, who said that he had picked up a sheet of these stamps. He did not have any with him but said that he had sold several to a dealer whom he named and others." The sheet referred to came from the entire sheet of four hundred of these stamps which is the only sheet that reached the public.

creation, the special delivery stamp, and he suggests that stamp collectors begin an organized movement of protest against the continuance of the stamp and also individually do everything in their power to bring about the early retirement of the new stamp. We take it as a good sign in any man when his feelings are so delicately attuned that he can become deeply disturbed by an esthetic question of this kind; this is an abstract point of view but when it comes to a specified case, the trouble begins. The questions that are raised every time a new issue appears are never settled to the satisfaction of all those who engage in the discussions; and in the present instance, we say that while the design of the new special delivery is not so striking or so full of human character as a "mail-messenger running" it conforms to what broadly may be said to be the canons of art as they are popularly understood. We shall await with some interest the criticisms, favorable or the reverse, that will be made of the new special delivery stamp.

Rumors not a little credited are that the revenues of the federal government will be put on the basis which obtained during the Spanish war. There is to be a stamp tax on bank checks and mortgages and like papers. Boston bankers are known to favor a bank check tax, according to word received here. While in a measure costly, it would be cheaper, for it would diminish vastly the bookkeeping at banks as a stamp tax would discourage the indiscriminate writing of checks. Such revenue would be large and easily collected and at little cost. There is also talk of an inheritance tax.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—W. R. Schnabel reports having plate numbers 4816, 4821, 4822, 4835 and 4858 on the new 2c stamps and plate numbers 4874 and 4875 on the new 1c. He also has found a block of 50 stamps of the 2c, plate number 4821, with inverted watermark.

C. A. Howes has found plate number 4888 on the new 1c, plate number 4918 on the 3c and plate number 4934 on the 4c.

Edw. A. Eames reports the new 2c with plate number 4847.

H. S. Adair writes: "The ribbed effect of the new 2c value is due to the gum. In the books the stamps are gummed in strips, and of course the seeming rib runs the long way of the stamp. In the sheets, they were gummed the other way. The rib-like appearance is due to streaks of the gumming brush."

F. B. Eldredge reports having seen the new 1c precancelled "Westgrove, Pa." and the new 2c precancelled "Cleveland, O."

A. D. Challans reports having a vertical half of a 2c, 1893 issue, on a cover used as 1c.

The New England Stamp Co. is the first to show us the new 6c stamp, which is printed in a very rich shade of orange, inclining towards vermilion. The design is the same as all the other stamps with portrait of Washington, the value being expressed in figures at each end of the word cents, at the bottom of the stamp.

We have also been shown the new 6c by Geo. L. Toppan, who also gives us the following information as regards dates of issue and plate numbers as far as known:—3c December 26, 1908, Nos. 4926-7-8; 4c December 26, 1908, Nos. 4932-3-4; 6c December 31, 1908, Nos. 4936-8-9. Mr. Toppan thinks it important to have the actual date of issue correctly noted and we heartily agree with him.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

DUTCH INDIES.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 2 1/2c Queen's Head stamp, and we find that the chronicle in No. 908 was wrong inasmuch as the frame is in brown and the portrait in olive green, instead as there stated.

LAGOS.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly says that the 2 1/2d ultramarine has been found printed on the gummed side of the paper, or possibly it would be more correct to say gummed on the printed side.

NICARAGUA.—G. Folte reports that he has the 15c on 10c violet, with error, "Centevos", in surcharge, with the surcharge inverted. This is Scott's No. 177b. Mr. Folte also has Scott's No. 151a, 20c on 5p black with red surcharge, and the same stamp, with additional surcharge, in black, "B—Dpto. Yelaya," both having the surcharge of value inverted. Mr. Folte has three copies of No. 103, surcharged "Telegrafos," one without the final "s", on a cover used as postage stamps.

SALVADOR.—G. Folte reports having Scott's No. 224, with both "1900" and wheel in surcharge. Mr. Folte says that the Salvador Officials, Nos. 686 to 690, punched, should be placed among the regular postage stamps, as the punch was a control mark, making them good for general use, as he has them on letters from business houses.

SIAM.—Philip H. Ward, Jr., reports having received from a correspondent in Siam, four values of the current issue, surcharged "Jubilee 1868-1908" and Siamese characters, in five lines. Judging from the letter there has also been put on sale the new 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 30 ticals. The following from the letter may be of interest: "On the 11th (November) there were four Jubilee stamps issued the 1, 3, 8 and 18 atts and the 4 atts will be issued at once. The 8 atts will become scarce as when they began to surcharge them they found that they only had 2000 of that value in stock, and therefore that is all that was surcharged.

These Jubilee stamps were issued to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the accession of King Chutalong—Kom, and it is supposed the new trial values have the Equestrian Statue of the King, as announced in No. 938.

The New England Stamp Co. has shown us three of the Jubilee stamps noted above, the 1a, 3a and 18a. We find that the surcharge is in five lines—three lines in native characters extending a little more than half way down the stamp, while "Jubilee—1868-1908" is printed in Roman type and Arabic numerals at the bottom of the stamp, in two lines.

SWITZERLAND.—The 1fr value of the Helvetia set has been issued, and a specimen has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. It is of the retouched type.

LINCOLN ON THE STAMPS.

(Under the above caption the N. Y. Tribune published a lengthy editorial in its issue of Dec.
27. W. L. Kinkadee submits a clipping and we wish that we had room to publish it in its entirety. The excerpt will be read with interest as showing the temper of the press and people.—ED.)

Expressions of popular dissent from the decision of the Postoffice Department to banish the portrait of Lincoln from postage stamps continue, and indeed seem to increase in numbers and earnestness, and it must be confessed that on both special and general grounds they are not devoid of force. If it were desirable that the change should ever be made it would seem particularly infelicitous to make it at the very time when the nation is with notable unanimity commemorating the centenary of Lincoln's birth.
There are those who suggest that for the year 1909, instead of being banished from the 5-cent stamps the portrait of Lincoln should be placed upon all stamps of all denominations as a part of the national commemoration of the year.
We might doubt the advisability of that,
though of course there have been numerous precedents set for it in the issuing of special sets of stamps in commemoration of other anniversaries and in connection with various celebrations. But certainly it would be appropriate to have the portrait of Lincoln retained for the widest possible distribution during his own centennial year. * * * There is certainly no danger of exaggeration in ranking Lincoln next to Washington among our Presidents in both our own and the whole world's esteem because of his achievements of enduring benefit to mankind. We are moreover now far enough away from the occurrences of 1860-'65 to permit a correct estimate to be formed and held in all parts of the nation of that "one of nature's masterful, great men". We cannot doubt that it would be gratifying to the whole nation to have the portrait of Lincoln retained upon our stamps both for the coming year and all time.

BEWARE OF NYASSA INVERTS.

Dealers, and collectors as well, should exercise due care in their purchase of Nyassa invert. A goodly stock of both the giraffe and camel type is turning up by degrees and the Fortnightly reports that "a stock of these invert has recently been sold on the continent for close to $10,000.00". If you buy them, buy them for what they are and not for what they may be. Stow this away in the philatelic corner of your brain, for future reference.

RAILROAD CANCELLATIONS ON THE U. S. 1851 ISSUE.

By CARROLL CHASE, M. D.

(This article will be reprinted uniform with our previous attempts in this direction and supplied at 5c each, mailed in a pasteboard tube. These reprints are made so that they may be inserted in the leading blank albums. Valuable for reference if kept in a binder which we can supply at 30c each, which just pays cost of manufacture and postage.—Ed.)

The writer, a specialist in the 1851 United States issue, while examining some stamps of this set noticed a three cent specimen with the cancellation "MORRIS & ESSEX R. R." (Fig. 1) in a circle with the date, month and day in the center. Until he saw this stamp he had no idea that railroad cancellations were used so long ago. He became interested and since then has found several more similar postmarks, which he begs leave to describe with the hope that others may be interested, and also that new varieties may be noted. Mr. J. W. Scott, one of the oldest dealers in the country, recently remarked to the writer that he doubted whether stamps were cancelled in railroad trains so long ago, but from the study made it seems certain that they were.

It is sometimes difficult to tell whether a certain cancellation was used on a railroad train or on board boat. These doubtful varieties have been put in with the railroad postmarks until it is made certain where they were used.

In general, these cancellations are of three classes. The first show simply the railroad name and usually the date, without the name of the city or cities from which they ran; the second class were made to designate a certain mail route without the railroad being named; and the third class show generally a single word as "WAY" or "STEAM". It will be understood that black ink was used unless otherwise noted, and that

Of the first class the following have been seen in a circle with date in the middle, but no copies have been seen on covers, so neither the mailing point nor destination can be given:—"MORRIS & ESSEX R. R.", "NEW YORK & ERIE R. R.", "PHILA. & N. YORK R. R.", "MIC. CENTRAL R. R. Mic", "WIL. & RAL. R. R." (Wilmington & Raleigh), "C. Z. & C. R. R. OHIO." Stamps have been seen showing parts of railroad cancellations of the same type, as follows:—"AVEN R. R.", "—R. R. Pa", "—& CLEA—", "—R. RY-VALLEY", "—PA. R. R.", "—& RALEIGH RAILROAD" in blue, and "—D & ERIE—" in blue.

Of the second class, where the postmark shows the mail route without the railroad being named, the following have been seen:

"U. S. EXPRESS MAIL N. Y." in circle with "N. YORK" in smaller type at the top under "PRES" of "EXPRESS" with the date in the middle (Fig. II.) used on trains running between New York and Boston. The corresponding postmark used in the other direction is the same excepting that "MASS" takes the place of "N. Y." and "BOSTON" takes the place of "N. YORK". It is found on covers from Boston and intermediate points, as Providence, R. I. This postmark is commonly in black ink, but for awhile during the first half of the year 1856 at least, bright red ink was sometimes used. The earliest cover seen in which the black postmark was used is dated Feb. 21, 1852, and the latest May 7, 1857.

Another of this class has "LOUISVILLE & CINCINNATI" in a circle with "MAIL LINE" inside at the top, with the date in the middle; no copy on cover has been seen. Another is "LVILLE & CINTI. MAIL LINE" with the date in the center. It has been seen in both black and blue. The only entire envelope seen bearing this cancellation is addressed to Madison, Tenn., which is on the river about half way between Cincinnati and Louisville, and has only indirect railroad communication with either. From these facts the writer suspects that all of the Cincinnati & Louisville Mail Line cancellations may have been used on steamboats and not on the railroad. Part of another similar cancellation that is probably "LOUISVILLE & CINCINNATI MAIL LINE" has been seen in black.

Of the third class the following have been seen:—"WAY" in black and blue; "WAY" underlined, "WAY" with "5" beneath it in brown and black, and "Way" written with a pen in black ink, and also in lead pencil, and "STEAM" in black. But two copies on cover of this class have been seen. One with "WAY" underlined cancelling the three cent stamp on a letter sheet sent from Mobile, Ala., to New Orleans, La., Jan 14, 1854. The only other postmark on the cover is "New Orleans La." in a circle in red. This must be a receiving postmark. The other specimen is "STEAM" in black cancelling the stamp on a cover to St. Louis, Mo., coming probably from New York City. There is no other postmark on the cover. The date written on the back is April 22, '54.

From the number of varieties described the author judges that railroad cancellations were certainly used to a rather limited extent while the 1851 issue was current. The writer will be glad to examine any new varieties of these cancellations on the 1851 issue which may be submitted to him, or to receive further information regarding those listed. He may be addressed at 936 St. Marks Ave., Brooklyn, New York City.

A NEW TWO-CENT STAMP PROBABLE.

Jos. A. Steinmetz writes us that he has reliable information at hand to the effect that a new 2c stamp with head of Lincoln has been determined upon and will be on sale Feb. 12 commemorating the 100th birthday of the martyred president. We cannot confirm this with official information but shall no doubt be able to give definite information in our next issue. It would seem that the agitation of press and people has had its effect upon the authorities at Washington and Representative Dawson when he goes before his constituents for reelection can take for a campaign text: "What I accomplished by merely introducing a bill."

Mr. Steinmetz states that the decision has been practically arrived at not to change the plates of the 1c and 2c to admit the numerals of value. Also, that of the 5c "1902" less that 100 are in stock at the Washington P. O. and no more will be printed. The values now on sale of the new issue are 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8 and 10c and special delivery.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

—By Fred J. Melville, number one of the Melville Stamp Books, 47 Strand, London, Eng. This book is typographically a gem, written by Melville and profusely illustrated—what more need we say? The marvel is that such a superb book could be gotten up for the low price of 6d and the subscriber who fails to secure a copy will some day awake to the fact that he has been asleep. The book before us has some hundred pages with a white cover tastily printed in green. Scattered through the work may be found a wide range of illustrations. The frontispiece is a very fine picture of the City Medal by Wm. Wyon from which was made the portrait used on the postage stamps of Great Britain during the entire reign of Queen Victoria. There is the London G. P. O. of 1840, page pictures of the stamp in process of production as the steel die, engine turned background with head space cleared for engraving, and engravers' proof of the die, page pictures showing blocks of stamps with corner letterings and small cuts ad libitum. The present volume treats of the 1/2, 1, 1 1/2 and 2d line engraved issues with bibliography of important references and check list. All rights of publication are reserved. Price for series of eight books, $1.00; single book, 14c.

Stamp Collectors Annual, 1909.—Published by Chas. Nissen & Co., 7 Southampton Row, W.C., London, Eng. Price, 25c. To any student in philately the "Literary Index for 1908" is of itself well worth the price asked for the entire volume in which are noted other valuable features such as: "Manchester: Its Exhibition and its Congress", "British Stamps of Great Rarity", "The 'Skilling Banco' Stamps of Sweden", "Stamps of the Chinese Treaty Ports", "The Story of the Year", "Postmarks and their Collection", "Circular Delivery Stamps of Great Britain", "Story of the 12d Canada", etc., etc. Truly here is an olla podrida in which every one can find something to his liking. We are glad to note the absence of the "Chronicle of New Issues" as weekly newspapers and annual catalogs can better handle this matter. We congratulate Messrs. Bishop and Nissen upon the success of this their sixth annual. The publication grows better and better with each succeeding year.

THE ILLUSTRATING OF U. S. STAMPS.

(By courtesy of Chas. R. Morris and A. R. Butler, M. D., we have received a copy of House bill 25168 which aims to provide for the illustration of U. S. stamps. This bill was introduced Jan. 5 by Congressman Taylor of Ohio and it has been referred to the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads of which Congressman Overstreet is chairman. Write Mr. Overstreet at once and urge the favorable report and passage of the bill. Mr. Morris writes:—"If there is any bill before the committee in the nature of new legislation likely to go through at this session, we shall try to put our measure on as a rider." We annex the meat of the bill before us.—ED.)

Nothing in this Act (the law as it now stands—ED.) shall be construed to forbid or prevent the printing or publishing of illustrations of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, and postal cards, or the making of the necessary dies and plates for the same, to be used in illustrating philatelic books, catalogues, and journals and the circulars of legitimate publishers and dealers in the same, or in illustrating articles on stamps in newspapers and other periodicals, when printed in black and with the approval of the Postmaster-General, provided that such engravings shall not be made by the steel-plate process.

It was a case of foresight surely when we planned the Lincoln Special. It will be a good number and the extra circulation will make it a winner.

Note the New Year's greetings of the New England Stamp Co. on page 5. We shall take to ourselves a goodly portion of the same as the bill for this space and all other space used by this firm will be promptly paid for.

These are strenuous days in the WEEKLY office and we trust this activity is reflected in the offices of our advertisers. We are doing our level best to make times good.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

He Vanishes—The Springfield, Mass., Union, recently contained a readable account, inspired by the new special delivery stamps on the passing "into history of the historic postboy." It tells how popular a subject for stamp portraiture the postboy has been and how he has fallen from the eminence that he once enjoyed, through the mutations of time. "The early stamps pictured him riding at breakneck speed on a horse, the later ones put him on a railroad train or mail cart, then he ran on foot for a while and then he was given a bicycle. We ask what is the reason for the omission of the automobile from the list, which is not without its 'poetic license' although its description is correct as applying to the boy running on foot until given a bicycle, so far as the special delivery stamps are concerned. At the convention of the American Philatelic Society held at Niagara Falls in 1894, one of the delegates gravely protested at the extravagant inconsistency of the design of the current special delivery stamp, in showing a messenger-boy in the act of running. The post-rider was the first design that was used to typify the postoffice department and is the seal to-day; and so it is natural that it enter prominently into the calculations of the designers of postage stamps.

Use the Specials—In the article referred to in the preceding item is the statement to which it is desired to call attention: "Since the order was issued in Washington doing away with the necessity of purchasing special delivery stamps, there has been a falling off of about two million special delivery stamps. It is advised by the officials at the office that special delivery stamps be used on letters instead of using the ordinary ones as they quickly catch the eye of the men handling them and are sure of being recognized." We have been asked to say that the postal authorities desire that special delivery stamps be used whenever possible and that ordinary stamps be impressed into service only in case of emergency. The use of special delivery stamps renders the segregation of letters much easier during the busiest time and delays are much less likely when the letters bear the special stamps instead of the ordinary stamps to make up the rate.

"Somewhat Philatelic"—It is only rarely nowadays that one hears of steamboat letters with their distinctive postmarks that were somewhat commonly seen years ago but Dr. W. H. Mitchell has written to say that Mr. LaTourette of New York City has the finest collection, no doubt, of these somewhat philatelic mementos of a by-gone and fascinating period. Many of the packet boats that plied the rivers that water the great Mississippi valley carried an almost complete postmarking paraphernalia and used an obliteration for the envelope stamp as well as a postmark of the regulation style, showing the name of the steamer. The government was satisfied to receive the payment for the stamped envelopes that enclosed the letters leaving any extra charge to the steamboats that performed the letter-carrying service. Dr. Mitchell says: "If Mark Twain were a philatelist, he might weave a very interesting history or story around them. They rank with the western franks, at the same time forming a class by themselves." We are aware that Mr. LaTourette has given studious attention to these cancellations for many years and we can readily believe that his accumulation of material of the kind quite outranks any similar collection.

Unknown—Dr. Mitchell informs us that he has in his collection of local stamps a specimen from St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada, 1851, bearing the legend, "Favor's Express," no value shown. He is inclined to a belief in the genuineness of the stamp and naturally, is desirous to learn any particulars as to the label; he would be thankful for information from any collector who is in a position to furnish it.

Worth Waiting For—The existence of the two-cent imperforate Canada, current type, as reported by the WEEKLY has created a commotion of no mean order in Canadian official circles as well as in the philatelic world. An interesting story will be given in which the details of the discovery will be recited and several discrepancies in the accounts as already given will be corrected.

Many Thanks—From T. C. Keyes, Newbury, Vermont, we have received a budget of newspaper clippings, numbering about thirty, that are of no little interest as may be imagined from the fact that they are all on philatelic subjects, relatively speaking. While these clippings are dated back within the last twenty years as a rule, we find one of August 11, 1848, Washington, which reads: "The post route bill was resumed, and a debate ensued on an amendment to abolish postage on newspapers, within thirty miles of where printed. Mr. Niles proposed one cent an ounce on pamphlets and newspapers. Mr. Dickinson offered an amendment that newspapers should go free fifty miles. Both were passed. Many other amendments were also proposed." In the year 1848, there was much attention given to postal rates and while the public generally were in favor of cheap postage and other remedial measures, yet there were reactionaries who opposed any reduction of the exorbitant rates that prevailed.

Years Ago—Sixty years ago, or in 1848, political capital was made out of the so-called postal abuses, by the Whigs who to believe their own statements were progressionists in all that concerned postal reform; and they pressed their charges against the "Locos" with the vigor characteristic of American politics in the early days. Let us quote from a Whig argument that was used in 1848: "There are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of post-offices, family concerns, yielding from 7 cents to $1½ per quarter, and conferring the franking privilege. Why continue to incur the expense of delays, mail-openings, extended routes, circulars, reports, accounts, audits, etc., at places where there is no mail business done? Better it were to give the Union that great boon, a two cents paid and four cents unpaid rate of postage, abolish what is useless, introduce a simple system with real accountability to the public, instead of the appearance of it, proportion the compensation equally to the real service done and forbid those who are entrusted with mail correspondence to busy themselves in electioneering contests." We wonder whether there are many post-offices that yield the munificent revenue of seven cents a quarter in this day and generation.

Early Advocates—The following arguments that were advanced in favor of cheap postage in 1848 are valid to-day and the suggestion that was advanced that the letter rate of postage be reduced to two cents a half-ounce showed that the spirit of reform burned ardently in the breasts of some of the publicists: "Cheap postage benefits commerce, agriculture, home-manufactures; brings the distant places of a vast empire like ours closer together; helps to uphold ancient friendships; gives new power to opinion, additional wings to useful knowledge; cheers the new settler in the wilderness; aids powerfully in the education of the whole people. One of the surest props of Government by the million, in the best sense of the term, is a well organized and efficient, yet economical Post Office Department. The easier it is to obtain tidings of what all public functionaries possessed of delegated powers are doing, the more promptly can public opinion act upon and influence their conduct, for the general welfare in an elective government. A reduction of the rates of postage to 2 cents for paid and four cents for unpaid letters of half an ounce in weight, might not for several years meet the annual expenditure, but it would eventually do so; and in the meantime the advantages to the American public which cheap inland postage would secure, are incalculable. When the five and ten cents postage rates were adopted, very audible fears were expressed that the revenue would be materially injured, and efforts made by Mr. Cave Johnson, and the party about to resign power to raise the rates once more did not succeed. They failed and now admit that the revenue meets the expenditure. So it would probably in a few years, at two cents unpaid or four cents paid." It was not until thirty-five years afterwards that a two-cent rate was adopted.

Before the Days of Gold—The year 1848 recorded the establishing of a regular mail service with the Pacific coast. From Chagres, Panama, the U. S. mail was regularly conveyed overland to Panama where the California steam-packet was in waiting to carry it to Astoria in Oregon, via San Francisco and other ports in California. The distance from New York to Astoria by way of Chagres is 7,500 miles and was to be traversed in a month. The rate to Chagres "or any port on the Pacific" was seventy-five cents a half-ounce.

A Happy New Year to All Philatelists

We have reproduced the above photograph of the Uniontown (one of the rarest of Confederate Locals) on a post card and would be pleased to mail one to anyone applying for the same. We have a fine lot of Confederates both on and off of the cover.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—W. F. Ferrier of Montpelier, Idaho, has been in Boston during the past few days.

—We have been favored with a specimen of the Continental album issued by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. While gotten up at a very low price it is nevertheless a very handsome production freely illustrated and very suitable for missionary work by clubs and societies that wish to promote a local interest in stamp collecting. At a flat price of 10c it is possible to fix up a combination of album, stamps and hinges that would mean much for philately in any town or city.

—Write Congressman Overstreet, Washington, D. C., urging a favorable report from the committee on Post Offices and Post-Roads of the bill permitting the illustration in black and white of U. S. stamps. Do it today! Don't leave this to the other fellow.

—"Postmasters are notified that the manufacture of 4-cent newspaper wrappers has been discontinued and the Department's stock is now exhausted. They are still good for postage, however, and those remaining in stock in post offices should be kept on sale."—A. L. LAWSHE, Third Ass't P. M. Gen'l.

—Stanley B. Ashbrook sends us a Cincinnati Times-Star of Jan. 8, in which an editorial strongly urges "Lincoln on the Stamps". We can only quote a portion:—

Especially apropos is the decision of the Post-office department as next month throughout all the United States the Lincoln centennial is to be celebrated.

Some people may not think that the rugged features of the Great Emancipator contribute to the decoration of the stamps. So far as we know, "Old Abe" never entered himself in a beauty show. But there is in some faces so much of human kindness, so much force and so much character, that this very lack of even features and other things which are usually supposed to make for beauty, adds to their attractiveness.

Not the least of those who will miss the Lincoln portrait on the stamps will be the schoolboy, who is "making a collection". For album purposes stamps with portraits on them are, as everybody knows, much more desirable than those without. And it would be a pity were the time to come when our national heroes were immortalized only on cigar box covers.

This paper is owned by Chas. P. Taft, brother of the president elect.

—Paul Mason writes that the active support of Reps. Ashbrook, Gardner and Dawes and Senators Dick, Foraker, Beveridge and Knox has been secured for the House bill. He urges philatelists everywhere to write Chmn. Overstreet of the House Com. on Post Offices and Post Roads, urging the passage of the measure. DO IT TODAY. Write your own congressman too.

—A subscriber to the WEEKLY, C. Brinkley Turner, writing us a letter, falls into poetry and addresses our envelope thus:—

To the greatest stamp paper on earth,
Which charges much less than it's worth,
And of stamp information from every nation
It surely has never a dearth.

—Monday evening, Jan. 25, the Boston Stamp Exchange will hold its thirty-seventh sale in Elks' Hall, Boston. A nice variety of U. S. and foreign stamps is offered and the catalog advertised elsewhere in this issue is well worth perusing.

—The West Phila. Philatelic Society held its annual meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building Tuesday, Jan. 5, and elected these officers for 1909:—Pres., Percy McG. Mann; Vice Pres., Frank C. List; Sec., C. Brinkley Turner (re-elected); and Treas., W. W. Hubbard. The society now numbers thirty members.

—J. Adam Bede in a letter to R. G. Roberts, Duluth, Minn., assures the latter of careful attention to "our" House bill when it comes up.

—The next meeting of the Michigan Philatelic Society will be held Feb. 6, at 6.30 P. M., at Battle Creek Sanitarium. For further information address H. E. Saier, Lansing.

ST. LOUIS SOCIETY CELEBRATES.

(We are indebted to George Word for clippings giving the particulars of the celebration by the St. Louis Stamp Collectors Society of the attainment of its 100th meeting. From these clippings and a letter from F. Millhouse, the new secretary, we glean the following.—ED.)

—Jan. 5 some twenty members of the society banqueted at the Mercantile Club and celebrated in royal fashion the 100th meeting. F. N. Chase, the newly elected president, took the chair, after which the menu came in for discussion. The menu cards consisted of half sheets of Roman States reprints, by courtesy of the United Stamp Co., the surcharging being done by the Schuster Ptg. Co. Mr. Millhouse kindly favors the WEEKLY with a specimen.

Following the spread Messrs. Cornwall, Diamant, Strauss, Chase, Myers and W. A. Sisson occupied the floor to the edification and enjoyment of those present and everybody was of one mind, that the entertainment was a great success. The only toast of the evening, drank in water, was given by Mr. Myers, the retiring president, "Our 100th Meeting".

The new officers of this energetic society are F. N. Chase, pres.; Wallace Delafield, vice pres.; W. A. H. Anschultz, treas., and F. Millhouse, sec. That it Warren, Penna., 1c, 2c and 3c 1902, new type.

Waterville, Maine, 1c 1902, normal.

John A. Solomon reports having the 3c of 1902, precancelled Chicago, and perforated "Loftis", used over a Chicago permit. This is the first perforated precancelled stamp that has been noted.

Edward W. Bridge sends a copy of the current 2c envelope, carmine on white, in which a large part of the right limb of the "N" of "Cents" is missing.

Mr. Bridge says that this was one of 24 similar ones found in a lot of 250 envelopes. The "E" of "States" has a spot of color at the bottom that breaks the letter in a peculiar way, making it appear like a perfect "F" with a period after it.

Mr. Bridge says this was one of 24 found in a lot of 250 envelopes. Mr. Bridge also reports having a copy of the current issue, size 9 on white, with the stamp on the inside of the envelope; one of size 13, with the "O" of "Two" broken, forming a "C", opening towards the bottom; another of size 13, carmine on white, with the letters of "Two Cents" tapering so that the strokes of the "S" is about half the width of the stroke of "T".

L. B. Chapman also reports finding the variety with "F" and period in place of "E", as some of these were sold at the Utica office in 1903.

Many of our correspondents have sent us items regarding inverted watermarks, the latest being George A. Harrison and Harrie S. Mueller. These vagaries in watermarks are getting to be so common that it is evident that very little attention is paid to the position of the watermark by the printers. Moreover as the stamps for the books are printed with the watermark sideways, it is possible to find four varieties, including upright, normal and inverted, and sideways, normal and inverted. They are now so common that there is little interest in them, therefore we think it best to omit further mention in this column. We thank our friends for their courtesy, and hope that they will continue their studies, for it is by that means that all the most interesting varieties have been discovered.

Many of our friends have sent us information regarding the date of issue and the plate numbers of the new stamps, which has been printed from time to time. For convenience of reference we now tabulate this information, trusting that our readers will be able to supply the missing points, especially the date of issue of the 2c books and sheets, and the 5c and 8c in sheets. The full list to date is as follows:

3c purple, issued Dec. 26, 1908, plate numbers 4918, 4926, 4927, 4928.

4c brown, issued Dec. 26, 1908, plate numbers 4932, 4933, 4934.

5c blue, issued (?), plate number 4931.

6c orange, issued Dec. 31, 1908, plate numbers 4936, 4937, 4938, 4939.

8c olive green, issued (?), plate numbers 4919, 4923, 4924.

10c yellow, issued (?), plate numbers 4940, 4941, 4944.

10c Special Delivery yellow green, issued Dec. 14, 1908, plate number 4920.

Those who have recently sent us information regarding plate numbers have included Geo. L. Toppan, L. B. Chapman, George A. Harrison, Louis Novotny, Leonard Fox and William S. Ross. We shall be glad to have further notes regarding plate numbers from our readers, and will publish the revised list when changes enough have come to hand to make it desirable.

The new 10c has been sent us, Geo. L. Toppan being entitled to first honors and Mr. Carpenter of the New England Stamp Co. a close second. The stamp is in a delicate yellow shade that will make nice used copies difficult to get. Mr. Toppan has seen the following "early" plate numbers: 4940-1-4.

Adhesive.

10c yellow.

ARGENTINE.—Hermann Focke has shown us the 12c stamp of the new series.

Adhesive.

12c bistre yellow.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian Philatelist reports that all the shilling values of the Postage Due set are to hereafter have a diagonal line after the figure of value, signifying the word shilling. The 5sh has already appeared with this change.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—The New England Stamp Co. and W. H. Peckitt have now kindly shown us the new permanent set issued for the Islands, and we find that not only have the stamps been made smaller, but the whole design has been redrawn and improved, though the main features of the original set have been preserved. The value is now printed in colored letters on a white ground; the shields containing the value are changed in shape, the name of the Protectorate at the top is smaller and the tablet containing the word "Postage" is surrounded by a colorless line. The palms at either side are more graceful, and the whole appearance of the stamps is changed. Originally the 1sh value was printed on single CA paper, but the specimen shown us is printed on ordinary multiple paper like the rest of the set. The colors given in No. 933 were correct.

Stamp & Coin Exchange, 65 Nassau, N.Y. City

CRETE.—G. M. Hale reports having the 1 lepton of 1900 surcharged "Ellas," this being the stamp that was omitted from the original chronicle.

DUTCH INDIES.—We have been shown one of the provisional envelopes noted some time since, the "17½" on 25c violet, white with blue lining. The surcharge is in large Celtic type, 4mm. tall, in black.

Provisional Envelope.

"17½" on 25c violet on white.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA.—Lemaire's Journal reports that the 3 rupees carmine and dark green has appeared on watermarked paper.

GOLD COAST.—Some time since we chronicled the new 1d stamp in a single color on the authority of two of our French contemporaries. The stamp, however, has just been issued, and a copy has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. It is printed on ordinary multiple paper.

ITALY.—Just as the year 1909 arrives Mr. Schachne shows us the first of the set dated "08". This country, to whom our sympathies and dollars are going at this time, has now followed the general custom and adopted the divided face style. The stamps and arms are the same and the headlines show only minor changes from the '07 issue. The date is now placed in the upper left corner.

Post Cards.

5c green and 10c carmine on pale gray; T.3.

PARAGUAY.—The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. has shown us a new lot of stamps from this country, none of which were included in the last Catalogue. In the lot are the 40c dark blue of 1902, the 60c orange brown and 60c light red, dated 1904, all surcharged "Habilitado"—5—en Centavos, with three bars below. The same surcharge has been placed on the 60c purple official, dated 1903, with "Official" in diagonal surcharge. All the above surcharges are in black. There is also in the lot the 1 peso carmine and black official stamp, dated 1904, which has been surcharged in black "Habilitado" and single line over the "Official". This stamp has received two other surcharges, "1908" appearing in red on the front of the Government Buildings, while "Un Centavo" runs across the bottom of the stamp in a line of capitals, in black.

5c on 40c dark blue of 1902.

5c on 60c orange brown, dated 1904.

5c on 60c light red, dated 1904.

5c on 60c purple, official, dated 1903.

"Un Centavo" on 1p rose carmine and black.

SIERRA LEONE.—Ewen's Weekly notes that two shades exist in the frames of the 1d, 2d, 3d, 4d, 5d and 6d stamps on chalky multiple paper, dark lilac and pale lilac. It is possible, however, that the 1d only exists in the pale lilac on the chalky paper.

TUNIS.—Hermann Focke has shown a used copy of the 10c on 15c gray recently chronicled.

VICTORIA.—The 2½d blue has been issued on Crown A paper, probably about Oct. 5, 1908.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

Rec'd sample MISSIONARY mixture today. They are O.K. in every respect.—J. H. WHITE, Box 780, Atlanta, Ga.

I received the MISSIONARY mixture and think it is very good.—ALAN G. WIKOFF, 554 W. 163 Street, New York, Nov. 22, 1908.

The pound of MISSIONARIES was ahead of your packet "F", 1000 for $1.75.—C. E. FERRELL, 523 Mongum St., Durham, N. C. Nov. 29, 1908.

OUR NEW BIG BARGAIN LIST is now ready for mailing. If YOU don't send for it, we both lose money. Many Bargain Lists published, but none just like ours. We have the FINE GOODS to offer! Over $100,000.00 cat. value of good stamps. Send name on postal to-day!

where branch managers have been appointed, the local societies seem to flourish excellently. The Society is indebted to the entire corps of branch managers as given in the following list, with their sales made thus far in the current year:

1 J. W. Haseltine, Philadelphia, Pa.,	$230.52
2 Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D. C.,	175.60
3 Wm. Rhodes, Cleveland, O.,	171.34
4 U. S. G. Clifford, San Francisco, Cal.,	157.23
5 Dr. F. B. Merrill, Chicago, Ill.,	156.27
6 R. J. Mundell, Montreal, Canada,	121.74
7 L. A. Van Toor, Milwaukee, Wis.,	118.79
8 A. H. Weber, Berkeley, Cal.,	112.60
9 W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass.,	91.79
10 W. A. Hemphill, Pittsburg, Pa.,	63.91
11 H. S. Adair, Columbus, O.,	31.68
12 W. O. Staab, Milwaukee, Wis.,	31.65
13 B. A. Webster, Providence, R. I.,	20.60
14 O. E. Lancaster, Scranton, Pa.,	5.02
15 Don R. Bennett, Detroit, Mich.,

I would like to add again that branch managers will receive 2½% in cash at the end of the year (August 1, 1909) for sales made through them, provided the total reaches at least $400, payment to be made at the end of the year. In addition to the above cash compensation, I have offered prizes in stamps for the four best results: 1st, $10; 2nd, $5; 3rd, $3; 4th, $2; Scott's catalogue value according to want list of the 19th Century.

Again we urge all branches not having appointed managers to do so at once, in order to secure the benefits of a large number of books and an economical, interesting and advantageous circulation of same in their cities.

NEW ENGLAND BRANCH NO. 20.

BOSTON, MASS., Jan. 16, 1909.

The Annual Meeting of New England Branch No. 20, for the election of officers and such other business as may come before it, will be held in Room 507, Kast Building, 104 Hanover Street, Boston, Mass., at 7 P. M. on Tuesday, January 19th, 1909.

JAMES C. WOOLLEY, Sec.

The second regular meeting of Cleveland, Ohio, Branch No. 30, A. P. S., was held at 1429 Williamson Building, Thursday, Dec. 17th, 1908.

Branch Manager Rhodes called the meeting to order at 7:45 p. m., in the presence of Messrs. Crowell, Clark, Kendel, Moses, Beatty, Good, Wilson, Bruce, Waterbury and Barnum. Visitors, Messrs. Larsen, Wood and Jones.

Moved by Crowell, seconded by Bruce, that the following resolutions be adopted and the Clerk authorized to get the required one hundred signatures. After remarks by Good, Wilson and Barnum, all favorable to the action, the motion was unanimously carried.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 18, 1908.
To the President of the American Philatelic Society:

We the undersigned members in good standing with dues paid to September 1st, 1909, believing that the best interests of this society will be served by the publication of the American Philatelist in four parts, each part to be issued at intervals of three months, respectfully request that these proposed amendments be referred to the members for ratification in accordance with Section 3, Article III. of the 1908 by-laws, and that these proposed amendments be printed in full in the official call and form of ballot to be designated by you.

To amend Article VII, Section 1, to include: An Editor of the American Philatelist.

To amend Article VII to include new section to be known as Section 6A.

Section 6A. The Editor shall edit all reading and advertising matter, shall invite literary contributions from the membership and pass upon same for publication.

He shall solicit and arrange all advertisements and shall collect all moneys due on subscription and advertising accounts and shall turn same over to the Treasurer, quarterly to be placed in the General Fund and in general act as business manager in all matters pertaining to the publication of the American Philatelist, excepting on all official matter originating with the President or Secretary.

The editor's compensation shall not exceed $50.00 per number in addition to postage and printing expenses.

To amend Article X by substituting the following for the entire Article:

Article X, American Philatelist:

Section 1. The American Philatelist shall be published quarterly. The first number shall be issued immediately after the adjournment of the Annual Convention and shall contain a copy of the charter and by-laws as last amended, a full report of the last Annual Convention; the rules of all departments, which may not be included in the general by-laws, a list of all branch societies and affiliated societies, a list of the names and addresses of all officers of the society, and the publishers of the official journal, and also literary matter as may be of Philatelic or Association interest.

The second number shall be issued about February 1st, and shall contain a list of all active members, arranged alphabetically, numerically and geographically together with such papers as may be selected.

The third and fourth numbers shall be issued about May 1st, and August 1st, and shall contain such official matter as the President or Secretary or Board of Vice Presidents may deem advisable, together with such papers as may be selected by the Editor.

The American Philatelist shall be edited by the Editor and approved by the President for publication.

Advertising shall be admitted subject to the approval of the Editor at a rate to be determined by the Board of Vice Presidents, but said advertisements shall not exceed the amount of space devoted to reading matter.

One copy shall be mailed free to each member of the Society, ten copies to each Director, if he shall so request, ten copies to the Assistant Librarian, and one copy each to such libraries or other institutions as may be approved of by the Board of Directors. Copies to the public, or extra copies for members, will be sold by the Secretary at 25c per copy, and the proceeds turned into the treasury. All copies on hand after one year from date of issue shall be turned over to the Assistant Librarian. The expense of publishing it shall be paid from the General Fund.

The Secretary, immediately after the convention, shall advertise in the Official Journal for bids for the printing of the American Philatelist, and the contract shall be awarded by the Board of Directors, who may at their discretion reject any or all bids.

Section 2. These amendments shall be effective upon their ratification by the stockholders.

Section 3. Any and all sections of 1908 By-laws directly conflicting with these amendments be and are hereby repealed.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 18, 1908.
To the President of the American Philatelic Society:

We the undersigned Members in good standing with dues paid to September 1st, 1909, believing that the best interests of the society will be served by changing the method of proxy voting now in force and believing that members who are unable to attend the Convention will be better represented and that it will prevent the blocking of meritorious legislation, respectfully request that these proposed amendments be referred to the members for ratification in accordance with Section 3, Article III. of the 1908 by-laws, and that these proposed amendments be printed in full in the official call and form of ballot to be designated by you.

To amend Article III, Section 4 by striking out the following: "No member of the Society shall be allowed to vote more than 50 proxies." And inserting: All proxies shall be assigned to the Committee on Credentials who alone shall have power to cast any and all proxy votes.

The Board of Vice Presidents shall cause to be printed, in referendum form, upon the official proxy blank, all proposed legislation or other business, which may be known in advance is to be submitted to the Convention, so the signer of the proxy may direct the Committee on Credentials, how his vote shall be cast.

The Committee on Credentials shall act in accordance with the instructions as marked upon each proxy.

DON'T FORGET THE GENIAL GOLDEN GENIE SERIES OF STAMP PACKETS

One thousand Foreign Stamps of superior grade, nicely selected, containing stamps catalogued from 1 to 60 cents each, free of very common Continentals, post paid and registered, $3.33.

Phone: 898 Evanston.

1139 Ridge Ave., EVANSTON, ILL.

Reference: City National Bank, Evanston.

Where no instructions are given by the proxy signers and in all cases of legislation originating during the convention, the Committee on Credentials shall cast all uninstructed proxies with the majority of votes of the instructed proxies and attending stockholders.

These amendments shall be effective upon their ratification by the stockholders.

Any and all sections of 1908 By-laws directly conflicting with these amendments be and are hereby repealed.

Meeting adjourned at 8.25 p. m.

W. H. BARNUM, Clerk.

RECRUITING COMMITTEE—ROLL OF HONOR.

WILLARD O. WYLIE, Chairman, 104 Hanover St., Boston, Mass. (56).

The Recruiting Committee for the month of January consists of the following members, all of whom have secured two or more applications for membership up to and including the issue of Jan. 2. The February appointments will be made in our issue of Feb. 6. Our committee has a rather select membership this month but the number will no doubt be augmented very shortly with additions from the list of nearly forty members who have sent in single applications:

L. Harald Kjellstedt, Scranton, Pa.,
A. W. Dunning, Newton, Mass.,
Harry L. Perkins, Hartford, Ct.,
G. C. Cuenod, Galveston, Tex.,
W. H. Barnum, Cleveland, O.,

MEMBERSHIP SUMMARY.

Total membership Jan. 9, 1909, 1630

New stockholders, 6

Total membership Jan. 16, 1909, 1636

The Secretary desires to give final notice to those members that have not paid their dues that all such not reported paid by January 20th will be dropped from the membership roll of this Society, and their numbers printed in the report of January 30, 1909. This is absolutely final. Heed lest you be dropped by the wayside. Can you afford to stand idly by and watch the 1909 band wagon go by without making at least one effort to climb on board?

ENTIRE U. S. ENVELOPES TIFFANY

I have just finished the pricing up of the entire U. S. envelopes of this collection and find a most wonderful lot, not only did he have the known dies according to the T. B. R. catalogue, which was largely made from his collection, but most of the more recent "discoveries" were in his sets as varieties! Commoner dies are represented by 2 to 5 shades.

Among the scarcer things I find: 6c 1857 on white, 2c U. S. Postage small "2" on buff and orange, 3c 1861 on orange (2 sizes), 2c U. S. Post (narrow "U") only one other copy known entire, 2c Die A red wrapper, 2c Die A on orange, 2 sizes (this stamp not listed until 1906!), 3c Reay in brown, Reay 1c and 3c ruled and patent lines, 3c and 6c P. O. on white, War Dept., afmbars and creams complete, the whole pricing up over $6000.

In the marking and pricing I have had the valuable assistance of Mr. Chas. H. Stone, whom I consider the best informed man on envelopes in the world.

Every collector of entire should send me his name whether he wants one envelope or 100. I have something for everybody. If you want only cut squares write me. On common sizes my ENTIRE prices are 25 to 50% less than cut squares, and you can then cut to suit your fancy.

FRANK P. BROWN,

339 WASHINGTON ST.,

BOSTON, MASS.

Membership in this Society should mean something to you and it is the earnest wish of the officers to make it attain a degree of efficiency and usefulness that will make membership pre-eminent with every collector in America. In the face of such, can you withhold your support, which ought to come freely, without so much pushing and hauling? Don't be the stump that blocks the wheels of progress but climb on the wagon and we will all take a ride.

How many of the members that read this will say to himself, "I am going to get as many applications as I can this year"? In every beehive there are drones, who let others do the work, but the A. P. S. is not a society of drones. It is the largest, liveliest and one of the most progressive societies in the world today. Why not make a resolution for the new year that you will get at least one new member before August 1? We must go forward, not backward. We can't even afford to stand still. We must progress and if we are doing what is right every member will put his shoulder to the wheel and give a mighty shove. Don't rely on the other fellow doing your duty, do it yourself. 100 people pushing at once on a load can accomplish far more than one person pushing 100 times by himself.

Just as the bee goes forth from the hive and returns laden with honey from the flower, go out and get that friend or friends who collect but do not belong and put them through at once. They will thank you for it and at least you will have done your duty. Don't say, "I have not the time" but take it. Even if you can't expect to be King Bee, be a live one.

Cheer up! 1909. One a day.

H. S. ADAIR, Sec.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF SALES SUPT.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1, 1909.

Members of the A. P. S.:

The cash sales in the Department for the past quarter have reached the very respectable total of $3369.39, and at the present time the greatest interest in the Department is manifested by the 400 members who are either on individual circuit, or who see the circuits received through their respective branches.

We take pleasure in appending the following report for the quarter:

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

That dollar bill will be the BEST INVESTMENT EVER! So delay not a moment in sending it to

Pad Co. The label is printed in green, and the design is exactly similar to the private die stamp of this concern, numerals and all, with the exception that the inscription of "Private Stamp" succeeds that of "U. S. Inter. Rev." At request Mr. Holman very kindly sends me specimens of both genuine stamps, both values, as well as the label. He states that he is not afraid of publicity, as he has the goods "that can stand up and face the music". Collectors interested will please note—for the good of the order.

The Od Chemical Co.—A correspondent asks for information concerning the origin of the label used by the above concern. The label is precisely the same as their 1898 private die stamp, printed in the same color and bearing numerals. The upper label bears the inscription "Victory" in place of the "Two and One Half Cents", while the lower label bears the legend "United—States—War—Spain—Scare" instead of "United States Internal Revenue". The writer has heard several conflicting reasons assigned as the cause of the appearance of this little bit of interesting historical reference. Any readers who have information at hand based on merit or fact is kindly requested to come forward with it. Due credit will be given.

A B C Stamp.—An inquiry has been directed to me as to the meaning of the inscription A B C on the four cent R. C. & C. S. Clark Stamp—Scott's No. 3335. This was freely discussed in the press some years ago—results seeming to sum up that the letters stood for Anti-Bilious-Compound. We trust that this item will be of interest to more than one.

Confirmation.—My mentions of the Series of 1907 "Process Butter Stamp" has born results in the shape of three varieties—the 10 lb., 30 lb., and 60 lb. They are all uniform with the old Renovated Butter Stamp except for the wording of the commodity. A fuller description can be found in my mention of the stamp in the WEEKLY of Nov. 28th.

Stamped Paper.—Mr. Henkel's recent articles on stamped paper have evidently been productive. He has submitted some of the higher values on entire documents—seldom seen in this shape. One specimen of particular interest to the writer was a $1,000.00 bond about 18x24 inches—beautifully engraved—with an impression of the $1.00 stamp at left—one of the 25 cent denomination at right and another of the same value on the reverse. Rather an odd combination and distribution of values. These specimens are fast becoming rare—especially in entire condition.

Establishment No. 534.—A meat label bearing this number comes to view printed with the general make up of the current inspection stamp only with a seven line border and printed in blue instead of black. The firm name, Weisel & Co., of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is also in script instead of type set. This is the first departure from the general form I have yet seen and we wonder what special privileges Weisel & Co. are endowed with. The label referred to was the only one on the package which fact I can vouch for as I removed it from the original cover—a lard tub. So I am forced to believe that this concern are using the label to take the place of both the regulation stamp and the private label, an interesting item in economy.

The mention of meat stamps brings to mind that my recent mention of them in the WEEKLY has elicited numerous replies, in fact so many, that I feel duty bound to give some diversified views proper airing. With the consent of the management of the WEEKLY, I will endeavor to do justice to all at an early date. Meanwhile, any others who can supply the name of concerns in connection with Establishments, or who can quote Establishment numbers not already mentioned, will confer a favor by communicating with me. Due credit will be given.

THE AGUINALDO ISSUES.

By JULIAN PARK, 510 Dela. Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

I take the same ground as General Coolidge, as regards the Aguinaldo Stamps and think that possibly Mr. Harding may be somewhat over particular in his classification. There seems to me no reason to doubt the genuineness of the same stamp, whether it be "o.g." or on cover. Incidentally, it was General McArthur's division and not Bell's, which first came upon the dies, which were discovered, if I mistake not, in the temporary capital of Malolos, where a most complete printing press was found.

My interest in these stamps, and desire to have their status finally determined, arises partly from the fact that in my literary collection there is the proclamation (whether the original or not I am unable to say), signed by Aguinaldo, the director of his posts, and several others whose positions in his cabinet are not given, giving the direction for the printing of the first issue. The number of stamps actually printed has been variously estimated at from 25,000 to 100,000; but as near as I can determine, 85,000 were struck off, a great number of which were destroyed at Malolos before those engaged in the work realized the interest attached to them. If there were any philatelists among these troops—though history records none—you can imagine with what eagerness they searched the rebel post-office after realizing the vandalism then being committed. Before the seizure of the capital, the manufacture of postage, registry, newspaper, and telegraph stamps had been going on for about two years. It is needless to add that the public demand was small enough, and that they were literally forced on the people as a means of revenue, small as it was.

Undoubtedly you would not care at this time to publish a history of this issue since so much has been written already, but inasmuch as the present question seems to have been started by an article in Philatelic Esperanto,—the

STAMP AUCTIONS A SPECIALTY.

If you have a really good collection or lot of stamps for sale, and wish the best results, as obtained by modern methods, a first class catalog, and a list of tested buyers, write us. We have held 16 very successful sales (including two thus far this winter) and have incorporated some new ideas in auctions which have produced results eminently satisfactory to sellers.

TERMS:—Our terms are lowest for the best service and vary with the magnitude and quality of collection. MONEY ADVANCED (INTENDING SELLERS), if desired. Sales held both in New York and Philadelphia.

IMPERFORATE POSTAGE STAMPS.

(In this official circular sent out by the P. O. department it will be noted that "unperforated" is very much in evidence.—Ed.)

1. Postmasters are notified that the Department is prepared to issue postage stamps without the usual perforations, when desired in that form for sale to the public for use in automatic stamp-affixing or stamp vending machines.

2. The unperforated stamps are in sheets of 400 each.

3. They are issued to postmasters in lots of 10,000 stamps, or multiples of 10,000, of each denomination desired.

4. To secure them, requisition should be made on Form 3201, with the word "UNPERFORATED" plainly written on the face of the blank. Such a requisition should not be made unless the postmaster has satisfactory assurance that at least 10,000 stamps of each denomination ordered will be sold within a reasonable time.

5. Unperforated stamps may be sold to the public in any quantity not less than a sheet of 400; but postmasters will not be supplied with such stamps to be sold for use on mailings to be dispatched from other than their own post offices. In this connection attention is directed to page 48, 1908 Postal Guide, as to "outside" sales.

6. Postmasters will notify purchasers that the unperforated stamps should be cut apart carefully, as mutilated stamps are not valid for postage (paragraph 3, Section 562, Postal Laws and Regulations of 1902).

7. The right is reserved to prescribe other conditions as necessity may arise, or to discontinue the issue of unperforated stamps if at any time it appears necessary or advisable.

SATISFIED WITH THEIR RETURNS.

We have advertised our Fratcher's Lightning Calculator in a dozen or more of the leading magazines devoted to systems, short cuts in business, bookkeeping and various trade journals, that would naturally be expected to yield us larger returns on our investment. We also ran several small ads in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY just as a test and not looking for any great number of returns. We have just discovered that our ads in the trade column of the WEEKLY have netted us more orders (considering the circulation) than any of the other journals we advertised in and paying as high as $9.50 per inch for space. The proportion is 4 to 1 in favor of the WEEKLY. You will run our ad in the trade column every issue until we order its discontinuance.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Several letters and numerous clippings have been received from subscribers all dealing with the Lincoln agitation. We do not have the space to make use of the same and the recognition desired has been secured anyway.

—With trading stamps, Red Cross stamps and postage stamps the tongue of the Christmas shopper must have been licked to a frazzle.

—F. Percy Collingwood writes us that at a moving picture show in Attleboro, Mass., has been shown a representation of a stamp dealer who makes things interesting for a customer by showing him stamps arranged upon the wall of his office. Uncovering a large frame there is produced one after another a series of stamp pictures, each picture being followed by a type of the natives of the country shown. Here is certainly the germ of an idea that could be made effective in popularizing stamp collecting.

—In a note just at hand Mr. Vanderhoof informs us that he has secured the pledged support of Congressman Cook of Colorado for "our" House bill.

—Wm. C. Stone informs us that the Congressional Record of January 13 contains the debate on the House resolution to issue a Lincoln stamp. It is not of sufficient interest, however, for us to reprint the same.

—The Junior Philatelic Society with its usual enterprise has established a philatelic fund for the Sicilian sufferers.

—E. Harris, 309 George St., Toronto, Can., reports inability to secure the return of an approval selection from E. S. Neidlinger, 13 Duffy St., W., Savannah, Ga. Any dealer who has had trouble in this direction should communicate with Mr. Harris.

—A new paper called the Philatelic Post is expected in February from Holbrook, Mass. The prospectus is before us and any interested dealer or collector will be mailed one on request.

—Hugo Kuenstler very kindly favors us with twelve clippings, several of which deal with the agitation to return to the raising of revenue by means of a stamp tax on commercial papers, etc. Another clipping notes the arrest of John Upleger, Mt. Clemens, Mich., for looting the mails. In his room was found a large lot of stamps and old coins.

—Uncle Sam has recognized the exclusive proprietorship of E. L. Warner, Evanston, Ill., in the "Golden Genie".

—A Harlemitte, fond of figures, has been keeping tab and says that New York women in a line to buy tickets and postage stamps consume two and one-fourth times as much time as men.

—If a member of the A. P. S. and liable to suspension, remember that the posting of suspension next week will mean the discontinuance of the WEEKLY.

—Wolsieffer's auction sale catalogue, No. 94, is being mailed. It lists the collection of Prof. Benj. S. Terry of the Chicago University, as well as a Milwaukee property. Among the fine line of U. S. revenues are twenty-five lots of Nevada state revenues and a vertical strip of four of the 4-cent playing cards, a very unusual piece. The last Wolsieffer sale was a record-breaker as to the number of bids received.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

(Under this heading we note the receipt of catalogs, price lists, etc., from advertisers using the WEEKLY. Where addresses are given samples may always be obtained post free.—Ed.)

—Philatelic Tribune No. 3, Florida, N. Y. 12 pps. Best thus far issued.

—Per A. R. Butler, M. D., House resolution 216, calling for 2c Lincoln stamp, with portion of Congressional Record showing debate upon the same.

—From C. Bangs, opinion of the Atty.-Gen. that fac-similes of cancelled stamps as found upon picture post cards do not constitute articles prohibited from customs entry. We quote this interesting clause:—"If the marks of cancellation are imposed by a separate impression upon the fac-similes of uncanceled stamps the apparatus for making such uncanceled stamps would be subject to seizure, as well as the stamps themselves in their uncanceled state."

—From Morgenthau & Co., N. Y. City, catalog of the Hawkins Sale, Feb. 9 and 10. Fine line of U. S., colonies and possessions.

"My two advt. have been satisfactory in results. As I have done much advertising in other lines, I do not expect too much in direct returns. My aim is to make a customer on a small order, a steady patron because of the merits of my goods, prices and service. Will want the same space in your next special if I can possibly get time to make up the copy."

The managing editor sent Mr. Wolff a want list on his last advertisement and retained 58 of the 60 stamps received, the "good prices and service" being O. K.

A BUSINESS WORD.

We note with pleasure that some of our representative dealers are advertising in the British papers and we heartily wish both parties the most satisfactory business relations possible.

For our own part we feel complimented with the across-the-ocean patronage extended the WEEKLY. Next week Messrs. Peckitt, Bridger & Kay and Field will take goodly space and a new firm, Herbert Mack & Co., will be introduced to our readers.

The square on page one, formerly occupied by the J. T. Starr Co., has been taken by the Best Stamp Co., C. E. Hussman, Mgr. The following requests for first page are filed in their order: Wolff, Marks, Negreen, Neefus, Clark and Co-operative Exch.

Our "Special" for February will be devoted to Soudan and C. A. Howes will write the leading article.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Looms Up—The newspapers tell of the favorable action of the House of Representatives on Congressman Dawson's resolution authorizing the issue of a special Lincoln postage stamp of two-cent denomination to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth. If the Senate likewise passes the bill, it is practically certain that the Lincoln stamp will be issued, even though the department will have to work under great pressure to complete its task by the prescribed time. While the postoffice department is a creative body in the sense that the postmaster-general may issue new stamps as occasion requires, the action of Congress would be binding on the department, of course, and if the resolution providing for the new Lincoln stamp becomes law, the department whatever its mental reservations on the subject will obey the mandate with good grace.

Satisfied—Now that it seems likely that the sentimental aspect of the Lincoln stamp idea will be given consideration and that objections based on purely practical grounds will not be emphasized, it follows that the plan will prevail and the stamp be issued. There could be no withstanding the influence that immediately shapes itself in favor of any feasible and appropriate means to publicly honor Lincoln and now that the issue seems much nearer than when the subject was discussed several weeks ago, we shall accept the stamp as a fact and look upon the philatelic suggestions that are associated with the issue. Broadly, the issue of special stamps by a government whose standing removes it from the reproach of intent to profit financially through the enterprise is complimentary to stamps. They are given a place with medals as a medium for the public expression of regard or interest. The speculative element is entirely lacking in the later U. S. commemorative stamps and they may not be attacked fairly on that score. It is true that Mr. Wanamaker, who issued the Columbian stamps defended the issue of that important set by saying that the profit through the sale of the stamps to collectors would net a handsome sum to the government but since that day, the officers have learned to view the issues from a position that is reversed. Many collectors while not inviting the issues by any means accept them when they come.

Often Asked—Through the courtesy of John N. Luff, of Stanley Gibbons, Inc., we are enabled to furnish information on a question that is a source of much perplexity to collectors, who, particularly, are interested in U. S. stamps. It is how to distinguish between the issue 1870-71 and 1873, respectively, in the case of the 24, 30 and 90-cent stamps. A correspondent asks if it is not reasonable to suppose that there are shades in the colors that were employed both by the National and Continental companies, which would complicate the question of distinguishing between the printings by the differences in the colors. Other pertinent questions, having bearing on the subject, were asked by our reader, all of which are covered by Mr. Luff in his letter which we give here for the reason that it deals with a subject that is much in the minds of many collectors and because the inquiry department is often crowded out of successive issues because of the press of other matter for space in our columns.

Words of an Authority—Mr. Luff says: "First, your correspondent seems to think that there should be more shades in the 24c, 30c, and 90c, of the 1871-73 than we find. He appears to base his expectation on the fact that he does find many shades of other stamps in the series and also in the issues of 1860 to '66. I need hardly say that the higher values were less used than the lower ones. Therefore, there were fewer printings and chances for shades. In the years, 1860 to '66 the rates of postage were higher than in 1871 to '73. Therefore, there would be more use of the higher values of earlier years; consequently, more printings and more shades. I do not know anything other than color to distinguish these three stamps in the 1870-71 and 1873 series. We need not consider the 1879 series, as there, of course, we have a distinctive paper. In all three series the stamps were printed from the same plates. We know that secret marks were placed on the dies, but no new plates were made from the altered dies. Therefore, there can be no differences of engraving. There might perhaps be some slight indications of wear, but these indications are so very slight that I do not think that anyone but professional printers and engravers could detect them."

How to Tell—Mr. Luff now deals with the cross of the question of distinguishing between the two printings: "There is no distinctive feature by which the ordinary collector can positively identify the high value stamps of the 1871 issue from those of 1873. Colors, with some assistance from paper and gum, are the only things. Certainly, there are more than one shade of each of the three stamps in each issue, but in a general way the shades group themselves. That is to say, in 1871, the 24-cent has much red in the ink,—in 1873, it is darker, as if it had a little black. The 30-cent stamp of 1871 is usually in deep, strong black, while those of 1873 are greyish or greenish. The 90-cent, of 1871, stamps are a deep carmine almost lake, while those of 1873 are a pale carmine distinctly lighter. There are slight shades of each of these."

As You Wish—Finally Mr. Luff says in answer to the question that precedes his reply: "Is the young collector justified in paying an advanced price for some of these stamps without being able to positively identify them of his own knowledge? This is rather a broad question. It is difficult to say what another man should do with his own money or how far he is justified in spending it. I think myself that it is not wise for the young collector or anyone else to attempt from the beginning to be an advanced philatelist. Specialism requires study and time and money, and there is quite as much pleasure to be had out of collecting on simpler lines. Like any occupation or artistic pursuit, we cannot begin stamp collecting at the top but must begin at the bottom of the ladder and work up,"—and with this sapient observation Mr. Luff closes his letter which we esteem it a privilege to reproduce.

Seal—Stamp collectors are familiar with the seal of the post-office department, showing a mounted mail carrier in action. This seal was adopted May 1, 1837, when it was ordained "That the seal of the Post Office Department shall hereafter be a post horse in speed with mail bags and rider, encircled with the words, Post Office Department, United States of America." The "Post Rider" was the design used by Franklin to typify the mail service of his day. It seems that between the years 1825 and 1837, no seal was used on the papers of the department but "simply a wafer was affixed to papers without any impress being made thereon." It has been pointed out by students of heraldry that the English custom of facing all "charges" to the dexter (that is, the right side of the escutcheon, or opposite the left hand of the observer) is not observed in the seal. "Charges" in this instance do not refer to horses but to the figures in the shield.

Special to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

OUR ENGLISH LETTER

By WM. WARD.

The New Year—Has now properly opened, and bids to exceed any of the present century. Despite the money crisis, it can hardly be said that the stamp trade suffered any loss—more so the other way.

Each year sees more and more new issues, and 1908 was no exception to the rule. But at the same time the numbers of active philatelists, and more or less active stamp-collectors, are continually growing. During several journeys last year upon the Continent—even in the height of summer—it was a noticeable fact that philately has long outgrown that day when it was placed on the same level as the school boy who collected cigarette-cards, or the young lady who devoted her time to begging cigar-bands from her masculine friends. 1908 will always be famous, as 1840, for a great revolution in the World's Postal History. Fortunately for both the American and British peoples, we possessed far-seeing statesmen. But for our present British government, we should have had to wait many more years for penny postage. Before the present government here come round again for their general election, we shall have an almost international penny postage.

Publishing Mania.—We are in the midst of a wave of enthusiasm. This enthusiasm is hardly a philatelic one. There is a section of our younger collectors whose chief aim in life seems to be that they shall say, "I am the Editor of the Chronic Collectors' Mount or whatever fancy title they may light on. Indeed one can fail to see any other meaning. Probably none will ever see a four figure circulation. Were these journals issued by a trade firm, and confining their ad. space to the publishers' announcements, one could overlook, one can therefore understand a proper reason for its advent. The dealer wants to do business—and by interleave his price-list with some sort of literary matter, he is able to give it the more classy title of magazine or journal and thereby attract a greater circle of readers, and especially those who don't read ordinary price-lists. However our present flood of philatelic literature by no way claims to have any further aim in life than to advertise its Editor—yea, perhaps it has an aim—to cut advertising rates. But it does very little harm, in fact good, for it teaches the advertising dealer to discriminate and devote his attention to the circulations that are circulations. To give a good example, the keen-eyed dealer spends his nearly "quarter" a line in advertising in the WEEKLY and counts his replies by the hundred. On the other hand, the man who is attracted by the cheap "fifteen words" a nickel, has a blamed hard time to count his answers by a dozen. Of course few of these mushroom magazines see more than a few issues—they join the great majority when the Editor-Manager's bills come a bit thick. As things stand today in England, there are more Editors than contributors in the delightful hobby of Jonnaliese Timbriologie—but the printers don't mind.

The British New Guinea Surprise.—For several years the seven or eight stamps of British New Guinea stood in the dealers' lists at about 30% over face, or under. The highest value, 2s 6d—being in fact offered by many at under three-quarters of a dollar, and looked upon as one of those "stickers". Very few dealers bought many of this value. One bright morning comes the "Papua" surcharges, and later the Papuan regular issue. Then suddenly everybody finds they want the first issue, but the dealers haven't any. Nothing is heard of prices for some months. Then the Whitfield King Catalog comes out pricing the 2s 6d stamp at $5.00. Hardly out a week when a dealer advertises that he will give $10.00 apiece. Then comes Whitfield King's additional list with the O. G. pricing blank, and offering used for $18.75!

Keene Collectors in Kandia.—The Turkish occupation of previous to ten years ago in Crete, evidently taught the inhabitants of the ancient island of Candia, a few things. The Turk is acknowledged wily—indeed of recent years he has become a regular hustler. He knocked the Powers that have Post Offices in his territory out of competition in the mail trade, by underselling his stamps by 20%. The Greek authorities have taken further official protection over Crete, and as readers know, they have surcharged many stamps "Hellas" (Greece). Now in the Cretan Post Office were several of the first issue still in stock. These were surcharged with the rest. Of one value, and a low one at that, were only a small quantity. This being the 10 lepta with Prince George's head, sundry people knew that there was no likelihood of there being a re-issue. These sundry people earned their living in the Cretan Post Office. The number of 10 lepta Prince George's Head Stamps were only 30,000. Well, $600.00 is not a lot of money between several people—was it?

The Philatelic Exposition at Manchester.—Almost by the time this appears before the reader, we here will be on the threshold of the to-be great Exposition of the Junior Philatelic Society of Manchester—the branch that recently broke from the J. P. S. There is also to be a National, or International Congress run with it—the first for this country. Whether it will succeed can only be arrived at after the event. The English are of a different temperament to other peoples. You can travel a few hundred miles by train here, and your carriage companions won't say a word. A lot are like the parrot, they don't say anything but they think a mighty lot.

Fac-Similes.—It is curious to note that whilst no English speaking publisher would dare to admit ad. notices of fac-similes or repairing work, almost every medium on the Continent (Europe) admit such with open arms. I believe that this country is even freer than the States from such rubbish. It sounds all right saying that a fac-simile serves to fill up the space of a stamp outside the reach of most collectors, but it can never do any help to our hobby—more so from the point of study—for the paper, ink and very design must have some difference in the fac-simile from the original. I am glad to see American Collectors are determined to stamp this vampire trade out, and I feel sure all bona-fide dealers will help. The more publicity this matter gets, the harder it will be for the counterfeits to gain ground.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—Under date of January 12, 1909, Third Assistant Postmaster General A. L. Lawshe writes to the Managing Editor of MEKEEL'S, as follows:

"In reply to your letter of January 9, you are advised that a 2c postage stamp of special design to commemorate the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, will be placed on sale on Lincoln's birthday, February 12. It is not contemplated to change the design of the one and two-cent stamps, series 1908, to show the denomination thereon in numerals."

Supplementing the above letter, and also giving further information regarding the new issue, Charles R. Morris writes: "I shall have to take a back seat on what I am quoted on saying in this week's paper, that I do not believe there is any possibility of the Government issuing a Lincoln stamp. I saw the proof of it this afternoon through the courtesy of Mr. Lawshe and it is to be a beauty. There will be but one denomination, two cent, and the general design is like the new two even to the using words instead of figures to express the value. Mr. Lawshe laughingly said, 'You see, Mr. Morris, we don't consider that we are violating any regulations by not using figures, and the fact that England has not changed her stamps yet so as to use figures makes us doubly assured that we are all right.' I asked him if the Department did not contemplate using figures at all on the ones and twos and he replied, 'Not in the near future anyway; in the meantime we are printing in the neighborhood of 20 million every day so if any of you stamp collectors want to make a scoop on them go ahead.'"

"But to return to the Lincoln stamp. The head is as fine a piece of engraving as I have seen in a long time on a stamp. It is the head of Lincoln from the St. Gauden statue and a noteworthy fact is that it faces to the right instead of the left as is usual on all our stamps. Just over the words 'Two Cents' and running across the lower part of the oval is a ribbon; the straight portion across the oval bears the date 'Feb. 12', the left tail the year '1809' and the right tail the year '1909'. The beautiful engraving and the simplicity of the thing will make it a much sought after stamp. They will be sent to every Presidential postoffice, without requisition on the part of the postmaster, and will arrive in time to be placed on sale the morning of Feb. 12 in every such postoffice and in such other postoffices as make requisition for them. When asked how long they would be left on sale, Mr. Lawshe replied, 'A reasonable length of time'. That was all he would say about it.

"Mr. Toppan was telling me that just to try the new ten cent stamp, a lemon yellow color, as you know, he put one on an amber envelope and took it to be registered in the evening under a mercury vapor light, and the clerk said, 'You have no postage on your letter', but Mr. Toppan assured him that there was and showed it to him. I mentioned it to Mr. Lawshe this afternoon and he said, 'Yes, I'm afraid we shall have to change some of the colors a little but we don't want to any more than is absolutely necessary.'"

Leonard Garbaccio shows an envelope, 2c carmine on white, size 5, with the large head variety of stamp. He also sends us a cover having an ordinary 2c postage stamp apparently used as a postage due stamp. The cover has the usual wavy line cancellation over the regular stamp, and to the left "Postage due 2 cents" is printed with a rubber stamp. The letter was originally postmarked at Brooklyn, N. Y., but the additional stamp has "Paterson, N. J." in a single line, faintly printed over both the stamp and postage due notice.

Frederick C. DePuy reports having seen a package of the 2c carmine on white envelopes, with the thin lettering, like the claret ones of last year.

Anton Eiser reports plate numbers 4839 and 4843, both on the new 2c.

Oscar McElhiney shows us a 1c current envelope, with colorless spot after "States" that appears very much like a period. He also shows us a freak envelope of the 1908 issue, 2c on white, with the stamp on the back of the envelope, the upper left corner of the stamp just visible in the centre of the envelope at the bottom. The official return card appears at the left, with half of the printing on the back of the envelope, showing that both the carmine stamp and the black return card were printed before the blanks were folded, possibly before they were cut.

George L. Toppan is the first to show us the new 13c stamp, which is printed in a handsome shade of blue green, the design being the same as the other varieties with numerals of value. This stamp was issued Jan. 11, 1909, and Mr. Toppan reports having seen plate numbers 4942 and 4945.

N. Cobe, Geo. L. Toppan and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us the new 50c stamp, which is a peculiar shade of lavender or light purple, much lighter in fact than the new 3c stamp. Mr. Toppan writes: "Unable to find out about plate numbers as they told me they had had to tear all of them off of sheets so far received for the Government records. Issued Jan. 13, 1908."

Adhesives.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

That dollar bill will be the BEST INVESTMENT EVER! So delay not a moment in sending it to

The West End Philatelist

PUBLISHED BY

D. FIELD, ROYAL ARCADE, OLD BOND, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Subscription price 36c per year. Stamps taken.

The Philatelist is a tastily printed, well edited magazine on the order of the old Boston Stamp Book. B. W. H. Poole is the editor, a fine article on Falkland Islands by Mr. Poole appearing in the current issue.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—C. B. Bostwick has been studying the 1/4d Cayman Islands stamp, evidently to some advantage, judging from the letter printed herewith, which we give in full:

"After carefully examining six full sheets of the farthing Cayman Islands (printed as usual in two panes of 60 stamps each, making 120 to a sheet) I find one very distinct variety, due to a defective plate, no doubt. The fourth stamp from the top in the first vertical row at the left of the left-hand pane shows the variation.

"The normal stamp has two little branches, each bearing two leaves, as supporting decorations on either side of the crown. On the variety, a defect in the plate has caused a white spot to appear on the right hand side, entirely obliterating one of the leaves as well as the uppermost tooth of the serrated border surrounding the oval. So the variety has three leaves on the right side of the crown instead of the normal four.

"This variety is very noticeable, as the abnormal white space is fairly large in proportion to the size of the stamp, and immediately attracts the eye on the first glance at a full sheet of these stamps. The sheets I have seen are printed in a dark rich red brown, which seems several shades darker than four of these stamps that I received on a cover from George Town last summer. Ordinarily I don't care much about shades, but there seems to be a marked difference in these."

COLOMBIA.—Harry Leonard sends us a copy of the 20c blue on greenish paper, Scott's No. 100, perforated 14½. This is evidently unofficially perforated, though hitherto uncatalogued. Some of the later imperforate issues are noted unofficially perforated 11.

DANISH WEST INDIES.—Mr. Schachne has shown us another of the King Frederick set. (See No. 910.)

Post Card.

5 bits green on white.

DENMARK.—This country is now using its cards without the second headline "Paa denne", etc. Mr. Schachne has them.

Post Cards.

3 ore gray on white.

5x5 ore green on white; T. 3.

EGYPT.—Mr. Schachne shows us the first of the divided front cards which takes the place of the provisional 2 on 3m. It is without border; two perpendicular ruled lines separate the face into two equal parts with four dotted lines for the address. The headline is same except that there is more space and a dash after "Postale".

Post Card.

2m green on buff.

NATAL.—Frank P. Brown has shown us three of the new stamps with "Postage" only, all being on colored chalky multiple paper. The 5sh and £1 stamps are of large size.

Adhesives.

2sh blue and purple on blue.

5sh red and green on yellow.

£1 black and purple on red.

NETHERLANDS.—C. A. Goodwillie has shown us a used copy of the new 15c stamp in two colors, and the New England Stamp Co. has shown us both the 15c and the 25c, the latter also being in two colors.

Adhesives.

15c blue and carmine.

NICARAGUA.—Robert J. Wagner reports that he has seen a variety of Scott's No. 176, with the "1" of "15" omitted. He does not think it possible that this is No. 175, as the space between the "c" and the "5" on the latter number is only 2 mm., while on his variety the space is 4½ mm.

Mr. Schachne shows us a new regular issue card that, except for the changed stamp, is of the same design as the same value of 1900. The stamp is an upright rectangle, 22x27½ mm. with a round center containing the usual triangle, &c., "Nicaragua" in curve above and figures of value in each lower corner. The specimen before us has two adhesives added to make an apparent 4c value.

Post Card.

2c carmine on white.

QUEENSLAND.—The New England Stamp Co. has now shown us the 1sh violet, with four figures of value and white space around the head, Scott's type A18, printed on Crown A paper.

SIAM.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the recently issued provisional, "4" on 5 atts carmine, with the Jubilee surcharge recently noted.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—The 10sh green stamp has been issued on Crown SA paper, with large "Postage", the stamp being the large form.

SWITZERLAND.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new 2c stamp, which has been erroneously called the re-engraved stamp. As a matter of fact the stamp is enough different to be called an entirely new issue. Not only is the color changed, but the whole stamp has been re-engraved. The word "Franco" has disappeared from the pedestal on which the boy stands, which has also been changed so as to look more like a real pedestal. There is only one figure of value, which is printed at the left, opposite the boy's knee. The two lined frames at either side of the stamp have entirely disappeared, the plain background extending over the whole stamp. A colorless line runs around the stamp under the word "Helvetia" which is printed in colorless letters on an unframed tablet. There is nothing to BACK NUMBERS FOR THE ASKING.

A. Strauss, Drawer 63, St. Louis, Mo., announces some back numbers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY that he will gladly send to any one paying the expense of carriage. He has last year's issues almost complete, also a large number of copies of 1907.

If interested, write Mr. Strauss and enclose stamped addressed envelope if reply be necessary. Enclose sufficient postage for copies asked for, or give assurance that express charges will be met. This offer is open to any society or individual.

Philatelic societies desiring back numbers of the WEEKLY to complete files may also secure the same on payment of carriage by corresponding with J. A. Cook, 1103 Wash. St., Waterloo, Iowa.

COULDN'T DECEIVE THIS DRIVER.

A clergyman who made a study of antiques was riding on the outside of a coach in the west of England, when the driver said to him:

"I've had a coin giv' to me today 200 years old. Did you ever see a coin 200 years old?"

"Oh, yes; I have one myself 2000 years old."

"Ah!" said the driver, "have ye?" and spoke no more during the rest of the journey.

When the coach arrived at its destination the driver turned to the clergyman with an intensely self-satisfied air and said:

"I told you as we druv' along that I had a coin 200 years old."

"Yes."

"And you said you had one 2000 years old?"

"Yes, so I have."

"That's not true."

"What do you mean by that?"

"What do I mean? Why, it's only 1909 now."

APPLICATIONS.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

NOTICE.

A charter has been granted by the Board of Directors to The Wichita Stamp Collectors Club of Wichita, Kansas, to be known as Wichita Branch No. 31, Harrie S. Mueller, 1835 E. 9th St., Secretary.

Have you seen that friend yet? He is looking for you and has in his hand already the small amount of money that will see him through. He will lay the blame at your door if you pass him by without heeding his signal of distress. Do it now and then there will be no chance for the jury to bring in a verdict of "Guilty". Next week the suspensions will be published and this will tear a large hole at just about the water line. Can't you do your share in helping to plug up the leak? Did you ever hear a real big noise? Just imagine what a large sound it would be if every member would get another one. Too much work for the Secretary, you say. Why bless you, don't mind that, he is young and has plenty of time (in which to grow old) and work is what he thrives on. Just everybody send in an application and see if he cares. The only trouble will be that some will not be satisfied with one so the limit any one member will be allowed to send in will be one (hundred).

Just notice the list of applications this week and see the fine work of Mr. Wylie, four applications for membership and two for reinstatement. Now don't expect Wylie to plug up that hole all by himself. He probably could do it, but it isn't fair either to him or yourself that he should do it.

BRANCH No. 18.

The regular monthly meeting of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society was held on the evening of Jan. 6th, at the School of Industrial Art, Pres. Hahman in the chair. Nine members were present. After the transaction of routine business, the treasurer opened a subscription list for entertainment of A. P. S. convention, which met with a generous response. The president appointed Messrs. Haseltine, Kline and Henkels as a committee to provide entertainment at the meetings for the current year. Mr. Henkels announced that at the next meeting he would exhibit his collection of the Civil War Period.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 48th regular meeting was held Jan. 12, Mr. Mason presiding. Fourteen members and three visitors were in attendance. After receiving the reports of officers for 1908, the annual election was held which resulted as follows: Pres., Paul Mason; 1st V. P., Opha Moore; 2nd V. P., W. H. Field; Sec., Geo. K. Smith, Jr.; Treas., O. A. Schenck; Exec. Com., the above officers and J. F. Ranney and Geo. W. Linn. Owing to the fact that he is engaging in business in another city, Mr. Moore tendered his resignation as 1st Vice President and same was accepted with regret. The vacancy will be filled at the next meeting of the Executive Committee. Bernard Dailey made application for active membership. Messrs. Adair and Duffy made donations to the library and were tendered a vote of thanks for same. Committee on annual luncheon reported and were instructed to complete arrangements for holding same at Magley's Cafe, Jan. 20. Henry Maetzel exhibited a part of his fine general collection, which is particularly strong in United States and German States and Colonies. A prize drawing was then held, the prize going to John Zuber. Next meeting Jan. 26.

another week will tell a different story. The list of suspended members will then be published and we shall take our annual "drop".

However, we shall land right side up and at once begin to retrieve our fortunes. We have a good list this week, twelve in all. We want your name on the recruiting list and remember it's to be a Roll of Honor.

Remit $1.00 for share of stock and 60c for dues to next August with application giving age, occupation and business reference and we will see that your name is presented.

If you are liable to suspension remember you lose your MEKEEL'S.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the society was held at Hotel Hayward, Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, Jan. 12th, 1909. After an elaborate dinner, which took from 7.30 P. M. to 10 P. M. to enjoy, the meeting was called to order by the Pres't. Election of officers for 1909. Report of the Treas. showing all bills paid and balance in treasury read and accepted. Resignation of John J. Cone, Jr., a former president of the association, read and accepted with deep regrets. C. A. Howes elected an honorary member of the society. During the evening several communications from absent members were read regretting their inability to be present at the annual meeting. Meeting adjourned at 10.30 P. M., unanimously voting that the society had a very pleasant 14th birthday and resolving to make the next (the 15th) a banner one.

REPORT OF SECRETARY-TREASURER.

GALVESTON, TEX., Jan. 12, 1909.

It is my sad duty to report the untimely death of our 1st Vice President, Otto Staerker of Cuero. Mr. Staerker was one of our staunch members and will be deeply regretted by all who had known him.

Members are being notified that the dues for 1909, $1.00, are payable now. J. C. Morgenthau of New York has joined our association. Our articles of association have been mailed to all members.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF C. C. C.

Sec. Adair of the A. P. S. sends us a menu of this enjoyable occasion held Jan. 20 at Magley's, Columbus, with Paul Mason as toastmaster. It is so folded that it may be sent through the mails, the address side showing an American Mulready 2c postage being strewn broadcast.

Accompanying the menu card is a clipping from which we quote:

A specially bound volume of the American Philatelist, the annual of the American Philatelic Society, which held its national convention in Columbus last July, was forwarded yesterday by Henry S. Adair of this city, secretary of the society, to the Prince of Wales. The volume is richly bound in royal purple silk, with padded covers, inscribed in gold. The inscription follows:

"To H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, President of the Royal Philatelic Society, with Greetings and Best Wishes from the American Branch of the Universal Philatelic Brotherhood."

Copies bound in leather were sent to the Royal Philatelic Society, the Junior Philatelic Society of London; the Earl of Crawford, whose philatelic library is regarded as the greatest in the world; the Philatelic Society of India, Sir David Masson, Kt., C. I. E., governor of the state of Lahore, India, and to C. Stuart Wilson, C. I. E., vice governor of the same state, both of whom are eminent in the world of philately.

H. F. COLMAN,

GEO. L. TOPPAN, Manager,

723 Eleventh St., N. W.,

Washington, D. C.

"His forehead was high and narrow, inclining backward as it rose; his ears were large and stood out; eyebrows heavy, jutting forward over small sunken blue eyes; nose long, large and blunt; chin projecting far and sharp, curved upward to meet a thick lower lip which hung downward; cheeks flabby, the loose skin falling in folds; a mole on one cheek and an uncommonly prominent Adam's apple in his throat. His hair was dark brown, stiff and unkempt; complexion dark, skin yellow, shrivelled and leathery."

Yet, in spite of these rather discouraging physical peculiarities, the personality of the man was altogether lovable. Alexander H. Stephens, former Vice-President of the Confederacy, who knew him well when in Congress, said of him: "He was warm-hearted; he was generous; he was magnanimous; he was most truly, as he afterwards said on a memorable occasion, 'with malice toward none, with charity for all.' He had a native genius far above his fellows. Every fountain of his heart was overflowing with the 'milk of human kindness.' Lincoln was fond of fun and jested frequently, in spite of the burdens that lay heavy on his soul. He could tell as well as enjoy a good story, and this reputation causes thousands of them to pass current as having been told by him, without their ever having enjoyed that distinction. It is nevertheless true that few great statesmen were more capable than he of perceiving the kernel of a tale.

It is regrettable that the United States Government lacks the broad-mindedness of the English Government in the matter of allowing the reproduction of its postage stamps for illustrative and educational purposes, else might we present with these notes the cuts of the stamps that bear Lincoln's likeness. However, collectors of United States stamps can readily turn to their albums, if their interest warrants, for practically all the stamps with Lincoln's head are within the means of the average collector.

As we all know, the first stamp to bear the portrait of the then recently assassinated President was the 15 cent issued on August 15, 1866, just sixteen months after his death. This was a new value in the then current set, made necessary by the adoption of a registration fee of 15 cents, and the new stamp very naturally had Lincoln as its subject. It might really be termed our first mourning stamp, since the color appropriately chosen for it was black.

The portrait that appears upon this stamp is from a photograph by McNulta, taken at Springfield, Ill., just previous to Lincoln's departure for Washington in January, 1861. It is accounted about the truest portrait of Lincoln ever made. His friends at home esteemed it so highly that they chose it as the model for a painting made for the Illinois State House. The original negative, an old-fashioned "wet plate", was not long ago in the historical collection of H. W. Fay, Esq., of De Kalb, Ill.

The next stamp to bear Lincoln's head was the 90 cent of 1869. A careful comparison of this stamp with the 15 cent of the preceding issue will show that the two portraits are identical; in fact this is hardly more than could be expected, since both sets were engraved by the National Bank Note Co., and they naturally used the portrait die already in their possession for the new stamp.

The short-lived issue of 1869 was soon supplanted by the series of 1870, which made a material change in designs and subjects. The Postmaster General's report for that year states that "the designs were selected from marble busts of acknowledged excellence", and names the profile bust of Lincoln shown on the 6 cent stamp as "after Volk". In Melville's valuable little book on United States stamps, under "Biographical Notes" we find: "Volk, Leonard Wells, The portrait of Lincoln on the 1870 issue is probably a copy of this sculptor's portrait bust of the President, made in 1860, and which was burned in the great fire in 1871."

It is true that Volk took a life mask of Lincoln at Chicago, just before his nomination for the Presidency in 1860, but at that time Lincoln wore no beard, and a copy of this bust before me shows his features clean shaven, which had been his wont up to that time. About the time of his election, however, he grew the beard with which we are familiar in his usual portraits, and if we look carefully at the bust on the 6 cent stamp of 1870 we shall be at once convinced that it is not the bust that Volk made from the life mask in 1860, but must be a later one since the beard is plainly visible. I find that Volk also made a statue of Lincoln for the Capitol at Springfield, Ill., and though I have no picture of this at hand, I presume it must be the one from which the profile on the stamp is taken.

It will be remembered, of course, that the design of this 6 cent stamp, bearing the profile, was used for the official stamps of that value in the Agriculture, Executive, Interior, Justice, Navy, State, Treasury and War Department sets of 1873.

Once again, in 1890, another new series of stamps, in the reduced size now so common, brought a change in the subjects presented. Portraits were again introduced, among them being Lincoln's, this time on the 4 cent stamp. The official description says: "Portrait of Abraham Lincoln, after a photograph from life." In default of this note, which apparently settles it, one would say that the stamp portrait was an almost exact copy of the painting by William Marshall. This may all tally, possibly, for Marshall may have done his portrait from a photograph, or perhaps the photograph was really of Marshall's painting! Such things have happened. However, Brady, the Washington photographer, who took quite a number of photographs of Lincoln, afterward sold his original negatives to the Government and the head on this stamp may have been taken from one of these, which are now in the War Department collection.

With the series of 1902, we have again a portrait of Lincoln, transferred to the 5 cent value. It is similar to that on the 4 cent of 1890, and is evidently also from a photograph. The same portrait appears on the 12 centavos of the current issue for the Philippines, both stamps having been engraved by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

One curious representation of Lincoln is found in the medallion profile on the large 25 cent newspaper stamp of 1865. The official description calls it "a misty style of engraving", and it is evidently

Decided Upon—The postmaster general has announced that a commemorative stamp of two-cent denomination in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth will be issued on or before February 12th. Now that the issue becomes a certainty collectors will be eager to welcome the stamp, and they will soon have the satisfaction of adding to their collections a souvenir of historic as well as philatelic value. It is stated that 100,000,000 stamps will be prepared and at the risk of repetition, we give the following particulars of the design as furnished by the department: Portrait of Lincoln in an ellipse with a spray of laurel and the inscription "U. S. Postage" at the top and "1809-Feb. 12-1909" at the bottom. The color will be red. The profile of Lincoln was taken from a copy in the Corcoran art gallery, Washington, of Saint Gaudens' statue of Lincoln in Lincoln park, Chicago. The Saint Gaudens' statue is deemed by competent judges to be of remarkable fidelity to its distinguished prototype and it stands on an eminence at the extreme south of the park.

As Was Told Us—A novel problem has been propounded by a correspondent and we have found ourselves interested in its solution. The assumption is that the following explanation will prove readable. A correspondent asks: "We have a package that came to us by American Express. It was forwarded from Edinburgh by parcel post, and bore English stamps. Can you give us any light on the subject as to why this was delivered to us by the American Express and not by the United States post? In what way is the express company paid to deliver these packages which reach their destinations prepaid by British stamps?" The package in question was delivered to the American Express Company by the custom house at the port of entry and then forwarded to its addressee under the direction of the express company. There exists between the British postal authorities and the American Express company exclusively, a contract of one year's duration that provides for the delivery of postal parcels from Great Britain to this country, when twenty-five cents each package is paid in cash in advance or collected at destination. When the package is within the limits of four pounds weight and the value of ten pounds sterling, the package if sent insured must be handled by the American Express company, according to the contract now in force. It should be remembered that the agreement is one that is entered into by the British government with this one express company and we take it that this innovation is somewhat experimental. Our information was received from the foreign department of the American Express company.

the occasion of the second annual dinner of the club a menu was provided in the shape of a cover that bore a design that indirectly suggests the famous Mulready envelope; the theme is the spread of the two cents' postage rate. This is a forward to the gratifying intelligence that a copy of the American Philatelist, the annual publication of the American Philatelic Society, elaborately bound, was sent by the secretary, H. S. Adair, to the Prince of Wales. From the description the volume is a sumptuous one, with its binding in royal purple silk and padded covers, with golden inscription: "To H. R. H., the Prince of Wales, President of the Royal Philatelic Society, with Greetings and Best Wishes from the American Branch of the Universal Brotherhood." This greeting is most felicitous and Columbus has reason to give itself a self-approving hour for having carried a happy inspiration to so pleasing fruition. It will be remembered that Columbus invited the Prince of Wales to the convention last year and was rewarded by the receipt of a very graciously worded telegram. Leather bound copies of the volume were sent to other prominent philatelists in different countries of the world; and we have been given to understand that these courtesies were extended at the suggestion and the expense of the secretary of the American Philatelic Society, Mr. Adair.

Watching—When the bill of Mr. Taylor of Ohio to allow the illustrating of United States stamps for philatelic purposes comes up for action, it will have careful consideration, judging from the replies that have come from representatives and senators to that effect. Collectors are bringing to bear all influence that they possess for favorable action and are working faithfully with their spokesmen in congress for success. Letters that are received from Washington promise due attention to the bill and one congressman takes occasion to express his appreciation of the intelligent effort that is being made by the collectors who seem to be in much larger number than he supposed.

Too Drastic—While on the subject of the illustrating of United States stamps, it is to be said that violations of the present laws are of so frequent occurrence that one who is uninformed would suppose that no such restrictions existed. Usually, advertisers are the offenders and it is palpable enough that there are not a few printers and publishers who are unaware of the prohibition of any form of stamp reproduction. The law is broken unwittingly and in the cases where the authorities make inquiry into the violation, the absence of any wrong intent becomes evident and prosecution is not instituted, though a warning is given not to repeat the act. It is not unreasonable to suppose that the authorities themselves would admit that there is no adequate reason for the law in its present drastic form and that in the desire to be broadly protective an unnecessary abrogation of rights has been included.

Well Off—An article in a recent number of Success Magazine on the subject of fraud in paintings speaks incidentally of fakery in other lines of collecting. Postage stamps are mentioned, it being said that fictitious countries in the southwestern seas issue stamps solely with the idea of swindling collectors. This is stretching the truth to the snapping point. Nowadays, any newly issued stamps must certify to their proper character by credentials that are closely scrutinized; and the worst that is to be said in fairness is that some issues may serve no real postal necessity, although they have a postal validity. In comparison with other pursuits, philately seems to be admirably safeguarded and some of the deceptions practiced in other circles could never flourish in our ranks; and this is due to the advanced manner in which stamp collectors are organized.

Clients of mine have placed $5000 in my hands for the purchase of postage stamps, in the form of collections, sheets, blocks or stocks and accumulations, but in all cases of the better grade of stamps, in fine condition, which will prove saleable. No common stamps or small collections are wanted at any price. The matter of selection and purchase is left entirely to my judgment. I have been interested more or less in stamps for 15 years and have been a member of the Boston Philatelic Society for 14 years.

If you are tired of your collection, accumulation or speculation in stamps, (or have any large or small lots of unused U. S. Stamps to sell at a discount from face) here is your opportunity to sell out for spot cash. Let me know what you have to offer and your lowest price. As I am instructed to buy anything good, if I consider the price right, it will be your fault if no trade is made, for you are to make the price, not I.

SPECIAL

Correspondence solicited in regard to the purchase of any collection or stock of stamps, no matter how large, as my clients might be induced to buy if price is right.

ANOTHER LARGE PURCHASE

Last month we added another large collection to our stock by purchasing for Spot Cash the fine general collection of

MR. EDWARD H. HALL, of Fort Collins, Col., contained in seven large blank albums and cataloguing

OVER $15,000.00

We have been too busy the last few weeks to mark this up and advertise it, but we are now ready to place it on sale. The condition of Mr. Hall's stamps was fine, and the collection contained a great many "hard-to-get" stamps which can only be obtained when a collection of this kind comes on the market. Try us on a few of those wants you have been looking for so long.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Henry S. Linnemann favors us with a very important word just at hand from Jesse Overstreet, chairman of the House committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, in relation to the bill having for its object the illustration of U. S. stamps. It reads as follows: "I beg to advise you that no action has been taken upon this bill. The Postmaster General has made recommendation in opposition to the legislation, and it is not likely that any action will be taken by the Post Office Committee at the present session of Congress."

—Ben Hilbert of West Palm Beach, Fla., sends the WEEKLY his compliments in the form of a coconut "in the original cover". See advertisement in trade column.

—Daniel J. Kaib informs us that Congressman Huff of Pennsylvania writes that he "will cheerfully do as requested as regards the Taylor bill".

—S. E. Young, M. D., submits a bit of correspondence from a party desirous of disposing of a lot of stamps. We quote a portion of the letter: "I should like to let you have them, should you so desire. I have them from the landing of Columbus and till now. Come and examine them and you will find that I have what you want—ships and smokestacks and dates from Columbus and down."

—The Trenton Sunday Advertiser of Jan. 24 contained a lengthy article descriptive of the work of the Trenton Philatelic Society. Special reference was made to the collections of Senator Ackerman and Mr. Deats, which will be exhibited at meetings to be held in coming weeks. An editorial in the same issue, "E. B. Sterling in the Hall of Fame", paid warm tribute to the worth of Mr. Sterling, as entitled to a large measure of credit for the energy displayed in following his hobby. Thanks to Alva G. Clark for the above.

—At the meeting of the Detroit Phil. Soc. held Jan. 22, a spirited auction sale of stamps resulted in a good sized lot being disposed of at fair prices. An interesting paper was read by Brig.-Gen.

C. A. Coolidge, which will no doubt be published in an early number. Dr. Babcock, at whose residence the meeting was held, served a delightful collation to the members of the Society.

—A. Lang has received a favorable word from Congressman Tener of Pennsylvania in relation to the Taylor bill.

—The first number of the Collectors' Journal, Chicago, has appeared and it merits the high expectations that were inspired by the preliminary announcements of its publishers. The magazine is well printed and is typographically acceptable; and the contents while substantial enough are yet of a popular order. The first number has thirty-six pages and among the featured articles is the first instalment of an illustrated description of the famous Seybold collection of original covers. An article on postal card collecting by Mr. Schachne is illustrated by a real Hondurian postal card that is placed as an insert. From the introductory chapter of the widely-heralded "A New Color Chart" by E. M. Rosenthal, in which the scheme on which the chart is to be prepared is outlined, we readily believe that the chart will be an important contribution on the perplexing subject of stamp colors. The first number of the new paper is entitled to very favorable consideration and the publishers promise a steady improvement with each succeeding number.

—Geo. J. Carter has experienced another spell of philanthropy and the result is an album for entire, which will certainly be in great demand. The size before us is for 6 3/4 envelopes, allowing two or three to the page. The new book is made in two styles, one stiff cover at $1.00 and limp cover $1.10, both post free. Mr. Carter will no doubt give this album a proper announcement in our columns.

—According to C. L. Chalfant, Congressman Hamlin of Mo. "sees no objections to the passage of the House bill allowing the illustration of U. S. stamps." Senator Warner of the same state will give it his "careful consideration".

—Jno. F. Hinson of Keenansville, N. C., informs us of the death of Louis Desmarais, Jr., which occurred some four months ago. Mr. Desmarais was a member of the A. P. S. but we are unable to give any facts concerning him, or his philatelic possessions.

One bidder covered nearly two-thirds of the sale and his purchase amounted to more than one-fourth the sum total of sale. Several other large buyers helped to boost prices. A priced catalog of this sale is interesting. Mailed to any address on receipt of 50c in 1c or 2c stamps. If you are not a regular buyer at auctions better investigate and send for free catalog. You can get the stamps you want and at your prices or less. The catalogs are very explicit in every respect. Always note my regular ad each week on front cover page.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Stanley Gibbons' Catalog, Part II, 1909.—For sale by the publishers, 198 Broadway, N. Y. City, and dealers generally. Price 70c post free.

This catalog is certainly a necessary book to every serious collector. The marvel is that so much matter can be put into such compact form. The catalog in general appearance follows the lines of the issue of a year ago though certain specific changes are made that will be noted with interest. We can do no better than quote some of the publishers' introductory remarks:—

"A point to which we have given much attention in this volume is that, wherever possible, we have inserted over each issue the method and place of printing the stamps, and very often also the names of the designers and of the printers.

"We have also endeavored to give names of rulers, with dates of accession and death, and in almost all cases we give under each stamp an explanation of the design, except where such is apparent at a glance.

"We wish to draw special attention to the reprinting of Ecuador, Nicaragua and Salvador. For nearly two years we have been making a careful study of these countries, with a view to eliminating the reprints of what are termed the 'Seebeck' sets. We are now able to announce that we have cleared out every reprint or doubtful stamp from our stock, and having very carefully examined many stocks both in Europe and America, we have been able to form a fairly correct estimate as to the relative rarity of original 'Seebecks'.

"Early in 1909 we propose to publish in Gibbons' Stamp Weekly full details concerning these reprints, and explain how to distinguish them from originals.

"The following countries have been wholly or partly rewritten: Nicaragua, Persia and Turkey, whilst the lists of Panama, Paraguay and Siam have been carefully revised.

"The stamps of Argentina, Buenos Ayres, Egypt, Sicily, Turkey, United States and Uruguay have been somewhat considerably advanced in price owing to the difficulty we have in replenishing stocks of these countries, for which there appears to be an increasing demand. In European stamps there are also some considerable advances, as these stamps have also been in great demand, especially on the part of Continental collectors.

"Our attention has been called to many inconsistencies in colour names throughout the Catalogue, which have arisen largely from the fact that from time to time the lists have been rewritten or revised by different authorities. To compare each stamp of one colour with every other would be a laborious task, but we intend in the near future to deal with this question, and to set up a standard of the principal colours which can be used for purposes of comparison. In this edition we have in a great measure—but by no means completely—dealt with the most confused group, viz that including violet, mauve, purple, lilac, etc., working largely upon the lines suggested by B. W. Warhurst, the compiler of our Colour Dictionary. Some countries have not been revised, but on the whole we think a greater degree of consistency has now been attained throughout the Catalogue.

"The question of the prices quoted in this Catalogue has received our most careful attention. These have been very carefully revised, and our Catalogue prices are for stamps in fine condition. Inferior copies can be supplied at much lower rates.

"An important point to remember is that all prices quoted in our Catalogue are based upon stock in hand at the time of going to press. We do not believe in 'guess-work prices,' or those based upon the average of other catalogues."

The book is well printed on pure white stock and opens flat at any country. The mass of information scattered through the book makes it invaluable and we urge every reader of the WEEKLY to buy a copy and study for himself the prices that the house of Gibbons steadfastly maintains represents actual market values at the time of going to press. Part I will be issued in February.

APPLICATIONS.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

NOTICE.

A. H. Hopkins having resigned as Librarian of Carnegie Library, Pittsburg, Pa., he will be succeeded as Librarian (ex officio) of this Society by the present Librarian of Carnegie Library, Harrison W. Craver.

JOHN N. LUFF, Pres.

H. S. ADAIR, Sec.

Owing to the fact that there are always some stragglers in every large body, the list of names of the suspended members will be held over until next week in order that we may catch all the belated ones. Next week sure. Is your name written there? Stop and think.

Do you fully realize how important it is that you should get in touch with your Senators and Congressmen regarding the proposed illustration of U. S. postage stamps for educational purposes? It looked like a forlorn hope at first but things have brightened up so that now there is a splendid fighting chance if we all do our part. This is one of the great things we have ever undertaken and we surely don't want to see the word "Failure" written across our effort. It is not too late to do good and the movement may fail unless you do what is expected of you. Get in touch with your National legislators and write besides to Hon. Jesse Overstreet, Chm. House Com. on Post Offices and Post Roads, Washington, D. C., urging a favorable report from this Committee, to whom our bill has been referred. How can you sit idly by, watching others strive with might and main? Why not be able to say, "I helped do it"?

Remember—The eyes of philatelists all over the world are upon us. It should be a matter of national pride with you.

In a recent number of a popular sporting magazine the Secretary read a long article on "Hunting Dogs on the Trail". It discussed at much length the merits of still trailers vs. tonguers or barking trailers. The general consensus of opinion was that the dog that produced results was the best, no matter of which class. How long have you been on the trail of that friend, and how about the result? Results are what we are looking for and unless we keep on the trail of live ones we are going to lose the advantage for which we have worked so hard. It does not matter whether we are still trailers or tonguers, results count. Are you on the trail? One a day, you know.

One member writes, "Keep up your comments, they are witty, but the man who wrote 'Snowbound' was Whittier." We forgive that member because he sent in two applications in that letter.

Another member says, "I beg to enclose herewith application of Mr. —. I have been on his trail for over a year but just landed him. He is a Live Wire. Yours for One a Day, —."

Persistency, thou art a jewel.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR 1908.

Read at the Annual Meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1909.

One year ago you honored me by choosing me to serve you as your President, and tonight, on concluding the term of office for which you elected me, it becomes my duty and I assure you my pleasure to review with you in some brief way the happenings of the past year which have for us more than ordinary interest or which bear upon the pastime of which we are so fond.

A few short months ago was instituted what is probably the greatest postal reform in the history of the world, in so far as goes the conferring of the greatest good upon the greatest number, viz.: the introduction of penny postage between the two great English speaking nations of the world. For more than fifty years, following the success of the postal reform movement in Great Britain, this matter has been agitated upon both sides of the Atlantic by men interested in the world's progress, and the first of October last saw the culmination of their labors and the fruition of their hopes. Within a few weeks Germany also began to enjoy the same boon in its postal intercourse with our country, and other nations will doubtless follow. And thus is forged another link in the chain which is to bind all nations together into a closer union and lasting fraternity.

Regarding the new issues of the past year, the various catalogues tell the story of continued activity. Probably the postal emissions which have attracted the greatest interest in this country have been—First, the beautiful set commemorative of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec, the celebration of which event brought to this continent no less a personage than that earnest philatelist, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, President of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, and Second, the simple and dignified set of our own country, now in process of issue. Regarding the latter, while we must in some ways deplore the passing from view of the likeness of many of our distinguished patriots and statesmen, made familiar by a continuous use of more than fifty years, yet we must regard it as a distinct improvement over the elaborate set of 1902, and one which, judged by the values as yet current, is likely to take its place as one of the most satisfactory sets which has been as yet provided for our use.

Other countries which have provided material with which to either grace or disgrace our albums are Austria, France for its offices in China, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador, Zanzibar and Colombia. During the year to come the new color scheme of Great Britain will probably furnish us with many new varieties of British Colonials, and the tragic death of the King of Portugal will undoubtedly result in a flood of new issues for the home country and her colonies; while we may confidently look to the recent upheaval in Venezuela to produce philatelic results in the near future.

There have been several highly successful exhibitions during the past year, among which that of the Junior Philatelic Society of London must take high rank. This exhibition was attended by a vast number of visitors and there were displayed stamps to the value of more than £100,000, thus presenting conclusive evidence of the present stability of philately and convincing proof of the wonderful increase of interest in our hobby.

The past year has witnessed the passing onward of many eminent philatelists and among them the names of Messieurs Paul Mirabaud and J. B. Moëns stand prominently forth. Monsieur Mirabaud was an honorary and honored member of our own Society, whose philatelic possessions were vast and almost priceless; but his memory will be best perpetuated in the world of philately by the heritage he has left to us in the form of his superb work on the stamps of Switzerland, the most sumptuous work on the stamps of any single country ever published. This volume will be his lasting philatelic monument.

The name of Moëns, the eminent Belgian editor and dealer, has been for fifty years an household name among stamp collectors. He is indeed entitled to the appellation of the Father of Philately. To his thrift and foresight, in stocking

REPRINTS OF SPECIAL ARTICLES.

(We have secured a nice binder of the right size for these reprints that we will send on receipt of 30c, which just pays expense of manufacture and postage. As reprints are issued week by week they can readily be inserted in alphabetical order. This binder is Carter's Modified Multibinder, made to accommodate our WEEKLY reprints and every collector should have one. If two or three can be ordered at one time they will stand handling better.—Ed.)

THE FOREIGN PRESS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

(This article reprinted from the Philatelic World presents a subject matter worthy of consideration and support. Anxious to spread the efficiency of the A. P. S. we can but believe that the directors of the society would gladly do all in their power to hold up the hands of the Int. Sec. and meet such expenses as might be incurred in the successful prosecution of the duties of the office. We must assure Mr. Kjellstedt that in our humble opinion the members have not been too busy in the matter of securing applications, that charge can be laid at the door of but one member. We are in hearty sympathy with Mr. Kjellstedt's desire to increase the respect and esteem in which the A. P. S. is being held.—Ed.)

Looking on over the prospectus of the International Exhibition at Amsterdam which will be held next June under the auspices of the Netherlands Society of Postage stamp collectors, we find that on the Collectors Committee of Honor there is not a single American name although this committee is composed of the leading collectors of the entire world. On the Societie's committee of Honor we find the Boston Philatelic Society and on the Praganda Committee we find Mr. J. M. Bartels of Boston. All the leading philatelic societies of the world from Stockholm to Buenos Aires are represented both as corporations and by individual members but the largest NATIONAL society in existence, the American Philatelic Society, is conspicuous by its absence. Why? because we have been so busy hunting for new members, that as a body we have had no time for Philately and less time to bother about those in other countries who are doing what we ought to be doing ourselves. At the convention of last year at Columbus, the international secretary of the society incorporated in his annual report four recommendations which were intended to open up a field for propaganda in the European Countries, and as an extending of the glad hand of fellowship. We are not aware of that these recommendations were considered for a moment or led to any action of any kind. The office of the international secretary of the A. P. S. has always been more or less of a "dead letter office" and it will always remain so as long as the incumbent is not given a wider field for his usefulness. Under the By-Laws his chief duty consists of the correspondence of the Society and the Board of Directors with foreign societies but as our policy is to have nothing to do with foreign societies, the duty referred to exists only on paper. The American national society should take an important part in the councils of organized philately. It should elect the leading societies of the world, corresponding societies for the exchange publications and reports. At present the By-Laws do not provide for such a feature but this is easily remedied. Many years ago the International Philatelic Society, Dresden, elected the A. P. S. a corresponding society and this courtesy has never been returned. In 1906 the Swedish society called its greeting to the A. P. S. but I do not believe this courtesy was ever acknowledged. During the past summer the international secretary took upon himself to send messages of good will, in behalf of the A. P. S. to the annual Swedish convention and the German "Philatelisten Tage." These messages were received with cheers, and thought more of than the scores of messages received from other and nearer sources. We believe the international secretary rather went beyond his authority in taking such action because under the By-Laws of the Society he has no authority whatever to extend the usefulness of the office to which he has been elected. If the A. P. S. elected a few of the leading societies in Europe corresponding societies, it would immediately become the duty of the International secretary to improve upon the new relations to such an extent that our members could benefit therefrom. A field for trade and exchange could be opened under the protection of organizations of strength and repute. Our library, which is not worth mentioning in comparison with the libraries of European Societies, would benefit from donations of Copies to the publications issued by the societies with which we had entered into closer relations. The American Philatelic Society would become better known and become a factor in the international councils of philately. American trade, industry and enterprise have successfully entered into an aggressive competition in foreign markets. Why should not the same American spirit govern our philatelic policy which heretofore has consisted of a conservatism amounting to a stand still. At the Atlantic City convention we should elect an international secretary who has the proper amount of time, willingness, and ability to devote to his office and then we should furnish him with the means and opportunity of making himself useful.

All the foreign numbers we are now getting are foreign dealers who simply join for the privilege of exploiting our sales department. The Philatelic Society of Sweden have fixed the dues of foreign stamp dealers at nearly four times the amount required of foreign collectors and still this society, in proportion to its membership, has more foreign members than the A. P. S. It is not the foreign dealers we particularly desire to come in contact with, it is the foreign collectors, and the living, breathing philately of Europe which is accomplishing a good deal more than we even thought of attempting.

The "entente cordial," once fairly under way would gradually become reciprocal. American collectors would join European societies and avail themselves of their many benefits and receive inspirations from their published proceedings. Our national Society is too big an offer to take a back seat and we are sure that no member wishes that it should. But as we hold aloof from the rest of the philatelic world we must expect to be left alone and be called nonproductive and uninteresting. We can enter into profitable foreign relations at no additional cost, except an increase in our postage bill but it must be done OFFICIALLY at the desire and with the sanction, of the American Philatelic Society. Give the international secretary the proper backing and then tell him to go ahead.

By GEO. H. ANDERS.

Among my Match and Medicine proofs I find this particular one, engraved, but evidently never used: "University Medicines, U. S. Inter. Revenue." 4 cents.

It is about the size and similar in design to the Helmbold stamps, except in the center we have a portrait of the proprietor. Who can give us the desired information as to his identity? The proof is found in three colors, blue, green and black.

graving ever executed by the government. This is due in a great measure to the fact that so many firms were interested in working out designs with the result that we have the ideas of hundreds of firms and persons set forth in their makeup. They are beginning to be appreciated to the extent that in a very short time, the collecting world will wonder why they have remained dormant so long.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A meeting will be held at No. 9 The Westminster, cor. 9th Ave. and Marion St., Seattle, Thursday evening, Feb. 18, 1909, for the purpose of establishing a live branch of the A. P. S. in that city. Every collector cordially invited to attend. Address Francis Rotch, Jr., as above.

—We quote from a recent letter from Chas. R. Morris of Wash., D. C.:—"Judge Harlan, of the U. S. Supreme Court, told me an amusing story of his first recollection of the use of adhesive stamps. He said that one of the first letters he ever saw with an adhesive came from California and the correspondent had made an affidavit on the outside of the envelope, reading, 'I solemnly swear that I have paid the full postage on this letter in case that the stamp I have put on here don't stick.' The thing was such a new innovation that the writer had his doubts about the letter reaching its destination with the sticker on."

—John E. Boyle of Westfield, Mass., ex-president of the Springfield Club, was a recent visitor to the WEEKLY office.

—J. D. Bartlett informs us that the reference list of tinfoil tobacco wrappers to be published by Messrs. Prevost and Bartlett is now in the hands of the printer and will be issued the latter part of the month.

—As will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, Clarence P. DeKay of Florida, N. Y., has gone to Denver, Colo., to assume the business management of the Stamp Journal. Mr. DeKay has consolidated his former publication with the Journal and a successful publication will no doubt result.

—S. E. Young, M. D., H. Franke and John A. Solomon call our attention to the U. S. stamps perforated with initials now in use, giving detailed information as to the names of firms represented by these various initials. We cannot find space, however, to take up in detail the chronicle of these varieties. Dr. Young writes that he considers this "a very interesting side-line", which is no doubt true, and an article dealing with these initial perforations will without doubt find a place in our columns. We have been compelled to take a similar position in relation to inverted watermarks.

THE OLD GUARD.

(Our correspondent does not wish to have his name used but we must express our satisfaction in being thus able to honor the "Old Guard". May its members live long as an honor to the society and a credit to philately.—Ed.)

Looking through the names of the 1600 or more members listed in the present Year Book of the American Philatelic Assn. one is reminded how seldom is seen the name of any of the original charter members. It is something more than idle curiosity that prompts an investigation into this matter.

In Official Circular No. 2, of the American Philatelic Association dated Grand Crossing, Ill., December, 1886, is published a list of members in good standing at that date. This is the first list of members published and is in fact a list of Charter Members of the Association; there are 116 names in the list. Of these 116 names, 27 appear in the list of members in the present Year Book. Of these 27 names only 14 appear in the numerical list of members in the present Year Book with numbers not above 116. From this it would appear that the other 13 dropped out, and have later again joined the Association, and therefore assigned new and much higher numbers.

The fourteen who have kept up their membership from the beginning can be rightly denominated the "Old Guard" of the Association, or Society, as the new generation has seen fit to name it, and it would not seem out of place that their names be given here. They are: No. 4, Charles Gregory; No. 5, John M. Hubbard; No. 7, H. N. Terrett; No. 13, W. A. MacCalla; No. 18, C. F. Richards; No. 19, H. B. Phillips; No. 31, Alvah Davison; No. 32, E. R. Aldrich; No. 36, H. E. Deats; No. 38, P. M. Wolsieffer; No. 47, C. F. Rothfuchs; No. 49, Wm. C. Stone; No. 64, Brig.-Gen. C. A. Coolidge; No. 86, E. B. Sterling.

COLUMBUS CLUB ANNIVERSARY.

The second annual luncheon of the Columbus Collectors' Club was given Wednesday night, January 20th, in the private dining room at Magley's in South High Street, with twenty-five members of the club and seven visitors present. Paul Mason, the newly elected president of the club, was toastmaster. The table, laid in the form of a "T", was tastefully decorated, and a substantial and attractive menu was enjoyed. The menu cards were in the form of small folders, modeled after the Mulready envelope, with an original design by Harry J. Westerman, cartoonist of the Ohio State Journal, who drew the cartoon for the A. P. S. convention which attracted so much favorable notice last summer. The design represented Father Columbus standing on a half-globe, distributing to the four winds winged letters inscribed "2-cents postage". Music was by a quartet of the Republican Glee Club.

There were short talks by nearly everyone present. Probably the greatest interest and amusement was aroused by the little talk of Dr. H. M. Semans, who, as Dean of the Department of Dentistry at Starling (Ohio) Medical College, said he found pleasure and profit equal to that of collecting stamps in collecting odd specimens of teeth. For instance, he said he had an unsevered pair of superior central incisors—that is, the two upper "cutting" teeth—which he declared was very unusual condition for these teeth. These and other "specimens" described largely in philatelic terms were the cause of much merriment. The doctor said that while he collected his specimens in all kinds of condition, they never came "unused".

John Zuber, that veteran philatelist and treasurer of the Hoster Associated breweries, told us how he became a collector. When the remnant of the French army, largely disarmed, took refuge from the Prussians at the close of the war of 1870, in Switzerland, a French officer was quartered in his father's home. This officer received letters from home, and with the stamps from these the then youthful John begun his collection. An uncle in America also unwittingly contributed by the stamps on his letters home, and Mr. Zuber said the fifteen cents brown and blue U. S. 1869 now in his collection was one of those that first carried a heavy letter from the States to his Swiss home.

One of the features of the luncheon was a prize drawing, and, unexpectedly, another was an auction. Henry S. Fleck of Newark, won the first and third prizes, respectively U. S. No. 118 and 119. He promptly donated them to be auctioned for the benefit of the club. Former President Duffy for the 118 at half catalogue, and the 119, being in exceptionally fine condition, brought eighty per cent. of catalogue, and went to Dr. Semans.

The out-of-town members present were Messrs. Fleck of Newark; Schaffner, Windhurst and Fogleson of Marion. A letter of regret was received from Assistant Postmaster Michael Effinger of Lancaster, detained at home by sickness in his family, and greetings came from Mr. Wright of Marion, now travelling in the British West Indies and that day in Trinidad.

DEATH OF MR. MASSOTH.

Just as we go to press Mr. Severn wires the WEEKLY the sad news of the death of F. N. Massoth in El Paso, where he had gone to spend the winter. We can publish in this issue only the fact as wired but further information may be available by next week.

UNITED STATES.—George L. Toppan sends us the first copy of the new $1.00 stamp, which was issued Jan. 20. The color is a rich brown black, which brings out very handsomely the beautiful lines of the engraving. It will be noted that the color is not pink, as was at first announced. It is a pity that wiser counsels could not have prevailed in selecting some of the other colors also. Plate number is 4957.

Francis Rotch, Jr., sends us a copy, or rather parts of two copies, of the new 2c stamp, so badly perforated that the stamps are nearly cut in halves. On the larger portion, the "GE" of "Postage" and the "TS" of "Cents" are missing, and of course a corresponding portion of the oval. It is lamentable that the United States stamps cannot be better perforated. When they are compared with the perfect work of the English stamps, their poor appearance reflects seriously upon the skill and ingenuity of the American printers.

M. Hale Jones, Jr., calls attention to the fact that the 1c of the 1902 issue has a variety very much like the 6c noted in No. 931. The background around the head of Franklin appears not only in the regular way, with a background of crossed lines, but also with the background so deepened as to appear solid, preserving this appearance even under a magnifying glass. Mr. Jones says: "It seems to me that the difference between the 2c stamps in sheets and those in books is caused by the shape of the head. Careful measurement shows no material difference in either the length or breadth of the ovals."

Edward W. Bridge reports having found the current 2c carmine envelope, sizes 8, 9 and 13, with color both inside and out. The inside color of size 9 is the same as the outside, but the others are a little lighter. We have been printing many items regarding the freak envelopes which the printers have turned out in such large quantities, but it has been decided that hereafter no notice shall be taken of varieties which simply show white or colored spots on the printing. In other words, lack of space will require the limiting of notice to such varieties as appear to be worthy of a place in the Catalogue.

We give below a new list of precancels, which have been sent in by Frank B. Eldredge, Carl E. Williams, Percy M. Blake, John A. Solomon and E. J. Post. As the editor of this column is not an expert in the Precancel Section, and has no list of varieties previously noted, correspondents are particularly requested not to send in notes regarding stamps that have appeared before. Subject to this reservation, the list given below is printed:

Boston, Mass., 1c 1908, normal and inverted. Providence, R. I., 1c 1908, normal and inverted. Boston, Mass., 2c 1908. Chicago, Ill., 1c, 2c, 3c and 4c 1908, normal. Columbus, Ohio, 1c 1902, double, reading up. Racine, Wis., 3c 1908, reading up and down. Racine, Wis., 2c 1908. Westgrove, Pa., 1c 1908, very small letters. Yonkers, N. Y., 1c 1908, square dot cancellation. Elkhart, Ind., 1c 1908, three bars. Clintonville, Conn., 1c 1908, reading up and down. Calla, Ohio, 2c 1908.

New plate numbers, in addition to those printed in No. 944, have been sent us by Edward W. Bridge, Frank W. Cole, H. S. Williams, Ernest Lothrop and E. M. Gearhart as follows: 1c, 4891; 2c, 4818, 4824, 4846, 4856, 4857; 3c, 4925; 19c, 4943; Special Delivery, 4917.

M. P. Rodermond and N. Cobe have also shown us the new 1c and 2c stamps, imperforate.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—Hermann Focke has shown us a set of the new stamps in used condition, they being rare in this condition.

CANAL ZONE.—Gerald D. Bliss and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us the new 10c Panama stamp, surcharged for the Canal Zone. The stamp still bears the portrait of Jose de Obaldia, but the engraving is redrawn, the head being smaller, and more of the bust shows. The frame is entirely new and is in the later American Bank Note Company's style, similar to the Peru and Brazil stamps. The new 10c was issued about Jan. 19, and Mr. Bliss understands that other values are to follow at once. At the Panama offices outside the Canal Zone the new stamps will not be placed on sale until the previous issue is all exhausted.

DUTCH INDIES.—According to Ewen's Weekly, the new 7½c, 17½c and 22½c stamps have been surcharged "Java" and "Buiten Bezit" like the other values previously reported.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Ewen's Weekly reports that two very distinct shades of paper are found in the 3d stamps, yellow and nearly orange. These shades have been found in mint blocks, so that it can not be said that either are due to soaking.

GREENLAND.—It appears that we were led into error by Der Deutsche Philatelist, in stating that three new stamps had been issued for Greenland by the Danish Government. Ewen's Weekly publishes a statement from the Postmaster General of Denmark, dated at Copenhagen, December 9, 1908, in which he says "that no stamps for Greenland have been issued. Letters from Greenland are by care of The Royal Danish Greenland Trading Company forwarded to Copenhagen, and in this city the letters are furnished with Danish stamps." It appears, therefore, that the stamps noted in No. 940 were simply the private stamps of the Trading Company, and not entitled to be classed as a regular Government issue.

INDIA.—Jairpur.—Ewen's Weekly is informed that this Indian state will not hereafter issue its own stamps. The current issue, with the Chariot of the Sun design, has been in use only about three years.

NICARAGUA.—Supplementing the note contained in No. 940, Hermann Focke and J. H. Winship give us further information regarding a new set of provisionals, printed on the much used, or abused, 2c orange revenue stamp. Mr. Winship says there are several varieties of typographical errors on the above provisional, and the same is also true of the 50c official, surcharged on the 2c orange fiscal stamp. The latter has several varieties of the letter "I", oval and round ciphers in both date and value, and straight and slanting "5" in the lower value. Mr. Winship reports having the 10c blue, Scott's No. 227, surcharged "Correos—1908", with the additional surcharge in green of "B—Dpto Zelaya."

Mr. Focke sends us two new provisionals, similar to the 10c provisional noted in No. 940, and like that stamp having the surcharge reading down. The type is small, the value being especially indistinct, but the printers have used a normal "c" with only one cross line. Mr. Focke reports having seen the 10c with the "c" both normal and inverted.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

THE C. P. S. ANNUAL DINNER.

Several spectacular and surprising features were introduced at the dinner of the Chicago Philatelic Society held January 30th, at the Boston Oyster House, that made the occasion a distinctive one. The committee having the dinner in charge is entitled to favorable consideration for having so effectively presented novel forms of entertainment. First of all, a Chicago Philatelic Society special number of the Daily Philatelic World, dated January 30th, 1909, was distributed to each of the fifty members and guests in attendance who expressed appreciation of its novel features. The menu was printed on the first page and also the society song. "Some Banquets of the Past", by C. E. Severn, told of historic dinners that were held in bygone days; and C. E. Rogers, M. D., father of President Rogers of the C. P. S., contributed a delightful sketch on "Cancellations"; the clever little article by a "non-philatelist" with its quaint vein of humor was greatly enjoyed and it was based on an incident that aptly conveys a philatelic lesson.

The large attendance was conducive to an evening of enthusiasm; speeches were made by Messrs. Mudge, Dodd, F. Michael, Wolsieffer and others; President Rogers officiated as toastmaster. Mr. Mudge related an engrossing tale of philatelic romance; Mr. Dodd furnished the comedy; F. Michael, the sentiment and Mr. Wolsieffer told of the early history of the society. Three prominent operatic vocalists were heard and their efforts were greeted with salvos of applause. Encores were repeatedly demanded and the artists were gracious enough to respond until their original program was stretched beyond all bounds. A bit of home talent was displayed in the musical act of Messrs. Saxby and Gabriel, Jr.

The evening with its excellent menu and varied attractions was one that will long remain in the memory of those who braved the cold and were warmed by the spirit of rare fellowship that marked the occasion and another success has been added to the record of the years of the Chicago Philatelic Society.

The menu follows:

Celery	Canape a la Russe	Olives
	Blue Points
	Consomme Princess
	Filet of Sole, Mornay au Gratin
	Parisienne Potatoes
Pate de Foie Gras	Fresh Mushrooms
	Abricot Punch
Filet Mignon, Saute a la Moir
Special Baked Potatoes	Wax Beans
	Combination Salad
Neapolitan Ice Cream	Assorted Cakes
Roquefort	Toasted Crackers
Cafe Noir, Demi Tasse

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays at Club Room 506 East Bdg., 7.30 P. M.

BOSTON, Jan. 19, 1909.

The one hundred and ninety-sixth (regular) meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society was held at the Club Room this evening. President Green called the meeting to order at 8.10 and thirty-six members and friends were present.

The records of the December meeting were read and approved.

This being the Annual Meeting, the reports of officers were then presented as follows: President, Secretary, Treasurer, International Secretary, Supt. of Auctions and Sales, Supt. of Bourse. Also reports of the following Committees: Library, Entertainment for 1908, Expert, House and Recruiting. All were accepted and will be published in due course in the Official Journal. The Secretary presented a report on the auction sale at the informal meeting of Dec. 1, 1908, which will also be published.

Nominations for officers being in order, Mr. Lyons withdrew his name as a candidate for Supt. of Sales and nominated Peter C. Kimball. Chas. H. Fowle, nominated at the last meeting for the Governing Board, was found to be ineligible and J. C. Woolley was nominated in his place. It was voted that the Secretary cast one ballot for officers for 1909, which was done with the following result: President, L. L. Green; Vice Pres., C. K. B. Nevin; Secretary, C. A. Howes; Treasurer, J. B. Smith; Internat. Sec., J. M. Bartels; Supt. Auctions, J. H. Lyons; Supt. Sales, Peter C. Kimball; Supt. Bourse, I. W. Risdon; Governing Board, R. F. Burns, A. W. Dunning, J. E. Dennett and J. C. Woolley; Library Com., C. K. B. Nevin, C. A. Howes.

A vote of thanks for his services was passed to the retiring Secretary, Mr. Woolley, who thereupon resigned his chair to Mr. Howes. Pres. Green appointed the following committee for 1909: Entertainment, J. M. Bartels, Chairman, W. O. Wylie, C. F. Rothfuchs, Henry Schuhmacher, Jr., C. F. Harwood; Entertainment, Informal, I. W. Risdon, E. F. Sawyer, John Ingraham; Expert, J. M. Bartels, C. A. Howes, C. F. Rothfuchs; House, Jas. C. Woolley, W. O. Wylie, E. de Z. Kelley.

A recess of ten minutes was then taken while the Entertainment Committee gave us an exercise in making as many names of stamp issuing countries as possible out of the words "Philippine Islands".

On resuming business seven resignations were read, and the name of Wm. T. Allis of Somerville was presented for membership by Mr. Bartels. The following were elected members:—

No. 497. Otto Haker, Cambridge, Mass.
No. 498. H. O. Houghton, Hopedale, Mass.

The Chairman of the Entertainment Com. for 1909 presented a program which will be duly printed. The Treasurer read a list of names to be dropped for non-payment of dues, but it was voted to make a further effort to have them pay up with a time limit of Feb. 15th.

The recommendation of the President that the Library Com. take out an insurance policy on the Library was passed;

also that some personal notice of meetings be sent members was passed making it apply to resident members only.

It was voted to place $25 at the disposal of the Library Com. and $25 for the exhibition expenses incurred by the Entertainment Com. The latter committee reported plans for an open meeting in Parlor 12 at Young's Hotel on Feb. 16, at 8 o'clock. This will be preceded by an informal spread for such as care to come at 5.30. Tickets $2 per plate.

Mr. Bartels proposed the name of Geo. H. Worthington of Cleveland, Ohio, for Honorary Membership, which was carried by a unanimous rising vote.

The Entertainment Com. then exhibited Mr. Worthington's wonderful collection of Transvaals, which was greatly admired and enjoyed by all present.

Adjourned at 11 p. m.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Subscriptions to the London Philatelist at our special rate of $1.05 are now due, and should be sent to the Secretary as soon as possible. Former subscribers should renew promptly and those desiring to take advantage of the reduced rate for the first time should make up their minds quickly. This rate is only for members of the Society.

AMERICAN ENVELOPE SOCIETY.

EDWIN F. SAWYER, Pres.; VICTOR M. BERTHOLD, Vice-Pres.; HENRY S. LINNEMANN, Sec. Treas., 9 Sewall Av., Brookline, Mass.; C. K. B. NEVIN, Sales Supt., 6 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; S. SCHACHNE, Purchasing Agent, Masonic Temple Bldg., Chillicothe, O.

The annual meeting of the American Envelope Society was held at 813 Old South Bldg., Boston, Mass., at 8 P. M., Wednesday, Jan. 13, 1909. There were nine members present.

E. F. Sawyer was re-elected President, as were also V. M. Berthold, Vice Pres.; H. S. Linnemann, Sec.-Treas.; C. K. B. Nevin, Sales Supt. Dues for 1909 are now payable and the Sec.-Treas. hopes members will send them in at once to save the society unnecessary expense for postage.

Meeting adjourned at 9.21 P. M.

H. S. LINNEMANN, Sec.-Treas.

REPORT OF SEC.-TREAS.

On our second annual meeting you may wish, or rather, be interested to have told you how the society is today. We have on the first of January, 1909, $35.12 in the treasury. Our membership list is just about where it was a year ago but would have been larger if no resignations had been received. We lost seven members through resignation.

We have had members in fourteen States, three foreign countries and in the D. of C. We now have members in twelve states, two foreign countries and in the D. of C. I would suggest that some plan be formulated to increase the membership as we don't want to stand still and it should be easy to double, at least, our number before Jan. 1, 1910.

ADVERTISING ACCOUNTS FOR SALE.

We intend to publish under this heading a list of the advertising accounts that we have been unable to collect. The list will be kept standing until settlements are effected.

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

That dollar bill will be the BEST INVESTMENT EVER! So delay not a moment in sending it to

NOTICE.

I have been notified by the International Secretary, L. Harald Kjellstedt, that the Austrian Philatelist Club-Vindobona (Oesterreichischer Philatelisten-Klub) has elected the American Philatelic Society as a corresponding member and have sent us a membership card.

Owing to the desire of the Secretary to get in all of the stragglers,—and they continue to straggle,—the list of suspensions will be held till next week. Absolute appearance guaranteed this time.
No more false alarms.

As far as is known our bill is still in the hands of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. Have you done your share towards getting a favorable report and consideration in the House?
Every stamp collector in America should take this matter up in a personal way with their own Representative and with any member of the Senate and House of Representatives with whom they are personally acquainted, requesting that the Committee who have the matter in charge make a favorable report. In the ranks of stamp collectors we have business men of the highest class, officers of corporations, bankers, doctors, lawyers, clergymen, educators and in fact every class of society. Let us hope that they will let themselves be felt in making a strong appeal and personal representation to the parties in Washington who now have the matter in charge. It is highly important that this be done at once. Are you a booster?

The member that sent in the application of the "live wire" last week, writes,
"Send my live wire booklets and applications. He is beginning to feel the pressure of the current." If other members will pick up live wires the secretary will gladly furnish all the current necessary.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 49th regular meeting was held
Jan. 26 with 12 members in attendance.
Minutes of 48th meeting and report of Board of Directors were read and approved. Report of Auditing Committee was read and ordered received and filed.
Mr. Duffy announced that he could provide a large meeting room without expense to the Club and the Chair appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Duffy, Ranney and Smith to look into matter and report at next meeting. Secretary was instructed to purchase two additional bookcase sections. Mr. Duffy donated a large number of magazines to the library, among which were a number of complete files of the Philatelic Journal of America and the Eastern Philatelist, as well as a large number of earlier periodicals. Secretary was instructed to mail a file of the Daily Convention Bulletin to each branch of the A. P. S. Bernard Dailey was elected to active membership and Frederick D. Fogelson, Marion, O., and Dr. H. M. Semans, Columbus, were proposed for membership. Mr. Adair exhibited a part of his specialized collection of Persia and read a paper on "The Early Issues of Persia" which proved to be one of the most entertaining yet presented before the Club. Mr. Schenck was the lucky man in the prize drawing.
After an auction of about 75 lots the meeting adjourned. Next meeting Feb. 9.

DETROIT BRANCH No. 25.

The Detroit Branch No. 25 had a meeting the evening of Jan. 22 at the home of Dr. Babcock. There were only 20 members present, it being a very stormy blustering night and difficult to get round.
The chief feature of the evening was the auction sale at which our genial secretary acted as auctioneer and disposed of about $140 worth of stamps which sold at very good prices and realized a good amount for the treasury of the society.
After the auction a delightful repast was provided for the members, after which
Gen. Coolidge read a paper on the U. S.
P. O. stamps used in China during the Boxer uprising of 1900, which the society requested he would have published in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. Dr.
Babcock's beautiful collections were on exhibition during the evening and afforded much pleasure.

EXHIBITION OF PAPER MAKING.

By LONDONIENSIS.

Not a large display but one of the highest degree of instructional value. That is the general opinion of the exhibition of paper making as applied to the manufacture of postage stamps on January 8th and 9th. The Junior Philatelic Society has once more placed before the stamp collecting public a display on lines never before attempted, and though there was no lavish surfeit of exhibits to perplex the visitor, the individual items were of a very high degree of interest.

The opening ceremony in the ancient hall of Clifford's Inn was delayed by half an hour, the organisers having once again had their capacity for dealing with sudden emergencies tested to the utmost. A telegram on the morning of the exhibition announced the serious illness of Mr. A. H. Clark who was Hon. Secretary of the exhibition and had the management of many of the details in his own hands. Thanks to Mr. Herbert F. Johnson and a number of his fellow-workers the result of this untoward happening was only a short delay in opening and the absence of a few exhibits which could not be collected.

Mr. Douglas Ellis introduced Major E. B. Evans who was to open the exhibition and the Major delivered the following opening address:

"My friend Mr. Melville, the President of our Society, has done me the honour of asking me to open this exhibition, and I feel that the best course I could pursue would be to carry out the request with as little delay as possible, because I am quite sure that the exhibition itself is far more interesting than anything that I could say to you about it. At the same time, I should like to say a few words as to the why and the wherefore of this exhibition and its connection with stamp collecting.

"In days gone by, past I hope never to return, it used to be considered necessary to find some excuse for collecting stamps, and some even of the greatest opponents of our hobby were brought to acknowledge that, however useless in themselves old postage stamps might be, their collection and study led to the acquirement of a certain amount of information upon less frivolous subjects. We learnt something of geography, we picked up a little smattering of modern history, we became familiar with foreign coinage of various kinds, and so our stamp collecting came to be excused, though we were generally assured that if we paid more attention to our lesson-books we should learn a great more about these useful matters and in a more direct way.

"Nowadays all this has been changed, there is no longer any need to find an excuse for collecting stamps, on the contrary, the difficulty is to find an excuse for those misguided people who do not collect stamps—or, to put it more kindly, who have not yet begun to collect stamps. We study geography because we want to know where our stamps come from, we study history from a purely postal point of view; we study colours, and we argue about the correct names to be given to them; we study methods of engraving and printing as applied to the manufacture of stamps; and, naturally, we must study the various kinds of paper upon which stamps are printed.

"In those ancient days of which I was speaking just now, a stamp collector used sometimes to be defined as a person who was always messing about with dirty little pieces of paper. This was a libel, of course, in part at all events; all extraneous matter was carefully removed from our stamps, the only form of dirt allowed to adhere to them was that inflicted upon them by the post

CONVENIENCE IN STAMP BUYING

Is what the busy collector wants. Our latest plan is meeting with unqualified success among advanced collectors. Instead of the old fashioned approval sheets and books arranged in haphazard order, we have subdivided the bulky International Album into 9 easily handled cloth bound volumes, containing 1,000 varieties of stamps, following the regular alphabetical order, thus:

	Cat. Value		Cat. Value
Vol. 1 U. S. Postage, departments, etc., complete.	$1735.45	Vol. 5 Foreign Countries, H-L, inclusive	$625.10
Vol. 2 Foreign Countries, A-B, inclusive	1001.25	Vol. 6 " " M-L, " "	715.75
Vol. 3 " " C-D, " "	1019.76	Vol. 7 " " O-R, " "	410.50
Vol. 4 " " E-G, " "	551.00	Vol. 8 " " S, " "	425.10
		Vol. 9 " " T-Z, " "	360.18

The above volumes are light and easily handled, and can be compared exactly page for page with your album, so you can see at a glance what you need. Many countries are complete. All fine stamps are priced by Scott's Catalogue, subject to 25% discount. Any volume will be sent to responsible collectors, likely to purchase from $10 upwards.

For those who wish it, we also have 50% stamps in approval books; besides a large amount of cheap stuff you see advertised at 60% off, which we also will be glad to sell at that rate. The grade and condition will naturally be different from the above 9 volumes.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A. D. Mitchell, Salem, N. J., assures us that Hon. H. C. Loudenslager of New Jersey will give hearty support to the Taylor bill to allow the illustration of U. S. stamps.

—H. D. Munger writes us that while enroute to Cuba he called on Herbert E. Hore, Jacksonville, Fla., and had the privilege of examining the latter's fine collection. Mr. Hore is the only A. P. S. member in the city and is an enthusiastic philatelist.

—Wm. C. Simmons will establish a stamp department in the Hartford Sunday Globe. This is certainly a good proposition and we have no doubt but what in every large town and city local philatelists could secure openings of this kind, were the work attempted.

—A. W. Batchelder, Boston, was a welcome visitor to Chicago recently and many collectors there availed themselves of the privilege to inspect the superb lots in the coming auction sale to be held by the New England Stamp Co., and to scan at pleasure the attractive selections from the great stock of the company that Mr. Batchelder carried with him.

—Jos. A. Steinmetz submits a clipping from the Philadelphia Record indicating that the Ways and Means Committee of the House is considering seriously a plan to lay revenue taxes on coffee, tea, checks and medicines. Their ideas also include the raising of the tax on beer $1.00 per barrel and the prospect seems to be that the committee will include all these subjects of new taxation in the new tariff bill to be reported at the special session of Congress in March.

—Some Pennsylvania philatelists are desirous of organizing a Pennsylvania Stamp Collectors Society. We are positive that there is a sufficiently large number of earnest collectors in the Keystone State to organize a strong and influential society. Fifty charter members are asked for and parties interested will please correspond with A. Z. Weamer, Livermore, Pa., or Wm. H. Hollenbach, 325 Elm St., Reading, Pa., from whom further information can be secured.

—F. S. Parmalee, Omaha, Nebraska, has been in Chicago for a week, renewing acquaintances with stamp friends. Mr. Parmalee is remembered as a dealer who had a very fine stock and he also enjoys wide fame as a champion wing shot, having been a member of the All-

American team of shooters that made its mark abroad some years ago.

—E. R. Slater of Connecticut informs us that his congressman writes him that "the P. O. Dept. is against the Taylor bill and there is little chance of its going through." This is in accord with information already published by the WEEKLY.

—The Pathfinder, Washington, D. C., dated Feb. 6, has a life-size picture of the 2c envelope stamp with "World's Fair Seattle 1909" cancellation. Every philatelist is urged to purchase from three to ten copies, mailing them to the officials that should be reached in order to secure the passage of the Taylor bill. Bear in mind that all we ask for is the legalization of a practice now resorted to generally but which philatelic publications are debarred from resorting to because of their knowledge of existing laws. Our thanks to Rev. G. Emil Richter for Pathfinder clipping.

—James D. Patterson sends us a clipping from the N. Y. Herald which gives an account of the auction sale of F. S. Benson's collection of rare coins. The sale was held in London, and the total realized was $21,000, ten coins alone bringing $15,000. The gem of the sale was a tetradrachm of Catana, which brought $3,200.

—Memorial services in honor of F. N. Massoth were held at the Chicago Philatelic Society meeting of February 4th. Messrs. Wolsieffer, Mudge, Severn and others spoke in intimate vein of the decedent. A large delegation of the members attended the church services and eight members followed the body to the cemetery on February 8th.

—Congressmen Buchfeld of Pa. and Smith of Mich. are reported by WEEKLY subscribers as being in favor of the Taylor bill.

—Lyman Low of N. Y. City was one of the speakers at the fourth annual reunion and banquet of the Chelsea Society of New York, held recently at the Hotel Chelsea in N. Y. City.

—Reed's Stamp Circular, printed upon the typewriter, is the latest to reach our desk. It is edited and published at 39 Rindge Ave., Cambridge, Mass., at 25c per year and claims to be the only paper of its kind in the world. It is a bright and breezy publication and shows considerable ability.

—Marcel E. Taller submits a clipping from the N. Y. American which announces a full face portrait of King Manuel on the new set of stamps to be issued for Portugal and its colonies.

Our Sudan Special Number

Will Be Issued on Saturday, February 27, 1909

And Will Be in All Respects A Superb Paper

The leading article "Sudan's Postal Issues" will be written by Mr. C. A. Howes, the well known author, while Mr. Eugene Klein will contribute some "Notes on Sudan Stamps." Mr. Klein has specialized in the stamps of this country and may well be considered an authority.

EXTRA CIRCULATION

We secured some 6000 stamp orders from the Hussman Stamp Co., of St. Louis. We have already sample copied 2000 and another batch of an equal amount will read the handsome Sudan issue.

Advertising Copy Must Be Received Not Later Than February 20

OUR NEXT SPECIAL.

We are deeply grateful for the evidences of interest as shown in the WEEKLY by the remonstrances at a late appearance of even a single issue. There are limitations to the working capacity of a printing office and a 14 pp. issue means twice the work of an ordinary issue. This will answer numerous cards and letters.

On Feb. 27 will appear a "Sudan Special" that should carry a large patronage. It will bear a handsome cover and contain literary matter of more than ordinary interest. Intending advertisers will please make their desires known as to space and location.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Dead—The news of the death of F. N. Massoth, Chicago, at El Paso, Texas, where he had gone for the benefit of his shattered health will convey a distinct shock to philatelists throughout the country; while to his personal friends, the realization of his death which took place on the morning of January 31st, 1909, is attended with sincere sorrow. On behalf of Mr. Massoth's associates, their sense of keenest loss is subscribed; while for himself the editor of the WEEKLY deploras the abrupt termination of an intimate acquaintance extending over a period of twenty years. We wish to speak a few words of eulogy and appreciation of Mr. Massoth and to reflect some of the traits that made possible his ascent to a high eminence in philately in its public sense. He relinquished his position in the ranks of the philatelic leaders only a few months ago, when the ravages of ill-health made it imperative that he retire from active business life. After selling his United Stamp Company, he went to the southwest in search of a benign climate, which, it proves, he sought too late. Mr. Massoth was nearly 38 years of age. Both of his parents are dead but he is survived by brothers and sisters. The funeral was held on Monday, February 8th; and interment was at St. Boniface cemetery, Chicago, the body having been received from El Paso on the morning of February 6th. Many philatelists attended the last rites and among the floral tributes were two beautiful pieces, one from members of the Chicago Philatelic Society and the other from F. R. Cornwall, St. Louis.

The Beginning—F. N. Massoth, Jr., began to deal in stamps in 1885, at his birth-place, Hanover Center, Indiana, and though but a boy when he became an advertiser his methods were so business-like that his customers assumed that they were patronizing a man. In 1888, Mr. Massoth joined the Chicago Philatelic Society and he attended meetings as often as possible although it took him almost until daylight to get home after the meeting. His business grew and he published a stamp paper but his ambitions outstripped the progress that he was making; and soon, Mr. Massoth came to Chicago and embarked in the jewelry business; the venture proved unprofitable and he saw his capital and more, wiped away. With characteristic vigor, he revived his languishing stamp business and started to deal in earnest. He rented part of the room leased by the Chicago Philatelic Society in the Masonic Temple; afterwards, when the society moved to the Marquette building, he did likewise, and there he stayed to the end of his business career.

The End—From the beginning of his Chicago stamp business, he was successful; he nursed his trade and watched over it intently. Having few friends in those early days, he would spend night after night in his office working unremittingly and heedless of the flight of time. These unceasing efforts began to tell; his business prospered but his health began to show signs of impairment. He found the game of money-getting a fascinating one; and he played it with enthusiasm. The returns from his application to and intelligent conduct of his business kept increasing and in time, the United Stamp Company was founded, Mr. Wolsieffer combining his business with that of Mr. Massoth. Later, Mr. Massoth bought Mr. Wolsieffer's holdings in the company; and when Mr. Massoth retired he held about 90% of the company's stock. Naturally, Mr. Massoth took pride in the United Stamp Company and he wished its name perpetuated. He was always careful to pay tribute to his helpers in the upbuilding of the business and he gave much credit to Mrs. K. E. Beard, his chief clerk. When Mr. Massoth sold his business to Mr. Staub last September, his earnings from stamps aggregated a figure that ensured him a comfortable income. He decided to spend an indefinite time in travel, primarily with the object of recovering his health. At El Paso, evidently he failed rapidly; he left the hotel and was admitted to a hospital, saying that he "wanted to rest for a week;" the second day he lapsed into unconsciousness and slept away into eternity. Though far away from home and friends, he was comforted in his religion; as he said, he had "nothing to worry about."

Characteristics—F. N. Massoth, though brisk and at times, brusque in speech and manner, as a business man yet was of sentimental impulses. Indeed, feeling that it would not be conducive to commercial success to indulge his primal impulses, he cultivated this disposition as a sort of armor that would rebuff the knocks that are inseparable from a business career. He may be said to have assumed a somewhat calloused manner, in order to protect a sensitive spirit. He could not delude his friends and they saw through to his inner self. He was sociable in his instincts but like some self-made men, he was backwards in stepping into the place that rightfully he could have occupied; so, his intimate friends were comparatively few in number. He was quick to see and to act and he concentrated his mind on each transaction and brought to bear on it a mental influence that was unmistakable. Mr. Massoth liked stamps for themselves and we believe that this feeling is a requisite to success in dealing. His ideas on collecting were a mingling of the ideals of the past and of the present but in no way was he a radical. Mr. Massoth made a deep impress on philately and his memory will be respected by those who dwell in our little world; and his friends feel their personal bereavement most keenly.

Curious—A subscriber has shown us an interesting variety of the 5-cent general issue, Confederate, London print that will appeal to the student. The final "s" of "states" in the upper label has a distinct circle under it, a peculiarity caused no doubt by an injury to the plate or by a little curl of thread or some foreign substance adhering to the plate.

Questioned—In Gibbons Stamp Weekly, Major Evans in an interesting criticism of the remarks in the WEEKLY of December 5th, 1908, on the subject of the Aguinaldo stamps, says that it is unfortunate to compare them to the "Republic of Cuba" stamp, 10c, 1873. We quote: "If I remember right, the 'Republic of Cuba' or its only postoffice at any rate, was situated at that time in the city of New York and the stamps never were on sale anywhere else." The Catalogue for Advanced Collectors opposes this assumption in these words: "This stamp was made by the American Bank Note Co., on the order of the representatives of the Revolutionary Government residing in New York. Two plates were prepared, one for 5c and one for 10c stamps but as far as we can ascertain, only the 10c stamps were printed, and 100,000 delivered to the provisional government. . . . These stamps were actually used in Holguin, in the Province of Puerto Principe, and hence are to be placed in the same category as the Carlist stamps of Spain or the stamps of the Confederate States of America," etc.

—Major J. M. T. Partello favors us with a clipping from the Manila Times, citing a severe punishment meted out to a registry clerk who removed three Turkish postage stamps from a letter received at the Manila post office. Originally sentenced to four months' imprisonment, a pardon asked for has been denied.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25, 1909.

Ed. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

Will you kindly issue a warning in your valuable paper to stamp dealers and collectors in general against one Anson H. Mason of Vernon, Vt., who is evidently trying to work the philatelic public. We recently received the following letter from this party:

VERNON, VT., 1-10-09.
"I wish to purchase one 1846 issue of St. Louis, Mo., 5c grey lilac in used condition. Will pay $125.00 if it suits me. I also want Confederate stamps as follows: Athens 5c purple, will pay $30.00; Baton Rouge, La., 5c green and red, will pay $50.00.

"I want to see these stamps and examine them and if they suit my fancy I will buy them; if they don't suit I will return them by registered mail, prepaid. I refer you to Geo. M. Rogers, Postmaster, Rev. Walter R. Phelps, both of Vernon, Vt. You can find out to your own satisfaction about my personal and financial standing. I have a collection which I value at $19,000.00.

"Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,

"ANSON H. MASON."

As, is our usual custom, we at once tried to investigate this party's reliability by writing to the references which he gave. Our letter to Geo. M. Rogers, Postmaster, and Rev. Walter R. Phelps were promptly returned by the postmaster marked, "No such person known here," even the postmaster's name not being Geo. M. Rogers, but our letter to Mr. Mason, no doubt, was delivered as it was not returned to us.

Important to American Collectors!

Owing to its world wide renown the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., seldom find it necessary to advertise anything except its newer publications, but for the benefit of New Collectors, who are constantly joining the ranks of Philatelists, it is now and then advisable to draw attention to a few of the more important transactions in which the firm have been engaged.

REALLY Great Collections

are a specialty of the firm and it is a well known fact that, amongst British Stamp Dealers, the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., is the one that has purchased absolutely all the stamp collections ever sold in Great Britain at $50,000.00 each and over. Amongst them were the

Breiffuss Collection, value	$250,000.00
Mann " costing nearly	150,000.00
Ayer " 1st part costing nearly	110,000.00
Castle " costing	50,000.00

Recent Purchases

Amongst the most recent purchases of the firm are the following:

MAURITIUS

A superb collection, including one of the greatest rarities in the world,

The 2d Blue POST OFFICE, Mauritius

No less than seventeen of the 2d blue, large fillet, and nearly one hundred of the rare native prints, both used and unused.

NEW ZEALAND

A superb collection of the first type stamps (pence issue), about 1000 in number—large numbers of unused in blocks of four, and many old rarities, such as 1sh green on blue paper, unused, 1d brown, wmk.
N.Z., and most rarities in the perforated and imperforate stamps.

Over 400 Other Collections

were purchased during 1908.

The Most Recent Purchase (Jan. 1909) is a stock of British Colonials (with a few other Countries), cataloguing to between $45,000.00 and $50,000.00 and contained in 81 volumes.

A Specialty:---Our Approval Department

We do not keep our fine stamps locked up in safes, but circulating all over the world. On Dec. 30th, 1908, over $700,000.00 worth of stamps were away on approval in our well known books and sheets.
With the enormous and very complete stock we hold cannot we find you some stamps you want?

Try us!! Send a list of your wants, or allow us to make up and submit to you a trial selection of any Country you are now working upon. We can fix you up in stamps, used or unused, in singles, pairs, or blocks, in special postmarks, or in errors and odd varieties. No sheets of stamps at 25, 40 or 50% discount. We don't want that class of business, but only sell the best and guarantee all we sell. Our prices are very moderate and at recent auction sales in Paris and London very many rare stamps have been sold and two and even three times as much as we had similar stamps priced in our stock.

Post Free and Gratis

We have just published a 100-page pamphlet, giving full details of over one thousand sets and packets of stamps, and of all our stamp albums, catalogues, handbooks, and all requisites for stamp collectors, and will send this to any stamp collector gratis and post free on receipt of postal card.

THE MANCHESTER, ENG., EXHIBITION.

The First Philatelic Congress of the United Kingdom will be held in conjunction with the Manchester Postage Stamp Exhibition (under the auspices of the Manchester Junior Philatelic Society) on February 18, 19 and 20 in the Hulme
Town Hall, Manchester. The exhibition will be distinguished by having a working post office, and the first special postmark ever granted for such an event.
As this will only be in use three days, it naturally will become a great rarity.
People collect postmarks as well as stamps, and to meet the great demand, the Manchester Junior Philatelic Society have arranged for the issue of a souvenir post card, which will be posted so as to have the special postmark to all applicants forwarding twopence to the Hon.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—A. E. Eddy has shown us a 1c permit, "Racine, Wis., No. 1," to which has been added a 1c stamp of the 1902 issue, precancelled "Racine-Wis.," with a single heavy rule between the two words, the surcharge reading up. This combination was used by J. I. Case, Racine, Wis., but whether the postage required was one or two cents, we are not informed. Mr. Eddy also informs us that he has seen the new 2c stamp, imperforate on three sides.

N. Cobe and the New England Stamp Co. have also shown us the new $1 stamp. The shade of this stamp, by the way, is a very difficult one to describe, though it is very nearly the same as the 13c Harrison stamp of the last issue.

Frank B. Eldredge informs us that he has seen the new 1c stamp precancelled La Crosse, Wis., and also Minneapolis, Minn.

We are indebted to Geo. L. Toppan, H. S. Williams, Gilbert W. Emerson and Wm. F. Marquardt for additional plate numbers on the new stamps, as follows: 1c green, 4898, 4908, 4910, 4911; 2c carmine, 4841, 4850, 4854; 10c yellow, 4943; 3c purple, 4928.

AUCTION SALES OF STAMPS A SPECIALTY.

Our 263d Auction takes place February 27th.

BOCART & DURBIN CO. 722 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

In No. 942 we referred to the fact that inverted watermarks in the new stamps were very common, that they could be found normal and inverted, both upright and sideways, and that we should be obliged to omit further reference to them in the Chronicle. Many of our readers do not seem to have seen that note, and therefore we reproduce the following letter from George L. Toppan, which is timely and very much to the point:

"It seems to me that it is about time that the mistaken impression regarding the scarcity of the current United States stamps with inverted watermark was corrected. I see that, in the WEEKLY for Jan. 30, one misguided individual goes so far as to advertise the 2c 'with inverted watermark' for 10c each. Now I have not the slightest doubt that he, and many others, really believe the thing to be scarce; but such is not the case at all. I have handled several hundred sheets of the new series and I find that the watermark is just as apt to be inverted, as it is to be in its normal position. Take the 15c, for example: I have only examined four sheets of this value, but every one of them had the watermark inverted."

F. S. Cook has been the first to show us the new Lincoln stamp. The design is very much the same as the current 2c, except that across the bottom of the oval is placed a ribbon, with "1809—Feb. 12—1909" inscribed thereon. As has been stated the portrait used was taken from the St. Gaudens statue, but however true it may be that "the statue is a remarkably faithful representation of the face of the martyred president", the first impression will be one of disappointment, when it is compared with the 1890 and later issues. H. S. Williams also informs us he has seen this stamp, so evidently the distribution is going on rapidly. A. F. Van Order also has called our attention to the issue of this stamp.

Adhesive.

ANTIGUA.—We regret to say that the item under this head in No. 944 is entirely wrong and we are obliged to request our readers to delete it from their Chronicle. The stamp in question was printed on the ordinary Star watermarked paper, and some of the parallel lines of the border showing, gave it the appearance of being on laid paper. All the Star watermarked papers have a watermarked border of five parallel lines, with the word "Postage" in the top margin. The stamp upon which the item in No. 944 was based, had been misplaced in printing so that the five lines showed very plainly, but only the extreme points of the star were visible.

RUSSIA.—C. S. Traustel sends us the first of the new series of stamps to be issued by the Russian postal authorities. The design is an entirely new one, though very much like the 5r and 10r of 1906, except that the stamp is smaller, being in fact about the size of the 1889 issue. The figure of value is printed once instead of twice as in the rouble values, and appears in the centre of the lower tablet, between the two Russian words indicating the value. The new stamp is printed on white wove paper, and lacks the netted background of the other issues, and is perforated 14 1/2. Mr. Traustel says the next value to be issued will be the 10k stamp.

Adhesive.
7k pale blue.

Doesn't that make you take a long breath?In submitting this list of names the Secretary desires to make the following comments. Heretofore only the numbers of the suspended members have been published on the basis that it would be easier to reclaim the lost sheep than if the name were submitted to the public gaze. This may be true, but our membership has reached a place when it has become rather unwieldy and there would be more liability of mistakes being made now than in the past. It is only by submitting a list in this way that mistakes will come to the surface, be discovered and corrected at once. It is now three

A GREAT PRICE LIST.

My price list containing 115 pages, printed in two columns, used and unused, which has just appeared gives the prices of which would permit the formation, at very low prices, of excellent collections, such as could not be made if purchased piece by piece.

THE PRICES DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

All collectors and dealers are requested to send for this book, which will be sent free on request.

Jules Bernichon, 4 Rue Rochambeau, Paris, France

Member A. P. S. and B. P. S.

British North America.

A very fine collection is to be sold at auction by the New England Stamp Co., Feb. 24 and 25. See
adv. on first page.

months after the allotted time for making suspensions and the secretary has done every thing that he could do to get members to pay their dues to this society.
The secretary has no other choice than to suspend those members not reported as paid and hopes that every one of these members will apply for reinstatement at once as the society has now reached a place where it is of value to each and every member and can give "Value Received" for every cent paid in.

There are probably some mistakes in this list as there is a probability of some cards having been misplaced or lost in transit. If so, the secretary desires to know it at once so that proper reparation can be made promptly. Should any name be published by mistake, advise at once and it will be corrected with apologies in the next weekly report. In submitting this list of suspended members the secretary feels like hanging up a sign similar to one hung on the organ of a church in a western frontier town, viz.,
"Please don't shoot the organist,—he does the best he knows how." That's just the way the secretary feels right now.

APPLICATIONS.

As soon as your name has been published as
an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition,
by holding such selections without purchasing
any, until sufficient funds have been sent by
the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

NOTES.

The Franklin Carrier 1c blue on rose is the only known unused copy with full original gum.

The U. S. 1861, 5c premiere gravure, is the only known copy that was used postally.

Of the U. S. 1873, 10c brown, unsevered horizontal pair, imperforate between, there are two known pair, both were used postally.

The Horseman Carrier "ORE SENT" red is the only known copy of the variety R instead of N of "ONE". It is on the original envelope with a 3c stamp of 1857 issue. The postmark "Baltimore Md" on part of the 3c stamp does not touch the carrier stamp.

Messenkope's Union Square P. O. is the only known copy on red paper. It is on the original envelope, but the stamp is not cancelled.

The Jackson, Miss., 10c on 5c entire white paper envelope is the only known copy of any Confederate States provisional stamped envelope, meaning a new value surcharged over its original value.

The Jamaica imperforate (wmk. pineapple) 1860, 1sh yellow brown is the only known copy. It was received at Washington, D. C., in payment for return postage at the time it was in use.

CONVENIENCE IN STAMP BUYING

Is what the busy collector wants. Our latest plan is meeting with unqualified success among advanced collectors. Instead of the old fashioned approval sheets and books arranged in haphazard order, we have subdivided the bulky International Album into 9 easily handled cloth bound volumes, containing 17,000 varieties of stamps, following the regular alphabetical order, thus:

	Cat. Value		Cat. Value
Vol. 1 U. S. Postage, departments, enve- lopes, revenues, etc., complete.....	$1735.45	Vol. 5 Foreign Countries, H-L, inclusive.....	$625.10
Vol. 2 Foreign Countries, A-B, inclusive.....	1001.25	Vol. 6 " " M-L, ".....	715.75
Vol. 3 " " C-D, ".....	1019.76	Vol. 7 " " O-R, ".....	1015.50
Vol. 4 " " E-G, ".....	551.00	Vol. 8 " " S, ".....	425.10
		Vol. 9 " " T-Z, ".....	360.18

The above volumes are light and easily handled, and can be compared exactly page for page with your album, so you can see at a glance what you need. Many countries are complete. All fine stamps are priced by Scott's Catalogue, subject to 25% discount. Any volume will be sent to responsible collectors, likely to purchase from $10 upwards.

For those who wish it, we also have 60% stamps in approval books; besides a large amount of cheap stuff you see advertised at 60% off, which we also will be glad to sell at that rate. The grade and condition will naturally be different from the above 9 volumes.

OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

BY W. WARD.

Slump in British Colonial Stamps.—

The new season's lists of the German dealers are just to hand. These have created quite a talk here. The British Colonial stamps are being priced very low. This is the very evident result of the recent press troubles between England and Germany. Dealers in the latter named country are no doubt finding that their customers are leaving Great Britain and Colonies severely alone, and in order not to allow of a lot of dead capital resting, are pricing low in order to clear.
This is to be regretted, for here German States and Colonials are by no means boycotted. I also notice the slump has extended to the United States stamps, very many being priced extremely low.
It is very likely that an Anglo-German Exposition will be holden in this country next year, so that when the Teuto-British "entente cordiale" comes—which it will do—those who are forsaking the English stamps will live to regret it.

J. P. S. Philanthropy.—At the Saturday, Jan. 2nd, meeting in London of the Junior Philatelic Society, President Melville announced that for once the program of the evening would be postponed, and that in its place, Wickham Jones would show his well known and fine collection of the stamps of Sicily. During the display, Pres. Melville made a most opportune announcement, that a collection would be made upon the behalf of the sufferers in the recent Messina earthquake and all moneys collected would be handed over to the Lord Mayor of London's fund for that direction.
The response was very good, and will go to show that philatelists have quite as much sympathy for their fellows as for stamps.

The Cayman Provisionals.—Much has been written in the defense of the Cay-man Islands provisionals, both here as well as in the American press. Earl Crewe, the Chief Secretary of State for the British Colonies, at the request of several important philatelists headed by Postmaster-General Buxton and Under-Secretary (for the Colonies) Col. Seely, instituted a short while back, an enquiry as to the bonafides of many provisional plates issued by the Colonies. I am unable to give a full account of the report, as the copyright is held here by a well known English firm, but perhaps the following will leave much room for reflection upon the part of collectors.
With regard to the 1/4d Cayman Islands stamp recently issued, the Governor of Jamaica and the Commissioner of the Cayman Islands report to Earl Crewe as follows: "The Commissioner has so far refused to sell these stamps (1/4d) to dealers through the post, on the grounds that they are primarily intended for local use, and that, owing to the cost of production, outside sale is not profitable." I think there is little need to pass any remarks on the italicised sentence, though I cannot refrain from saying that it is very evident that the Caymanders would sooner sell provisionals at enhanced prices than such low values as half-cents.

The 1909 International Exhibit and Congress.—We shall all soon know whether an Exhibit held outside London, yet on the same scale, can be as successful. Of course readers know that in conjunction with the Exhibition an International Congress will be held. I hardly see how this will be the success that the officers of the Manchester Society expect. First, it is held at the wrong time of the year (February). A few Continental visitors may come over, from such near countries as France, Germany, Belgium or Holland, but I know many here personally would look forward to friends of the "Stars and Stripes" and "Maple Leaf". On the other hand, I quite expect that the Exposition at Amsterdam in June will be a real draw. It is at the right time. What is the use of calling a meeting international if it's not international? On the other hand I don't see that the Exhibit can be anything but a success—within fifteen miles of the Manchester City Hall, there are over nine millions of people. (We shall publish a special report of the English Exhibit and Congress by our English correspondent.—Ed.)

The Seattle Exposition.—The philatelic papers here are none too polite over the projected commemorative issue for the Seattle Fair, and such as Editor
Nankivell are giving them a good slating.
Personally, I have nothing whatsoever against them, but rather on the other hand agree with Editor Ewen, that such stamps are great recruiters to the ranks of philately. They are not like the commemoratives of some little island, where the postal officials are able to manipulate to their own good, and corner. They are sold honestly and can be procured all over the country. Some people here may call me prejudiced because I am more than generally interested in the stamps and postal department of the U. S., which to let you all in into a secret, is more than I could give such an interest to the stamps of Great Britain.

in that incomplete set may be found in my 30th STAMP AUCTION SALE to be held on Saturday, MARCH 13th, at the C. P. S. Club Room, Chicago.
 Included in this sale is the General Collection of

Mr. E. C. Plume of Chicago
 Mr. Plume's collection was formed in a rather unusual manner, his method being to first secure the scarce stamp in every set and taking the commoner varieties as he picked them up.
 An unusual opportunity is thus afforded to secure the stamps that are generally lacking in the ordinary collection.

 Box 20, BROOKLINE, MASS.

HERE YOU ARE

Here is an opportunity such as will never come to you again. We recently purchased from the receiver of the Co-Operative Stamp Company of this place about 1000 pounds of stamps. These stamps were bought at about one-sixth of their real value, and in order to get rid of them quickly we will sell them at such low prices that you cannot resist buying at least several pounds.

We are not familiar with the stamp business and were it not for this fact we could not doubt assort the stamps and sell them for ten times the price we ask for them. We are in the mail order printing business and therefore we do not care to have these stamps in our possession any longer than necessary.

These stamps were imported from Switzerland and were advertised as being from every country on the Globe, many of them being very valuable. We are going to sell them by the pound. In weighing a pound we found that there were 4539 stamps and while of course these are not all different, it is estimated that there are from three to four hundred varieties in each pound.

We offer these stamps just as they are, not trying to misrepresent them in any way, shape or form, and you will find them exactly as we claim.

We ask the small sum of 50c per pound post-paid, and with every order for one lb. we will send special stamps to the amount of 40c catalogue price.

Remember we have only the one lot and after these are sold you will likely never have another opportunity like this.

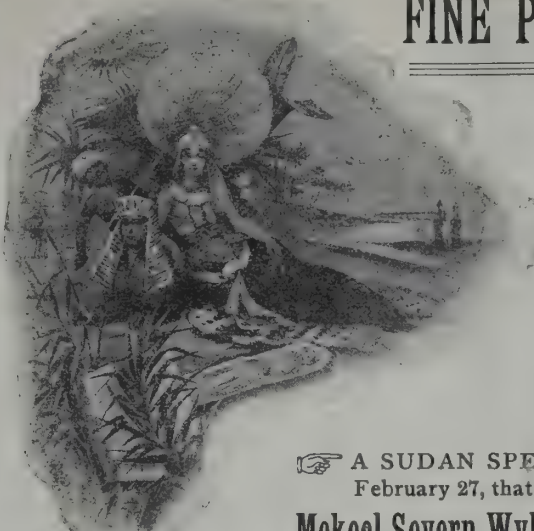

Send in your order early as we do not expect them to last long at the price we are offering them.

Cash must accompany all orders, and if stamps are not as represented your money will be refunded.

A PHILATELIC MELANGE.

An interesting letter has been received from our old correspondent, J. Liebling, in which he touches upon a number of topics which we are pleased to deal with.

A clipping from the Army and Navy Register gives an extended account of the career of Brig.-Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, which the WEEKLY may possibly use some time in the future.

A post card covered with tobacco leaf. An original idea with Mr. Liebling.

A Velox post card upon which is a photographic reproduction of a perforation gauge. This is made by the photographic contact printing as described by Mr. Liebling in the WEEKLY several months ago.

A cover of the Cuban 2c stamp booklets which sell at 25, 49 and 99c, containing respectively twelve, twenty-four and forty-eight stamps, and printed in purple, rose and magenta. On the front is an illustration of Moro Castle with coat of arms at the top center. On the reverse side is an allegorical head of Cuba. The engraving is done by the American Bank Note Co. and is a superb piece of workmanship.

Reference is made to the continuation of Mr. Liebling's series of articles on photo philately. The articles in question are nearly completed and need in fact only the finishing touches to make them ripe for use. The title for his next contribution will be "How to Beautify a Collection by Means of Photo Types".

A picture post card made of royal palm bark, "Alone in Cuba", is certainly a unique affair.

Two specimens of U. S. stamps showing the designs to differ in measurement, though supposed to be exactly the same. Mr. Kidder has already covered this matter in previous issues of the WEEKLY.

We are greatly obliged to our correspondent for his interest in the WEEKLY as evidenced by the wide range of subjects dealt with.

COLLECTORS CLUB OF HARTFORD.

By HENRY A. CHAPMAN.

On Thursday night, Feb. 11, a new collectors club was organized at Hartford, Conn., with seventeen charter members. The chairman of the meeting was Wm. C. Simmons and Dr. J. B. Newton secretary. The following officers were elected: Pres., Frederick B. Wright; Vice Pres., Dr. J. B. Newton; Sec. and Treas., Fred P. Holt; Auction Mgr., W. H. Bruce.

The preparation of constitution and by-laws was left to a committee to be reported upon at the next meeting Feb. 25, until which time the list will be held open for charter members. It is probable that regular meetings will be held twice a month.

As Hartford has probably more than two hundred philatelists, it would seem as though a good-sized club might be formed and through its efforts additions made to the list of the A. P. S. Among the names of the charter members of the new society the following are already in the ranks of the A. P. S.: W. H. Bruce, Henry A. Chapman, J. B. Newton, Harry L. Perkins, Silas Chapman, Jr., Henry S. Redfield and J. Warren Weisheimer of Hartford; W. C. Phillips of Glastonbury and W. W. Norton of Lakeville.

A good deal of credit is due to Harry L. Perkins for the starting of the club and he is a stalwart in more ways than one. He is probably the tallest member of the A. P. S. and anyone who remembers our deceased brother, J. F. Johnson, can form some idea of his height as Mr. Perkins approaches Johnson's measure.

W. C. Simmons provided a part of his store, the finest shoe emporium in Hartford, for the opening meeting and offered the use of it for meetings until a permanent room can be procured. If the club proves a success, there is no doubt that the Hartford and Springfield societies will be very neighborly to each other.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—There seems to have been very little harmony of action among the different postmasters regarding the sale of the new Lincoln stamps. While some of the offices refused to sell any of the new stamps until Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, others were not so careful, and seem to have allowed their favored constituents to buy them freely as soon as the supply was received from Washington. Most of the offices hereabouts sold out their supply very early in the day, the supply being insignificant, especially in the larger offices. The first used stamp to come to hand was sent us by Theo. Richards, from an office in Illinois, the date of mailing being Feb. 9.

We are indebted to C. A. Howes, Charles E. Nickles, D. W. Millen, L. Harald Kjellstedt, N. Cobe and others for information regarding new plate numbers, especially on the new Lincoln stamps. We have been notified thus far of plate numbers 4976, 4977, 4978, 4979, 4981, 4982, 4983, 4984, on the Lincoln stamps.

S. E. Young, M. D., sends us plate numbers 4912, 4913, 4914 and 4915 on the 1c of 1908.

Harold Hollinger reports having seen two of the current 2c carmine envelope, sizes 9 and 11, on paper with watermarked date "1903" instead of "1907".

Dave Coon sends us specimens of the 2c of 1908 which have been used on the Schermack mailing machine, having the oblong perforations familiar on the older stamps.

J. Leiblinger reports having a copy of the 1903 2c envelope of 1908, which has been so imperfectly printed that only about one twelfth of the design is in color, the balance being "albino". The left "2" and a part of the tops of the letters of the nearby inscription, is all that appears in color.

Ralph Doscher shows a novelty, which as far as we know has not previously been chronicled. This is a 1c permit on a picture card, being Permit No. 45, of San Francisco, Cal.

Frank B. Eldredge reports having seen the following new precancels:

Chicago, Ill., 5c 1908, normal.
Providence, R. I., 5c 1908, inverted.
North Conocton, N. Y., 1c 1908, normal.

54, Strand, LONDON, ENGLAND.

NEW ZEALAND.—Wilcox, Smith & Co. have sent us a copy of the new 1d official. The stamp is surface printed, and is a decided improvement over the previous issue. The letters in the name at the top and the value at the bottom are cleaner cut, and in the words "New Zealand" are distinctly separated, where in the older issue the serifs of many of the letters are joined. The whole printing of the new stamp is clearer and brighter. The word "Official", which is surcharged in black upon the stamp, reading up, is still in Gothic type, but in lighter letters, the surcharge being slightly shorter on the latest issue. We are not informed whether the regular postage stamp has been issued in the new type and shall therefore wait for further information before making the formal chronicle.

PANAMA.—Emil J. Rall has shown us a specimen of the current 1c stamp of Panama with the centre inverted. We chronicled the 1/2c, 2c and 5c stamps, with inverted centres, in No. 925.

RUSSIA.—We are again indebted to C. S. Traustel for specimens of the latest thing in stamps from the Imperial Printing Office. This is the 2k stamp, just issued, a companion to the 7k stamp chronicled in No. 746. The design is the same, the changes being in color and value. Gibbons' Weekly notes that these new stamps have lines of varnish printed on the paper before the design is printed, making them unwashable. These lines are arranged in lozenges, somewhat similar to the watermark on the Bavarian stamps of 1870.

Adhesive.

2c green.

A. T. Spahrman has also sent us information regarding this new issue.

Mr. Schachne shows us the latest card mate to the single 4k noticed in No. 895. On the original card the stamp, arms and first three lines are same as on the single card except in smaller type. The other two lines have the same words and arrangement as on the double card of 1890, but in changed type and there is no foot-note. The reply has the words and arrangement of the 1890 card, but in different type, with "Russia" in Russian and French as a third line, and no foot-note.

Post Card.

4x4k carmine on white; T. 3.

SIAM.—A. W. Dunning calls our attention to the fact that the 8 atts stamp, recently issued with Jubilee surcharge, had the surcharge in red, while the other Jubilee stamps had the surcharge in black.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO., 211 N. Garrison Ave., ST. LOUIS, MO.

SURINAM.—Jan de Vries sends a novelty from Surinam and we are also indebted to A. W. Dunning and the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. for a glimpse of the same stamp. It seems that the regular supply of stamps failed, and pending the arrival of a new lot from the Netherlands, the local printer was called upon, and with the aid of a set of fancy corner pieces and some ornamental type, managed to produce a very creditable looking stamp. The size is $21\frac{1}{2} \times 25\frac{1}{2}$ mm., the printing being a horizontal oblong, like the regular stamps. The color is practically the same as the regular issue. The stamps are issued in sheets of 100 stamps, ten rows of ten stamps, five rows with top of stamps in normal position, while the other five rows are inverted. Evidently there was but one form of 50 stamps, and two operations were required to complete each sheet. Therefore the two vertical rows in the centre of the stamp are available for tete beche pairs. The stamps are perforated with a curious sawtooth roulette, but very well done, so that the separation is clean and well defined. Mr. de Vries says they were issued at Paramaribo Jan. 20, and will remain in use until a new supply is received from the mother country.

two branches, presumably of olive, with a ribbon across them bearing Turkish characters, and with the space between the branches above the ribbon, also filled with Turkish characters. L'Echo reports that the number printed was: 5pa, 1,000,000; 10pa, 1,100,000; 20pa, 2,000,000; 1pi, 1,000,000; 2pi, 50,000. The perforation runs around the whole stamp, addition and all.

2pi gray black.

The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. has shown us the full used set of the above. Mr. Schachne has just received the set of new Turkish cards of the "writing on the front" variety. Colors of card and print remain as last. Under the stamp (at upper right) is "Carte Postale" in French and probably the same in another line of Turkish. A heavy frame from 10 to 11 mm. wide reduces the available writing space very considerably. The usual Turkish headline is at upper center, below which is "Union Postale Universelle—Turquie" in two lines. Below the center of these lines is a perpendicular line dividing the card. The doubles have "Reponse Payee" and "Reponse" following the headline "Turquie".

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

gerous counterfeits, articles on reprints, warnings against philatelic swindlers, etc.

Your International Secretary was appointed as the only American representative of the Propaganda Committee for the International Exhibition at Amsterdam, which will be held there June 3rd to 10th of this year. An elaborate program has been prepared and a number of gold, silver and bronze medals have been donated, and it is to be hoped that some of our members will take advantage of this opportunity to exhibit a portion of their collections. A few copies of the prospectus printed in English are available. It is noted also with pleasure that the name of the Boston Philatelic Society appears under the heading "Committee of Honor" on the fifth page of the prospectus. The Dutch Society of Postage Stamp Collectors, under whose auspices the exhibition is to be held, was notified of the good will and moral support of the Boston Philatelic Society, according to a vote passed at one of our recent meetings.

Quite a number of the annual programs of the Entertainment Committee have been distributed among foreign societies and received favorable comment.

REPORT OF INT'L SECRETARY.

Gentlemen:—During the past year the Ver. Korrespondenz-Blatt has been supplied with information of our meetings, changes in membership, etc., and these have been published in that journal, which now represents no less than 160 independent philatelic societies, and over 75 branch societies. The journal which we receive every month contains a large amount of valuable and interesting information such as reports of important philatelic meetings, descriptions of dan-

American Philatelic Society.

The International Secretary informs me that the society has received a dedicatory copy of the special Edition de Luxe of the late Mr. Krasemann's Philatelic Bibliography. This edition, for which the author before his death, personally selected the paper in Holland, is limited to 100 copies and can not be bought. Mr. Krasemann intended it exclusively for free distribution to the leading societies and collectors of the world. After his death his wishes were carried out by his most intimate friend, Hilmer Djurling, F. R. P. S., editor of the Swedish Philatelic Journal.

Over in Merrie England that enterprising society, "the Junior", got down to business and secured in one month 110 members. This is a record hard to equal, much less surpass, but the secretary believes that it can be done and hereby sends forth a call to the members to make the month of March a Mad Missionary Month. Let's show the youngsters that the old timers still have some vim, vigor and hustle up their sleeves.
Application blanks and advertising booklets can be obtained from either the chairman of the Recruiting committee,

Willard O. Wylie, or the secretary. [47

BRANCH No. 18.

The regular meeting of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society, Branch No. 18,
A. P. S., was held on the evening of
Feb. 3rd, at the School of Industrial Art, Pres. Hahman in the chair with nine members and six visitors present. The committee on Atlantic City Convention reported satisfactory progress. After the transaction of other routine business, Mr. Steinmetz gave a discourse on the proposed changes in the new issue of postage stamps. He also imparted other valuable information on Post Office Department matters. Mr. Henkels exhibited his collection of the stamped paper of the Civil War Period comprising about 800 specimens. He was tendered a vote of thanks. A motion to adjourn was then in order.

A. F. HENKELS, Sec.

MILWAUKEE BRANCH No. 24.

Whereas, it hath pleased the Omnipotent to call to that bourne from which no traveler returns our fellow philatelist, Frank N. Massoth; and

Whereas, it is the desire of the members of Milwaukee Branch, No. 24, A. P.
S., who know his sterling worth and ability, to place in so enduring form a slight recognition of their regard and esteem;
therefore be it

Resolved, that Milwaukee Branch No.
24, A. P. S., hereby extends to the family of the deceased and Chicago Branch No.
1 its sincere condolence and sympathy in their hour of bereavement.

Resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and made a part of the proceedings of Branch No. 24.

this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition,
by holding such selections without purchasing
any, until sufficient funds have been sent by
the dealer to return it to him by registered
mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS

PUBLISHED BY

MEKEEL-SEVERN-WYLIE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

WILL
BUY

GOOD Stamps at from 60 to 80% Below Catalogue?

IF YOU DO, HERE IS YOUR CHANCE

WE BOUGHT all through the summer and fall and have accumulated about $30,000 catal. value of good stamps, listing $1.00 each and over! We paid spot cash, bought them CHEAP! We are now trying to SELL some of them, and collectors (or dealers) who are courageous enough to consider GOOD stamps at from 20c to 40c on the dollar A GOOD INVESTMENT, can get this class of stamps now, at these inviting discounts. We say now—you cannot get them of us in 2 or 3 months from now because they will be SOLD.

We do NOT write this advertisement with the intention of attracting small buyers who expect to "pick up" a few choice specimens at a nominal figure, this adv. is aimed at earnest collectors, speculators, dealers, who appreciate THIS CLASS of stamps at THESE PRICES, and who are in a position to send in a GOOD SIZED GENERAL order. We have recently sold to some of the largest collectors, who patronize Auction Sales, lots ranging from $50.00 to $300.00 each, and we are looking for a few more buyers like that. Good stuff as a general rule is not slaughtered, not even at the auctions and we offer you the opportunity to select from our large stock JUST WHAT YOU WANT and can use, you don't have to bid on "Combination" lots and buy a whole bunch of stuff you don't want, just in order to get a few stamps you do want. The advantage is apparent.

It is utterly impossible to list more than a small portion of this vast lot of fine goods in an adv. like this, it would take 4 or 5 full pages of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY to do this, we mention a few countries (giving Scott's Nos.) and you may judge what we have to offer.

Send for our BARGAIN LISTS, they quote pretty nearly all we have to offer in this line, tell us what you can use and we will quote you DISCOUNTS from our Bargain List Price, which will bring them down from 60% to 80% below Scott's Catalogue. You cannot buy any cheaper at any auction and not as cheap at most of them. The following are only countries from N to Z, for all others see our Bargain Lists.

COSTLY STAMPS SHOWN.

(This clipping from the Boston Globe is so well written that we copy it for the WEEKLY. If space does not allow an extended notice of the various exhibits this week we shall describe them in our next issue.—ED.)

The 18th annual meeting and banquet of the Boston Philatelic Society was held last night at Young's hotel, followed by a stereopticon lecture on "What Stamp Collecting Teaches", loaned by the Chicago Philatelic Society and read by Sec. C. A. Howes of the society, and an exhibition of seven valuable stamp collections. The banquet was attended by 30 members of the society, and the lecture and exhibits drew over 100 stamp collectors.

At the banquet Pres. L. L. Green presided and speeches were made by C. A. Howes for the American Philatelic Society; William C. Stone of Springfield, for the United States Revenue Stamp Society; Robert C. Monroe, president of the Springfield Philatelic Club; George C. Arnold, representing the Rhode Island Philatelic Society; E. F. Sawyer of Boston, president of the American Envelope Society; A. P. Brown of Boston, treasurer of the New England Philatelic Society.

The specialized stamp collections exhibited included one of C. F. Rothfuchs of Roxbury which is valued at $8000. One of the most valuable items was a three-cent stamp of Madison, Fla., issued by the local postmaster at the beginning of the civil war, valued at $1000. L. L. Green showed a nice lot of original covers, both U. S. and foreign, while Edwin F. Sawyer exhibited his fine lot of Gambias. The collection of Sec. C. A. Howes includes a complete collection of Korean stamps. E. M. Carpenter, whose collection of Portuguese stamps is said to be the best in New England, exhibited the Azores and Madeira sections, and Francis C. Foster of Boston, the veteran collector of the country, showed a complete collection of U. S. stamps, which is claimed to be the finest in the country.

The star attraction was the Transvaal collection of Geo. H. Worthington, Cleve-

SUDAN'S POSTAL ISSUES.

By C. A. HOWES, F. R. P. S.

"The Sudan" is the general term for a vast region in Northern Africa, lying south of the Sahara or Great Desert and stretching across the continent between the Atlantic Ocean and the Red Sea. It is the home of the true negro race, and for that reason has been called the "Black Zone," a fact to which its other name bears witness, for As-Sudan in Arabic means simply "the Blacks." But the part we have to deal with is a relatively small portion, even though it covers nearly a million square miles. The Egyptian Sudan lies directly south of Egypt itself, extending to the confines of British East Africa and Belgian Congo, and embracing roughly the fertile basin of the upper Nile and its tributaries. It may be interesting to note that its territory is practically coincident with that of the ancient Kingdom of Nubia.

Egyptian control in the Sudan was begun about 1820 and gradually extended for some sixty years, when the native tribesmen, restless under the misgovernment from Cairo, took advantage of the difficulties that Lower Egypt had with the European powers in 1882 and revolted. Under the lead of the Mahdi and his successor the Khalifa, the country was held in a desolating tyranny for some fourteen years, when Gen. Kitchener with the Anglo-Egyptian army began the struggle for the recovery of the lost provinces. The Khalifa's power was broken at Omdurman on September 2, 1898, and he was killed and his followers captured in November, 1899.

A convention signed between the British and Egyptian governments on January 19, 1899, provides for an Anglo-Egyptian Condominium, with a Governor-General appointed by Egypt with the assent of Great Britain, the use of the British and Egyptian flags together, etc. Of course, during the preceding period, while hostilities were in progress, the government was military, advancing with the conquerors and under the direction of the Sirdar, or Commander-in-Chief, Gen. Lord Kitchener. As various towns were captured and occupied as stations, and the postal needs of the army of occupation increased, a special series of stamps was deemed expedient and the following notice of such issue was published in the Journal Official (Cairo) of March 8, 1897:

"From 1st March instant, correspondence posted at the camp Post-Office, Wadi Halfa, and at places south of Halfa, will be prepaid by postage stamps of the present issue bearing the surcharge 'Soudan'. These stamps will be receivable for postage only at the places indicated above."

From this it will be seen that the issue took place on March 1, 1897, the stamps employed being the then current Egyptian set of eight values, viz.: 1, 2, 3, 5 millièmes and 1, 2, 5, 10 piastres. The surcharge is printed in black in two lines, the lower being SOUDAN, the French form of spelling the name, to correspond with the inscriptions on the stamps, and the upper being Arabic characters reading (from right to left) As-Sudan.

There are six well known varieties of the Arabic overprint which may be described as follows, as we unfortunately have no cuts of them: Over the UD of SOUDAN are a vertical line and two comma-like characters, while at the right end over N is another vertical line. In what may be termed the normal variety, or type 1, the bottoms of the first three characters named are on a level, while the end line has its top level with the preceding elbow-like character. In type 2 the end line is dropped down somewhat; type 3 is very similar to type 2 but the end line is spaced further from the preceding character; type 4 has the second "comma" dropped below the two preceding characters and the end line dropped as well; type 5 is similar to type 2 again, but is defective, the second "comma" having lost its tail; type 6 is also defective, having the central dot in the first character lacking, but being otherwise like type 2.

The Egyptian stamps used for surcharging were printed in sheets of 120, divided horizontally into an upper and lower pane of 60. Each pane had six rows of ten stamps each, and it is evident from examination that the surcharging was done in panes. Of the six varieties just described, five appear regularly on each pane, and each horizontal row of stamps shows but one variety. They are arranged thus:

2d row: type 4, comma and line dropped.
3d row: type 2, last line dropped.
4th row: type 3, last line dropped and spaced.
5th row: type 2, same as 3d row.
6th row: type 5, second comma tailless.

Of course all these varieties are found

We make a specialty of rare stamps, and have in stock a large number worth from $100 to $3000 each and occasionally more. If you are interested in Philatelic gems, be sure to write for a list of what we have to offer. Among others, 5c Baltimore on original cover; Baltimore envelopes, single and double 5; 5c Brattleboro on cover; 5c and 10c St. Louis; 4c Pan American, inverted center; imperforate pairs 24c and 30c 1881 U. S. unused; 4c blue error color, Columbian Issue, block of four; a superb lot of Puerto Principe stamps valued at from $25 to $175.00 each.

We also have a fine supply of lower priced stamps on original covers—a class of goods which we have sold with great success in Europe. Why not let us send you a selection on approval? Write us for anything desired in the stamp line, whether it be worth 10c or $1,000.00.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT.

1304 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

a reddish brown. It is stated that 180,000 were printed in the first colors.

POSTAGE DUE STAMPS.

At the same time that the provisional postage stamps were issued, Mar. 1, 1897, the four values of the Egyptian postage due set were likewise surcharged, and consequently we find identically the same varieties repeated on them, save that there has been no report of any value appearing with the sixth type, the dot missing from the center of the left hand Arabic character.

In January, 1901, the provisional set was replaced by a permanent one of like values in a very pretty little pictorial design. It represents one of the armored gun-boats used in the Sudan campaign for river work. These were flat-bottomed stern-wheel steamers which could push in close to the shore and proved very effective. The Egyptian flag can be seen at the stern, and beyond is a native dahabeyeh. The Arabic inscriptions are simply those of the regular set—Posta Sudanieh at the bottom and mlym (millieme) at the right side. They are watermarked with the multiple crescent and star, and perforated 14.

OFFICIAL STAMPS.

About April, 1900, a special stamp for official correspondence was made by perforating the 5m of the 1897 issue with the initials S.G. The letters are 10 mm. high, the S being made with 14 holes and the G with 12. They stand for "Sudan Government", and, being perforated one at a time, apparently, are found normal (reading on face of stamp) and inverted, and reversed (reading on back of stamp) and inverted.

At the beginning of 1902 the 1m "camel" stamp was likewise perforated with these letters, and later the 5m "camel" stamp. But Der Philatelst says that only 1000 of the 1m were prepared and only 500 of the 5m, and that most of the latter were burned.

On January 1, 1903, a change was made, the 1m and 5m, and 1, 2 and 5pi stamps being issued with the surcharge O. S. G. S. These letters stand for "On Sudan Government Service", though some other curious renderings have appeared, doubtless due to French translations. The 1m was surcharged at Khartum and had the rosette watermark. The other values were surcharged in London and had the new crescent and star watermark, which had not then appeared on any of them unsurcharged. The two surcharges are very similar, the most noticeable difference being that the G and S's are more "open" in the local type, while the ends cut off on diagonal lines, while the London type has these letters closed up more and the ends cut off on horizontal lines. The London surcharge was applied to the entire sheet of 120 at once, and shows square periods throughout; but the Khartum print was applied to blocks of 30, five rows of six, and though the first four rows had square periods, the last row had round ones. 40,000 of the 1m were surcharged at Khartum and lasted until September, 1904, when the 1m with London surcharge appeared, on crescent and star paper of course. One pane of 60 of the 1m local surcharge is said to have been issued inverted.

Two additional values have since appeared, both with London surcharge, the 3m on crescent and star paper in January, 1904, and the 10pi with the old rosette watermark about March, 1906. The 2m has never yet appeared. These stamps were at first jealously guarded, but were suddenly put on sale to the public in January, 1904.

ARMY SERVICE.

In January, 1905, the army was provided with a special stamp. It seems that all the army correspondence was carried at 1m per letter or packet, regardless of weight, so that but this one value was needed. Again we have a Khartum surcharge, the word ARMY reading up at the left side of the stamp, and OFFICIAL downward at the right; and as before it was applied in blocks of 30, five rows of six. The surcharge occurs in two sizes,

(a) ARMY 9¼ mm. OFFICIAL 15¾ mm.
 (b) ARMY 8 mm. OFFICIAL 13¾ mm.
 the smaller size occurring on the last stamps of the first and second rows (Nos. 6 and 12) in each block, while the fifth stamp in the last row (No. 29) has an exclamation point (!) in place of the first I in OFFICIAL. The surcharge is known inverted. 80,000 are said to have been printed, but the stamp was withdrawn at the end of 1905, after being in use one year, and the remainders destroyed. According to Ewen issue was on the crescent and star paper, but two sheets (240) are said to some 30-35,000 were used. The regular have been found on the old rosette paper. These of course had the varieties noted above.

Evidently the army was placed on the same footing as the other government departments as regards postal rates, for on January 1, 1906, the regular set, including all values, was issued surcharged "Army Service." The first five values, from 1m to 1pi, were on the crescent and star paper, but the 2, 5 and 10pi had the old rosette watermark. The surcharge was printed at Khartum again, but this time in entire panes of sixty. The first setting had the two words spaced 14 mm. apart, with the result that one or the other of them, allowing for variation, would be sure to be printed over the legend "Sudan Postage" or its Arabic equivalent. The distance between was therefore shortened to 12 mm. Only the 1m occurs with the wide spacing, and Ewen hazards a guess at 300 for the number printed. One sheet of the regular 1m has been found inverted.

It is stated that the estimated supply for the succeeding year is printed each December, and the quantities printed to date, as far as known (no figures for 1909 being available) are as follows: 1m, 75,000; 2m, 40,000; 3m, 18,000; 5m, 125,000; and 1pi, 21,500, all having crescent and star watermark. With the rosette watermark there were 2pi, 4,000; 5pi, 400; 10pi, 250; but the last printing of the 2 and 5pi stamps found the crescent and star watermark in use, so we have to add of these: 1,000 2pi and 120 5pi. This seems to be the extent of information to date.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

One Method—Through the courtesy of F. S. Parmalee, Omaha, Neb., we may report a circumstance that tends to curtail the available supply of the high denominations of the retiring issue. The explanation has nothing in common with that concerning the use of the stamps in bulk payment for third class publications that made application for and were refused second class rates, except that it relates to a convenient method for transacting a part of the business of the postoffice department. At South Omaha, Nebraska, the main office of the Cudahy Company is located and all correspondence from the numerous branch offices is directed there. So as to regulate the postage accounts of these branch offices, it is ordered that the mail sent to the South Omaha headquarters, be prepaid at the single rate regardless of the necessary amount of postage. As a consequence, the amount of postage due on the voluminous correspondence is exceedingly heavy and the sum representing the deficit is collected ordinarily by due stamps canceled in sheets. While every effort is made to have in stock at the South Omaha office, an adequate supply of due stamps, yet the demands are so exceptional at times that the quantity becomes exhausted and under these conditions it is represented that the postmaster at South Omaha has had recourse to the use of the dollar values of the retiring issue with the sanction of the authorities at Washington. An important stipulation enters into the case, however; the Cudahy Company is requested to return the adhesive stamps that have been impressed into service and this the firm does, according to our information. In turn, the specimens are forwarded to Washington and so, become lost to collectors.

Postage Due—There are several indications that afford a basis for the surmise that the authorities have in mind the advisability of discontinuing the use of postage due stamps. It is suspected that the postoffice department is not wholly satisfied with the system that is now in operation from various references that are to be found in the postal laws that enjoin careful adherence to the rules governing the use of the postage due stamps. The postage due stamps are valuable for statistical purposes but it is known that the occasional misuse of the stamps does not render the system infallible, nor the stamps in themselves an actual guide showing the money collected for postage due.

Wants Them—Again we shall revert to the subject of the imperforate two-cent Canada, current type. As shown last week, the stamps are to be considered as accidental varieties that never should have reached the public. The Ottawa authorities while describing the stamps as printer's waste when returning the sheet that was sent them for inspection said that their owner would be on the safer side if he did not attempt to dispose of the stamps. Mr. Lemieux, the finder of the stamps was asked to return the other stamps comprising the complementary half of the sheet in the possession of Mr. Severn. Even though Mr. Lemieux were inclined to act favorably on the request, he could not produce a single specimen as all that originally were in his possession were exchanged. The person who got the stamps from Mr. Lemieux dispersed them through the east selling perhaps the greater number of them to a well-known dealer. We suppose that the stamps could be traced to the individual holders if the Canadian government would institute the search. The Canadian authorities naturally would like to recover the stamps so as to destroy evidence of a slip in the perfected cogs of the machinery of the stamp printing establishment. While "printer's waste" would seem to have no material value yet it may shape a sentiment that has its influence, and which collectors appreciate.

He Concealed Nothing—A moral question enters into the consideration of the case of the Canadian imperforates. Mr. Lemieux found the sheet which did not belong to him but he kept it merely because he was a stamp collector and not because he thought it had a tangible value. He pursued a natural, human course and perhaps with no particular thought in mind, he retained it. He left Ottawa after showing the stamps to one or two persons there and when finally he disposed of the stamps, half of them were given for a comparatively trifling return while the other half was placed more advantageously, the buyer telling Mr. Lemieux that the stamps had a considerable collecting interest. Mr. Lemieux was informed that the imperforates would be referred to in the WEEKLY and that no doubt an inquiry would be started by the Canadian authorities that would sift the case to the bottom and that for his own protection his story would have to be the true one. He realized all this and invited the investigation.

What's the Use—It has been brought to the attention of Mr. Severn that if he were to return the stamps to Ottawa, he would be "recouped" the amount that he paid for them. The proposal would be simple enough if the entire supply was in his hands but under the existing circumstances, if he were to send them back he would be enhancing the value and interest of the stamps that would remain in other and unidentified hands; it is unlikely that these stamps would be sent back. It might add partly to the satisfaction of the Canadian officers to have some of the stamps returned but so long as any of the stamps remain in the possession of others, the incident could not be considered as closed.

Departed—A reader informed us in time for announcement in the issue of last week of the death of Roy Farrell Greene, Arkansas City, Kansas, but asked that mention be delayed until he could authenticate the news, as Mr. Greene was sometimes confused with others of the same name in his section. It proves all too true that Roy Farrell Greene has departed from this sphere and we now spread the sad tidings. To the collectors of the present day, the name of Mr. Greene is not known in the way that it was to those who read the philatelic press of fifteen or twenty years ago when Mr. Greene's philatelic verses, to say nothing of his prose writings, were a feature of almost every one of the numerous stamp papers of that period. In later years, his poetry gained the recognition of some of the best editors and his name became familiar to the readers of general magazines and periodicals. A volume of poems met with the appreciation and its contents show an aptitude for versification that is exceptional. Mr. Greene was at his best in setting homely or philosophic truths to rhythmic measure; and he achieved much renown through his poems. Mr. Greene's liking for philately was unmistakable at the time he wrote for the philatelic press. He attended the national stamp conventions at Chicago in 1893 and while there he formed many friendships that attended him to the end. Mr. Greene had a farm some miles from Arkansas City and there he is described as having lived ideally.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—If any of our subscribers receive a Fournier circular please take the matter up directly with the P. O. Dept. and urge the taking of action to free our mails of this man's rubbish. Address the Second Asst. Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.

—Correspondents continue to send us newspaper clippings showing illustrations of U. S. stamps. While we are glad to see them, more good will be accomplished by sending them direct to the P. O. Dept. at Washington asking for the co-operation of the Department in securing the passage of the Taylor bill permitting the illustration of U. S. stamps. The Pittsburg Dispatch of Feb. 18 and the Chicago Tribune of Feb. 17 are good subjects for this educational movement.

—As an indication of the demand for the Lincoln 2c stamp Marcel E. Taller submits a clipping from the N. Y. Times in which Postmaster Morgan is represented as having asked for a further supply of 200,000. This is the story that comes to us from all over the country.

—John W. Dye, A. P. S. 1882, is now located at Genoa, Italy, office of the American Consulate General. He was formerly at Berlin.

"Auctions"

On March 20th I shall sell at public auction at the C. P. S. club-rooms, Chicago, the general collection of Mr. E. C. Plume of this city.

There is sure to be something in this sale you want, and everything is sold to the highest bidder, without reserve.

Why not ask for a catalogue and send in a few bids? You'll not regret it.

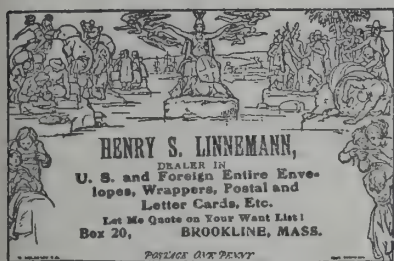

There are some extra, fine things included in this sale, for instance:

Tobago $1 violet, a fine lightly cancelled postally used copy.

This stamp catalogue $60.00 unused. It is not priced used as the dealers can't supply it. Mr. Plume was offered—and refused—$125.00 cash for the above stamp two weeks after he secured it.

B. L. VOORHEES, [30]

1319 Lawrence Ave., CHICAGO.

—The catalogue of the February auction sale of the Eben S. Martin Co. to be held Feb. 27, 1909, at the room of the Chicago Society was received just too late for notice in the preceding issue. Eight hundred lots are in the sale and among them are many scarce low-priced stamps. The bid sheet accompanying the catalogue is arranged on a plan that seems to be unique. The number of each lot is printed on the sheet; the patron fills in the bid only.

—Penny postage between the U. S. and Newfoundland will become a reality on March 1. The Washington authorities have agreed to the reduction. The reform is said to be due largely to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the Labrador missionary, who was in Washington recently. Thanks to R. Q. Pease and Harry Griffin for the clippings. Mr. Pease well queries, "What country next?"

—One cannot fail to notice in this number the advertising of the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. of St. Louis. The large half-page advertisement on the first inside cover page, together with several smaller advertisements scattered throughout the issue is proof positive that the firm is very much in evidence this winter in stamp trade circles.

—Ross O'Shaughnessy, as will be seen by our advertising columns, has opened a stamp store at 636 Market St., San Francisco, Cal. We are very pleased to witness this evidence of a revival of business activity along philatelic lines and trust it will not be long ere the city resumes its old-time position as regards the stamp trade. Congratulations to Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

—We are indebted to many subscribers for clippings telling of the speedy output of Lincoln stamps from the various post offices. There are few places at which the supply of this stamp was not entirely exhausted on Feb. 12, the day of issue.

—Wolsieffer's 95th auction sale contains a good number of old issues among many other desirable stamps; the sale

STAMP MIXTURES

Our importations from all parts of the world are dumped into these mixtures, which contain many stamps not usually found in such lots. They are being constantly improved and changed by fresh arrivals by every foreign mail. We wholesale in no other way.

Continental Mixture, - - - 25c per 1000

So called because most of the stamps are from the Continent of Europe, many slightly damaged stamps, from all parts of the world (stock sortings) are dumped in this mixture. (No U. S.) 25c per 1000. 1 pound (5000 to 7000), $1.00.

Better Continental Mixture, - - - 56c per 1000

This is a distinctly better mixture, including many such as Roumania, Russia, Oriental and Scandinavian countries. Sent in sealed envelope. 56c per 1000. 5000 for $2.25.

"Boss" Mixture, - - - $1.06 per 1000

From all parts of the world (very few European) Australia, West Indies, Africa, British Colonials, Latin American, etc., etc.

$1.06 per 1000. 5000 for $4.50

"Great" Mixture, - - - $2.00 per 1000

A fine lot of stamps, mostly cataloguing 2c to 5c each (average about 3c), from all parts of the world including many colonies.

$2.00 per 1000. 5000 for $9.00

Mexican Postage Mixture, - - - $1.75 per 1000

A mixture from this country that is far superior to what any other dealer could offer.

South American Mixture, - - - $2.50 per 1000

Including the stamps of all countries from the Panama Canal to Cape Horn, a specialty with us.

Central American Mixture, - - - $4.00 per 1000

Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador. A fine and desirable mixture.

Superior Mixture, - - - $5.00 per 1000

A good general mixture of fine stamps of a class much better than our other mixtures. It never fails to please.

"The Little Dealers' Stock" of 1000 stamps, being 125 from each of the above eight mixtures, postage paid and registered for - - - $2.00

U. S. Mixture, - - - 25c per 1000

A mixture of postage, revenue and cut envelopes (more 3c greens than 2c reds), remains of an old accumulation. Well worth the money.

C. H. MEKEEL, (R. F. D. 29) ST. LOUIS, MO.

will be held March 6th. Mr. Wolsieffer announces that he will disperse the collection of P. H. Hill, Nashville, Tenn., in a two nights' sale. Mr. Hill gave especial attention to U. S. postage, and revenues, proprietary and regular; and his condition standard was very high. The dates of the Hill sale will be duly announced.

—A. J. Lloyd announces unsatisfactory dealings with R. D. Vroman of Sioux Falls, So. Dak. This must be the same Vroman against whom we have a long-standing claim for advertising. Formerly a resident of Pittsburg, he was last heard from in or near San Francisco, and dealers will do well to store this name away for future reference.

—H. S. Adair, Sec. of the A. P. S., will be at the Riggs House, Washington, D. C., March 3-7. As noted elsewhere he will be pleased to see anyone who will take the trouble to look him up.

—We are glad to note that San Francisco is recovering in a philatelic way from the great disaster of 1906. For a long time after the quake stamp collections were forgotten, but for some time past collectors of the Golden Gate City have shown renewed activity, bringing many recruits into the fold. It will be seen by his ad in this issue that Ross O'Shaughnessy, one of Frisco's best known stamp men, has opened a fine stamp office in the rebuilt downtown shopping district and we feel sure that success awaits him in his venture.

—H. J. Crocker, one of America's most famous philatelists, is at present engaged in writing a work on Hawaiians that promises to be one of the finest philatelic volumes ever published. Altogether we hail with joy the return of San Francisco to her former place amongst active philatelic centers.

—Edw. J. Meehan sends us a clipping from the New York World stating that President Roosevelt has approved a design for a new 1c coin which shall bear Lincoln's head instead of the so-called Indian head that has been used for so many years. The writer of the article is, however, sadly in error in stating that the "head of McKinley now used on the 1c stamp was approved by McKinley while he was president." (!)

—"In answer to your letter of the 1st instant which the Postmaster General has referred to me, you are informed that the attention of the Postal Administration of Switzerland has been called to the traffic in counterfeit postage stamps conducted by F. Fournier."—JOSEPH STEWART, 2nd Asst. P. M. Gen'l. Will subscribers receiving Fournier samples take up the matter with Mr. Stewart and thus add to the wholesome agitation against the Fournier wares. Don't write us, write Washington!

UNITED STATES.—George L. Toppan writes that the imperforate stamps are already exhausted, and it is doubtful if more than 10,000 were issued. The wholesale department has sent in a requisition for another supply of the perforated 1c stamps, but the officials do not know whether it will be filled or not. The original supply is now practically sold out.

N. Cobe, the New England Stamp Co., M. P. Rodermond and others have shown us specimens of the Lincoln stamp, imperforate.

We shall be obliged hereafter to cut out reference to plate numbers, unless there is something new developed regarding them. We have received late information regarding them from J. C. E. Schmidt, Anton Eiser, Bennett M. Allen and L. G. Williams and possibly others, but no new number to add to our list.

Willard S. Fuller reports that he has found sizes 5 and 13 of the current 2c carmine envelope, with watermark "1903" instead of "1907". He has also found albinos of each.

Frank B. Eldredge, E. J. Post, C. G. Heck and Floyd R. Gelleiman have favored us with late information regarding new precancels. Mr. Heck writes that there are two types of the Racine, Wis., precancel, the word Wisconsin being spelt out in one case, while in the other it is abbreviated. The type is also different, in the former case being somewhat smaller, though the arrangement of the rules is the same. Mr. Heck also reports having a 19c permit which is used by a local Racine firm. The new varieties reported are as follows:

Boston, Mass., 4c 1902, inv.
Battle Creek, Mich., 2c 1902, new type.
Minneapolis, Minn., 1c 1908, inv.
Elgin, Ill., 2c 1908, normal.

Racine, Wis., 4c 1902, reading up.
Cincinnati, O., 1c 1908, reading down.
Chicago, Ill., 5c, 6c, 8c, 10c, 15c 1902, normal; 2c postage due, inv.
Buffalo, N. Y., 1c 1902, normal.
Decorah, Ia., 1c 1902, reading up; 2c 1902, reading down; 10c 1902, inverted.
Battle Creek, Mich., 1c 1902, normal.
Warren, Pa., 1c 1902, reading up.
Elgin, Ill., 1c 1902, inverted; 2c 1902, normal.
Detroit, Minn., 2c 1902, inv.
St. Paul, Minn., 4c 1902, reading down.
La Crosse, Wis., 1c 1908, normal.

W. E. Coburn has shown us some curiosities in permits, including the following: "7c Paid—Boston, Mass.—Permit No. 82." and the same with a large "6" surcharged in magenta over the "7". Both were used by the Shawmut National Bank of Boston.

ARGENTINE.—Hermann Focke sends us the new 3c stamp from this country, and we find the color is entirely different from that announced in No. 912.

Adhesive.

3c gray green.

BELGIUM.—Floyd R. Gelleiman informs us that he has seen the current 1c stamp precancelled for Brussels, Waterloo and other towns of Belgium.

BRITISH NEW GUINEA.—Benedict Prieth writes that he has found the 2sh 6d value, with large surcharge "paua" and having the narrow watermark. This stamp is not listed by Ewen, and was not supposed to exist, but Mr. Prieth has made all reasonable tests, and is sure that he has the stamp.

CONGO.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the full set of Congo stamps surcharged "Congo Belge", as previously announced. According to L'Echo, the bulk of the surcharges were typographed at the home office, but the quantities first overprinted are likely to be largely increased, as the hand stamps have been sent to the Colony and the stocks remaining there will also be surcharged. There are two types of the surcharge, one being 4 mm., and the other 3 1/2 mm. high. The unsurcharged Congo Free State stamps were demonitized Jan. 8, 1909.

CRETE.—The C. E. Hussman Co. reports having seen the 1 lepton and 2 lepta stamps surcharged "Ellas" with the last letter of the surcharge inverted.

LUXEMBURG.—Mr. Schachne has just received the remainder of the set with new stamp, referred to in No. 886.

Post Cards.

10c rose on yellow buff.

10x10c rose on yellow buff, T.3.

NATAL.—We find we made a mistake in No. 943, the three new high values being on ordinary instead of chalky paper.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke reports having seen the new provisional, 10c in green on 2c orange revenue stamp, with "1888" in place of "1908". The C. E. Hussman Co. reports the 4c on 5c, Scott's No. 225, with "1008" instead of "1908".

PANAMA.—The New England Stamp Co., J. Murray Bartels and Gerald L. Bliss have shown us the new 2 1/2c stamp, which was put on sale at the Panama postoffices Feb. 10. Mr. Bliss says it is the first of the new set to be sold to the public, though we have already chronicled the new 10c stamp with "Canal Zone" surcharge. The balance of the new issue will appear within a few weeks as the supply of the old stamps becomes exhausted. The 5c will probably be the next to be issued. No further denominations of the new issue have been surcharged for the Zone as yet.

PARAGUAY.—The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. sends us some new varieties from

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

CHICAGO BRANCH, No. 1.

The 270th Regular Monthly Meeting of the Chicago Branch, No. 1, American Philatelic Society was held in the Club-room of the Chicago Philatelic Society on the evening of Feb. 10, '09.

Pres. Leonard Michael called the meeting to order at 8:30 p. m. with ten members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. Resolutions from Milwaukee Branch, No. 24 were read on the death of our fellow member, Frank N. Massoth.

The Chicago Branch, No. 1, passed the following resolutions on the death of our fellow member.

Resolved, that in the death of Frank N. Massoth, Chicago Branch, No. 1, American Philatelic Society, and also our parent organization has sustained a manifest loss, in that its members have been deprived of a genial comradeship and a notable source of philatelic inspiration, emanating from his knowledge of, and love and enthusiasm for stamps; and in recognition of this and our deep appreciation of the long service to the branch of him our friend, it is hereby ordered that this resolution be spread on the records of this Society.

The philatelic subject for the evening was postponed and an informal talk took place relating to Frank N. Massoth, as we knew him. Meeting adjourned at 10 p. m. Next meeting, March 10th, '09.

JOS. MIZERA, Sec.

ST. LOUIS BRANCH.

At the regular meeting of the St. Louis Branch, No. 4, held in the Missouri Manufacturers' Association rooms, a communication received from the Cleveland Branch, No. 30, conveying certain resolutions proposing amendments to the Society's By-laws with regard to the publishing of the American Philatelist and on the subject of proxy voting was read. After some discussion a motion was carried for the St. Louis Branch, No. 4, to endorse the action of Cleveland Branch, No. 30.

GEO. WOOD, Sec.

COLUMBUS BRANCH, No 21.

The 50th meeting was held February 9th with eleven members in attendance. Minutes of the 49th meeting and report of the Board of Directors were read and approved. The resignation of D. C. Sawyer was presented and accepted. Dr. H. M. Semans was elected to active membership and Frederick D. Fogelson, Marion, O., to passive membership.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the publishers of the Official Organ of the American Philatelic Society and the Sales Superintendent thereof are members who benefit directly by legislation in the conventions of the society;

Resolved, That they be placed upon the same plane or footing as the Directors of the Society in that they may neither hold nor solicit proxies nor act or vote as proxy for any member of the Society and, in accordance with the above, that the By-laws of the Society be changed to read as follows: (Change Article III, Section 6, to read) No Director of this Society, Publisher of the Official Organ or Sales Superintendent of the same Society shall be permitted to act for or vote as proxy for any other stockholder of this Society.

Secretary was instructed to forward copies of the above resolution to the various branches and others with a view to securing one hundred signatures and have same placed on the official ballot. Mr. Duffy prepared a paper on Antigua which was read by President Mason in Mr. Duffy's absence. After a prize drawing and auction, meeting adjourned. Next meeting, February 23rd.

GEO. K. SMITH, JR., Sec.

Whereas: The mysterious pleasure of a gracious Providence has removed from the ranks of philately one who for years was prominent in its councils, and who was gifted through years of deep study with exceptional knowledge, both as a collector and a dealer, of our common hobby in its varied lines, and

Whereas: The American Philatelic Society and the Chicago Branch thereof, has lost a valued member and friend in the decease of the late Frank N. Massoth, and,

Whereas: The members of Omaha Branch, No. 23, through personal acquaintance with the deceased, share in the feeling of personal loss, therefore, be it

Resolved, that Omaha Branch, No. 23, extend to the family of the deceased, to the Chicago members of the A. P. S. and to the membership at large, its sincerest sympathy, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Branch; that a copy of the same be sent to the Chicago Branch and that same be published in the Official Organ.

NOTES BY EUGENE KLEIN.

(Mr. Klein is known to many of our readers as a specialist in Sudan and we publish his notes as received even though they may touch upon some facts as given by Mr. Howes.—Ed.)

1897, March, 1.—The current 1, 2, 3m and 1, 5 and 10pi stamps of Egypt (of the De La Rue printing) were surcharged SOUDAN in Arabic and French. The over-printing was done on panes of 60. A vertical row of surcharges was set up by hand. Each type of this row differs in the relative position of the Arabic letters. The lowest (6th) is most readily recognizable by the third character from the left which originally is comma shaped, but the lower portion of which was broken off and is, therefore, dot shaped. This vertical row was repeated ten times on the plate. All surcharges of the horizontal row are, therefore, similar and have the same characteristics as the first of the row. In early printings misplacements of the surcharge sometimes took place; as a result of this we find all the values with French surcharge at top and Arabic at bottom of stamp. Owing to wear of type, various errors occur: Inverted V caused by missing bar in A. Also dotless first Arabic letter. This makes the word read Sudal.

May.—The values 5m and 2pi were similarly overprinted. All varieties exist in these as above. Five panes of 60 of the 1m were surcharged inverted; also two panes of the 5m. One pane of each was contained in a big collection that was sold in London lately. The stamps of this issue are much scarcer than catalogue prices would indicate. Forgeries of the surcharge are commoner than suspected. The writer has them in some of the most carefully piled collections.

1898.—This beautiful issue, prepared by De La Rue and Co., has done much to stimulate stamp collecting among beginners young and old. The picture is essentially characteristic of the country. It shows the dromedary carrying mailbags and postman across the desert. The upper mail bag has KHARTOUM written across it, while the lower one is inscribed BERBER. Two important commercial cities. Occasional colorless dots occur in the framework. These are due to uneven inking. The watermark of this issue is a cross and not a flower as stated in some catalogues. Soudan being a Mohammedan country, the population objected to handling stamps with a cross and prevailed upon the Governor General to change the watermark. Paper with multiple crescent and star watermark was then introduced and the set including 1, 2, 3, 5m and 1pi issued in 1902-3.—Considerable supplies of the higher values being on hand, these were not issued until later when the supply was used up. The center of the 1pi stamp was printed from a second plate in 1904. This is much fainter in the upper parts than plate I.

1903.—The 5m having become temporarily exhausted, the 5pi value was surcharged 5m locally. Two sheets of 60 were surcharged inverted. These fell into the hands of a postal official who cancelled most of the stamps, having heard that a cancellation will make them more valuable. He miscalculated himself, as he found very scant sale for his cancelled stamps. The few unused he had sold readily.

1907.—Inland postage was reduced to 4m. This necessitated a stamp of corresponding value which was issued in dark brown and pale blue. Plate II, with the faint background, was used for printing the central portion of this stamp. This stamp was in use but a short time, when the colors were changed to brown and red to conform to the Postal Union colors.

1908.—The 2 and 5pi stamps of 1898 having been used up, the new supply was printed on the Multiple Crescent and Star watermark paper.

POSTAGE DUE STAMPS.

1897, May.—The surcharges having been printed with the same type as the postage stamps show the same characteristics.

1901, January 1.—The permanent issue bears a picture of a Sudanese Gunboat and is printed on Multiple Crescent and Star watermark paper.

OFFICIAL STAMPS.

1900, February 8.—The 1m of 1898 and the 5m of 1897 were perforated S. G. (Sudan Government). Several rows were folded and the perforating done at one operation thus creating tête-bêche pairs. Inverted, reversed and inverted perforations are therefore no rarer than the regulars.

1902.—The 1m of 1898 was surcharged locally O. S. G. S. (On Sudan Government Service). The surcharging was done on panes of 30. The first stamp of the top row having an oval O; the entire first row circular periods. The other 24 stamps of the pane have square periods. One sheet of this stamp was issued with inverted surcharges.

1903.—The 1, 3, 5m, 1, 2 and 5pi stamps of 1902 were similarly overprinted in London. The letters are a trifle smaller, S. and G. more closed, and the printing ink very shiny. No varieties occur.

1906.—The 1m of 1902 was surcharged: "ARMY" reading up and "OFFICIAL" reading down in panes of 30. The setting shows the following varieties: Stamp No. 6 ARMY 8 mm., OFFICIAL, 13½ mm. long. The O is slightly below the level of the word. Stamp No. 12 measures the same but has O level. The other stamps have ARMY 9¼ mm., OFFICIAL 15¾ mm. long. Stamp No. 29 has exclamation mark in place of first I. This surcharge exists inverted and also sideways. The latter especially rare. Four sheets of this surcharge were found on Cross Watermark paper, eight of which have small surcharge, two are of the "exclamation mark" variety; while the remaining 108 stamps have the ordinary large surcharge. This issue was discontinued to make place to a whole set and the remainders sold to a London dealer.

1905, December.—Surcharged "ARMY SERVICE" in two horizontal lines. This was applied to the 1, 2, 3, 5m and 1pi multiple watermark and 2, 5 and 10pi Cross watermark stamps. The following quantities of the high values were overprinted: 2pi, 2,200; 5pi, 400; 10pi, 250.

The printing, as usual, was done in Cairo. The relative position of the words vary slightly. The setting changed with each printing of which there were three. Army and Service are 11 mm. apart. A few used copies of the 1m were found spaced 14 mm. These came from the early printings. The 1m used is known with inverted and also double surcharge. The latter very rare. The 1pi ARMY SERVICE is found on both pales I and II. One sheet of the 2m is known without surcharge on the lowest row; the surcharge having "slipped up" to the sheet margin at top. This makes six vertical pairs or strips, one stamp (the lowest) of which is without surcharge.

1908, December.—The 2 and 5pi on Multiple Crescent and Star watermark paper were surcharged in the following quantities: 2pi 1,000 and 5pi 120.

A GREAT PRICE LIST.

My price list containing 115 pages, printed in two columns, used and unused, which has just appeared gives the prices of

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

Rec'd sample MISSIONARY mixture today. They are O.K. in every respect.—J. H. WHITE, Box 780, Atlanta, Ga.

ALBUM FOR

Entire Envelopes, Covers & PostCards

These albums are made after suggestions of the leading collectors of these interesting stamps and only after numerous experiments have been made. The pages are 6½x10 inches, of the finest bond paper, a single stub 1 inch wide between every leaf (to attach to cover) and very thick narrow stubs (¼ inch wide) are bound in album in addition to take up the thickness of the covers when inserted. The e albums should hold between 260 and 350 Covers without the album "bulging".

For Picture Cards, Post Cards, etc., there is nothing published of the kind to compare with it, as these may be inserted and both back and front are visible.

THE MELVILLE STAMP BOOKS

The first of the books is worth a dollar in itself. It tells you all about the line engraved stamps of Great Britain and EXPLAINS EVERYTHING in simple language and clever diagrams and illustrations. It tells you what varieties to look for, and as many of these are not known outside of Great Britain there is a good opportunity for any American collector to find them for himself in America. No. 2 tells you all about BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and this will be ready in January. No. 3 will deal with the early issues of the UNITED STATES and will be superbly illustrated.

REVENUE STAMPS OF MEXICO.

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

Among all countries issuing revenue stamps, none, with the possible exceptions of the United States and Argentina, equal Mexico in interest. I can well imagine that a collector who studies the fiscal issues of either of these countries, may be disposed to claim the supremacy for his own field. Having paid at different times special attention to all three, my opinion is to a certain extent founded on experience, and I will therefore state the reasons for and against the collection of Mexican revenues as compared with the others.

To collect the fiscal issues of our own country properly is, to my own mind, an amusement that no one who has not a very deep purse and plenty of time should indulge in. The extraordinary number of the fiscal issues of Argentina is rather discouraging, although the difficulty can be met most satisfactorily by commencing with a single class of stamps or those of a single province, and working on other lines only when a fair start has been made. Now Mexican revenues are comparatively cheap, frequently beautiful both in design and execution, in some cases rivaling those of Argentina; and the field being somewhat more restricted and material much more available here, a beautiful and interesting exhibit can be made at a very moderate price. It is also easier to complete more sets than in the issues of Argentina, where the number of copies of high values issued is very restricted. Now as an offset to these great advantages, I know of only one disadvantage, which personally I do not consider one of any importance. I am very much afraid that the average collector in this country lives in a happy dream of reaping fortune from his collection, instead of enjoying it for itself and letting the profit come if it will. Now to anyone who wishes a really delightful occupation at moderate cost, I can fully recommend Mexican revenues; but if the reader's idea is commercialism, I should say let them alone; for judging by my own observations, I can hold out no prospect of any great increases in values. They remain in most cases about where they were twenty years ago, some have advanced materially, but these are the exceptions, while others have declined.

Stocks are, however, not large except for the very commonest; and if at any time they should become generally sought after, the entire supply in this country would vanish in no time. I have tried to state the case fairly, and will now briefly touch on the various classes of fiscals, commencing with the federal issues.

The Documentos stamps, or as first called Documentos y Libros, commenced in 1874-1875, and offer one of the most attractive fields of philatelic study known to me. There has been an issue every year, and in 1877 there were two, the colors of the set having been changed for some reason unknown to me, and there were also at this time a few provisionals. The 25 and 50 centavos of the 1877 issue curiously enough have the numerals reversed on one side of the stamp, and the 50c yellow offsets to an extent I have never noted in the case of any other stamp, although the colors are permanent as a rule. I believe the variety of this stamp listed by Forbin as bistre is due to deterioration of color, as I have often seen them and never thought them deserving even of mention.

The 1878 issue is one of the most beautiful of the earlier issues, although those of 1880 and 1881 are very attractive, while that of 1879 is crude both in design and execution. In July, 1883, a second issue for that year appeared reading 1883-1884, and since then the fiscal and not the calendar year has been used in dating the issues. In July, 1886, the practice of using separate colors for each stamp was dropped until July, 1893, and during this period each issue had a single color for the values in centavos and one or two for values in pesos. Since that time individual colors have been used and resulted in a series of beautiful issues, the higher values being frequently in two colors, and in 1903-1904 the entire set was bicolored. These stamps were at first of quite large size but after quite a little experimenting have finally settled down so to speak on about 25x30 mm. as standard size.

The 1874-1875 issue reading Documentos y Libros was accompanied by another set reading Contribucion Federal. These were of large size, 50x64 mm., and beautiful execution. Since that time

THE 3c ENVELOPE OF 1864.

(Having received the following letter from Mr. Jenney we deemed it best to have the rejoinder, if any, appear at the same time. Our readers will read with interest both communications.—Ed.)

By CHARLES E. JENNEY.

The note with reference to Mr. Hancock's labor on the U. S. envelope of the 1861 and 1864 issues, which appeared in one of your recent numbers will strike a sympathetic chord with many collectors.

Collectors will remember that Scott's 1905 catalogue divided the 3c of 1864 into two dies based on size, each subdivided into four varieties based on the prolongation of the first stroke of the U of United. This system was devised, I believe, by Mr. Victor Berthold, and with all due respect to his vast knowledge of our envelope issues, I certainly believe that no one thing ever did more to discourage interest in U. S. envelopes. The system is wholly inadequate and inaccurate, though Mr. Berthold adhered to it in his own work on U. S. envelopes. Scott's yielding to a general dissatisfaction and complaint, cut all of this out of subsequent editions.

In the first place, the measurements given for the two dies did not correspond with actual measurements of the stamps, unless my celluloid scale has become sadly warped by the California climate.

Then the separating into varieties by the prolongation of the first stroke of the U of United was most unsatisfactory and variable, as it is a very short line to continue accurately by, not a straight line at all, and moreover owing to variations in printing, apt to be crooked or curved more than usual. As a result, two stamps totally unlike and from different dies, as evident to any eye, would be classed under the same die and variety by this method, while two stamps printed from the same die were likely to be classed as two separate varieties, by a slight flaw in the stroke of the U.

For instance, I have two stamps which according to that classification are Scott's No. 1351E (1905 catalogue), the prolonged U line cutting the S of cents and yet in one the S of cents is within 1/4 mm. of the figure 3, almost touching it, while in the other it is more than 2 mm. away from it, showing to the most casual eye that they are not only not the same variety but different dies. The position of other letters confirm this.

I have no system of describing the different dies to replace this one I criticize as I have never had enough material to examine, but I know that it was confusing to collectors, because of its inadequacy and inaccuracy, and I believe that study by one who has a good stock to examine would lead to some vastly more beneficial and satisfactory description of these puzzling early issues.

By VICTOR M. BERTHOLD.

Mr. Jenney writes that collectors will remember that Scott's 1905 catalogue divided the 3c 1864 into dies based on size. This is correct, but the 1905 Scott's catalogue on page 20 states also, "There are five varieties of these dies which may be distinguished by the HEADS as follows." The catalogue not only describes the five heads, but has also their illustrations, and it is evident that the main distinction of the die is made by ascertaining the heads. However the specialist can go further, and subdivide the dies by the use of a line prolongation along the "U." This information, however, was NEVER given by Scott. The idea of using a "U" line was (as I fully explained in my lecture before the B. P. S. in April 1904) suggested at first by those leading philatelists, Messrs. Tiffany, Bogert and Rechert, in their great envelope publication where on page 23 they state: "If still again the thread or line be laid along the lower stroke of the 'U' it will pass at different distances from the top of the nose, and fall on different parts of the right numeral, of the space below it, or even as low as the 'S' of 'CENTS.'" I mentioned this fact also in my lecture, so that as far as the "U line" prolongation is concerned, Mr. Jenney's remarks—"This system was devised, I believe, by Mr. V. M. Berthold" is also a wrong assumption.

It is news to me that there should be any difficulty in distinguishing size A from size B, as the first stamp measures horizontally 24 mm., rarely reaching 25 mm., while the other includes all stamps measuring horizontally 25 1/2 mm. or more, and I say this because in my studies I have measured from 5000 to 6000 of these stamps.

Neither does it seem quite reasonable for Mr. Jenney to proclaim: "No one thing (referring to the varieties of the 1864 issue) ever did more to discourage interest in U. S. envelopes." May I respectfully ask Mr. Jenney whether or not he is aware that since the publication of my first paper everyone of the leading collectors of U. S. envelopes have added to their collections these varieties in accordance with the system that I had proposed? Therefore, rather than having done "everything to discourage the interest of U. S. envelopes" the fact is, instead of having had a deterrent effect the system stimulated the leading collectors to renewed interest and efforts.

It is quite true, however, that the 1864 issue on account of its numerous sub-varieties, which a specialist can find, will always remain one of the most difficult difficult philatelic subjects, and only one devoting years of study to it will be able categorically to assert that such or such a system is wholly inadequate and inaccurate.

OUR FRENCH SPECIAL.

Our Soudan issue was warmly appreciated, of that we are positive, and our effort will now be turned towards making the French Special, to be issued March 27, a great success.

It has been a strenuous season most assuredly and we feel sure that the WEEKLY has never before measured up to its opportunities as it has during the months past. Our circulation is now close to 6500 and the 7000 mark is not far distant.

Our advertisers will do well to get in touch with us at once and reserve such location as may be desired. We cannot at the last moment please our patrons as we might desire.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

It Looks Good—As a rule envelopes that are submitted for inspection by readers who are hopeful that the covers are worthy of classification in provisional envelopes, palpably are nothing but the regulation "Paid" covers that were in use before and after the introduction of stamps; the impressions were applied by the postmasters when the letters were handed in for mailing. Confederate envelopes of this kind are numerous and at times collectors are unable to understand why their envelopes are rejected as provisionals, while others that seem almost like them are accepted for cataloguing. We have received from a collector in Savannah, Georgia, a cover that is the exception to the rule. It seems to have strongest claims for acceptance as a Confederate local envelope. Not alone has it the "Paid 5" impressed in ink of deeper black than the postmark, "Savannah, Ga., (Sept.) 10, 1861. Paid," but there is an additional marking in the upper right hand corner, in the shape of a type ornament, making an impression about 8 by 12 millimeters approximately. This also is in the deep black ink of the "Paid 5" and from all external appearances, the envelope is a provisional. The fact that the postmark registers "Paid" would seem to show that the "Paid 5" was superfluous as a mere record of prepayment. The corner ornament is further evidence of a desire to make the envelope distinctive and to control its use for a specified purpose. A newspaper reference to this Savannah envelope, contemporaneous with the time of its use would prove its authenticity beyond question; or the evidence of a reputable old inhabitant would have its weight.

The Necessity—The Confederate postmaster-general "left it to postmasters and persons paying postage to arrange between themselves the manner in which these notes may be used." The notes referred to were Confederate treasury notes which were receivable in payment for postage, but for which it could not reasonably be asked that postmasters furnish change, particularly as change was at a premium. Under these conditions the Confederate postmasters of different cities issued stamps and stamped envelopes, which were sold in quantity over the counter and used at the option of the purchaser.

An Old Report—Waldemar Wurtz, New York City, has our thanks for a fragment of an old digest of the regulations of the postal and other services of the British government. The postal statistics on the pages before us are of interest to the one to whom the fascinations of age appeal; and in the "Suggestions to the Public" under the head, "Prevalent Misconceptions" the following items appear; they tell of the early days of railway mail transportation when the present admirable system of railway mail transportation was in its infancy: "In regard to the expense of railway conveyance, the public naturally supposes, as such conveyance is the cheapest for ordinary purposes and as the charges made for the carriage of the Mails are subject to arbitration, that it must be the cheapest for postal purposes also; and, indeed, so cheap as to warrant the free use of the railways either as substitutes for other conveyance or for the multiplication of Mails. The fact, however, is very different. Except in certain instances where companies have entered into arrangements securing to the Post Office the use of their trains on moderate, though still highly remunerative terms, railway conveyance, with all its acknowledged advantages, has proved much more expensive than that which it has superseded. In truth, under any modification of the law that could be made without injustice to the railway companies, the especial establishment of trains at hours unsuited to ordinary traffic (a measure often pressed upon the Postmaster General) must remain a source of very heavy expense, such as can be justified only by commensurate advantage to the public."

Odd Albums—Mr. Wurtz says: "The book, of which these sheets are a part, when it came to me was filled with old issue stamps, including Great Britain, Prussia, Two Sicilies, Roman States, Saxony, Austria, and some other countries, about 2000 stamps in all, pasted down tight years ago, evidently by some early accumulator of stamps. For example, there were more than a dozen of the 18kr, Wurtemberg, but nearly all of them were damaged. It was a valuable lot, however, and worth the price of $50 that I paid. Some of the stamps are still in my collection; others I have traded away." On the subject of unusual stamp "albums," a reader tells of an old autograph album that recently was found by him filled with stamps; the specimens were pasted over the sentiments of love and friendship. Perhaps, the oddest album on record was a square piece of muslin on which stamps to the number of 100 were sewed; the majority were specimens that were current about 1869.

"Spof" to the Rescue—W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass., has sent us a clipping from a newspaper that was published about 1877; the article was by "Spof" and told in an interesting way of stamp collecting about that time. Three leading collectors are named as Prof. Bailey of Yale, Prof. Horner of Freehold Institute, New Jersey, and J. K. Tiffany, "the great diamond merchant of New York." Professor Horner was the great authority on U. S. entire envelopes but the Tiffany was the famous philatelic master at St. Louis and not the New York jeweler. L. W. Durbin, Philadelphia, one of the most popular dealers ever claimed by America was represented as having a stock of stamps worth $25,000, while E. B. Sterling, Trenton, N. J., was credited with possessing stamps with a valuation of $10,000. The best collection in New Hampshire, the state in which the writer resided, was appraised at $300; the second best collection was the property of J. M. Hubbard, Lake Village, renowned in his day as a dealer and publisher, and was valued at a sum between $200 and $300, as "Spof" himself counted his collection as third in the state and worth $200. Surely, the valuations as given then were modest enough in the light of the advanced philately of to-day. It would be interesting to know who "Spof" was as his enthusiasm for his hobby was of no ordinary kind. Is he still in active philatelic life, or, indeed, in the land of the living?

A Real London Club—A philatelic club for London will soon be formed if the proposed plan for its organization is supported with any degree of unanimity. The intention is "to make provision for a restaurant, billiard room, reading room, rooms for general club purposes, etc." The financial scheme has been advanced by the committee having the arrangements in charge and after a season of discussion, the indications are that philately will be suitably housed in the metropolis of the world.

P. O. DEPT. AGAINST THE TAYLOR BILL.

(In reply to a communication addressed to Hon. A. L. Lawshe, Third Assistant Postmaster General, the managing editor of the WEEKLY has received a very courteous letter in relation to the attitude of the Department towards the Taylor bill. We regret, even as does Mr. Lawshe, that the P. O. officials seem compelled to take this course and in this regret our readers will also share.—ED.)

In answer to your letter of February 15, which the Postmaster General has referred to me, you are advised that the reproducing of the Lincoln commemorative postage stamp in the Minneapolis Tribune was done without the sanction of the department.

CHAS. E. LEWIS, Osterville, Mass.

Referring to your request for the department's sanction of the Taylor bill, I have to say that the department is opposed, as a matter of established practice and because it is believed to be contrary to public policy, to any reproduction for any purpose of its postage stamps by other than contract agencies under its supervision. The objections have been presented to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads in the House of Representatives, at the request of the chairman of that Committee. The Treasury department, which has charge of the protection of the government's revenues against the counterfeiting of stamps as well as of money, bonds, &c., is also opposed to such reproductions.

I regret that the department does not see its way clear to indorse the measure in question.

B. P. S. EXHIBITS.

(The collections shown at the B. P. S. anniversary made a rare treat and the partial description herewith will be read with interest. Mr. Rothfuch's "Rarities" received attention two weeks ago. Mr. Sawyer's "Gambias" and Mr. Green's "Original Covers" must be treated on another occasion as we failed to receive the notes desired in time for this issue.—Ed.)

The collection of U. S. stamps of Francis C. Foster of Boston is one of the finest in the U. S. Certainly none can equal it for the beautiful condition of its specimens, extensive range of shades of all issues, including not only regular postage stamps but Departmental issues, postage due and newspaper stamps.

Mr. Foster is now the veteran collector of this country. In a few weeks he will be an octogenarian, but his interest in stamp collecting has never ceased. Probably no one in the U. S. has been continually collecting for such a long time, as he commenced his collection about 1854, only a few years after postage stamps had been first issued. A few hundred specimens in those days would have formed a complete collection of the world, while now it would require something over 20,000 without going far into minor varieties.

Among the most noteworthy rarities might be mentioned the set of eight stamps of the U. S. issued in August, 1861, the original face value was $1.61, but at an auction sale not long ago a similar set realized $2501. The 15, 24 and 30c values of the 1869 issue (which were printed in two colors) showing the centre design inverted are listed at $1000 in used condition. Among the Postmaster's provisional issues Mr. Foster has the very rare Millbury, Mass., stamp issued in 1847. Its face value was 5c, but the present price is $1200. Many years ago Mr. Foster bought the rare Brattleboro stamp for the insignificant sum of 60c. Nothing was known about it at the time, but its authenticity has since then been established, and recently the stamp has been priced as high as $650.

Three Baltimore rarities of the so-called Buchanan type might easily be valued at $1000. The Postmaster's issues of St. Louis, Providence and New York are all very rare today. The collection includes also a beautiful lot of Confederate stamps, particularly the rare Postmaster's issues, noteworthy among them the 5c red of Athens, Ga., valued at $700. Baton Rouge, La., 2c green valued at $500, Goliad, Texas, 10c black on grayish which would be cheap at $600, the extremely rare 5c Kingston, Tenn., on blue paper, the 5c blue stamp of Livingston, Ala., which has sold at our auction as high as $780. Uniontown, Ala., three stamps valued at $600 each to $800 each. Nearly all of these very rare Confederates are on the original letters or envelopes, which adds to their interest and value.

The collection of Transvaal, the property of Geo. H. Worthington, Esq., of Cleveland, now one of the three most prominent collectors in the world, and easily the leader among Americans, is valued at fully $500,000. The stamps of the Transvaal are conceded to be the most difficult of all to understand thoroughly. The subject is so full of study that very few can ever claim to master these complicated issues which were alternately printed in Mecklenburg, Germany, as well as several native cities. While there are a number of exceedingly fine Transvaal collections in England, Mr. Worthington's is known to be the best of all, and many of the greatest rarities have been leaving the London auction market to be added to this wonderful collection. Many pieces, particularly in blocks of four in which this collection is strong, are known to be unique. Some of the stamps are valued as high as $1000, and the whole collection would foot up to an astonishing figure.

Mr. Worthington was recently elected an honorary member of the Boston Philatelic Society. He is president of a number of financial organizations and owner of several yachts, and an extensive traveler, but he has repeatedly stated that nothing gives him the pleasure which he derives from his ever growing stamp collection, which now numbers close to one hundred volumes.

E. M. Carpenter exhibited the Azores and Madeira sections of his collection of Portugal and Colonies, which is one of the finest, if not the finest, collection of these countries in New England and the one which was awarded the silver cup at the competition of the Chicago Society a few years ago.

Both countries were nearly complete in the major varieties, both used and unused, and many different shades of each stamp were shown. A set of reprints of the early issues of Azores, printed by the Government some years after they had gone out of issue, were included. Mr. Carpenter also exhibited some of the scarcer stamps and oddities of the other Portuguese Colonies and some interesting counterfeits of the early Brazilian stamps in comparison with the genuine.

The collection of Korean stamps exhibited by Mr. C. A. Howes embraced practically everything that had been issued from the former "Hermit Kingdom". The first attempt to start a postal system was engineered by the Japanese and took place in December, 1884. Unfortunately there was too much politics mixed up with it and a riot occurred on the day of its inauguration, which resulted in the expulsion of the Japanese, the destruction of the new post office and the end of the postal service. One of the stamps that survived the ordeal is in the collection, rather the worse for the experience.

After the Japan-China war in 1894, the Japanese again instituted a postal system, this time with more success, as it has grown and flourished to the present day. The first stamps used were lithographed in Washington, with quaint designs and inscriptions. In 1897 the King of Chōson or Korea assumed the title of Emperor and renamed the peninsula "Tai Han". Many of the old stamps had the new title printed or written on them, and are here shown all classified.

In 1900 Korea entered the Postal Union, and a very handsome set was issued, made by Japanese lithographers at the Korean Mint in Seoul. A large commemorative stamp was also produced to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Emperor's accession, so it will be seen that the erstwhile Hermit nation is now quite up to date.

But the Russo-Japanese war put an end to Korea's independence, and since July, 1905 the Japanese have been in full control and only Japanese stamps have been used.

The Korean stamps are mounted with explanatory notes for a full understanding of their varieties, and their designs are explained as well as all inscriptions translated. The collection was exhibited at the London Exhibition of 1906 and won a bronze medal there, which was shown with the collection.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

BOURSE.

To the Members:

I desire to report sales of stamps for members through the Bourse amounting to $21.00, on which a commission of 5% was charged, amounting to $1.05. Bourse sheets sold, 57, at 1c each. Total receipts $1.62, which amount has been turned in to the Treasurer. There were no expenses. The Supt. regrets the light volume of business of the Dept. and desires to say here that he has plans under consideration for increasing same if he is re-elected to the office for the coming year.

Quite a good many stamps have been sold at the different meetings by members personally, and it does not seem unreasonable to the Supt. that the Society should receive a small percentage or commission on such sales, say two and one-half (2½) per cent.

It seems to the committee that the Society is to be congratulated on this showing when it is taken into consideration that all these volumes have (with the exception of a dozen or so duplicates) been gathered together in about four and one-half years.

During 1908, 25 members have taken from the Library for home use, 70 books.

During the year the committee has made out an accession book, giving the following information regarding every volume in the library: date received, accession number, volume, author, title, publisher and place, date published, number of pages, size, binding, source, cost and remarks. This would prove of great value in case any of the books were lost or destroyed by fire, besides being of constant use by the committee.

A duplicate catalog of the Library has been made and placed in the club room handy to all members.

The committee is now at work on a card catalog of the membership of the Society which is primarily for its own convenience, but which will be accessible to all who use the room.

The committee has been giving much time to putting the books in proper condition and still has much to do in this line.

A want list of the magazines necessary to complete volumes is being prepared.

During the coming year the current numbers of the following magazines will be found on the table:

By courtesy of the publishers—Chicago Collectors' Monthly, MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, Redfield's Stamp Weekly, Scott Stamp & Coin Co. Circular, Gibbons' Stamp Weekly, Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung, Stamp Collectors' Monthly, Philatelic Journal of Great Britain.

By subscription, Philatelic Record, London Philatelist, Stamp Lover, L'Echo de la Timbrologie, Philatelic Journal of India, West End Philatelist, Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, Der Philatelist, Vertrauliches Korrespondenz-Blatt.

In view of the fact that the Library is now worth several hundred dollars, and in case of fire its loss would be a great misfortune to the Society, the committee recommends that the treasurer be authorized to place fire insurance on the books.

The committee would respectfully ask that the Society appropriate the sum of $25.00 for its use during the coming year as in past years.

What advantage is there in allowing the credential committee of the A. P. S. to vote all the proxies? Would not such legislation tend to throw the entire business of a session into the hands of a very few men, in fact, one man, as the president appoints upon this committee whoever he pleases?

Will this legislation stand the test of appeal if a member refuses to accept dictation of this kind and appoints a proxy other than indicated?

NEW YORK, Feb. 19, 1909.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

At a London auction I have just purchased a postally used copy of the much discussed 1d on 4d provisional stamp of the Cayman Islands. This stamp seems to bear all the marks of having done postal service. To the best of my own information and belief, the Commissioner at George Town ordered this stamp prepared on account of the exhaustion of the first supply of penny stamps of the "Postal-and-Revenue" type, when it was necessary to have at once a supply of stamps for use on certain receipts which the new law requires to be furnished by those receiving Government pay. The deficiency of penny stamps for postal use at that same time was overcome by stamping letters, "postage paid" and not requiring stamps, so the fiscal was the only necessary stamp at that time, the authorities evidently considering it better to take the trouble to stamp or mark each letter by hand than to invite trouble for themselves by issuing further provisionals. It is nevertheless my own belief, founded upon information from the Islands, that the stamp was issued for fiscal purposes only.

Scott's Catalogue treats it in a foot note as a fiscal issue. Senf's catalogue lists it as a regular postal issue. Some American collectors have maintained that the stamp is a collectible variety that should not be thrown out as a fiscal, for the reason that by the legend on the face of it, it may be used either for postal or revenue purposes. How my own used copy (about which I expect to get more information from the London firm from whom I bought it) was used I do not know. It has a clear postmark, October 1908, and has some paper attached, so it very probably went through the mail. This may have been done by favor, though that is rather doubtful, for I read that the new postmaster has had instructions not to do anything that might be construed as a mark of favor to any individual collector; and he was in office in October, I believe. Maybe someone who purchased the stamp for fiscal use, attached it to a letter, and insisted that it be used for postage, according to the inscription the stamp bears.

Fiscal or not, the stamp is commanding very high prices. The best figure I

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to

this practice the Society desires to break the

practice up. Please aid us and help protect

yourself and others against further imposition,

by holding such selections without purchasing

any, until sufficient funds have been sent by

the dealer to return it to him by registered

mail. Also please report the name of such dealers to the Secretary of the Society.

The 51st meeting was held Feb. 23, with 11 members and three visitors present.

In the absence of President Mason,

Mr. Adair presided. Minutes of 50th meeting were read and approved. Secretary was instructed to invite P. M. Wolsieffer, of Chicago, to visit Columbus and attend a meeting of the Club on March 16th. Invitation to the annual banquet of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club was read and Secretary was instructed to thank the Garfield-Perry Club for this courtesy. Announcement of the death of Mr. Vierow, father of Harry Vierow, of Germany, was received and resolutions of sympathy were adopted. It was decided that the Columbus Collectors'

Club should make application for membership in the Philatelic Literature Society of London, England. It was voted to accept Mr. Duffy's offer of a meeting room in the Spahr Building and meetings will be held there, commencing with April. The entertainment of the evening was furnished by a talk on Ohio

Archaeology by Henry C. Shetrone and an exhibit of stone weapons, etc. Mr.

Shetrone was tendered a vote of thanks for his kindness in favoring the Club with this lecture and exhibit. After an auction and prize drawing, meeting adjourned. Next meeting March 9th.

Finest U. S.

For collectors of unused we have a book of gems in regular issues, none priced at less than $5.00. It foots up over $800.00. We have another book of "used-extra fine", none priced at less than $2.00, footings up to $200.00. These have just been made up.

Another book of unused "Departments" and one of "Newspapers" are extra attractive. The latter contains stamps which no other dealer has ever been able to supply! This may sound queer but it is a fact. Which of these would you like to see?

GREAT MANCHESTER EXPOSITION.

By WM. WARD.

Several years ago a youth attempted to enter an Exposition held at Madison Sq. Garden, N. Y. Hardly had he got inside the doorway when a big Constable bore down upon him. "Say! Not so fast me Bhoy! Guess yer can't get inside!" "Guess I can and will," was the reply, and after a parley-vous he did.

It was not a youth that walked up the steps of the Hulme Town Hall on Thursday, February 18th, never-the-less, no fewer than four burly Police Officers seized him. He showed a ticket admitting him to the Great Philatelic Exhibition—but one of the quartet drew his attention to the time on the paste-board—3.30 to 10 p. m. "You cannot get in, sir, before half past three." "But the Lord Mayor of Manchester opens the Exhibition at 2.30, and it is now twenty past two, and I must go in!" "Sorry, sir, but we have orders." For a minute there was a lull, then the applicant pulled out another card, showed it to the Policeman, who replied, "Oh, that's all right, sir, sorry to have troubled you." And he did get in. The card shown was a special red Press ticket admitting the representative of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, granted by the Committee of the Manchester Exhibition in order that a special report could be made for the premier American Philatelic Journal.

And what an array of great people our representative saw upon the platform around the opener. There were Major Evans, the veteran philatelic writer, W. Dowling Beckton, M. Albrecht, J. R. M. Albrecht, F. R. L. P. S., C. J. Phillips, and many other names known to philately all over the world. Alderman Holt, the Lord Mayor of Manchester (which by the way is the second largest city of Great Britain) opened with many appropriate remarks, and confessed to being a philatelist, though not at present an active one.

Major Evans gave several words upon Philately, and was followed by several other speakers.

As regards the Exhibition itself, the whole and admirable arrangement reflected great credit upon the promoters. The exhibits were divided between two halls, Great Britain and Colonies and Foreign Countries up to Brazil in the greater hall, and the remaining foreign countries in the lesser. A very fine band was engaged to play continuously for the whole period of the Exhibition—three days. The Dealers' Stalls were arranged round the outskirts of the large hall.

A notable feature of the Exhibition was a model Post Office provided through the kindness of the Postmaster-General of Great Britain (The Right Honorable Sydney Buxton—who derived great fame with Postmaster-General Meyer over the introduction of Penny Postage between America and England). Great interest was displayed in this novel feature of the workings of a British Post Office. In addition a special Postmark was made to obliterate all letters mailed at the Exhibition. This cancellation had the words "Postage Stamp Exhibition and Philatelic Congress, Manchester" in a circle and the date "18 Feb. 1909", or 19th or 20th—the three days of the exhibit. This postmark should be looked out for, being both unique and a souvenir of the first British Philatelic Congress. Never before has the British Post Office granted such an official recognition of Philately—and we only hope they will not also give us a special issue of commemorative stamps for every little event that falls due—though doubtless we could do with one of some sort—it would liven philately in these islands.

As regards the exhibits, my first flight was to those of the United States.

There were two prominent exhibitors of this popular country for specialists—Sir Lees Knowles, Baronet, and W. W. Munn, Esq., of the Manchester Philatelic Society. Despite the Knights' apparent situation to procure a good display of these, the stamps of the latter gentleman were the better and finest lot as far as rarity and choice go. Mr. Munn showed some fine entire, and his strip and blocks of 1847, 51/60, and reprints 1869 issues were enough to make one's mouth water. The whole of all issues were highly specialized into fine shades. The next country of interest was the fine collection of Baron de Worms' Ceylon which is the only known complete one of that country. The Pence issue were indeed a sight. Mr. Nathan Heywood showed his grand lot of Confederate States with all varieties, whilst, Mr. W. A. Whitnell exhibited his Confederates on original covers.

The next most important country was that of Mr. Franz Reichenheim's France, which beside stamps included rare Balloon Post and pre-postal envelopes, and old French Postal documents. A most interesting stamp among this lot was the 20c Forgery made before Emperor Napoleon III to prove that it was possible to forge the then current French stamps. Forgers have since discovered it possible to defraud the French Post Office without first displaying their genius to either Emperor or President. Mr. Reichenheim showed some very fine sheets and partial sheets of the early French mint, including the rare "tete-beche" varieties. A very rare provisional shown, and little known, was the quarter of the 80c perforated Emperor Napoleon III stamp used as 20c and authorized by the Post Office. Other fine exhibits of France were shown by Messrs. Grunewald, Earl and Hayman. Hawaii was shown by Mr. Joseph Brooks.

Many English Daily papers came out with the information that a 2d blue Post Office Mauritius could be seen at the Exhibition. This was however a bit of our "Journalese." A pair were however exhibited at the Manchester Exhibition in 1899.

Major French's Canadias attracted our attention for not only were they extra all early issues and varieties, but included essays, proofs and color trials of all the earlier Canadian stamps. Indeed we rather think that this collection would become even the Portals of a Quebec Government House.

Dr. A. Robinson's enormous collection of British New Guinea and Papua almost upset us altogether. The worthy "doc" has not been contented with collecting complete sheets of all issues, but has several of each, and sheets of used stamps besides—the Post Office at Papua could not go one better.

Great Britain was represented by no less than ten fine different collections, Messrs. Higgins', Paine's and Nissen's displays standing out. The latter gentleman's (Mr. Nissen) collection of proofs and essays being very fine.

Cayman Islands were in their multitudes, and we little thought so many varieties of the fine surcharges could be discovered as shown by Mr. Adutt of the Royal Society. Falkland Islands made a grand display, as also did Gambia. Mr. Lifi exhibited the whole of the Native Indian States shown—stamps which always cause much amusement to both collectors and non-philatelists on account of their grotesqueness. Mrs. Fields' North Borneo's were likewise fine. To fully describe all the exhibits would take up several weekly numbers—that is to give them full due.

We only hope that at some near date a similar display will be open to American collectors, and that we may again be present—though unfortunately we did not meet a single philatelist from the Land of Lincoln, Washington, and Franklin.

Asked to give a special word to American philatelists, an important member of the Manchester Society said: "We regret that we are so far away not to be favored with the presence of American visitors, and though penny postage has more than halved the distance between the Universal Brotherhood of Philately in Europe and America, we must wait until a 'Mauretania' can be found to cross the 'Herring Pond' in a day. Should at any future time we hold another Exhibition, as we hope to, we can promise a right royal time to all who cross—and who knows—may be a title—what?"

(We shall give in our next issue a special report of the First British Philatelic Congress and its doings by our English Correspondent.—Ed.)

"NO PAPER LIKE THE WEEKLY!"

How often we hear these words and what a satisfaction it brings us: "No paper like the WEEKLY!" We give all the live news, maintain an up-to-date chronicle, answer all the questions put to us, sandwich in an occasional story and yet every week use the first page for a "heavy" article.

What a fine menu we spread before our readers every week, just the menu needed for a live newspaper! Not too scientific in contents, nor yet the organ of the novice but a good wholesome purveyor of stamp news.

Not the least of our admirable features is the department of advertising—some say its most attractive. When we advertised patrons were constantly writing: "I always look for your advertisement the first thing."

Enough said! Every stamp collector reading a stamp paper will save many dollars every year. Send 25c for 6 mos. and receive free that packet of 200 diff. foreign stamps.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

No Special Privileges—A story not without its moral has been told us by P. M. Wolsieffer, Chicago, in connection with the two-cent Lincoln imperforate. Mr. Wolsieffer got the first imperforates of the issue in question from Washington but upon learning that the stamps were on sale at Chicago, he sent over for a sheet of four hundred of the stamps. The stamps were found in the wholesale department but one of the clerks said that no fewer than a certain large number of the stamps would be sold to a purchaser. When Mr. Wolsieffer was told of this circumstance, he lost no time in addressing a note to Postmaster Campbell and sending it by a clerk. The postmaster immediately went to the wholesale department with the messenger who originally tried to buy the sheet and when the stamp clerk was pointed out, the postmaster asked him who gave him instructions to proceed in the manner that he had. The stamp clerk answered that he understood that the postmaster had issued such instructions. This statement was ridiculed by the postmaster who told the clerk to be sure that thereafter he sold the stamps to customers in any number of sheets down to one. Henceforth, the Lincoln imperforates were obtainable in single sheet of four hundred stamps at Chicago.

A Slip—A large number of the Lincoln imperforates was sent to Chicago and one or more dealers who were aware of the shipment shrewdly calculated to make a speculative turn. It was announced that the entire supply of the Lincoln imperforates had been "contracted for" by a certain large mailing machine company and that the stamps were to be delivered in lots of 50,000. This supposition probably gave rise to the misunderstanding that existed in the wholesale department that only batches of 50,000 stamps would be sold, as related in the foregoing item. The dealer or dealers had arranged to secure one of these lots when the stock had almost all been bought and used in a business way. Had there been no hitch in the plan the enterprise of the persons concerned might have yielded a rich return but the sale of the single sheets defeated the combination.

Lincoln—From all reports the Lincoln stamps have been immensely popular and the postoffice department is to be commended for having so expeditiously prepared and circulated a stamp that meets with so much approval. The workings of the department are admirably exemplified by this feat. While the portrait of Lincoln has been criticized favorably and the reverse, it is only fair to say that it is a striking and distinctive presentment of the features of the illustrious Lincoln. The head taken from the St. Gaudens' statue naturally becomes idealized when reduced to the small dimensions of a postage stamp but the pose is impressive and not unnatural. In connection with this reference to the personal appearance of Lincoln, we submit the following description of the president written in 1862 by Edward Dicey, one of the visiting newspaper correspondents during the war. Mr. Dicey perhaps was the second in reputation to the much-discussed "Bull Run" Russell, but unlike him, Mr. Dicey's sympathies were with the north, rather than the south. "With regard to the President himself, everybody spoke with an almost brutal frankness. Politically, at that time, Abraham Lincoln was regarded as a failure. He works hard and does little; and invites a painful sense of irresponsibility to a still more painful sense perhaps that his work is too great for him to grapple with. Personally, his aspect is one which once seen cannot easily be forgotten. Fancy a man six foot high and thin out of proportion, with long bony arms and legs, which somehow seem to be always in the way, with large, rugged hands, a chest too narrow for the great arms hanging by its side; add to this figure, a head cocoanut-shaped and somewhat too small for such a stature, covered with rough, uncombed and uncombable lank, dark hair, that stands out in every direction at once; a face, furrowed and wrinkled and indented as though it had been scarred by vitriol; a high narrow forehead; and sunk deep beneath bushy eyebrows, two bright, somewhat dreamy eyes that seem to gaze through you without looking at you; a few irregular blotches of black, bristly hair in the place where beard and whiskers ought to grow; a close set, thin-lipped, stern mouth, with two rows of large, white teeth; and a nose and ears, which have been taken by mistake from a head of thrice the size."

At Manchester—An important philatelic exhibition has just been held in Manchester, England, a city that has made its reputation for successful institutions of the kind in the past. A concession of great complimentary import was made by the government to celebrate the occasion. A special postmark was ordered which read: "Postage Stamp Exhibition & Congress, Manchester, Feb. 6, 1909," and time of stamping. We notice that America was represented at Manchester during exhibition week, as "Mrs. Carrie Nation from the States" was in the city.

H. E. WILSON COLLECTION

FIRST PART—EARLY IN APRIL

Catalogue on Request.

NASSAU STAMP CO., LTD.,

237 Broadway, New York City.

Changed—Some time ago, we commented on the circular sent out by the Third Assistant Postmaster-General advertising the advantages to be derived from the use of United States stamped envelopes. It served as a price-list of the different stamped envelopes for current use and it illustrated the colors of the papers and sizes and shapes of the envelopes. What made the circular of paramount interest to collectors was the fact that the envelope stamps were reproduced in fac-simile form, in color, though the stamp impressions were unembossed. Photographically speaking, the pictures were exact reproductions of the stamped envelopes. We called attention to the fact that the postoffice department violated the very law that in theory it strives to uphold, i.e., the prohibition of the reproduction of postal securities. The circular now under notice follows the general plan of the first one except that instead of the stamped impression there is an oval of the same form, reading, "Embossed Postage Stamp Here," and a monogram P. O. D., takes the place of the Washington head.

Issued Just the Same—The information has been received that the five-cent imperforate, 1902 series that has been issued has not been used in the mailing machines that has been responsible for the issue of the other imperforates.

Corrected—Mr. Lemieux, Chicago, who found the Canadian two-cent imperforates calls attention to a sentence in our account of the stamps which is not strictly in accordance with the facts. He says: "It was about June, 1906, previous to my return to Chicago that I did find them. After an absence from the city, I returned again to Ottawa about Sept. 1905; I found the stamps about June, 1906."

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

Editor of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

I want to call your attention to one Cornelius Hyatt of 55 Lincoln Avenue of Rutherford, N. J. This party recently got from me a selection of stamps on approval and refused to reply to my letters, though finally I got my sheet back with many substitutes of trash. I learned from the Chief of Police he was a special letter carrier in the postoffice and from the postmaster there, that he had been discharged as a number of complaints had been lodged against him. His father is in the real estate business in New York, and when I made application to him to set matters right was insulting in his replies. I find that he has robbed a number of others, including M. L. Hart of Akron, Ohio, Charles Townsend of the same city and a number of other persons. When I wrote to the Postoffice department in Washington they replied that as he was not now employed by the department they could not take any action against him. My other business prevents me from taking the initiative but I am prepared to place all my evidence into any one else's hands and contribute $10 towards expenses of putting him where he belongs.

GEO. J. CARTER.

March 4, 1909.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

Will you kindly issue a warning to stamp dealers and collectors against one W. D. Chamberlain, 562 Eighth St., South Boston, Mass., who has worked me and may try the same on others? He has had sheets of me frequently and a little better grade each time until he gets what he wants, when he returns the sheet with no cash, but a promise. The promise he does not fulfill, neither can I get a reply from him of any kind.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

British Central Africa and Nyasaland Protectorate.—No. 2 of the Melville Stamp Books written by Fred J. Melville and published by W. H. Peckitt, 47 Strand, London, Eng. Price 14c post free.

The eight chapters of this little book constitute a study of these stamps that will be in great demand. It is daintily gotten up with illustrations on nearly every page, Mr. Peckitt's stock furnishing a goodly number of subjects. The titles of some of the chapters: "Postal Arrangements", "Postmarks", "Proofs, Colour Trials, etc.", "Bibliography" and "Check List" will show the extent of the investigation covered by Mr. Melville. 96 pps. Obtainable here in the U. S. of several dealers—note our advertising columns.

Coin and Stamp Manual.—This book reaches our table but we cannot commend it to our readers. It purports to be an aid to the collector and indicates prices that will be paid for stamps by the wholesale. If the prices for coins are as wide of the mark in true valuation, as the stamps, this manual is indeed a colossal failure. It is published in N. Y. City but address is unnecessary—remember the title!

MR. SAWYER'S GAMBIA.

E. F. Sawyer exhibited the stamps of the small but interesting colony of Gambia at the recent B. P. S. anniversary celebration. Of the imperforate issues of 1869 and 1874 no less than 26 fine single copies, both used and unused, in various shades were shown, also a fine right end vertical strip of three of the 4d, CC wmk., o. g., and a horizontal pair of the 6d blue, o. g. In the 1880 issue perforated, two entire sheets of the half-penny second printing, two sheets of the one penny first and second printings and a sheet of the three pence light ultramarine second printing, together with numerous single copies of many shades used and unused, were shown. The scarce four pence was shown in a pair first printing and the six pence also by a pair second printing, while the scarce shilling dark shade was represented by a block of four second printing. The 1886 and 1887 issues were very fully represented in sheets, blocks, strips, pairs and singles of many shades, used and unused, of various printings, and included were three sheets of the scarce bronze green, showing the two corner errors in plate, afterwards corrected. The sheets in these two last issues of embossed stamps numbered forty. The Queen's head issue of 1898 and the two King's head issues were complete in singles and there were also many blocks and pairs, including blocks of the two surcharges. These latter issues were mostly o. g. The various postmarks were strongly represented. Considering the fact that Mr. Sawyer has but recently taken up this colony as a favorite one to specialize in and the rarity of the early issues his showing was quite remarkable.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF NIUE ID.

By C. F. MAXWELL.

(Mr. Maxwell the author of this article was formerly p. stmaster at Niue and now resides at 184 Hotel St., Honolulu, Hawaii. He is not a philatelist himself but will dispose of a supply of Niue and Cook Ids. stamps for good U. S. or British Colonials.—Ed.)

A post office was established in Niue in January, 1902. The first stamps used were the one penny red New Zealand, surcharged "Niue" in green, with a hand stamp. The issue consisted of 1200 stamps, which were surcharged in Auckland on November 18th, 1901. The surcharging stamp was dipped first in violet ink to try an impression, consequently when used later to surcharge the stamps a few of the first ones surcharged show a violet tinge.

The mail bag containing the stamps was wetted in the surf in landing on Niue, and more than half of the stamps were damaged in salt water, causing the ink of the surcharge to run. The first stamps postally used in Niue were cancelled with a rubber obliterating stamp, bearing the words "Niue, New Zealand" round the circumference, and the date "January 4th 1902", across the face of the stamp. This cancelling stamp was used until June 22nd, 1903, when a metal cancelling stamp with black ink came into use.

The stamp first issued was soon replaced with New Zealand stamps of the following denominations,—½ penny, 1 penny, 2½ penny, 3 penny, 6 penny and 1 shilling stamps, with carmine surcharge in the case of the ½ and 2½ penny stamps and black surcharge on the 1 penny, 3 penny, 6 penny and 1 shilling stamps. All these stamps have their values in the Niue language, penny being spelt "fene" on the 3 penny and 6 penny stamps and "peni" on the 2½, 1 and ½ penny stamps.

About 600 genuine first issue stamps were postally used or sold to collectors, and the rest were withdrawn when the new stamps were received at the Niue post office. Forgeries of the surcharge of the first Niue stamp have been made in India and elsewhere but so clumsily that the fraud is easily detected.

When the 1 shilling stamp was surcharged the words "Taha e" were wrongly joined together as "Tahae". These stamps were withdrawn, but some of them got into the hands of dealers who call them the "thief error" stamp and ask high prices for them. About 90 are known to be in existence. A few variations occur in the Niue stamps. No genuine inverted or double surcharges have come under my notice.

THE FIRM OF BRIDGER & KAY.

Messrs. Bridger & Kay of 71 Fleet St., London, England, a firm well known to our readers as having one of the finest stocks of colonials in England, have informed us of a recent very important purchase of British Colonials practically complete in all but the great rarities.

They also inform us that other purchases to an amount well over $25,000 have been made during the last two or three months, including three specialist collections and a stock.

A small publication of theirs, B & K Items, postfree as published, contains much of interest to collectors and in every issue are current quotations of recent Colonials.

During the past fall and winter months this firm has advertised regularly in the WEEKLY and we believe returns have been satisfactory.

RUSSIA.—Ewen's Weekly notes the issue of the 1k value in the new series. The London Daily Mail says: "In con-

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unexpired original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

ST. PIERRE MIQUELON.—G. M. Hale sends a used copy of the new 5c stamp, which came on a picture card from the Islands, showing that the new stamps are on sale in the Colony.

ST. VINCENT.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 6d and 1sh stamps, which have just been issued in the new color scheme, on multiple ordinary paper.

Adhesives.

6d lilac.
1sh black on green.

SWITZERLAND.—Other values of the current series are evidently to be issued in a new type, the low values having already been noted, in a re-engraved design, and the higher values in a re-touched design. In this new engraving for the 10c and 12c stamps, Helvetia faces more to the right, the cross is smaller, and more of the bust shows. The left hand, with the spray of laurel, is brought across the breast and rests lightly on the guard of the sword, which has been swung into the centre of the picture. "Helvetia" is printed at the top, and the figures of value at the centre of the right margin, without shield or enclosing lines. The background is still the Alps, but fill the whole of the stamp, the white glacier forming a background for the head or "Helvetia". The 10c is in a brighter color, but the 12c is completely changed.

Adhesives.

10c red.
12c bistre brown.

TURKEY.—John Terry has shown us specimens of the Constitutional stamps recently issued.

TURKS ISLANDS.—A new supply of the 2d and 2½d stamps, with single CA watermark, has been received by the New England Stamp Co. and we find they are in new shades.

Adhesives.

2d rich dark brown, instead of black brown.
2½d gray blue, instead of blue.

QUERIES AND COMMENT.

Edited by C. E. SEVERN.

Our readers are cordially invited to ask the editor for any information desired concerning stamp collecting. Should a personal reply be desired kindly enclose postage. This department is for the beginner as well as the advanced collector. Address, C. E. Severn, 721 Oxford Bdg., Chicago, Ill.

Several correspondents who have written in reference to prices of U. S. proofs are notified that the "Tentative Check List of the Proofs of the Adhesive Postage and Revenue Stamps of the United States," by George L. Toppan, and published by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., prices these items. Some time ago an inquirer was answered in a way that indicated that there was no large catalogue with prices for proofs.

E. P.—As you say the small triangular patches above the "t" of United and "a" of States are found on all the two-cent stamps of the flag type, as they are the points of the stars on the shield. The paragraph that you speak of referred to certain little dashes of ink on a stamp that was submitted for inspection by a reader that evidently were caused by the cancelling machine; and they had no connection with the printed design.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—"We notice a complaint against R. D. Vroman of Sioux Falls, S. D. This party received $5 worth of stamps from us which we can not get back. We have written him today informing him that within ten days we will hand over his correspondence to the post office inspector in charge of that district."—C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO.

—W. Ward kindly favors us with a souvenir of the great exhibition at Manchester, England. It consists of an exhibition postmark with the following inscription "Postage Stamp Exhibition and Congress, Manchester." Thanks.

—Through a clerical error the catalogs of the 15th auction sale of the Co-operative Exchange bear the wrong date. It should be March 20. The list before us describes some seven hundred lots of a general character.

—Several cartoons and clippings have reached us dealing with the despatch of two women to Premier Asquith as an amusing feature of the campaign for woman suffrage in England. It is said that Mr. Asquith exercised his legal right to refuse the parcel and it was accordingly returned to the post office as undeliverable. We are obliged to J. A. Steinmetz and others for above favors.

—"Edgar H. Butler, Box 114, Nashua, N. H., wrote us several days ago for approvals, giving as reference, Arthur L. Woodcock, 31 Cross St., Nashua, N. H. A letter sent to this man was returned undelivered and marked 'Cannot be found'."—L. B. CHAPMAN & CO.

—A. J. Lloyd, Haverhill, Mass., wishes information in regard to the Soo Stamp Co., Sioux Falls, So. Dak. Mr. Lloyd is certain that R. D. Vroman is back of this concern and warns dealers to be on their guard. It's about time that Vroman's little game was stopped.

—The C. M. A. Emblem for February contains a department "The Young Collector" edited by Julian T. Baber of Pocahontas, Va.

—An Iowa stamp society has been organized with Ralph L. Mutz as president. Iowa philatelists desiring further information should address the secretary, Rev. H. Wendt, Dunlap, Iowa.

—The last meeting of the Detroit Phil. Soc. was held at the home of Herman W. Boers. A flashlight of the society was taken and a cut of the same appearing in a local paper makes a good bit of publicity for Detroit philately.

—The N. Y. Sun of March 7 contained an interesting article, "Cayman Stamps Cornered", dealing with the little difficulties that have recently attracted attention. Thanks to J. I. Barnhurst for clipping.

—W. F. Gregory, so well and favorably known by dealer and collector, has embarked in the confectionery business at White Plains, N. Y. He is also interested in real estate and it is very evident that his retirement as a stamp dealer is assured.

CHULALONGHORN'S PORTRAIT.

By courtesy of DR. W. L. BABCOCK.

Siam was one of the first of the oriental nations to join the postal congress, and our former minister to that country, Gen. Halderman, who recently died there, was wont to tell with great gusto how he overcame the prejudices of his majesty, the king of the Land of the White Elephant, against associating his country with that body. He appeared one day at the royal palace, whither he was summoned for an especial audience, carrying in his hand a number of European letters.

"I have before me, your majesty," he said, "the portraits of a number of the rulers of the earth, and I regret that among them I do not see the face of your majesty. Here are the portraits of the queen of England, the king of Italy and the czar of Russia; why not add to them that of Chulalonghorn? It is a simple matter. You have only to join the postal union, issue stamps which will cost you but little and will yield you a revenue and behold! your picture is sent to the ends of the world with those of the other great monarchs."

The proposition was worthy of so astute a diplomatist and so delighted the king that he gave orders to one of his secretaries to go at once to the American legation and learn from the minister the proper method of procedure to become a member of the congress, and, as soon as all the forms were complied with, Siam took her place by the side of her sister nations in the congress.—Detroit News.

A RECRUITING WORD.

Space has been so valuable during the past few weeks that we have refrained from speaking our little piece. With the advent of the spring months we shall have more room at our disposal and our weekly greeting will be revived.

Our Recruiting Committee has undergone a re-writing and a pretty race is on for first honors. Never before has the appointment of this committee been handled so scientifically and every name published means "honorable" mention.

We have been asked how many new members have gone in over our signature, but we can't stop just now to look up the record. To 132 add 82 and a total of 214 is arrived at as the record since Sept. 1, 1907. We shall pass the century mark, if all goes well, on this year's work.

The cost of joining the American Philatelic Society is trifling, only $1.00 for share of stock, 50c for dues to next Sept. We shall be pleased to present your name. Send for booklet and application blank and the benefits of membership will be eloquently pointed out. Better still send with the remittance of $1.50 your name, address, age, occupation and business reference and we will see you through.

The loss experienced by suspensions will soon be made good and a long pull and a strong pull will take us over the 2000 mark.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays at Club Room 566 East Bdg., 7.30 P.M.

BOSTON, MASS., March 13, 1909.

The 200th (regular) meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society will be held at the Club Room on Tuesday evening, March 16th, at 7.30 o'clock.

The entertainment consists of two features: a competitive exhibition of the "ten most attractive covers bearing adhesive stamps," and a display of the magnificent collection of New Zealand belonging to Chas. L. Pack. It is hoped that the members who are devotees of the fascinating branch of "original cover" collecting will not fail to let us see some of their treasures, even if not entered in the contest. Mr. Pack's New Zealand will of course be a "star" attraction, particularly in its early issues.

The following applications for membership will be acted upon:

NEW YORK, March 4, 1909.

Present 33 members with Pres. Wilford in the chair. New Member: Henry J. Dettmann, 1021 Park Ave., Hoboken, N. J. Applications for Membership: Frank L. Van Cleef, 89 Fort Green Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.; proposed by Frank J. Wilford. Geo. J. Carter, 265 Halsey St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; proposed by Frank J. Wilford, seconded by H. M. Lewy. Arnold Herrmann, 27 W. 75th St.; proposed by B. Schlesinger, seconded by Dicke. The several collections of Brazil were truly magnificent, the first prize going to Chas. Jancovich with Edgar A. Nelson a close second and B. Schlesinger third. Jno. F. Seybold of Syracuse, having expressed his intention to favor us with an exhibition of his unsurpassable collection of stamps on original covers (including a pair of 12d Canada and a Brattleboro, Vt., on covers) will probably be present at the next meeting, March 18th. All members and visitors are cordially invited to attend so that they may not miss this rare treat. The Melville Stamp Books are now ready for distribution and may be had from the secretary at $1 per set.

A BIG BUNCH OF CLIPPINGS.

Hugo Kuenstler favors us with a big number of clippings covering a wide range of subjects. We will note a few as briefly as possible:—Cartoon, "Mailing the Female Disturbers" but refused by Mr. Asquith; E. K. Smith, who was one of the originators of the Diamond Match Co., dead at 69; uniform parcels post abroad commencing Mar. 1 with exception of Japan and Sweden (due in

U. S. SPECIALISTS

Following illustration shows a pair of U. S. with the Special Perforation used in Patent Mailing Machine:

QUOTATIONS FOR MINT PAIRS

Strips of four at double above prices.

Strips of four of the special perforation of the U. S. stamps seem to be very popular since blocks of four are impossible. The stamps are issued in long strips, and feed from a reel in the patent mailing machines for which they are issued. The perforation is between stamps only, the top and bottom being unperforated as shown in our illustration above.

Having received orders from such people as J. M. Bartels and C. A. Howes of Boston, John N. Luff and E. R. Ackerman of New York, it may be known that they are pretty scarce in mint condition.

The Lincoln commemorative stamp was in use only a short while, and will undoubtedly be a real rarity in this condition. Order at once as the supply is limited.

Blocks of four, 2c Lincoln, can be supplied in unperforated condition also. Price upon application.

H. F. COLMAN,

GEORGE L. TOPPAN, Manager,

723 Eleventh St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

There are at least nine varieties of the stamps bearing the inscription "Ayer's Cathartic Pills" on the back, the rarest of this lot being that of the denomination of five cents, with short arrows in the design, which is worth $5.00.

Still another series issued by the same house is represented by denominations of one, three, five, ten and twelve cents, inscribed "Take Ayers Pills," a fine specimen of the last-named having brought $8.

John Gault of New York City issued at least nineteen varieties bearing his name, which included denominations of one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four, thirty, and ninety cents. The rarest of these, and probably the highest priced of all the encased stamps, is that of ninety cents, which has a record price of $121. The thirty-cent stamp of the same issue also is rare, and has sold for $20, while the twenty-four cent stamp has brought $15.

The New York firm of Kirkpatrick & Gault issued as many as nine varieties, which consisted of the denominations of one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four, thirty, and ninety cents. The rarest of these is the last named stamp, a very fine specimen of which was bid in at $75 at the Green sale in 1906. At the same sale a thirty-cent stamp brought $20, and a twenty-cent specimen $18.

There were eight varieties of encased stamps showing the words, "Burnett's Standard Cooking Extracts," of the denominations of one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four, and thirty cents. The last variety is extremely scarce and has brought $36 at a sale. A perfect specimen of the twenty-four-cent stamp of this house has sold for over $30.

This firm also issued five varieties with the wording on the back, "Burnett's Cocaine Kalliston," which were of the denomination of three, five, ten and twelve cents, a very rare and perfect specimen of the latter having sold for $20.

Six varieties were issued by the North American Life Insurance Company, each bearing the name of the company on the reverse. The denominations were three, five and ten cents. These stamps are quite common, as compared with some of the other issues, yet one variety of the three-cent stamp is valued at $6.

Lord & Taylor of New York City issued seven varieties of the denomination of one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four and thirty cents. Nearly every one of these stamps is now scarce. The twelve-cent stamp is held at the highest figure, it having a record premium of $25. Both the twenty-four and thirty-cent varieties have sold for $20.50, the three-cent at $9.25, and the lowest valued of the whole series, the ten-cent stamp, at $5.75.

Hunt & Nash of New York, whose stamps are inscribed on the reverse "Hunt & Nash, Irving House, N. Y., City," are credited with at least nine varieties, the denominations being one, three, five, ten, twelve, and twenty-four cents. The rarest is the twenty-four-cent stamp. There is only one specimen known of this denomination, which sold for $30.50. The twelve-cent stamp has brought over $11.

The eight varieties of stamps bearing the inscription of "Drake's Plantation Bitters," of the denominations of one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four, thirty and ninety cents, are rather low-priced and common for all the denominations up to and including the twelve-cent stamp, which has sold for $5, but the three highest denominations—twenty-four, thirty, and ninety cents—are each believed to be unique, and command extremely high premiums. The twenty-four and thirty-cent stamps have each sold for $60, and the ninety-cent stamp has brought $73.

Gage Brothers and Drake, Tremont House, Chicago, issued five varieties of stamps—one, three, five, and ten cents—all of which are common, the scarcest being the three-cent variety, which has sold for $5.

Six stamps bear the name of "Mendum's Family Wine Emporium, Broadway, Cor. Cedar St., New York." These are of the denominations of one, three, five, ten, and twelve cents. Fine specimens of the two latter have brought $10 each.

The inscription "Jos. L. Bates, Fancy Goods, Boston," is shown on six varieties of stamps of the denomination of one, five, ten, and twelve cents. The five-cent stamp, the twelve, and one variety of the ten-cent, have each brought $10 and more.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" is the title borne by encased stamps of the denominations of one, three, five, ten, and twelve cents. The last named is regarded as the rarest of the series, and has sold for $10.

Stamps of the denomination of one, three, five, ten, and twelve cents show the name of "F. Buhl & Co. of Detroit." The five-cent stamp has sold for $10.75, and the ten-cent for over $8.

Four varieties are placed to the credit of Schapker & Bussing, Evansville, Ind., of the denominations of one, three, five, and ten cents. The first named is supposed to be the only one in existence, and $25.50 was paid for it when offered for sale.

The Cincinnati firm of John Shillito & Co. has its name on four known varieties of encased stamps, one and three cents, two varieties of five cents, and one of ten cents. The latter may be regarded as the scarcest of this series, although the varieties have all brought $5 or more each.

"White, the Hatter of New York" is responsible for the issuance of four varieties of stamps. These are of the denominations of one, three, five, and ten cents. The two latter have each brought $25.

Three varieties were issued by Pearce, Tolle & Holton of Cincinnati—three, five and twelve cents. The latter stamp is very rare, and has brought a record premium of $30.

"N. & G. Taylor & Co." of Philadelphia issued one, three, five and ten-cent stamps, the last named of which having sold for $20.

The stamps of "Dougan the Hatter" of New York City showing the design of a hat, were of at least three denominations—one, three and five cents. Perfect specimens of the latter two denominations have brought $16 each.

There are three varieties of encased stamps, of the denominations of one three and five cents, which were manufactured by G. G. Evans, "California Wines," of Philadelphia. These pieces were said to infringe on the patent of Gault, but the work was inferior to that of the New York manufacturer. A fine specimen of the one-cent stamp by the Philadelphia maker, bearing his name on the reverse, sold for $9, while a fine three-cent specimen of the same kind has brought $5.

Bailey & Co., jewelers, of Philadelphia, had stamps of one, three, five and ten cents. The five-cent variety is the scarcest, having recently sold for $11.50.

The three, five, ten and twenty-four-cent stamps of Ellis, McAlpin & Co. of Cincinnati, have each sold for $20; the one, three and five-cent stamps of L. C. Hopkins & Co. of Cincinnati, have brought, respectively, $11 and $20, while the three and ten-cent issues of Weir

We will be pleased to sell the above accounts to the highest bidder. Correspondence solicited.

A FINE AUCTION.

APRIL 23-24, 1909.

We are now writing the catalogue for the superb collection of 13,000 varieties of Mr. Herman Gerdau, of Philadelphia. Every stamp in this sale is in fine condition. Buyers can bid with absolute freedom; any lot containing from one to ten stamps may be returned if a single defective specimen is found—the buyer to be the judge. This is an unusual offer, but the collection warrants it.

Other sales in course of preparation: We are preparing several other collections for auction. They will be advertised in due course. We make a specialty of auction sales, and invite correspondence with intending sellers. Money advanced when desired.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

1304 CHESTNUT STREET, PERCIVAL FARRISH, PRESIDENT. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

There were several firms which issued only one or two varieties each, such as the five and ten-cent stamps of "Sands Ale," which have brought over $8; the one-cent stamp of "S. Steinfeld," of New York City, which has sold for $6; the one-cent stamp of "Arthur M. Chaffin," Hopkinton, R. I., and "Aerated Broad Co." of New York City, which respectively have brought $16 and $6.75, and the five and ten-cent stamps of H. A. Cook, of Evansville, Ind., which have sold for $11, and the one-cent stamp of B. F. Miles of Peoria, Ill.

An interesting specimen of the encased stamp money is one of the odd denomination of nine cents. There being no postage stamp of this value, the denomination was produced by placing three three-cent stamps in an oblong copper case, with the usual covering of mica. The back bore no name, but the piece evidently was intended for circulation in New York City, for the reverse bore an embossed representation of an eagle and snake, the same as that shown by the New York cents struck in German silver by Dr. Lewis Feuchtwanger of New York City, which were issued in 1837. Around the central device was scroll work. Nothing is known of the piece's history, but it is thought to have been a product of Gault, on account of the New York device. This curious bit sold for $9.

Another equally interesting piece associated with the encased postage stamp money is an essay for a five-cent piece. In a frame of silver had been placed a stamp cut from a five-cent note of the first issue of the postage currency. This was protected by mica both back and front. This specimen, which is believed to be unique, recently sold for $15.50.

Probably other varieties of this little known currency will soon be brought to notice, now that so much interest is being taken in the pieces by collectors, for there is no known record in existence to show how many varieties originally were issued or how many specimens were put into circulation.—Mehl's Numismatic Monthly.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

Several correspondents have called our attention to the movement on foot to revive stamp taxes. B. D. Forster and F. D. Sherman both submitting clippings. Mr. Sherman writes: "This is what is coming. This is also why I believe that the proprietary stamps of the United States are bound to be the stamps to collect."

—J. D. D. Cranston of Willimantic, Conn., favors us with no less than ten clippings dealing with various subjects, though none are of sufficient importance for us to insert in the WEEKLY.

—The Stamp News is published quarterly by the Geo. W. Linn Co., Columbus, O. No. 1 of Vol. 3 is before us and exploits the Junior Stamp Society as a successful organization for young collectors. Address the firm for sample copy.

—P. A. Artemjev of St. Petersburg, Russia, has published for free distribution a pamphlet of 43 pages telling budding philatelists how to collect postage stamps. The catchy title of this little work is "Rukovodstvo dlja Sostavlenija Kolleksi Potschtovykh Marok".

—Herman W. Boers submits for inspection a permit "Postage 13 Cents" used in Seattle, Wash., in mailing an Exposition issue of a local paper containing 188 pages.

—We are informed of the death of Chas. H. Phillips of the firm of W. C. Phillips & Co., Glastonbury, Conn., which took place a few days ago, at the age of sixty-four. Death was due to a sudden attack of heart disease, and it comes as a severe blow to his son, W. C. Phillips, who is well known to our readers.

—E. N. Tuckerman wishes information in regard to the Canadian Collector of Toronto, Can. No response can be secured to letters written this publication, the last letter mailed having been returned with this inscription, "Not found. Supposed to be fraudulent." The Standard Stamp Co. also enters a complaint against the firm.

—J. T. Kaemmerlen submits a Schuster Co. envelope that the St. Louis post office allowed to pass through with nothing more in the way of postage than an illustration of the 5c St. Louis Post Office stamp. This was in the upper right hand corner and was nicely cancelled.

—J. C. Hoffstetter of Erie, Pa., sends us a copy of the Silent Partner for February. It contains a very sensible article on stamp collecting entitled "A Hobby and Its Lessons".

—A clipping from the Tribune of Salt Lake City is sent us by Walter M. Smith. It shows pictures of the two, five and eight cent Utah labels and information is asked for as to their origin and use. The editor of the Tribune evidently is not a philatelist.

—The one hundred fine stamps catalog value $6.00 offered during the past three weeks by John B. Royce, should have been priced at 67c and not at the figures given.

—Chas. A. Townsend reports unsatisfactory business relations with Paul Miller, Harrisburg, Pa. For further par-

EDITORIAL.

In Prospect—A valued correspondent writes to say that there is a strong likelihood that new revenue taxes will be levied on certain commodities and that stamps will be impressed into service in consequence. This information has been conveyed in newspaper reports for some time past and collectors are not unaware that some action of the kind is probable. Our Washington friend says that while there seems to be no unanimity of opinion among legislators as to just what taxes will be imposed, yet there is a manifest disposition to proceed with a view to raise revenue by amplifying the tax list. Any measures of the kind will be vigorously debated no doubt and contending influences weighed, it is pointed out, but the prospect of new revenue stamps looms up large on the horizon and collectors have ground for speculating upon the issue in prospect and asking whether the stamps will create the sensational activity among collectors that the 1898 revenue stamps excited.

Convention—In Gibbons Stamp Weekly for March 6th, we find a verbatim report of the first two days at the Manchester philatelic congress, a gathering that focused the attention of all Great Britain, in a stamp sense, and whose importance actual and suggestive, was recognized by all. On the first day, the topic for discussion was "a plan to form a national association of the philatelists of the United Kingdom, either by a federation of the existing societies or by forming entirely a new society on a popular and national basis." The remarks of the speakers were full of interest, and, in passing, it should be said that those who took an active part in the proceedings bear names that are honored in their own country, and, in some instances, universally; and the difference of opinion as divulged in the conference showed that intelligent thought had been devoted to the topic. The advocates of the plan for a national society often animadverted to the American Philatelic Society as an illustration of the success of the national philatelic idea, and, in consequence, America's name was brought to the attention of the delegates many times in this favorable connection. For instance, Percy C. Bishop who was recognized as a sponsor of the national society idea said: "In the American Philatelic Society we have a working model of the purely national association as distinct from a union of various local societies. The American society has always been numerically strong; its annual convention has always been the great event of the year in the philately of the United States. This year the American Philatelic Society is stronger in numbers and perhaps also in influence and usefulness than at any previous time in its history." While Mr. Bishop had fair and soft words for the American Philatelic Society, yet he wounded the sensitive spirit of the WEEKLY by saying in dealing with the question of annual subscription to the proposed society: "If only we enjoyed in this country the great postal advantages conceded to journalists in the United States, the formation of our National Society would be a much easier thing. Americans regard their press, at least their newspaper press as a pretty cheap sort of thing, and that, possibly, is the reason why Uncle Sam lets it pass very cheaply through the mails." The WEEKLY, the official journal of the American Philatelic Society would like to bask in the warmth of the compliments paid to the society but as it comes under the category of newspaper, it is denied that solace. On second thought, perhaps Mr. Bishop meant the newspaper press in a general sense; and so, life lures us on once more.

Nay and Aye—The question of the national society in Great Britain was not brought to vote, conformably to the wish of the delegates who favored it. They gracefully yielded to the prevailing sentiment that the local societies filled all reasonable requirements; and so, no national society for Great Britain will "eventuate" for some time to come, if at all. Perhaps, one of the arguments advanced by M. P. Castle had its weight: "I should say the American Philatelic Association no doubt fulfills a very useful work, but the physical conditions of America and the enormous area of the country make the idea altogether different from what it should be in a relatively small country like our own." Now that we have told of one thing that the congress did not do, let it be known that other work was done; for instance, this resolution, which is self-explanatory was passed: "That this congress is of the opinion that a petition should be prepared and presented to the Universal Postal Union, soliciting their help in the suppression of Commemorative stamps and other stamps, which are unnecessary for the public service." We suppose that some of the critical observers in this country will say that the resolution is directed against a thriving American industry.

Roily—Some very interesting and we infer, authoritative articles on the Central American countries have been appearing in the Chicago Tribune by Frederick Palmer. The intimate vein in which the information is given leads to the belief that the writer has studied his subject well and under auspices favorable to the collecting of reliable data. After all, it would seem that accurate knowledge of present-day conditions in the Central American republics is not widely disseminated. Further, it appears that these countries are passing through a critical phase of their existence so far as their financial stability is concerned. All of the republics are represented as groaning under national debts of huge and burdensome proportions and as possessing currency systems condemned by approved banking methods. The premium on gold and silver coin is said to be fluctuating constantly and well may the stamp collector regard the face value of the current issues of the countries in question with suspicious eye, aside from any consideration of demonetization. Somewhat contrary to the usually accepted order of sequence, Mr. Palmer places Costa Rica highest in the scale of national respectability and Guatemala, lowest, of the Central American countries.

Black—A commission of three Americans has been appointed under the authority of the government to investigate the reports that have come from Liberia recently to the effect that the Black Republic is retrogressing and returning to a primitive state. The commission will proceed to Liberia and inquire into the social and political life of the country and ultimately report on the prospects of the continuance of Liberia as an independent state. Political mismanagement and the dense ignorance of the inhabitants are responsible for the lapse of the country from the ranks of the progressive nations.

UNION OF PHILADELPHIA SOCIETIES.

A movement is on to consolidate the Philadelphia Philatelic Society, the Quaker City Philatelic Society, the West Philadelphia Philatelic Society and the Philadelphia Exchange Society, the centres of philatelic interest in Philadelphia and which have been more or less interfering with the work of each other. To this end a committee of four, one member from each society, composed of Mr. Hand, Sec. of Q. C. P. S., Mr. Mann, Pres. of the W. P. P. S., Mr. List, Sec. P. E. S., and Mr. Henkels, Sec. P. P. S., were appointed to devise a plan of consolidation, and frame a charter and by-laws for the new society. The committee completed their labors on the evening of March 12th, and will submit their reports at the meetings of the various societies. An open meeting will be held on the evening of April 20th, at 8 P. M. at the rooms of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society, School of Industrial Art, Broad and Pine Sts., at which meeting the members of all the societies, as well as all stamp collectors of Philadelphia and vicinity, are invited to attend to take part in the ratification of this consolidation. Particular attention has been given to the younger collectors, for whose benefit there has been a junior membership devised with appropriately low dues. This amalgamation will give the new society a membership of close on to one hundred. It has been received by the members of all the societies with enthusiasm and is considered the best thing for philately that has happened in Philadelphia.—A. F. HENKELS.

Special to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE BRITISH PHILATELIC CONGRESS.

By WM. WARD.

The first British Congress of philatelists was held at the Manchester Philatelic Exhibition on February 18, 19 and 20 last—as already given in the WEEKLY.

Owing to the business on hand, the Congress was divided into four sections. The Formation of a "British National Society" and the Institution of an "Annual Congress" of Philatelists in Great Britain on the first day, The issue of a "Collectors' Catalog" on the second day, and on the last day, Saturday, the "Suppression of Speculative Stamps" and any other business to be brought to the notice of the congress by any delegate.

We are not going to pretend that the whole proceedings, as bits of personal humor on the part of the delegates present, etc., would interest very greatly readers outside Great Britain. Neither could we afford to devote sufficient space to a verbatim report of the three days' speeches if we thought the whole might be of interest. Nevertheless there were many points at issue of international interest.

FIRST DAY IN COUNCIL.

The opening of the Congress was made by the President of the Exhibition, Mr. I. J. Bernstein, who at the same time proposed Mr. W. Dornier Beckton, the President of the Manchester Philatelic Society as Chairman of Congress.

The Chairman alluded to an article in the Detroit Philatelist of some 20 years ago, in which the writer, a Mr. J. Bernstein, Jr., proposed an annual Congress or Conference. Curiously enough the promoter of the first British Philatelic Congress was of the same name and initial. There was also another coincidence. The Secretary of the Exposition was Mr. J. R. M. Albrecht—a name so well known and respected in the United States as belonging to as famous a collector. It was a good omen, and he (the Chairman) felt sure that though this was the first British Conference, it would be far from the last, and that Great Britain would by no means fall far short of the successes of similar events in America and Germany which for a number of years have become national events—almost. He had pleasure in calling upon Mr. Percy C. Bishop, the editor of the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly, to open the ball.

Mr. Bishop tersely gave his scheme for an National Philatelic Society of Great Britain and Ireland, which had some months ago been broached in his Fortnightly. His idea was to have a central body similar to the American Philatelic Society—THE WORKING MODEL of a National Society.

He realized that we in Great Britain had many difficulties before us that did not beset our American brothers. The chief difficulty was a low subscription and an official organ. It costs 1/2 penny (1c) to mail a copy of the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly in Great Britain—which means 26c in postage alone of the Fortnightly or 52c if a weekly. But in America 15 or 16 copies of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, the official journal of the American Philatelic Society, can be mailed to as many different points of the Union for one cent—the price of a single copy of an English journal. That alone explains how an American philatelist is able to enjoy membership in his national society together with a weekly newspaper for a dollar per annum. Some may say let us have a national society without a journal—but in those circumstances how long would the society live?

A national society links up the whole of philately—individual clubs only appeal to certain limited localities in separate parts of the country.

Mr. M. P. Castle (delegate of the Royal Philatelic Society and editor of the Royal Society's Journal) congratulated Mr. Bishop upon his object, but personally he rather depreciated the success of such a scheme. Admirable as Mr. Bishop's scheme may be on the subject of united philatelic brotherhood, he was afraid it would be extremely difficult to put into practice in this country. He thought that the physical condition of America and the enormous area of the country, together with the spreading out of philatelists, was the one result of the success of the National Society in America, as well as the German.

He maintained that neither of the societies named had ever produced the like proportion of real philatelic work that has been done by the Philatelic Societies of this country (Great Britain). If we have one big society, are all these existing societies that have already done the work to lose their separate existence? And are they to be merely component parts of a big society? Here we have an example of a local branch of a big society (the Junior Philatelic Society) breaking away from the main body. I am perfectly certain if we had a British Philatelic Society, and points of difference arose, the Manchester section, with its North Country doggedness would take its own line from we in the South.

Mr. G. B. Duerst (Manchester Phil. Soc.) gave his personal experiences of the German Philatelic Association, and said after carefully considering the matter he preferred an Annual Congress like this to the formation of a National Society—and we shall come to look upon those three or four days each year as a time when we shall meet our friends and spend a happy time together. Messrs. L. W. Fulcher and G. F. Gibson both depreciated the formation of a National Philatelic Society, but Mr. E. Philpot Crowther (South Wales and Monmouth Phil. Societies) supported Mr. Bishop's proposal. Mr. W. E. Lincoln (International Philatelic Union) said he thought that perhaps more harmony was required between the existing societies, before such a thing as swamping all these societies by a National Society. The Chairman gave his review of the situation, and thought that Mr. Bishop's suggestion did not come within practical politics of philately. Mr. Bishop, in reply, said he found himself in a happy minority, but he was not disheartened, but maybe he had not succeeded in properly conveying his views on the matter. He did not mean "amalgamation," but the whole of the existing societies uniting together for a common purpose on matters of great importance, as this annual Congress, the dealing with the enemies of philately. Philately is a hobby that has many enemies, he said. A Court of Appeals on all matters affecting philately. Mr. Bishop hoped to bring the matter up again at a future time for a better discussion. This terminated the first day's proceedings.

(To be concluded next week.)

well as in that to be used for printing the adhesives.

Prof. M. Loewy shows a copy of the 2c Lincoln stamp, which has a white spot in the centre of the "C" of "Cents". The stamp is one of a block of four, the others being normal.

Frank B. Eldredge reports having the following new precancels:

Warren, Pa., 1c 1908, normal.
Elgin, Ill., 1c 1908, normal.

Bates E. Clarke reports having the 4c of 1902 on a 2c Paid Permit of Chicago.

ARGENTINE.—Two new values have appeared in the current set. According to the Revista de la Sociedad Filatelica Argentina, the postal union colors, green, red and blue, are to be appropriated to the 3c, 5c and 12c value. The 5c is already red, but the 12c, although only just issued in yellow, will be changed to blue. The 3c was announced recently as about to be issued in orange, but as stated above it has appeared in green. The 1c was to have been issued in blue, but it will now be printed in yellow, thus changing colors with the 12c. There will also be envelopes with 12c blue stamps.

Adhesives.
4c violet brown.
30c green.

ABYSSINIA.—The adhesives of 1894 have been again surcharged, this time with the usual line of Amharic characters and a large "T", all contained in a large round-cornered triangle, to serve as postage due stamps. The complete set of seven stamps has been so treated.

BELGIUM.—The new 40c stamp is being prepared, according to Le Collectionneur de Timbres-poste.

BERMUDA.—The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. has shown us the new 1/2d stamp in a single color on ordinary multiple paper.

Adhesive.
1/2d gray green.

CHILE.—Though chronicled a long time ago, the new 12c and 1 peso stamps have not yet been placed in circulation. Some of them are reported to have been given out to stamp collectors, but neither have been sold to the general public.

CUBA.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly reports that the current 2c stamp has been surcharged "T" in a circle, for use as a postage due stamp.

EAST AFRICA AND UGANDA.—Mr. Schachne shows us the changed currency cards which are otherwise identical with the former set.

Post Cards.
3c green on buff.
3x3c green on buff; T.3.
6c carmine on buff.
6x6c carmine on buff; T.3.

EGYPT.—Ewen's Weekly reports that the Egyptian Government has already done away with the new surcharged official stamps for interior use, and has reverted to the old type of 1892, though the stamps are printed on chalky paper. The surcharged stamps are still used for foreign correspondence.

ERITREA.—The current 5c stamp of Italy has been surcharged "Colonia Eritrea" in one line in black for use in this Colony, copies having been shown us by the New England Stamp Co.

Adhesive.
5c green.

GERMANY.—Mr. Schachne sends us the 10pf carmine on pale buff, which looks like the same plate as the current 3pf and the paper has the same watermark.

INDIA.—Two new rupee values have been added to the current set, and the 25r value is reported to have been issued, though not yet chronicled. Ewen's Weekly chronicles the following.

Adhesives.
10r pink and green.
15r brown and blue.

ITALIAN OFFICES IN THE LEVANT.—The current 15c gray of Italy has been surcharged "30 Para 30" in violet instead of red, for use in the Italian offices in Turkey.

MAURITIUS.—Le Timbre-poste announces the issue of several stamps in the new modified Arms type. They are all watermarked multiple CA.

Adhesives.
3c green.
6c rose.
15c blue.

NEW ZEALAND.—Ewen's Weekly notes that the new 1d stamp, reported in No. 947 with official surcharge, has now been issued without surcharge.

Adhesive.
1d carmine.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. Schachne shows us the new issue, which appears to be without change except the stamp which is an upright rectangle in form, 22x27 1/2 mm., with the usual triangle, &c., in a circle, "Nicaragua" in a curve above and figures of value in each lower corner. Both have been already issued as provisionals. The 5c has, just at the left of the stamp, "Vale 4c—1908" and "Interior" in violet ink. The 2c is transformed to a 4c by the use of adhesives which are also provisionals made of the orange and black fiscals and surcharged "Correo—1908. Vale 1c" (in red) or 2c (in black).

Post Cards.
2c red on white.
5c blue on white.
2c x adhesives 1 x 1c on white.
3c x adhesives 2c on white.
4c on 5c blue on white.

PANAMA.—L. Harald Kjellstedt has also shown us the new 2 1/2c stamp.

ROUMANIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new 3 bani stamp, which though reported some time since, has just been issued. It appears that there have been issued thus far in the current set stamps with three different portraits of King Charles, the portrait on the 3b showing more of a profile than either of the two previous designs. REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

RUSSIA.—C. S. Traustel sends us a 3k card of the new design noted some time since, and bearing in addition one of the new 1k stamps. Mr. Traustel says the 3k has also been issued, though we have not yet seen it. The 4k was to appear shortly, and possibly has been issued before this, as Mr. Traustel's card was dated Feb. 18.

Adhesive.
 1k orange.

SWEDEN.—This country is reported to be contemplating the adoption of the franc as the monetary unit, in which case there will necessarily be a complete change in the postage stamps.

TASMANIA.—The ½d pictorial stamp has been issued on paper watermarked Crown A, and perforated both 11 and 12½.

TOGO.—Mr. Schachne has the 5pf, with the headline at upper left instead of in the center. The address lines are 33 mm. apart.

TRANSVAAL.—The Postage Stamp notes the 5sh violet and black on yellow, on ordinary multiple paper.

NEW PRICING OF REVENUES NEEDED.
 By E. R. VANDERHOOF.

"Like sweet bells jangled, out of tune and harsh", comes the clangor of dripping ink from the pen of the versatile editor of the Stamp Journal. In a spirit seemingly not far removed from hostility, he transfixes me with a harpoon of refutation, basing his hypothesis on some assumptions, credited against me; although I am free to confess that I am unable to find wherein I have committed the indiscretion of laying down a law to price stamps by.

Any attempt to do so would be mere folly, as the law already exists—that of supply and demand; thus stated in my humble argument in Carter's Messenger, which statement Mr. Nast thoughtlessly overlooked. It is upon this article that he exhausts his argumentative ability, apparently more for amusement than instruction.

My article was merely written in a speculative spirit. I have not shown what prices should be, but rather what they were, among stamps of a similar class used for the same purpose and supposedly used at about the same period;

issued under parallel conditions and affixed in a supposedly similar manner. I endeavored to simply draw some very vivid comparisons that should be food for thought, not a law of procedure, and I do not consider myself capable of setting a fixed rule to govern the stamp market. I leave this to the better informed, but have yet to see the fallacy of my deductions.

In spite of Mr. Nast's contention, that "date of usage", and "manner of affixing", should control, I would maintain and am sure that numbers will agree, that in spite of the "glaring" instances he quotes, that the number of stamps issued is the still first thing to consider, even if they should be affixed to bomb shells. The first thing necessary to make a stamp common, is to have plenty of them in existence. It is apparently out of the question to argue that where one stamp was printed to the extent of 200 copies, that it would be commoner than in a case where two millions were printed of another, simply because one was pasted on the wrapper and the other on the cork. It is purely and simply a matter of plenty to go around in one case and not enough in the other. This method of procedure will do very well for the uninformed, but not for the enlightened class of fiscalists.

Such "glaring" instances as quoted by Mr. Nast and his Bazin stamp are too apparent on the face as living monstrosities. Such things are unworthy of use in argument, as even the school boy collectors are acquainted with the facts of the destruction of remainders of great rarities. These are unworthy arguments to force on a body of intelligent collectors for the simple reason that they are the most extreme cases that could be assumed, which would bear no weight whatever in common place items such as we have under discussion. Such extremes, together with the uncalled for ridiculing of the idea that numbers count, should, like a squeezed lemon be cast aside.

Inequalities in the "Standard Catalogue" we must all admit, and in face of Mr. Nast's assertions that he is no apologist for the publishers of that book, I can truthfully state that the same gentleman has argued both in private and in the publicity of our local club that some of the prices quoted by Scott were ridiculous; that he has offered to buy from them at full catalogue certain items in United States Revenues, and has been declined the honor. Neither does this statement refer to any rarities but to commonplace items listing up to $1.00.

This matter of inequality in prices is unnecessary of further discussion, as it is a well known fact among most dealers—and I have letters from some of the best informed dealers in United States to bear out my statement—that the prices quoted by the Standard are often as much used to buy from as to sell by. This is a commonly assumed fact, and I will wager that there are not ten well informed collectors in the country who will not concur with me. In view of this, what is the occasion of Mr. Nast's argument, aimed at me in such a spirit of finality?

So far as his assumption of the fact that "length of time in use" cuts no figure, I would call his attention to the case of the American Fusee stamp that I used in my original article, and which contrary to his theory that the earlier stamps are rarer, shows by my method of figuring that he writes against himself. Numbers of parallel cases can be picked out at random and to any extent required.

All of this reverts to the existing facts that the Standard does not properly answer the needs of the present day

QUERIES AND COMMENT.

Edited by C. E. SEVERN.

Our readers are cordially invited to ask the editor for any information desired concerning stamp collecting. Should a personal reply be desired kindly enclose postage. This department is for the beginner as well as the advanced collector. Address, C. E. Severn, 721 Oxford Bdg., Chicago, Ill.

O. W.:—"Were postage stamps of the U. S., issues from 1847 to the present, ever used as revenues? If so, please number them by the catalogue. Were they canceled in ink?" Postage stamps were never authorized for use as revenue stamps by our government, as the accounts of the post-office and treasury departments are kept separately. However, postage stamps were sometimes employed for revenue purposes in cases of emergency but the practice never became general. Recently, we saw a check drawn by William H. Seward, secretary of state, in Lincoln's cabinet, in 1872 that bore the 2-cent brown adhesive of 1871. In 1898, in consequence of the difficulty of obtaining an adequate supply of the "I. R." surcharges, large quantities of the Omaha stamps in particular were used by firms at the stock-yards in Chicago. There are many instances of the use in isolated instances of postage stamps for the payment of the revenue tax but the plan never received official sanction. These "provisional" stamps were pen cancelled, although we believe that in several instances where adhesive stamps were pressed into service by manufacturers of proprietary articles under the civil war tax, a different cancellation was used.

A. C. R.:—"Stamps imported from Europe are not dutiable. The discussion that you refer to was about the treatment at the ports of entry in this country of packages of stamps from foreign countries "supposed to contain dutiable matter." For information concerning rates of insurance on stamps apply at the office of an express company.

K. K.:—"The one-cent green of the retiring issue with large roulette at sides was used in the Schermack mailing machine whose operation has been described in this paper. The one-cent with unofficial roulette is not so common as the two-cent of the same issue and used specimens generally are saved by collectors who chance to get them. The unused two-cent roulette of the same issue in pair was advertised in the WEEKLY at a reasonable price; single used specimens are rather common as the machine is used by many business houses.

wide awake collectors and dealers. I am glad that I have helped put the ball in motion that will sooner or later result in the getting out of what we need in our line. A catalogue could be published at first in the year book of the United States Revenue Society, later amended and worked over by experts who know best the values of their specialties. A board of experts could be appointed yearly to receive and consider complaints and suggestions directly relative to keeping the prices in proper line. There is no reason why this Society should not be able to compile such a catalogue, as in its ranks are collectors and dealers to stand without peers in the matter of authority on all things fiscal.

I am not one to throw cold water on any attempt made to work for the betterment of existing evils, but I do believe that I should make a statement in substantiation of my former remarks that have caused some slight turmoil, which is to me amusing as well as instructive. To this end I am now writing.

I confined my ideas to but two lines in my former argument; but it was not for the reason that my brain could entertain no others—rather for the fact that space is valuable—readers sometime get weary and that it is not necessary to demonstrate every theorem, corollary and proposition in the entire geometry to prove that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. There are plenty of other matters to be considered besides those quoted by Mr. Nast and myself. In not vain enough to say that Mr. Nast's ideas are incorrect. Instead, I emphatically believe them to be correct, but only so far as their "widow's mite" will contribute to the general collection. My ideas I still maintain bear some weight in an exactly parallel manner and I do not propose that they shall be given a back seat to Mr. Nast's private reasons.

The main thing to do is to keep hammering at the leading cause, and not digress on tangent argumentative theories, for if we do this we will get lost in the maze of our own phraseology. It is necessary to keep steadily after what we want—welcome and consider all suggestions, however humble; and when we do get our catalogue, let us all continue to work for it in the same spirit and discuss freely in the press in a friendly and not a hostile manner any and all objections to abnormalities.

I am told that there is a movement on foot in New York City along these lines, and I am sure that every collector will be glad to hear publicly from those who are behind the movement.

BRANCH No. 18.

The regular meeting of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society, Branch No. 18,

A. P. S., was held at the School of Industrial Art, on the evening of March 3,

Pres. Hahman in the chair. There were eight members and twelve visitors present, including Messrs. Kellar, Leidy and Mann, the presidents of the Quaker City

Philatelic Society, Philadelphia Branch

N. P. A., and West Philadelphia Philatelic Society, respectively. The treasurer reported $41.86 in the treasury and the sales superintendent reported sales from

A. P. S. circuits for past month amounting to $80.00. The petition from the Cleveland Branch No. 30 was favorably acted upon. The proposed consolidation of all four of the Philadelphia societies was discussed in open meeting. The president appointed Sec. Henkels a committee of one to meet the secretaries of the other societies for the purpose of formulating a plan of consolidation. Mr.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 52nd meeting was held March 9th with 12 members and one visitor in attendance. Minutes of 51st meeting were read and approved. It was voted to rescind the action taken at 51st meeting in regard to change of club rooms and secretary was instructed to continue arrangement for present rooms. Letter was received from P. M. Wolsieffer, stating that it would be impossible for him to visit Columbus on March 16th in response to the Club's invitation. After an exhibit of United States postage and revenue stamps, the regular prize drawing was held, Mr. Savage securing the prize. About forty lots were disposed of at auction, after which the meeting adjourned. Next meeting March 23rd.

SOME NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

By CHAS. R. MORRIS.

Ever since the new issue of U. S. stamps began to appear and collectors were anxious to obtain nice copies of the first issues, there has been a good deal of criticism expressed by philatelists and the philatelic press both in this country and abroad regarding the way the stamps were being perforated and I must confess that I too have given vent to my feelings regarding what I considered an outrage. I have even heard them compared to the Spanish stamps. That was the last straw. My Yankee pride could stand no more and I determined to find out from headquarters the real cause of the trouble. I wish to state right here and now that I shall defend the makers of the U. S. stamps against all criticism of poor work for I have been over every detail of it with an expert and find that the U. S. stamps are being turned out in as good condition as it is possible to make them.

The primary cause of the trouble is in the paper that the stamps are printed on. It is a pure wood pulp paper which does some queer freaks when it goes through the wetting and drying process used in the engraving of U. S. stamps and only a very small per cent of the sheets will go through the entire process without shrinking unevenly in spots. This can easily be demonstrated by examining most any sheet of 100 stamps when it will be seen that on some rows perforations will run exactly between the stamps at the bottom or top of a sheet but will run close or into the design before it reaches the other side.

The efforts of the Bureau to overcome all defects are very interesting. In the first place they have improved the gumming machines so that the sheets are stretched and the gum broken as they leave the machines. Then the perforating machines have been improved recently at great expense so that the gauge is adjusted absolutely accurate if the sheet is all right and finally all employees have been cautioned that more careful work must be done, that the Bureau was endeavoring to turn out the best executed stamps in the world and needed their co-operation; but with all these improvements and precautions a very large number of sheets were constantly rejected after printing as being too far "off center", all due, as I explained, to the irregular or uneven shrinking of the paper.

The Director determined that he would try an experiment and he requested the paper manufacturers to prepare him 10,000 sheets of paper which would be 35% rag instead of all pulp. This "Experimental Paper" has recently been delivered and was printed as follows, 4005 sheets were made into the new ones, 4005 sheets into the new Washington "twos" and 1754 sheets into the Lincoln "twos." These have been watched very carefully during the process of stamp making and especially in the perforating and it is found that along the lines sought and in the course of two or three weeks bids are to be invited for a supply of this paper and upon the price asked for it, will depend whether it will be continued or not for if the price is very much above what the present paper costs, the Bureau could not afford to use it without a loss on its contract with the P. O. Dept. All of these stamps on "Experimental Paper" are to be sold in Washington where the Bureau can get first hand reports as to how the perforations hold together in the retailing of them and whether they will adhere to the envelopes as well as those on pulp paper, being some thicker. This new paper can be easily distinguished as it is a skimmed milk color, that is, it has a slight bluish cast while the other paper is more of a creamy white.

I am convinced from what I have learned, that our kick on the perforations is occasioned more at this time from noticing them in our endeavors to find nice copies than it is that they are any worse than they were on the 1902 issue which is passing from us. We got well stocked up on them when they first came out and since then we haven't noticed the perforations as we used them commercially. Am I wrong? I have been asked to submit any real bad specimens of perforating to the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and if any reader who has such to submit will send them to me I will see that they reach the proper hands.

Regarding the great number of sheets of stamps that are going out with inverted watermarks, I am told that this error is caused by carelessness at the paper mills, in that the two bits of paper that are cut off as guides to the operators who lay the sheets on the press, are cut from the wrong corners. This they are going to ask to have remedied.

Several articles regarding the Lincoln stamps and their probable scarcity have appeared lately in different publications. I can say authoritatively that there were printed on the first order 100,000,000 and there have been printed on a second order 40,000,000 which has worn the plates so that no more could be printed. Eight plates only were used. The apparent scarcity of them is not due to the fact that there are none but that your postmaster does not make requisition for them. Tell him you want him to order another lot; there are lots of them here yet.

I have seen the Philippines stamps printed in new colors to conform to the new U. S. series. None have been shipped to the Islands as yet but will be soon. If you haven't got your set of Philippines with the present colors, better do so at once. The four and ten peso stamps are not to be discontinued for awhile as there is a goodly stock of them on hand and no orders have been received as yet to stop them.

NEW BOOK
Hawaiian Numerals

BY
HENRY J. CROCKER, F. R. P. S. L.
354 Pine St., San Francisco, Cal.

Inserted in pocket of front cover for easy reference. 19 different plates of numerals from the 9 different printings are fully illustrated. Many of these for the first time. Aside from the plates the book is illustrated handsomely with cuts. Every Hawaiian Numeral is valuable, some more than others. All can now be located, and their value estimated. Indispensable to dealers. Indispensable to collectors.

Contains a Short History and a Map of the Islands.

Every Lithographed and Engraved stamp issued from 1851 to 1886 is described and their relation to the type set stamps shown. It is interesting to know why the Lithographed 2c carmine rose shade is so rare. (The reason is set forth.)

There is a special article on the so-called re-issue of the 5c and 13c 1855 type with evidence to show they were regularly issued in 1864 by David Kalakaua, afterward King of Hawaii.

The Manuscript 5 on 13c is Illustrated and Written Up.

The British Colonial Cancellation A98 is properly located for the first time. Personal interviews with employees who were in the Postal Department from 1859 (date of issue of numerals) to 1865 are given and the book abounds with other interesting data.

Handsomely bound in half Morocco, Gilt Edge, 22 plates. Price $5.00. Postpaid $5.15.

EDITORIAL.

Fitting Subject—It would be difficult to select a better subject for a special number than France, a country of fascinating suggestions and a country whose stamps embody points of piquant interest. Speaking generally, the stamps of the republic are favorites with collectors and for the specialist, they present almost an ideal aggregation. The student finds perplexities enough in the stamps to engage his close attention, even though the leading catalogues are quite exhaustive in their treatment of the stamps. That there is much demand for information describing the differences between certain of the issues is shown by the numerous inquiries that are received and a special number wherein the stamps are reviewed at some length is helpful to those collectors to whom all explanation hitherto has not been made. The subject of French stamps is so many-sided that what may be termed the beaten path only can be traversed by the articles but the ordinary questions involved in the consideration of the stamps will be adequately explained.

An Off-Shoot—While the purely stamp issues of France abound in choicest material, there is yet a wealth of interest possessed by the numerous proofs and essays of France. In fact, the word, essay, was said by Dr. Gray to be an incorrect translation of the French word, "essai." Among the interesting essays were stamps with the profile of Napoleon III, surrounded with the white letters, "Louis Napoleon Bonaparte." Another, a specimen consisting of two parts separated from each other by a blank margin was prepared "to show a new method of cancellation. The upper part only was to be stuck to the envelope and the lower part was to be torn off when it passed through the post." An essay dated 1858 bore the word, "essai." These few examples selected at random

Filled Approval Sheets

For $7.00. REGULAR PRICE $9.50.

Each lot contains from 40 to 50 sheets. Each lot foots up over $70.00.

No sheet of 50 stamps foots up less than $1.00 up to about $5.00 for a sheet. You can judge of the Average Price. A sheet of 50 stamps for $5.00 would average 10 Cents per Stamp. The sheets are in good order, have never been sent out or folded in any way and contain a large variety.

Remarkable Work—A history of the French postage stamps, 1848 to 1908, issued recently by A. Maury, Paris, was a striking revelation of the philatelic richness of the country and collectors with a partiality for the stamps of France are fortunate to have such a work at their disposal. Though the book of 650 pages, embellished with 800 engravings is in French, still it has a value to the collector who does not read the language as will become apparent to him upon examining the tome. In this popular-priced volume, the postal history was covered in an admirable manner; even telegraph stamps and postmarks were minutely detailed. It should be mentioned that the postmarks of France afford a study that some specialists cultivate with satisfaction; in the earlier times they were in greater variety and of more significance than those of other countries. This Maury monograph of the stamps of France ranks with the really great works of philately.

Mother of Philately—France claims to be the birthplace of stamp collecting and it has always held a foremost place in philately. Many indications of the hold that the pursuit has on the country were shown in the past when in many of the other countries philately was wholly misunderstood in a public sense. The French government has consulted philatelists in regard to questions of postal policy. French writers of renown were quick to recognize stamp collecting as an accredited pastime and refer to some phase of the hobby in their novels. Even Sardou, the great playwright, put philately in the mouth of one of his characters in an early stage production. From the date of the inception of philately, the French were ardent supporters of it, and under congenial influences, the pursuit has attained a prominence in France that confirmed and vindicated the faith of the French pioneers who so early pledged their allegiance to the "new mania" as it was uncharitably called at first.

A Reality—The Stamp Bourse of Paris is a philatelic classic. It has been referred to in public print during the past forty years as often as the Ferrary collection has been mentioned; and any endeavor to pass in imagination this numerical standard would cause the mind to react on itself. The Bourse is an actual institution that has endured many years, with varying fortunes. It has survived many vicissitudes and has amply proved its vitality by remaining to this day a tangible public evidence of philately. The history of the Paris Stamp Bourse is interesting and has been told unnumbered times. We violate tradition by not referring to it at greater length on this occasion but it will not be long before it will be incumbent upon us to tell of it with due regard to detail. While a sort of glamor envelops the Bourse when viewed by the philatelists from afar, yet it possesses elements of fascination that the habitual frequenter of the sessions will admit. The Paris Stamp Bourse has been one of the best advertisements that philately has ever had.

A Memory—Nowadays, nothing is heard of the French school of collecting but forty years ago, the philatelic world was rent by the discussion of the propriety of adopting the form of collecting prescribed by the new school. The arguments, favorable and the reverse were voiced with a vehemence that showed the intensity of interest of the debaters. Slowly, the French school gained ground. It was thought that the adherents of this style of advanced collecting were raising the dignity of philately, if not actually increasing the pleasure that was to be derived from it, and, in time, the so-called French school gained the ascendancy. In brief, the French school of collecting was that which distinguished between watermarks, perforations, and other details of the stamp that up to that time had been ignored.

Probabilities—A Washington friend writes to say that postal affairs will be given attention during the present session of congress. A New York legislator will advocate a bill for the reduction of letter postage to one cent; and also, the removal of the distinctions between third and fourth class mail matter. The combining of the third and fourth class rates with a special provision for newspapers, books and circulars would be a step in the right direction as the great public confuses the two classes. Other plans are proposed for the improvement of the service from the viewpoint of the people according to the words of our correspondent and newspaper information.

NEW ALBUM FOR ENTIRES.

We have received from Geo. J. Carter a specimen of the new album that he has just placed upon the market. It is made after suggestions of the leading collectors and only after numerous experiments have been made. The pages are 6½x10 inches, of the finest bond paper, a single stub one inch wide between every leaf (to attach to cover) and very thick narrow stubs (¼ inch wide) are bound in album in addition to take up the thickness of the covers when inserted. These albums should hold between 200 and 250 covers without the album "bulging".

Bound in dark green cloth, stiff covers, price $1.00 post free. Bound in dark leather, limp covers, price $1.25 post free.

TWO NOTABLE AUCTION SALES.

We have received from P. M. Wolsiefer a catalogue of his 96th auction sale. It is of special interest to all collectors of United States stamps, containing as it does a fine collection, the property of P. H. Hill, Nashville, Tenn. The contents of the sale offer a wide variety, consisting of match and medicines, perfumery and playing cards, postage and revenues, straight issues, proofs, sheets, plate numbers and envelopes. We note also fifty lots of philatelic literature.

From B. L. Drew & Co. is received the catalog of their 202nd sale, to be held in N. Y. City April 22-23. The lots offered are from the collection of Dr. H. S. Griffin, Hamilton, Ont., and a very nice line of both U. S. and foreign is listed. The catalog is tastily printed and is from the press of D. H. Bacon & Co.

AUCTION SALE!

OF STAMPS, SINGLE AND IN LOTS, ALSO SOME WHOLESALE LOTS FOR DEALERS
ALL TO BE SOLD

Without Reserve Saturday, APRIL 10, 1909

BY THE
C.E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO., 211 N. Garrison Ave., ST. LOUIS, MO.
(INCORPORATED)

TERMS OF SALE

1. Bids to be by the lot, no matter how many stamps may be in a lot.
2. Regular patrons may have their stamps forwarded to them only on the distinct understanding that they will send immediate payment. Auction sales are spot cash and no time allowance or credit can be permitted under any circumstances, the owner of the stamps expecting prompt payment. Strangers must send a cash deposit, as a guarantee of good faith.
3. All lots of single stamps are in good condition unless otherwise stated, and if unused may or may not have gum.
4. Claims for errors must be made immediately, for no claims can be entertained if stamps are in your keeping over 3 days and the disputed lot must be returned intact for verification by the owner. This privilege is not accorded to those who have the opportunity of examining them before the sale.
5. Lots with three or more stamps are not returnable because of some fancied or minor defect but no seriously damaged stamp included in any lot unless so stated.
6. Bids are numbered and tabulated in their order of receipt. If two or more bids on any certain lot are alike, the one first received gets the lot. If two or more unlimited bids on any certain lot are received, the first one in gets the lot at a slight advance over the highest bid.
7. Please make payments promptly in Cash, Post Office or Express Orders or draft. Personal Checks are taken at par. If receipt is desired kindly enclose a stamp addressed envelope.
8. No bids for less than 25c or less than face value will be accepted.

 OUR NEXT SALE, MAY 12th.

RED CROSS DESIGN COMPETITION.

(Jos. A. Steinmetz, who sends us this clipping, is a member of the committee that formulated this plan and is very desirous that some A. P. S. member shall take first honors. We second the motion.—ED.)

To obtain the best possible design for the 1909 Christmas stamp, the American National Red Cross offers a series of cash prizes in a contest open to the public until May 15.

There will be three main awards, consisting of the following cash prizes in order of merit: $100, $50 and $25, and there will be chosen out of the sketches submitted not to exceed ten other designs, to be retained by the Red Cross as its property as a matter of record. For such designs as will be retained there will be a cash prize of $10 each.

The wording shall read: "American Red Cross, 1909. Merry Christmas, Happy New Year" and the finished size of the stamp shall be seven-eighths of an inch square. It is preferred that the background of the stamp shall be white and that the emblem of the "Red Cross" be shown somewhere prominently in the design.

The Red Cross is a geometrical design made up of five cubes or squares, and this proportion must be strictly observed. A design may be submitted in two or three colors, the groundwork not being considered as an applied color. Artists' designs submitted must not exceed three inches square.

Designs may be submitted to Charles L. Magee, War Department Building, Washington, D. C., or to the secretary of any Red Cross state branch. The name of the artist must be subscribed on the back of the design and shall not be visible anywhere in the design or on the face thereof.

By WM. WARD.

SECOND DAY IN COUNCIL.

Mr. L. W. Fulcher (Royal Society and editor of the new regime of the Philatelic Record) spoke upon the necessity of a Collector's Catalog. He said we have a great variety of catalogs with which philately is blessed or cursed—depending upon the point of view. The catalog is an indispensable item—whether to beginner or advanced. The existing catalogs have many valuable features, as frequent appearance, and keeping of up-to-date information, but, with a single exception, the official French catalog, they are all published by dealers, thus making them, in fact, price lists of what the dealers have to sell. As a result there is a lack of proportion. The stamps of the popular and best selling countries are fully listed with minor varieties, while those of neglected and unpopular countries are insufficiently cataloged. As far as this country is concerned, the prices are dominated by the catalog of Stanley Gibbons, France, Italy, Belgium, and Russia by Yvert & Tellier, Germany and Austria by Senf, America by Scott, Spain and South America by Galvey. Now the question of pricing is a very difficult subject to decide by one or two persons. He thought that a committee should be formed to deal editorially with the object, and specialists of the various countries be invited to settle the question of value from their experience. The example of the Collin and Calman's Catalog for Specialists was before us, but on such a scale, he felt a similar attempt would be quite hopeless.

Mr. Franz Reichenheim (Herts Phil. Soc.) said he received some time ago from the German firm of Kohl (Chemnitz) a circular saying that the Philatelic Societies of Berlin, Hamburg, Leipzig, Dresden, and Vienna had come to an agreement with them (Kohl's) to publish a reformed catalog, with the co-operation of members from these societies, in which the representatives of the different societies were to fix the prices of the respective issues of these stamps. If we could get the firms in other countries to agree to the same way, it would lead to the catalog selected being recognized as standard quotations. This edition of Kohl includes all the adhesive stamps and entires of Germany, German States and Colonies.

Major E. B. Evans said what was required was a simplified catalog—or what may be called a post office list of stamps—of varieties as originally meant by the various issuing post offices of the world. To have a catalog of varieties would entail a separate work—of size—a sort of encyclopedia of philately, thirty or forty volumes with an oak book-case thrown in, in order to make use of it as well as hold it. The "Catalogue Officiel Français" was compiled upon the lines of what was really required for Great Britain—that is to say a large body of specialists each took up their country and compiled a catalog from that. But there would be a difficulty—such a catalog would mean in fact a series of hand-books.

As far as the French Official Catalog was concerned, they had attempted to price every stamp—but he was sure all specialists could not agree upon the relative rarity of certain stamps. He spoke of a country he (Major Evans) himself collected, where a stamp priced in any dealers' catalog at £2 ($10) was priced in the French catalog at 65fr ($13). Another instance he knew of a stamp, of which there were only six copies in existence, and no unused copies known. That stamp is priced in the collectors' catalog at 10 francs unused and 12fr 50c used. He would like to buy a whole sheet at that price. Messrs. I. J. Bernstein and O. K. Trechmann spoke in the same strain, in reference to difference of, and opinions under various conditions of buying and selling, rarity, etc. Mr. E. P. Crowther, however, spoke in support of such a scheme as the Kohl, and also presumed that that would do for the standard catalog if a glossary of English and French terms be included.

The chairman (W. D. Beckton) said that though he would like to see a catalog for collectors compiled by collectors, it must be borne in mind that a person buying a catalog did so for the purpose of ascertaining what the financial value was. Whether they required to buy a stamp, or sell a stamp, they wanted to know the present day value of the stamps of the country they are collecting, and the prices commanded by the market. We know perfectly well the experience of the French catalog, which does not lead one to think the scheme for pricing was successful. I cannot see how it is possible to make a catalog successful and popular unless you publish it at a price, of say, half-a-crown (60c). We have an instance when Messrs. Theodor Buhl & Co. attempted a similar catalog to the one under discussion, and which was known as "Major Evans' Catalogue," that failed lamentably for want of support.

Mr. M. P. Castle said that we all have pet grievances in existing catalogs and as Mr. Beckton said, we have the fiasco, or at least, non-success of the French catalog, so that no distinct furtherance could be derived from a catalog as under discussion. There has been a new catalog issued by Yumstein of Berne, typifying very carefully the stamps of Switzerland and Swiss Cantons. But the whole population of Switzerland is altogether not above half of that of London, so the stamps of Switzerland interesting as they are, represent only a small proportion of the world.

Mr. Fulcher in replying said that the discussion had been very long, but he thought that the dealers might be prevailed upon to meet together and decide the matter.

The chairman called upon Mr. C. C. Bishop to open the next subject of debate. This proved to be the suppression of speculative issues. Mr. Bishop said that about 15 years ago there was an agitation against the issue of unnecessary stamps, a menace to philately, and which resulted in the formation of the "Society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps." Perhaps there were too many S's in the title, for the S. S. S. had a chequered career. There were too many bees in the bonnets of certain gentlemen connected with it, to fully sympathize with its objects.

Already the Universal Postal Union has helped us by passing a resolution at the Washington conference forbidding to allow stamps issued for a limited period to prepay international mail matter. (I may mention here that this rule has been more honored in the breaking than the observance, for such stamps of limited career as Jamestown Exposition, Lincoln Centenary, Barbados Nelson, Barbados Kingston Relief, Greek Olympic, Japanese Commemorative, Canadian Quebec, and many others I cannot for the time call to mind, have franked letters outside the respective countries—W.Ward.) Mr. Bishop said he thought that some means could be gotten, whereby the Universal Postal Union could be further approached upon the matter, by philatelists. Mr. Bernstein thought that a memorandum backed by such as this Philatelic Congress of Great Britain would at least command the consideration of the U. P. U., as also said Mr. W. R. Lane-Joynt (Irish Phil. Soc.). Mr. W. H. Peckitt said he thought that the majority of dealers would agree with him that we had already got quite enough to deal in—too much in fact—and something should be done to prevent further Jubilee and Commemorative issues coming out. Mr. Humphrey Bennett (Northampton Phil. Soc.) said his society had sent him to say that the dealers should cut out altogether such stamps from the albums—and then there would be no need of them in the catalogs. A committee was eventually appointed to deal with the matter, and bring to the notice of the Universal Postal Union—Messrs. Bishop and Castle of London, and Beckton and Bernstein of Manchester, and a similar petition be sent to the Stamp Trade Protection Association Ltd. (London).

LAST DAY IN COUNCIL.

Owing to the absence of the suggestor, Mr. Palethorpe's paper upon a "Philatelic Encyclopedia" was read by the Director of Congress (Mr. J. J. Darlow). The author said what was required really was a means of reference to all the known works and information on the various countries for both philatelic students and writers. If this proved too great a task, at least a philatelic index of some sort was required. This could be published either (i) in fortnightly parts at a popular price, or (ii) in handbooks. It should consist of the literary cream of the information from the various authorities, the makers of the stamps—paper—perforation—printing. Also whether the various works referred to were published in French, German, etc., and where it was possible to see them. Though a big matter, no doubt, the proposer thought, in time, with the help of enthusiasts the difficulties could be got over.

Mr. Lane-Joynt thought that the famous Chinese Library at Pekin would be much smaller than this proposed philatelic encyclopedia. Besides each writer-up of a country says his is the last word upon each, and so it continues. When it is done, who will buy it. Mr. Bomefeld said such would be impossible, but he thought that say the journal or the Royal Society might attempt an index of the world's specialistic articles, and supply in parts at 3 pence (6c) to whoever wants them. Kutsch of Leipzig started handbooks on the various states of Germany, said Mr. Duerst, but he never got further than Guttenburg, as he had to stop upon account of non-support. He had the best authorities writing upon each state at that. What would then become of the thousands of stamps issued by other countries. Modern articles were quite as good as handbooks on any country.

Mr. Abbott said that cheap handbooks at sixpence each as already were being brought out were within reach of everyone, who could not afford such works as for example Mr. C. J. Phillips' "Fiji"—which if it were cheaper would be read by scores who have not yet seen it.

Mr. Gibson said he believed such an index was the policy of the new Philatelic Record, and that Mr. Fulcher (the editor) intended to publish such as a supplement each month. Mr. Darlow said "The enormosity of the subject was beyond the possibility," but an index might be published from indexes of the various journals.

Mr. Beckton said that was all right as far as those countries that were written up, but where would you get the information from on those countries not written up? He did not agree with Mr. Palethorpe upon the necessity of such a handbook. Members of Philatelic Societies had the advantage of the use of their club's libraries—and if even the member is unable to attend the venue of the society he can borrow the books required from the librarian through the post. It was decided that the matter was practically "beyond human ken."

The chairman, just before declaring the Congress at an end, read a telegram just received from Mr. Hayman, West Hampstead: "Received confirmation of Herts' invitation to hold next Congress here. We shall give you all a hearty welcome."

The chairman said in closing, "We express on behalf of philately, to those who have come such a way to attend this, the first British Congress, sincerest thanks, and hope for a future re-union." Mr. Lane-Joynt proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman and Manchester Junior Philatelic Society, which was seconded by Mr. J. W. Jones, and carried unanimously.

A dinner was given privately on the Friday evening to the delegates to Congress, but since same was not official, we do not see the necessity of publishing an account, that can of course only possibly interest English philatelists.

THE HOUSE OF THEODORE CHAMPION.

Upon page eight has been seen very frequently during the past three years the familiar advertising of Theodore Champion & Co. Probably no across-the-ocean dealer has used more space, or been found more regularly represented in our columns than this enterprising Parisian firm. We take great pleasure in recognizing the patronage this firm has given the WEEKLY and the accompanying picture of Mr. Champion gives one a good impression of the motive power behind the firm's business.

THEODORE CHAMPION.

We have already presented in the WEEKLY the story of Mr. Champion's humble beginning as a stamp dealer and the strenuous life necessary before his feet were firmly planted on the rock of business success.

It was in 1899 after a chapter of varied experiences that Mr. Champion entered the Forbin house in Paris. Mr. Forbin was ill and not on very good terms with the other Parisian dealers. He gave Mr. Champion a share in the profits and offered to take him into partnership. This Mr. Champion declined, having paid dearly in contemplating as a mere spectator how one partnership had resulted. He declined this proposition again and again. Failing in taking him in as a partner, Mr. Forbin allowed him to have the business and stock in trade. Since then the firm of Theodore Champion & Co. has enjoyed increased prosperity, occupying a nice location and the number of clerks employed in the concern having grown from nine to twenty.

The firm does not specialize in the stamps of any particular country but possesses a very large stock of the stamps of all countries. Mr. Champion is continuing his contributions to the Yvert & Tellier catalog begun by his predecessor. We are under obligations to him for the classing of the stamps in said catalog, while the pricing of the same depends upon his judgment.

Mr. Champion is a member of the Philatelic Societies of Frankfort, Gossnitz, Dresden and Berlin, and is considered one of the best students and appraisers for the stamps of Switzerland and the French colonies.

Through his cordial and hearty manner and unflinching courtesy he has been able to bring back to the Rue Drouot, philatelists who had discontinued their business to this store, and through his tact he knows how to keep their friendship, their confidence and their esteem.

Our readers cannot fail to note the "new issues" announcement upon the outside cover page and the interest taken in this branch of collecting will no doubt be productive of much business for this enterprising house.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

CHICAGO BRANCH, No. 1.

The 271st regular monthly meeting of the Chicago Branch No. 1, A. P. S., was held in the clubroom of the Chicago Philatelic Society on the evening of March 10th. Pres. Leonard Michael called the meeting to order at 8.30 P. M. with 11 members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. Resolutions from the Omaha Branch No. 23 were read on the death of our fellow member, Frank N. Massoth. The stamps of Guatemala were discussed, Mr. Mudge giving an interesting talk on that country. The philatelic subject for the next meeting is "Reptilian Life, as depicted on various stamps." Meeting adjourned at 10 P. M. Next meeting April 14th.

NEW ISSUE SERVICE

A great many of our American clients asking for the prompt and early supply of

NEW ISSUES FROM ALL COUNTRIES

We have decided to greatly increase our purchases in order to meet with the great demand we now have for this class of stamps.

FRENCH COLONIAL STAMPS

These we can supply as soon as issued at a uniform percentage over face value of 10 per cent. Postage and Registration extra on orders under $4.00.

NEW ISSUES FROM OTHER COUNTRIES

For these it cannot be a question of a percentage over face value, owing to the more or less difficulty we have in getting them, but clients may send us a trial order to make sure that any New Issue can be had from us than from any other stamp firm, our firm being in most cases the first to chronicle and sell New Issues in Europe.

SOONER AND CHEAPER

A Look at Our BULLETIN MENSUEL

A specimen of which is sent Free on application, will convince every American Collector interested in New Issues of the truthfulness of this statement.

Sendings on Approval

In soliciting the patronage of American Collectors for New Issues from All Countries, we also beg to draw their attention to the enormous stock of stamps that we possess which cannot be surpassed, our ability in supplying 90 per 100 of the stamps listed in our Catalogue being the proof of our affirmation. We can assure any American Collector willing to send us the

LIST OF HIS WANTS OR REQUIREMENTS

that he will find in our firm the prompt and careful execution of his order. We should also suggest the building up of collections after our

GENERAL PRICE LIST OF SETS

which contains a detailed list of over

3700 Sets and Packets

at very cheap and advantageous prices, which

DEFY ALL COMPETITION

whilst the quality of the stamps cannot be surpassed elsewhere. This book which is sent will greatly interest all collectors wishing to enlarge their collections at bargain prices all through.

FREE ON APPLICATION

We shall be most pleased to give any further particulars or information upon this subject, our present aim being to have our American clients appreciate

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—F. D. Goodhue informs us that J. T. Allen-Bolton of London has had trouble with R. D. Vroman, his address at the time being Erie, Pa. Dealers please note.

—Gibson Weber and Harry Reeves send us clippings announcing the death of Elbert Kochersperger, the owner of Blood's Penny Post. We shall hope to give some particulars concerning the life of this remarkable man and his fully as remarkable enterprise in an early issue.

—C. A. Howes favors us with a P. O. Dept. folder describing and pricing stamped envelopes. It is noted in connection with this folder that the illustrations of U. S. stamps are omitted and in their place we find designs printed in carmine that are the shape of a stamp and upon which is found the inscription "Embossed Postage Stamp Here." In the center is the monogram "P. O. D."

—The 39th sale of the Boston Stamp Exchange was held last evening, March 26, at Elks' Hall, with Mr. Lyons as the auctioneer.

—"Made in Germany."—The following beautifully constructed sentence is found in a circular in the English language recently sent out by Senf Brothers and advertising a new permanent album: "It is only and alone for the Senf-Schaubek Album that the supplements appear regularly; this publication taking always place in spring. They always warrant a painless and continual complement comprise all the novelties, which have appeared during the past year, join uninterruptedly each other as well as the single editions of the Album, thus preventing same from becoming obsolete." The guarantee of a "painless supplement" is decidedly reassuring.—L. H. KJELLSTEDT.

—C. B. Bostwick informs us that beginning March 1 the P. O. at Georgetown, Grand Cayman Id. will not supply stamps to dealers or collectors making direct remittances by mail or otherwise. He has received a copy of the Caymanian which contains a printed notice to this effect signed by Postmaster McCausland. Mr. Bostwick, whose address is 32 Cortlandt St., N. Y. City, will assist any fellow collector in filling small orders, through his correspondents on the island.

—C. S. Traustel, Box 262, St. Petersburg, Russia, a member of the A. P. S., offers to send his fellow members in the society the new Russian stamps at face value. Be careful, however, to prepay postage on letters and in making remittances send only well centered, o. g. stamps of the country in which you reside.

—The March auction sale of the Eben S. Martin Co., Chicago, is scheduled for March 27th; the usual 700 lots will be dispersed and they are of a grade to appeal to the discriminating bidders.

—C. A. Howes, secretary of the B. P. S., will deliver an address on philately before the Boston Scientific Society early in April.

—H. Wesley Legg begins this week on an advertising contract with the WEEKLY and will regularly be found on page 3 column 4. Mr. Legg is well and favorably known by his association with the Boston trade and as a member of the leading philatelic societies. We bespeak for him a large measure of our readers' patronage.

—Vol. 1, No. 4 of the Stamp Collector, Pittsburg, Kansas. It is a four-page sheet, subscription price 25c per year. Secure a sample copy and judge of its merits.

—Chas. Dewick sends us a clipping from the London Chronicle which states that Victoria's Queen's head stamps are not recognized by the British P. O. authorities as having carrying power, and double charge is made on delivery. The Chronicle pretends to say that six years having elapsed since a change of sovereignty is a sufficient cause for this action.

This is very fishy and cannot be accepted as reliable.

—Geo. E. Marx sends us a clipping from the N. Y. Sun announcing the sale of a lot of stamps formerly the property of R. H. P. Wolle, whose exploits are well known to our readers. We are glad to know that this stuff has passed into the hands of a New York stamp firm where it will grace the office counterfeit collection.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found the advertisement of F. J. Stillman, Wash., D. C. Mr. Stillman is well known to the publishers of the WEEKLY and our subscribers need have no hesitation in doing business with him.

—The catalogue of Wolsieffer's 96th auction sale lists nearly 1600 lots of attractive stamps which are to be sold at a two nights' sale, April 2nd and 3rd. The bulk of the sale is composed of the superb collection of United States stamps, the property of P. H. Hill, Nashville, Tenn., who is known as a fastidious collector who emphasizes the importance of condition. The sale is the most important of the Chicago auction season thus far.

—Chas. E. Fisher favors us with a copy of the Scientific American of March 13 containing an article, "Valuable Postage Stamps". There is however nothing particularly original in the same.

—Rep. Bennet of N. Y. has introduced a bill into Congress providing for one cent per ounce postage beginning Jan. 1, 1910. Clipping at hand from the N. Y. Sun by courtesy of Marcel E. Taller. M. A. Lesser has also shown us a similar clipping.

—"I have been looking for years for some article explaining the varieties in the small numerals on the Norway 1883-84 issue (the post-horn unshaded set). There is the greatest variation in the shape and size of these numerals, some being exceedingly crude. The 20 ore is perhaps the best stamp to show this. Can you not get some Norway specialist to tell us about this, and if it is possible

DEATH OF EDWARD J. NANKIVELL, POLITICAL AND PHILATELIC JOURNALIST.

(The entire philatelic world will regret the loss it has experienced in the death of Edw. J. Nankivell. He was without doubt the leading philatelic journalist and his death will be a serious blow to our hobby. We have before us the issue of the Postage Stamp, dated March 20, made up without doubt prior to his death, as no reference to the sad event is found in its columns. We sincerely trust, even as Mr. Ward indicates, that the publication of this excellent magazine may be continued. —Ed.)

Edward J. Nankivell, editor of the Postage Stamp, and well known philatelic writer, died suddenly from heart failure on Thursday, March 18th last at his residence Tunbridge Wells. He was probably one of the best known philatelists in England and America. Born in Cornwall on 17th September, 1848, partially educated in Ireland, he soon made his way to London and found his pen profitable. First engaged upon the famous Daily News (one of the two papers that kept the world aware of what was happening in Paris during that ill-fated siege, whereby showing the methods of Germans, and finally securing the intervention of the British) from whence he went on to the staff of the Pall Mall Gazette, when that paper was at the height of its career. It was not long before he was made the city editor. For confers he had such famous men as W. T. Stead (editor-in-chief), John Morley (now Lord Morley, British Minister for India) and (afterwards) Lord Milner, late Governor of Cape Colony. To be an associate of men like these, evinces that Mr. Nankivell was a man of no little ability.

Everybody at once associates our late friend with the stamps of the Transvaal, of which he had the largest and finest collection ever known. It was due to his political associations that he took up and so highly specialised this, then unpopular, country. Always a man of strong mind and opinion, he had occasion in his capacity as city editor of the Pall Mall Gazette to report the speech of Lord Carnarvon criticising the action of Gladstone over the Majuba affair of 1881. He concurred with the latter, and shocked his colleagues by giving the opinion that some day Majuba would be avenged, and the Transvaal become a British Colony. Acting upon his opinions, he quietly gathered together and specialised the stamps of that state. He knew that if ever the 'vaal became a British Colony it would become popular among collectors, and naturally enhance the financial value. His keen foresight proved correct. He sold his collection for nearly $15,000 in 1903 to Messrs Stanley Gibbons—and out of the proceeds built a house in beautiful Kent.

Of course from a boy he had been a collector. When quite young he showed that keenness that we all associate with his memory. He discovered who all the people were in his town who received foreign letters, and begged the stamps off them. Besides he possessed many relatives abroad. With such a foundation, it was not long before the roots of philately became firmly fixed. He died literally in harness—for on the regretted day his weekly—the Postage Stamp was published.

For a long time he was the London correspondent to the old American Journal of Philately—a letter so keenly enjoyed by American philatelists in the closing years of the 19th Century. Of late years he has been collecting and specialising in the stamps of Egypt—firmly convinced that in the near future that ancient country will develop from a British Protectorate to a Crown Colony. Though he signed his name to most articles he was "Cornelius Winkle" of Gibbons' Weekly and the Postage Stamp. Other non-de-plumes were "O. Reginald Gum" when he wrote upon the financial part of philately, "Sir Charge" when he was sarcastic or cynical, "Wakatipu" when lauding the praises of the stamps of New Zealand—practically the picturesque issues only—and many other styles from time to time as the whim suited.

His journalistic trait was very and always evident, for he never enjoyed himself so much as when he had secured a scoop. The writer never had a prouder moment than when he got the "Cayman Islands Scandal" scoop in print before E. J. Nankivell.

Poor old "Nanky"—as he was known to so many of us—few will ever forget him. At the time of writing I have not yet heard of the ultimate end of the Postage Stamp—but I think it likely that it will be continued.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

"MACHINE PERFORATIONS."

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

The average specialist of the issues of the United States is naturally anxious to include everything in his line which can be considered worthy of a place on his album leaves. At present we have no reason to complain over scantiness of collecting material. With new issues, perforated and imperforate, and experimental new paper which may ultimately be adopted for all the values, and a constant lookout for shade variations, we have our hands full. And now the machine perforations inflicted upon the imperforate stamps by private stamp vending and franking machine concerns are claiming our attention. When we find that these perforations begin to appear in different forms, rectangular, round, and otherwise, the question naturally comes up, if we are justified in collecting them from a strictly philatelic point of view. I think not, at least to any great extent.

In my own collection I have included a few strips as an illustration of the purpose for which several of our stamp values were issued in imperforate form and this, I believe, should be the end of it. Some of these machine perforations are liable to become scarce in mint condition. When stating this, I have in particular the 2 cents Lincoln in view.
Suppose it does become a rarity. The forger will supply us all we want without the slightest danger of detection.
Anyone used to delicate handwork and provided with a penknife with sharp thin point and a pattern to go by should be able to imitate the rectangular perforation in a way that would make an expert "give it up."

The machine perforated Lincolns have already come on the market at one dollar a pair, while the imperforate stamps sell at twice face value. The inducement is already there and who will say that there is nobody mean enough to take advantage of it? When the sensational imperforate 5 cents of 1902 appeared and disappeared and reappeared and was sold and repurchased and sold again at fancy figures, it was stated that none of this imperforate value had been provided with machine perforation. If we are not absolutely sure that this was the fact and it should become known that a ribbon of these 5 cents passed through the machine, then there will be a splendid opening for a few machine perforated rarities. These plain, straight line machine perforations, if given the rank of scarcity, constitute so easy a subject for the forger and, if skillfully forged, are so impossible of detection, that their adoption as collectible varieties would, in my opinion, prove a serious mistake. Two or more pairs or strips as an illustration of the use to which the imperforate issues are put are all we need.

(We commend this article as worthy the consideration of every specialist in United States stamps. The fact that these perforations can be produced in an endless variety serves to emphasize Mr. Kjellstedt's contention that two or three pairs or strips will be all that are needed in any collection to serve as an illustration of the manner in which the imperforate varieties are being issued.—ED.)

RENEWAL OF CONTRACT.

Five years ago, April 1, the office of the WEEKLY was removed from New York to Boston and the printing of the paper placed in the hands of W. W. Jewett of Portland, Maine, the former publisher of the Era. During these five years the printing of the WEEKLY has moved along like clockwork, our advertisers having been given such service that perfection in proofreading is looked upon as a foregone conclusion.

Within a few days a second five years' contract has been written and the pleasant business relations existing between what is now known as the Jewett Printing Company and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY will be continued. Our readers will share with us the satisfaction of knowing that we are not compelled to initiate non-philatelic proofreaders into the mysteries of stamp collecting terms and phrases.

We expect to make many new friends during the coming five years, but our greatest desire is to retain the old. Our faith is strong, our hope is ardent and the best there is in us is at the call of philately. There are large things in store for the WEEKLY and its patrons.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Reforms and Reforms—Elsewhere in this number appears an Open Letter from the publishers of the WEEKLY and we ask each member of the American Philatelic Society of which the WEEKLY is the official journal to peruse it with attention. A number of petitions are in circulation that have for their object reforms in the legislative methods of the American Philatelic Society and these petitions that advocate changes of different kinds reflect a sentiment more or less pronounced that, as a rule, has its origin in the sincere belief that the steps are advisable. Any petition for the referendum vote cannot be opposed so long as the proposed action is one that is just and equitable and to the advantage of the society. It is when an attempt is made to discipline members and to adopt drastic and unjustifiable measures that do not affect the members uniformly but single out a certain few individuals for "correction" that those whose ox is in danger of being gored must lift their voices in protest.

No Coercion—If there had been no vote taken on the quarterly proposition at Columbus, it is very unlikely that any attempt would now be made to deprive the publishers of privileges inherent in membership in the corporation, the rights of proxy holding. The action is a retaliatory one but the sponsors of the movement make the mistake of thinking that their coercive policy hits only the several individuals; but members who entrusted their proxies to the WEEKLY proprietors last year are now told in effect that they may not as free agents in the American Philatelic Society delegate to whom they wish their proxies because, forsooth, their instructions were carried out at the last convention. Because those instructions were observed even though they were not popular in the light of unexpected developments on the convention floor, the members whose votes were cast according to their wishes may not again select the same persons to represent them!

Legally Speaking—There is a legal aspect to the question. It is all very well to suggest restrictions but it is another matter to enforce them. Certain well-defined requirements control corporation procedure. Membership in the American Philatelic Society carries with it inalienable rights that are not to be brushed aside airily. It was not the intention to dwell on this legal phase but to view the question in its broadest sense. However, we cannot refrain from quoting from a letter that has been received from Frank D. Goodhue, Cincinnati: "I have told Mr. — that no matter what the by-laws said if any man has a proxy at the convention he can vote that in spite of any committee on credentials, although it will be in proper form for the committee on credentials to examine the proxy and see if it is all right but the committee cannot take away from any member the right to vote as he desires."

Proxy Holding—In the old days of the society, it was thought that those who by the solicitation of proxies were instrumental in having a large representation at conventions were acting for the good of the society in making the conventions valid for the transaction of business. Now that the position of the society is such that the spontaneous interest of its members is inspired in its workings, the proxies come of their own accord in great measure; and we recognize that a somewhat different era is here. The idea to distribute the proxies as much as possible is a good one but to say that those who are concerned in the publication of the official journal should forfeit the privilege of representing members or of protecting their interests is manifestly unfair. We show the manner by which to avoid the accumulation of a large number of proxies in the hands of any one person, in the course of our Open Letter. The only question that concerns the publishers of the WEEKLY is that of official journal and any legislation touching that question is of interest to us. Because of what the WEEKLY has done and is doing in behalf of the society, this paper thinks that it deserves the honor of serving the organization for another year. We believe that no member will say that we are not justified in trying to gratify a laudable ambition; so long as we do not try to influence in the WEEKLY other legislation, there can be no cause for complaint.

Philately on the Bench—Charles G. Neely, former judge of Cook County, Illinois, is interested in what may be called the broad application of philately in its purely stamp sense to conditions of national life. He thinks that many a lesson that is not without significance to the one who reads aright is to be found in the stamp collection. He says: "We unroll the stars and stripes over our schools to inspire love of our country in the rising generation. We use symbol, color, portraits of dead heroes and great men, on our stamps to inspire the public with patriotism, to assist education and teach history. No one can afford to overlook the value of the consistent effort of the philatelist of our land, in compiling the various issues of nations for comparison and study. The examination of such collections inspires a knowledge of the philosophy of art and makes possible to establish an opinion as to what design, color, emblem and historical pictures are best adapted to assist in education and preserve the interests of nations and love of our native land." Mr. Neely is a candidate for nomination for circuit judge at the primary election of April 13th, 1909, and we bespeak for him the philatelic vote of Cook County, Illinois.

Right—Henry A. Meyer, Evansville, Ind., writes: "I noticed that Dr. Chase in his article 'Railroad Cancellations on the U. S. 1851 Issue' is of the opinion that the postmark 'Louisville & Cincinnati Mail Line' was used on steamboats and not on railroads. I wish to confirm his opinion. The Louisville & Cincinnati Mail Line is a packet line of long standing. In the 50's railroad service was very poor in this part of the country and steamboats were almost the only means of communication between the towns along the Ohio."

Real Variety—M. Hale Jones, Jr., Easton, Pa., has shown us an oddity in the 13-cent stamp of the new issue that is worth a second glance. Above the "ag" of "postage" in the label at top is a diagonal line, several millimeters long, which, seemingly is the result of a crack in the plate. This defective cliché left its mark on each of the five sheets of the 13-cent stamp received at the Easton office and the specimen showing the variation is in the same position in each sheet.

—One of the first acts of the new postmaster general was to conclude an agreement with Great Britain whereby commencing April 1 the 2c rate existing between Great Britain and the United States will be extended to Hawaii. Thanks to Harry Griffin for clipping.

No. 3 of the Melville Stamp Books will be entitled "United States Postage Stamps, 1847-1869", and will be illustrated on a very fine scale. The enlargement of the 1847 stamps and reprints, and of the two types of the 1861 series showing the very rare premiere gravures, and over 80 other fine pictures, will make this handy book the inseparable companion of every collector of United States stamps. Single copies will be supplied post free 15 cents each; but if you have not already subscribed to the Melville Stamp Books you should send ONE DOLLAR for the series of eight books, which will then be delivered post free as soon as they are published. Nos. 1 and 2 are now on sale. No. 3 will be ready immediately.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We welcome to our columns again this week the Gambs Co., which for so many years has been a patron of our columns. The firm is now located at Berkeley, Cal., and we urge our readers to give it a goodly measure of their patronage.

—"On Dec. 31st, I sent R. A. Chandler of 24 Yarmouth St., Boston, an approval selection of stamps valued at $23.48 net. On Jan. 14 he wrote me saying he had been delayed but would make returns 'next week'. Since then have heard nothing tho I have written him on Feb. 7, 19, 28. Have also notified his reference."—W. S. ALDRICH.

—Clippings acknowledged with thanks from R. Evans Sweet (4), Chas. R. Morris and Frank W. Cole.

—We have received W. T. Wilson's price list of the postage stamps of Europe in cheap sets, containing no shades or minor varieties of perforation and watermark. Special attention has been paid to the listing of large mixed sets. The list comprises twenty pages and cover and will be sent to any name free of charge. Address 292 Birchfield Road, Birmingham, Eng.

—15c stamps are in great demand. Marcel E. Taller sends us a clipping showing that a requisition for two million additional 15c stamps has been filed.

—"Our advertisement on the front page the last three issues brought us over $125.00 in direct cash orders, with prospect for sales amounting to a much larger sum. Your readers seem to appreciate real bargains, so will try you again this week with a large advertisement."—C. E. HUSSMAN CO.

—Any of our readers who wish to promote a worthy object should write to the Natl. Assn. for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, "Watchung Crest", Plainfield, N. J., enclosing any amount they please for the purchase of 2c labels, the proceeds to be used for the education of children backward in their studies by reason of mental or physical defects. Our thanks are due M. A. Lesser for a block of four with an appropriate design printed in brown.

—Lyman H. Low was to have held an auction sale of American and foreign coins, tokens, and medals March 31 at 14 E. 23 St., N. Y. City. This was Mr. Low's 139th sale and gives evidence of the strong hold that he has on the business side of numismatics.

—The Year Book of the M. P. A. has been received. It contains constitution and by-laws of the Association, information concerning the various departments of work, a list of members and several pages of advertising.

—Can any reader give us the address of H. A. Plath, formerly of Elgin, Wis.? The same will be appreciated.

—In our issue of March 13 a self-evident error occurred in the first page advertisement of the Hussman Stamp Co. The price for three 13c 1866 Mexico should have been $1.05 instead of the price quoted.

—J. W. Horter, M. D., formerly of 295 Main St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is now located at Catskill, N. Y., R. F. D. 2. This information is for the benefit of certain of our advertisers.

—A pretentious price list is at hand from W. C. Phillips & Co., Glastonbury, Conn. It is a book of fifty-two pages, printed in colors, and a wide range of stamps and their accessories is offered. It is just off the press and will be sent any intending patron on request.

—"I have had two inquiries lately as to whether the color of the Special Delivery was to be changed and I found out from both the Bureau and the P. O. that there is no change contemplated. Others may have heard the rumor and have asked you and possibly a note to that effect will quiet inquiry."—CHAS. R. MORRIS.

—"I have here in front of me, the Postmasters' Advocate, the monthly news review of the postal service dated April 1908, telling of stamp vending machines being tested by the Government. It is not necessary to repeat that, of the 26 machines submitted for trial, only one still holds its own, as last week's order by the Post Office Dept. of 16 machines would prove another case of the survival of the fittest, the German Abel Machine manufactured by the American Stamp & Ticket Vending Machine Co. It is less than a year since trials began and the last order of 16 machines by the P. O. Dept. for your city of Boston, speaks

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—Frank B. Eldredge and James W. Winship send us new precancels:

Minneapolis, Minn., 4c 1908, inverted.
Attica, Ind., 1c 1908, normal.
Chicago, Ill., 15c 1908, normal.
Scranton, Pa., 1c 1908, normal.
Minneapolis, Minn., 2c 1908, inverted.
Racine, Wis., 1c 1908, reading up.
Chicago, Ill., 8c 1908, normal.
Cleveland, Ohio, $1 1902.

Charles W. Gustafson has shown us a copy of the 1c Jamestown with a large spot of color blotting out the "A" of "America" and a part of the shade line and shield.

H. Wesley Legg has shown us a new machine perforation, the specimen before us being a horizontal strip of the current three-cent value. The perforation is similar to the Shermack perforation but the rectangular spaces are longer, the stamps being held together by three narrow pieces of the margin. We have taken pains to notice all these different perforations but as a matter of fact they are of no value except as curiosities. All of them are unofficial and will not be catalogued.

ABYSSINIA.—Ewen's Weekly reports that the three lower values of the provisionals chronicled in No. 940 have been found with surcharge inverted.

ARGENTINE.—The color of the new 30c stamp was erroneously given in No. 950 as green, which is really the color of the 3c. It should have been lilac red. Hermann Focke shows us the 12c in a new color, which is a dull blue. James W. Winship also calls our attention to the error in color of the 30c value.

Adhesives.

12c dull blue.
30c lilac red.

BENADIR.—L'Echo reports that the whole set of postage due stamps as catalogued in Scott's under "1907", with the exception of the 60c, has been issued with overprint shortened to "Somalia Italiana", the word "Meridionale" having been omitted.

CEYLON.—New stationery has been issued, with stamps of new design, showing the values in figures.

Envelope.

5c blue.

Wrappers.

2c violet.
5c bistre.

INDIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new 10 and 15 rupees stamps noted last week. Their bright colors and large size make them very showy stamps.

The Chicago Tribune is running a Daily Postal Hint and while much of the information that is presented in these admonitory items is not new to philatelists, every now and then there is something that appeals particularly to the collector. For instance, the following appeared in the issue of March 27th:

"Stamps of the new designs of 1908 have been issued in sheets containing 400 each, unperforated, of the 1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cent, 4 cent and 5 cent denominations. The 2 cent Lincoln memorial issue is also obtainable thus. These unperforated stamps, which are sold only in full sheets of 400, are sold to the public for use in automatic stamp affixing or stamp vending machines. Lincoln memorial stamps (2 cent only) will no longer be available after the present supply has been exhausted. About 1,000,000 are on hand at the local postoffice."

BOARD OF VICE PRESIDENTS.

To the Stockholders of the A. P. S.:
Your Board of Vice Presidents presents its quarterly report herewith.

A large amount of correspondence has passed through our hands and a number of important matters have had our best attention since our last report. Some cases requiring disciplinary action are in hand and will soon be posted in the usual manner.

The Board has recommended to the treasurer certain methods of investment of the Stock Fund, and this matter will doubtless soon be finally disposed of.

As will be noted from the Superintendent's reports, the Sales Department is in fine condition and members are urged to make all possible use of this valuable feature of the Society.

The question of a badge was referred to the Board by the last Convention, but very little interest seems to be taken in it. We have received but three designs, and feel that many more should be sent in if we are to treat the subject properly. Cannot some more members exercise their artistic talent a little and make sketch of their idea of an appropriate design?

Respectfully submitted,
C. A. HOWES, Chmn.

Total membership April 3, 1909, 1552

Twenty-two applications this week. That is going some. Is your name on the list as proposing some applicant? Why not get busy at once and help in the big pull to put our membership over the 2000 mark by convention time? Twenty-five applications a week from now on will turn the trick like a daisy. You have something to offer the prospective member now that greatly resembles "Value Received". That it is easier than ever is shown by the admirable list this week. Surely you want to take part in this big round up. And don't forget—an application for reinstatement from a member suspended for non-payment of dues counts just as much. Let's pass the 1600 mark by May 1st, then 1700 by June 1st, etc. Get in the Whirl.

Cheer up 1909. One a day.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 53rd regular meeting was held March 23rd at the room of the Club, with 12 members and two visitors in attendance. Minutes of 52nd meeting and (Continued on preceding page.)

AN OPEN LETTER

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

Our readers must have noticed that amendments have been proposed looking to the perfecting of the A. P. S. by-laws. These are based upon the idea, just or fancied, that certain wrongs evident at Columbus should now be righted. As the holder of a large number of proxies last year the WEEKLY feels called upon to make this statement:

A year ago members of the A. P. S. desirous that either Mr. Severn or Mr. Wylie should be their proxy holder mailed their proxies to this office with specific instructions upon certain matters upon which legislation was anticipated. The laws of the Society limit the number of proxy holdings to fifty for each person, so upon our arrival at Columbus we turned over to Messrs. Leonard Michael, C. C. Johnson, W. H. Barnum, L. C. Hassler, Chas. R. Burger, Wm. C. Stone and others, blocks of our proxies, with the instructions to vote as notated upon the seven specified matters upon which instructions had been requested. Many proxies sent in contained no instructions whatever. These were voted not as Messrs. Severn and Wylie desired, but PRO RATA ACCORDING TO THE EXPRESSED WILL OF THE DECLARED INSTRUCTIONS. We knew no better method and feel sure that this course was commended by those we served. One thing more, those upon whom we bestowed our surplus proxies will confirm our statement that upon all matters other than those above specified they voted not the personal convictions of the publishers of the WEEKLY BUT THEIR OWN INDIVIDUAL OPINIONS. This was particularly noticeable on the ballot for the next convention seat. Our own preference was for Baltimore but we made no effort to corral our proxies to secure that end and this is true of all other acts of legislation that came before the Columbus convention, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THOSE MATTERS THAT THE WEEKLY HAD FOR SEVERAL MONTHS PRESENTED IN ITS COLUMNS AS PROPER SUBJECTS FOR INSTRUCTIONS.

The two important proposed amendments are:—

FIRST. The holding of proxies to be limited to the membership of the Credential Committee. Such legislation would undoubtedly be set aside if any member should appeal to the courts for protection in voting proxy holdings.

We quote from a letter just at hand from an attorney of prominence:

"If any man has a proxy at the convention he can vote that in spite of any Committee on Credentials, although it will be in proper form for the Committee on Credentials to examine the proxy and see if it is all right. But the society cannot take away from any member the right to vote as he desires."

SECOND. Denial of right of proxy holdings to the publishers of the official journal and sales superintendent. We contend that the publishers of the WEEKLY are just as much interested in the society's welfare as any other members. Mr. Wylie has given more time and effort to its interests than any other members except the society secretaries; Mr. Severn too has worked loyally. Both have served on the board of vice presidents and as chairmen of committees, while their attendance at conventions has been almost as regular as the events themselves.

We have no desire to rule the society—only to serve it to the best of our ability. We shall be pleased to continue as the official journal of the society and in saying this we wish it distinctly understood that we consider a full equivalent has been given by the WEEKLY for every penny that has been paid for its services. We like the honor of serving our national society, and we therefore present the WEEKLY as a candidate for your instructed proxies, but instead of sending them all to this office, shall ask you to send them to any person named below. All of these members will be in attendance at Atlantic City and are favorable to the selection of the WEEKLY as official journal:—

(All possible attendants at Atlantic City who are willing to be bearers of instructed WEEKLY proxies will please send their names in for publication, thus assisting in the widest possible proxy distribution. Any surplus received at this office will be given these members.)

As we have said, the WEEKLY has no desire to control A. P. S. legislation. It does believe that the present laws if changed at all should be so amended as to remove all restrictions from the board of directors in this direction. Every member should stand upon an equality with every other member in the matter of proxy holdings.

We make this early statement that our position may be made known and that it may have a tendency to promote a most careful consideration of the proposed amendments to our by-laws.

Stamp Collection of the Late James W. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia

Now Offered For Sale.

We desire to announce that the above collection, which is one of the finest in this country is to be sold, and we are now ready to negotiate with probable buyers. The terms of sale will be cash, and no other offers of any sort whatsoever will be considered.

In cataloguing the collection it has been found desirable to use six catalogues to arrive at a correct list value. These catalogues have been numbered from 1 to 6, and are as follows:

VOLUME 1—Scott's for 1909: U. S. Postage, Entire Envelopes, Departments, Newspapers, Postage Due and U. S. Revenues	$43,004.44
VOLUME 2—Scott's for 1909: U. S. Square Cut Envelopes, Official Envelopes, and Stamps of the Confederate States	8,369.68
VOLUME 3—Scott's for 1907: U. S. Locals, Chinese Locals and Miscellaneous	4,722.06
VOLUME 4—Stanley Gibbons for 1908: Great Britain and British Colonies	84,811.17
VOLUME 5—Stanley Gibbons for 1908: Stamps of other foreign countries of the world	55,794.48
VOLUME 6—Scott's for 1903: Foreign Envelopes	1,274.72

Add, to cover unpriced varieties..... $197,976.55
Total catalogue value 10,000.00

Total catalogue value $207,976.55

Catalogue Value in Excess of $200,000.00.

The collection contains a number of the great rarities of the world, including from the United States: Annapolis Envelope Entire, 5c Baltimore on white and bluish, four Baltimore Envelopes, 5c Brattleboro, the Millbury unused, a dozen St. Louis including all the rare pelure papers, Premiere Graveur set unused, complete, a superb lot of U. S. Locals and Confederate Postmasters, many on original covers. Among the foreign may be mentioned the 2c Hawaiian Missionary, also the 5c and both 13c Missionaries, Moldavia complete; superb lot of Sydney Views, British Guiana nearly complete, a magnificent and highly specialized lot of Portuguese Indies, the 5c Connel stamp of New Brunswick, the 12d Canada, rare and early Mauritius, Victoria, Transvaal and many others too numerous to mention in this limited space.

Propositions will be considered for the collection as a whole, and possibly also for certain large portions, as for instance:

- (1) The United States.
- (2) U. S. Envelopes.
- (3) U. S. Locals.
- (4) British Colonies.
- (5) Other Foreign.

$4.75, about the price that it brings today, while the 6c prop. at $8.10 would bring $35 now. The Bousfield & Poole, rose lilac, slight cut, brought $50, a full price for today. Brown & Durling black, $39, whereas $25 would be a fair price now. Jock and Wildner, 1 cent red, "magnificent, only three known according to Sterling", brought $53. Today it is out of the catalogue and pronounced a fraud, altho' Mr. Sterling still contends that it is all right.

On the other hand, X. Bazin, magnificent copy, sold for $8.75, worth $40. F. Brown pink fine $8, worth $30. The Byam & Carleton large stamp, now catalogued at $75, and recently changed hands at $66, sold for $8 in those days. Evidently the Hartman on pink was scarce, even at that time, for it brought $4.10. The Goodall on old paper was over-appreciated, for it brought $6.50; nowadays, three dollars is a good price for it.

A Rock Island brought $37, Chicago $8, Macklin good $22, Pierce fine $16, Powell wrapper entire $33, Marsden $41, Marsden $13, and six cent Swain $60.

Collectors seemed to be easily deceived then, as they are now; $6 was paid for a Woodworth green on silk paper, imperf. Undoubtedly a perf. copy trimmed, for in these twenty years not a pair has turned up.

The purple Husband was much appreciated then, for it sold at $25, about the price of today.

The one dollar proprietary o. g. brought $7.25; the five dollar o. g. $21.25. Two dollar State Department o. g. $2.80, five dollar o. g. $5.00, ten dollar o. g. $8, twenty dollar o. g. $6.25.

PHILADELPHIA TO THE FRONT.

Once more has the Philadelphia Stamp Co. stepped into the front rank of philatelic progressiveness by securing the famous Paul collection for dispersion. We congratulate this firm upon its success and the big advertisement elsewhere in this issue tells its own story.

The catalog of the Gerdau sale just at hand is an exceedingly well written book. We note that the Phila. Stamp Co. offers every lot as returnable if a single defective stamp can be located, no matter whether the lot contains one stamp or twenty. Sale will be held April 23-24.

QUERIES AND COMMENT.

Edited by C. E. SEVERN.

Our readers are cordially invited to ask the editor for any information desired concerning stamp collecting. Should a personal reply be desired kindly enclose postage. This department is for the beginner as well as the advanced collector. Address, C. E. Severn, 721 Oxford Bdg., Chicago, Ill.

E. W. F.:—Your Victoria postal-fiscal stamps with the cancellations described were used for fiscal or revenue purposes and as such are worth much less than those with postal cancellations, such as are listed in the catalogue. Your other Victorian stamps are revenues that never were available for postal use. (2) "I have a U. S., Western Union Telegraph Company stamp, 1900, red violet without the check number; is this a scarce variety?" While we find no reference to the stamp without the number in any of the lists that have been consulted we are enabled through the courtesy of Mr. Mudge to submit the following information on the subject of the stamp. The Western Union franks are printed at the beginning of each year and the control numbers are then printed in; the stamps are placed in the covers and the little books are ready for circulation. They are distributed among those whom the company wishes to favor but all the stamps are not numbered as an excess supply is kept on hand to meet requirements. The holders of the books are recorded by a number which corresponds to that on the stamps given them; this plan obviously controls the use of the stamps. If the holder uses all of his stamps, he is given more at his own request or by the initiative of the company; the books are made up of the stamps on hand that are without number, after having the control number placed thereon, by hand stamp. A telegraph frank without the control number is clearly one that accidentally escaped the process of handstamping. (3) The Italian stamp that you describe is not a postage stamp. (4) There are indications that the two-cent current stamp will be issued in the design of the higher values, or with the figures, let us say for the sake of argument; but there have been used and there is in stock in postoffices throughout the country, a quantity of the stamps large enough to prevent them from becoming scarce.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—H. T. Parker sends the following list of new precancels:

Cincinnati, Ohio, 5c 1908, reading up.
Warren, Pa., 1c 1908, reading down.
Tiffin, Ohio, 1c 1908, normal.
Racine, Wis., 1c 1908, reading down.
Cleveland, Ohio, 1c 1908.
Columbus, Ohio, 1c 1908, reading up.

Henry Schuhmacher sends us a new reform of precancel, the stamp being obliterated with a series of black squares covering the entire stamp, the 1c 1908 being thus treated. There is nothing to show where the cover was mailed, that is, on the piece we have seen, which contains the stamp.

Charles A. Townsend shows us specimens of the 2c Lincoln on the new chemical paper, which have passed through the mails, and having been soaked off a cover, the paper has a very decided blue tinge. At the same time Mr. Townsend shows us a cover with a copy of the 2c 1908 stamp, which has not been soaked, and which has an even more pronounced bluish shade.

E. J. Post sends us the following new precancels:

Toledo, O., 1c 1908.
Cleveland, O., 1c 1908.
Lynn, Mass., 1c 1908.
Akron, O., 2c 1908.
Elgin, Ill., 3c 1908.
Minneapolis, Minn., 4c 1908.
Chicago, Ill., 8c 1908.
Chicago, Ill., 1c 1908, double stroke.

W. W. Bliss reports having seen the 1c 1908 precancelled North Cohocton, N. Y., and used on a 1c paid permit No. 1.

J. Rausch reports having seen a 1c 1902 precancelled "Milwaukee" instead of "Milwaukee". Mr. Rausch also reports having seen the 1c 1908 precancelled Dayton, Ohio, between two lines.

A. W. Davis reports having seen the current 1c envelope, size 8, on white paper, watermarked "1903" instead of of "1907".

We are indebted to F. C. Earle and A. O. Tittmann for a specimen of the 2c brown on white envelope, with large forehead, which makes Washington look very much like Franklin.

ARGENTINE.—The J. M. Bartels Co. has shown us several of the stamps in the new series, at least one of which we have not yet chronicled. For the sake of correctness we give the list that have appeared to date, with the correct colors.

2c chocolate.
3c gray green.
4c violet brown.
5c rose carmine.
10c dark green.
12c bistre yellow.
12c dull blue.
15c yellow green.
30c lilac red.

CANADA.—Herman W. Boers sends us a new thing from Canada, which seems to indicate that a new system of taxing patent medicines went into effect in the Dominion April 1. The label is printed in deep red, has no value and reads, "Proprietary — or Patent — Medicine Agt.—In Stock Prior—to April 1, 1909." The centre of the label has the inevitable maple leaf, arranged in a triangle, with "Inland — Revenue — Canada." on the three sides. After the date named on the label, all patent medicines must have their formula on the label, and these labels are permitted in order to avoid the great loss from relabeling all the medicines in stock when the new law went into effect.

CANAL ZONE.—Elmer F. Ohlson reports having found the 1c of 1906, Scott's No. 32, with center inverted, and the surcharge "Canal Zone" reading up. This was used on a letter sent out by the Panama Railroad Company through the Cristobal, Canal Zone, Postoffice, and was cancelled March 18, 1909.

NICARAGUA.—B. D. Foster shows used copies of the new provisional noted last week, the 10c blue and black revenue stamp, overprinted "Correo — 1908" in black, and "B—Dpto Zelaya" in green, all reading up.

The C. E. Hussman Co. sends us specimens of the official provisionals, chronicled in No. 936, some of them in changed colors and all with a variety showing a broad "O" in "1908". All are overprinted on the 2c orange revenue stamp, the 10c, 50c and 2 pesos having the overprint in black, the 35c in magenta, the 70c in blue and the 1 peso in green. The same gentlemen also send us a new provisional adhesive, made by overprinting the same 2c orange revenue, "Correos—1908—Vale 10c" in green. There is a variety with the first "R" dropped below the line, and the "c" appears both normal and inverted.

ST. VINCENT.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us two values from this Colony, which were printed from a new design. The principal changes from the former design, Scott's A15, are the transposing of the mottoes, "Pax et Justitia" and "Postage & Revenue", which are just reversed. The ornament to the left of the shield containing the value has disappeared, the picture has been moved up, the inscription under the altar is larger, and more appropriately reads "Pax et Justitia" than as before. The name of the Colony is now in white instead of colored letters.

A. P. S. CIRCUITS FOR NEW ENGLAND.

If members of the A. P. S. who desire to see circuits of sales books which come to the N. E. Branch, will advise me (giving Society number, name and address), I will notify them where and when circuits may be had. A charge of three cents on each circuit for postage and a p. c. notification of amount of purchase and date of forwarding, to the manager, cover the expense. This is much cheaper than 22c postage on each circuit! Address A. W. DUNNING, Mgr. N. E. Branch, A. P. S., Newton, Mass.

OUR RECRUITING NUMBER.

This will probably be our last special number for this season and will be issued April 24. It will have three classes of sample copy circulation:—

(1) To addresses obtained from stamp orders dated 1909.

(2) To requests received during the summer months for specimen copies.

(3) To collectors' names sent in by our WEEKLY subscribers.

From the above the value of this special number must be evident. We appreciate the many words of praise received for the beauty of the French number issued last month and are very positive our advertisers were satisfied with the returns.

This number will be a practical one in that circulation must have the right of way. No expensive cover will be provided and whether a cover will be used or not has not yet been definitely decided upon.

How much space can you use? Remember the WEEKLY has several thousand subscribers who would buy it if for no other reason than to read its advertising.

EDITORIAL.

A Strong Possibility—Recently we spoke of a Savannah, Ga., provisional Confederate cover that bore external indications of authenticity and which in all likelihood would be accepted as a real provisional if testimony from the issuing postmaster could be obtained, or better yet, if newspaper notices of the time confirmed the issue. We have received inspection from Lieut. Fred V. S. Chamberlain, Fort Assiniboine, Montana, two varieties of envelopes that seem to meet the requirements that in the past ordinarily entitled Confederate provisionals to catalogue recognition. The surface showing points to the use of Confederate provisional envelopes in both Houston and Galveston, Texas. A strong case is made in behalf of the Houston impression: "Houston, Paid 5, Tex." in postmark form in red. Two envelopes are submitted bearing the impression besides the regulation postmark of Houston, 1861. O. L. Cochran has given Lieut. Chamberlain the following deposition: "I was postmaster of Houston, Texas, during the entire year of 1861 both under the Federal Government and the Confederate Government. During that year a practice was made of stamping in red ink, as the clipping from an envelope hereto appended is stamped, for the purpose of selling them as prepaid envelopes exactly as stamped envelopes are sold today. The attached clipping resembles in every respect those stamped and sold by me as postmaster during the time above mentioned. During the period in which we were without stamps, the Federal stamps being no longer received for postage and the Confederate stamps being in print and not issued, stamped envelopes like the attached were used." It appears from this testimony that Houston issued provisional Confederate envelopes and only the skeptic would say that the case was not proved favorably to the envelopes.

Another—While the cover bearing the Galveston postmark is rather more elaborate in appearance than the Houston envelopes, it has not the benefit of strong contributory evidence. It is not without credentials, however, as Thomas Edgar of Galveston, who was chief clerk in the Confederate postoffice there has assured Lieut. Chamberlain in a written statement that the envelopes in question were sold over the counter just as stamped envelopes are sold today. The impression on the envelope is in the form of an ornamental elliptical frame enclosing the word, Paid, and to the right of the design is "5"—all in the upper right hand corner of the envelope. As the years multiply, it becomes the more difficult to prove that a new discovery in Confederate provisional envelopes is entitled to catalogue place. The lapse of time since the use of the provisional issues has become so great that the testimony of individuals is not always wholly dependable even though given with honest conviction. To our mind, the ideal way in which to prove the philatelic genuineness of a Confederate local is a by a newspaper notice of the issue that was printed at the time of the introduction of the provisional stamps or envelopes. Needless to say, circumstances will not always allow of this confirmation.

Curiosity—B. Saxl, New York City, has sent for inspection a cover that bears a postmark pasted on the envelope in lieu of a postage stamp. The postmark which is on a square piece of paper reads: "Dawson, Mr. 14, '99, N. W. T. Canada." The inference is that the postmark was used during the stamp famine at Dawson, particulars of which were given in the press about ten years ago, if we recollect rightly. The postmarked impression was affixed by the postmaster, we understand, and the cover bearing one of these official markings instead of a stamp is an interesting postal curiosity.

Departed—Brief mention is made in the last number of Gibbons Weekly of the death of E. J. Nankivell of London; further particulars are promised in the next number. Mr. Nankivell was a journalist of recognized standing and much of his literary production was on philately. He served in the capacity of editor of different stamp journals with signal ability; his style was spirited and virile and the impress that he made on philately was distinctly to its advantage. Mr. Nankivell was famous as a specialist in the stamps of Transvaal and his writings on the subject were prolific; indeed, at one time, the names of Nankivell and Transvaal were always linked together in the minds of the philatelic public of Great Britain. Mr. Nankivell contributed to the first special London issue of the WEEKLY and his English letters were a feature of the good old American Journal of Philately.

Blood's Post—The death recently of Elbert Kochersperger, former owner of Blood's Penny Post did not pass unnoticed by the Philadelphia newspapers and the stamp press may well dwell on the achievements of this gentleman. The Philadelphia Bulletin gave an extended account of the business of the post, both under the Blood and Kochersperger managements, which is of real interest. Collectors find the name of Mr. Kochersperger on the one-cent black, 1858 local bearing portrait of Henry Clay. It was about 1858 that Charles Kochersperger, brother of the decedent, became the principal in the post of Blood & Company; he had been associated with D. Otis Blood and practically had been the working manager of the institution. Charles Kochersperger after increasing the effectiveness of his delivery system by the adoption of original and enterprising methods, some years afterwards relinquished the proprietary interest to Elbert Kochersperger, who, as a brother to Charles, had been one of his assistants. Elbert Kochersperger's great ability then had full sway and the post, which still retained the name of Blood became one of the leading, if not the foremost private postal deliveries of the day; it achieved a popularity in Philadelphia that was almost unbounded. "In the opinion of William V. McKean, afterwards editor of the Public Ledger, who had abundant opportunities of viewing it at close range, it was not only well conducted, but was somewhat ahead of the times in the accommodations which it gave to the public. It was his belief that it set to the United States postal authorities the example, which ultimately led to the establishment of lamp-post letter boxes, sub post-offices, and more frequent local deliveries."

Its End—Blood's Despatch was the first to use postmarks showing the hour; it had at least five hundred boxes throughout the city; at one of the offices, private letter boxes were rented; stamps were sold at stores and hotels; and there were four regular deliveries and collections, besides hourly ones in the business section. Blood's Post probably originated the "sticker" idea as on some of the letters passing through the office, little labels were pasted calling attention to the divers advantages of the post. The institution was legislated out of existence. After a bitter fight in the court, Mr. Kochersperger is said to have spent $75,000 in litigation before succumbing to the inevitable in the shape of a federal enactment, passed in 1862, decreeing that the streets of a city were post roads.

REAL MISSIONARY STAMPS

We offer a very special mixture of stamps gathered by foreign missionaries which we sell guaranteed as unpicked original mixture. While we do not guarantee this mixture to contain rarities many good values may be found and at the low price of about 17c per 1000 the mixture is very desirable. The pleasure of sorting a pound lot of this mixture is worth a good portion of the purchase price and you are very likely to find some good values. Price per pound, $1.00, postfree. 5 pounds, $4.00. 10 pounds, $7.00, express paid. A pound will average between 5000 to 6000 stamps. Money back if not satisfactory!

Imperforate Bargains (U. S.)

Possibly you may never have a chance to procure these as cheap again. This is a very special offer, good only for a short time while our limited supply lasts. We make this offer simply to get in touch with new customers, as these stamps are probably well worth the higher rates usually asked for them.

IMPERFORATE UNITED STATES (Mint)

" 2c red*	.04	.07	.12	" 5c blue*	.10	.18	.35

Remember these prices are much less than these will probably sell for later, and no one will get "stuck" at above rates. Can furnish plate numbers (a few) to interested parties at small advance.

Our 1909 price list of 48 large pages and cover lists over 3000 single stamps, over 400 choice sets, 100 packets by countries, list of approval books, albums, etc. Got it? It's worth writing for.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—In our French special a slight error occurred in the Economist advt. on page 1. The block of four 3c offered for 30c should have been of the vintage of 1856, instead of the year named.

—W. J. Wagner informs us that he has official information to the effect that 1,192,700 imperforate Lincolns were issued.

—A fine line of stamps from several general collections will be found in Drew's 203rd sale, to be held April 30, in Elks' Hall, Boston.

—The disposition of the Worthington collection is being made the subject of a great deal of newspaper comment. We are indebted to Roger Q. Pease for a lengthy clipping in relation to the same.

—C. J. Brooks, 612 Broad St., Columbus, Ga., has had unsatisfactory dealings with Jack Starkey, Oklahoma, Okla., and wishes to hear from any dealer reporting similar experiences.

—A young subscriber wishes us to chronicle the institution of the Royal Stamp Club of Chicago, Ill. We note that at the present time there are only four members, but this gives ample opportunity for the new club to grow.

—Will all collectors residing in or near New Orleans, La., please communicate with Warren E. Smith, Box 1086, who is desirous of forming a branch of the A. P. S. in that city?

—We shall be very grateful to our subscribers if several of them will favor us with copies of the WEEKLY dated

Feb. 20. We shall be glad to acknowledge the favor in the WEEKLY.

—Mr. Henkels sends us a catalog of a sale of U. S. and foreign stamps to be held April 17 at Freeman's in Philadelphia. The lots represent stamps belonging to the estate of Mary B. Cresson, Asbourne, Pa.

—Chas. R. Morris favors us with a P. O. Dept. order which announces the establishment April 1 of two-cent postage between Hawaii and Great Britain.

DEALERS TAKE NOTICE.

(From time to time we have evidence placed before us of unsatisfactory trade relations and where dealers are using the WEEKLY we deem it wise to give as much publicity as possible for the good and welfare of the trade. We cannot undertake to become a collecting agency for these cases but in every instance will give the name of the reporting party, who will be expected to take charge of the case.—Ed.)

STOCK SLAUGHTER! Now Get Busy!

NOTE THESE FACTS:

1. The goods must be sold as I have other business.
2. The condition is all right. May be returned if not satisfactory and money returned.
3. The prices are low, often lower than dealers would have to pay at wholesale.
4. It is up to you to get on the job. First buyers get the best copies, and cash orders always take precedence over those who "will remit", but any stamps will be sent on approval.
5. There are enough of every kind offered to meet any reasonable demand. It does not pay me to offer something I do not have. I am not after names, but money.

Twenty-two applications last week and thirteen this week. All is clear in the East. We're off like a three time winner. Let's keep up the pace and beat it down the homestretch like a ha'penny squib on a Guy Fawkes night. What's worth doing is worth doing well, so let's roll up our sleeves and pitch in for all we are worth. The other fellow isn't going to do your work for nothing, for if he gets that friend of yours he gets the credit for it and you get the satisfaction of knowing that you could have secured him if you had tried. Which counts the most in the eyes of your fellow members? One of this season's leading plays entitled "The Round Up" expends $230.00 every week for ammunition (blanks) and is making a big hit. How much ammunition are you expending or willing to expend in this Big Round Up of ours? Convention time is close at hand and you surely want to do something to help the society that is doing something to help you. Take up a hole in that belt and join the push. As Undooley would say, "Are yez wid us?"

What Are You Doing to Help the Society?

Have you seen about getting any of your friends reinstated that were dropped a short while ago. Better get after them while it is yet time.

Cheer up 1909. One a day.

COLORADO BRANCH.

DENVER, COLO., March 27, 1909.

The regular meeting of the Colorado Branch, No. 22, was held this date in the parlors of Chas. Nast, Nast's Photograph Studio, with nine members present.

The only business of importance transacted was the endorsement of the resolution of the Columbus Branch regarding representatives of the official organ holding proxies at the annual convention, but a most enjoyable evening was spent in a general discussion of stamp matters.

It was also brought before the meeting to have a committee call upon the members of the Denver Stamp Club and see if arrangements could not be made whereby this branch could join in maintaining club rooms. The meeting adjourned at 10.30 P. M. to meet subject to the call of the President.

1611 MEMBERS IN SIGHT.

We have gone sweeping past the 1600 mark this week in good shape and the next century mark is not far distant. All we need to do is to keep pushing and all push together.

The Recruiting Committee has received a little shake-up this week and some of the positions have been changed. Mr. Beck and Mr. Harmon have taken rank in one month's work and we hope they will not weary in well-doing.

We have a large supply of booklets that we will gladly use in missionary work if you will be our assistant. Remember, every August Recruiting Committee name will have honorable mention in our report to the Atlantic City convention.

Moreover, while we don't need to pay members for this work we shall recommend a suitable memorial to these workers who will have been the means of carrying the society to the high water membership mark. Only hustle and get out of the "two member" class.

Let us have your name. Remit $1.00 for share of stock and 40c dues to next August, with age, occupation and commercial reference and we will see your application through. Help us excel our record of 130 new members last year. We mean to do it.

U. S. SPECIALISTS ATTENTION!

Have you been observing enough to notice that the 2c Lincoln Memorial Stamps were spaced in the sheet different from the regular issue? There is more space vertically between the stamps, in the sheets of Lincolns by several millimeters, than there is between the stamps of the regular current issue.This played havoc with the majority of the specimens when the strips were fed into the machines to cut the special perforations. Only 5% of the copies with the perforation illustrated below, would be classed as good by discriminating collectors. Some of the stamps were perforated clear into the design.Thus it happened that a lot of unperforated sheets of 2c Lincolns issued to a Patent Machine Concern were turned back to the P. O. Department and came on sale, after the stock was supposed to be exhausted.At one time 50c for block of four looked good, now 16c is quite enough. Any one who bought at the former price of us may claim a rebate upon a new order. The inverted watermark are even commoner than the normal one. Blocks of four of either will be supplied at 16c, or a block of each and a subscription to Volume 20 of the Philatelic Journal of America for $1.00 (add 10c to all local checks).

AN EPOCH.

We are entering an epoch of U. S. Philately that is very important. The permission by the U. S. P. O. Dept. of special perforations or means of separation for postage stamps to be fed from patent mailing or stamp vending machines, marks a new and very important step in postal and philatelic history.Those who fail to recognize this fact at this time will certainly regret it later as some of the varieties that are now obtainable at comparative low prices will prove to be really rare a little later.The following "hyphen hole" perforations is only one of several of the special perforations that exist. The others are illustrated and quoted in the April issue of Mekeel's News & Trade Circular.

That publication contains some interesting and important notes for U. S. specialists. (Sent free upon request.)

REVISED QUOTATIONS.

Following illustration shows a pair of U. S. with the Perforation used in Patent Mailing Machine:

QUOTATIONS FOR MINT PAIRS

1c 1902, series.....	$0.25
2c 1902, series.....	.25
1c 1908, new issue.....	.10
2c 1908, new issue.....	.15
2c 1909, February 12th, Lincoln commemorative issue.....	1.00

Strips of four at double above prices.
NOTE.—The current issue has been reduced and the others will soon be increased in price very materially.The prices are for well selected copies. "Seconds" those which are not well centered and cut into the design on all sides, are worth but a small fraction of our prices. 95% of the Lincoln 2-cent that we have seen with the above perforation were very poor. Our prices are not to be compared with those who sell "as they come".

RE-SPACING.

The current issue of U. S. stamps are to be re-spaced, the stamps to be somewhat further apart and placed with mathematical accuracy.This is official, right from Washington, and it is needless to observe that blocks of the present unperforated stamps as the sheets are now made up will constitute varieties of interest to those who collect in blocks, and varieties needed should be secured at once.Subject to withdraw at any time, we quote as follows:Orders may be sent to C. H. MEKEEL, R. F. D. No. 29, St. Louis, Mo., or to the

STAMP SECURITY COMPANY,

A. Blocks of four.
B. Block of four with line varieties.
C. Block of six with imprint and plate number from top, bottom or side.

Explaining the "line varieties", we may observe that these stamps are printed in sheets of four hundred. The sheet is intersected by colored lines which run vertically and horizontally through the center, dividing the sheet into four quarters. The two middle rows, both vertical and horizontal, when cut out in blocks, show this colored line intersecting the block, while the single block in the center of the sheet shows the intersection of both lines.We have had more calls for this center block than we have had sheets of any variety ($3.50 for 2-cent Lincoln middle block). We do not make any other quotations but the single intersecting colored line, either horizontal or vertical, may be found quoted above under column B.

PLATE NUMBERS.

The following plate numbers of the 2-cent Lincolns in unperforated blocks of six stamps are available with watermark either inverted or normal:

	4976	4977	4978	4979
Block of six with plate number (our selection) from top, bottom or side, 50c. Blocks of four numbers (your choice of position), $2.00.
A full sheet of 400 unperforated 2-cent Lincolns, either plate number mentioned above, carefully packed and rolled, in a tube registered, $12.50. The four plates $47.50.

PART PERFORATES.

These are regular Governmental Issues.
They are issued by the U. S. P. O. Department in rolls for use in certain patent machines.D. Stamps are perforated vertically between, the top and bottom being unperforated, stamps attached sideways.E. Stamps perforated horizontally between, being attached top and bottom and unperforated at the sides.

The four strips 50c. Remember that the new spacing of sheets will also affect these varieties.

EXPERIMENTAL PAPERS.

The P. O. Department is now experimenting with paper to find one that will not shrink and one that will not tear outside of the perforations easily.Collectors may have noted that the stamps are coming on a paper with a somewhat bluish cast that is a little heavier.

DEPOSIT ACCOUNTS.

Correspondents who deposit from $5.00 to $25.00 will receive from us on approval single pairs or blocks, subject to return, of any new variety of perforation, paper, shades, or other variations of interest connected with U. S. stamps that we may obtain.We are making these things a specialty and will be glad to receive commissions from those who are not in as favorable position as we are, to watch the new conditions.Well centered copies of the current new issue of the first shades printed may be supplied in sets, (singles, pairs, blocks of any size) as follows:
1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 13, 15, 50c and $1.00 at $3.00 per set; $5.00 per set of pairs; $10.00 per set of blocks of four. Larger blocks in the same proportion.Remember, the new spacing of sheets will make these perforated blocks slightly different, of interest to those who collect in pairs, strips or blocks.Our prices to any one who has tried to find good copies of all denominations will seem fair.Orders for single stamps are declined. We will handle these in sets only.

A WONDERFUL STAMP COLLECTION.

By PERCIVAL PARRISH, B. L.

I have recently enjoyed the privilege and pleasure of examining and studying with care one of the greatest collections of stamps ever assembled, that of the late James W. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, and a brief description of this philatelic treasure may prove interesting to your readers. The collection is mounted in some forty specially designed large blank albums, requiring two good-sized chests, each as big as the average trunk, to hold them.

The total catalogue value is considerably over $200,000.00, and altogether there are a great many rarities of which we occasionally hear, but seldom see.

The stamps of the United States are a magnificent lot cataloguing over $50,000.00. One of the finest things upon which our eyes feasted was the celebrated Annapolis envelope in used condition. The impression is dark blue on faded white paper. We have never heard this stamp quoted, but it is undoubtedly worth between $2,000.00 and $3,000.00. There is a fine unused Millbury worth in the neighborhood of $1,800.00, also a Brattleboro, and thirteen varieties of the scarce St. Louis stamps, including all the rare pelure papers, the lot being worth about $4,000.00.

Next we came to the magnificent complete set of Premiere Graveurs, otherwise known as the issue of August, 1861. These stamps are all unused, and in absolutely faultless condition,—veritable jewels in a remarkable setting, each stamp seeming to cast a radiance of color about. It is noteworthy that many of the early issues of our country are examples of superior workmanship, and no set more so than this one. They are truly appropriate settings for the fathers of our country, whom they portray in such glowing colors. This particular set is certainly worth over $3,000.00. Accompanying it are pen marked copies of the 5, 10, 24 and 30c, and the 90c unused imperforate. From this date until 1900, we find practically everything which has been issued by our country, including all the rare re-issue sets, and many blocks of four and parts of sheets.

We now reach the semi-official issues, which are in great profusion, in both new and used condition, many of the latter being on the entire envelope. Of these we note: Nearly $1,000.00 worth of Baltimore Carriers, including some stamps plated and in unbroken sheets, the very rare 2c black Boston unused (No. 812), the 3c rosy buff New York, worth $350.00, and some superb Philadelphia Despatch on entire covers.

Of the U. S. Locals Mr. Paul had perhaps the finest collection in the world, and among others we note the very rare Cooks Despatch on green paper on the entire envelope in splendid condition. The writer remembers being shown the cover by Mr. Paul several years ago, when he remarked that he believed it to be the rarest local in existence, and at the same time, the only one known. We also note fine specimens on the cover of Bloods Phila. Despatch, 3c black (No. 2235), worth about $100.00, Boyce's City Express, 2c green (No. 2266), three varieties of the rare Briggs Despatch worth $75.00 or more each, the 1c rose Hills Post (No. 2502) worth over $100.00, Jones 2c pink, No. 2605, and many others.

The collection of Confederate Postmasters Provisionals, many of them on original cover, is also superb, comprising many of the rarities, and including two copies of the 5c Athens, worth from $500.00 to $600.00 each, the 5c black Goliad, worth about $500.00. Knoxville envelopes on white and on orange, also an uncatalogued variety, a 5c green worth several hundred dollars the 5c black Marion, Virginia, valued at about $400.00, the rare 5c red Pittsylvania, the Ringgold, Salem, Spartansburg and a superb pair of 5c and 10c Tellico Plains.

Among the foreign stamps we are first impressed with the wonderful collection of Hawaiians, including all of the rare Missionaries. The 2c, one of the greatest rarities of the world, is in excellent condition for a stamp of its frail composition. There is a slight nick at the top which will perhaps reduce its value somewhat, nevertheless, the specimen is worth over $4,000.00, as it is, and without the nick would be worth $5,000.00. The 5c is a good one, and worth $500.00; type 2 of the 13c is also good, and worth $450.00, while type 3 of the same denomination is valued at $600.00.

The numerals are a fine lot, and nearly all have been plated. All other varie-

SUPERB U. S. ENVELOPE COLLECTION

Of the Late L. C. Gratz, of Philadelphia.

We take pleasure in announcing that we have for sale the superb collection of Entire U. S. Envelopes of the late L. C. Gratz, and we are ready to break it up for sale to advanced collectors. These envelopes are in the finest possible unused condition, and many of them extremely rare. The collection is practically complete from 1853-1886, and will catalogue in the neighborhood of $2,500.00.

Among others we mention the following according to Scott's numbers:

Nos. 1321, 1326, 1344, 1345, 1382, 1433, 1701, 1715, 1807, 1818, 1818, 1835, 1850, 1852, 1853 and 1858.

The above is an abridged list, the collection comprising practically all varieties, and we solicit want lists, as we are able to fill them.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT.

1204 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE FIRST ISSUE OF VENEZUELAN CARDS.

By HORACE E. CARPENTER, JR., Bay City, Mich.

The first postal cards issued by the Venezuelan government were, as is well known to collectors, simple formulas, type set, that is, a design set in type, without an impressed value-stamp. These cards were issued in the year 1880, and probably answered the purpose, as they were not superseded by the second issue until 1882, thus having been in use for practically two years.

To quote from Scott's 1898 catalogue, "There are numerous differences in the type setting, such as comma or period after 'Universelle', breaks between links of the chain, two varieties of the rosaces at the end of the chains, as well as breaks in the lines for the address, around the space for the stamp, and inside of the frame." This quotation gives only a bare outline of the differences to be found in these cards, and it is of these that I wish to write.

In the first place the official printers evidently set up and used in printing the cards a number of separate and easily distinguished formulas. The first I shall take up is that used for those cards printed in blue and carmine on a very uniformly white card. This formula is very regular, well set and handsome in appearance and does not appear to have been used at all in the production of the black cards. Nor do the formulas used for the black, appear to have been used for the blue and carmine cards.

Formula two (2) is that in which appears a raised period after Venezuela, the two lower lines of frame for stamp are broken at the same place at about the centre, a period after Senor, and considerable space, 4 1/2 mm. between Postale and Universelle.

Formula two A (2A) is practically the same, only that the upper of the double lines in the lower lines of stamp frame, is not broken.

Formula three (3) has the R of Universelle omitted as its distinguishing characteristic.

Formula four (4) has a comma after Universelle and a well formed, unbroken frame for the stamp, as well as a period after Senor.

Formula five (5) has a rosace in the lower frame, occupying the space where the 11th link in the chain from the lower right hand corner should be. The stamp frame is broken in a manner peculiar to this formula.

Formula six (6) is so similar to No. 5 with the exception that it has no misplaced rosace, that it looks more like a corrected error than a separate formula. However, I have given it a separate number.

We have, therefore, for our list formulas the following:

1. Appears only in blue and carmine.
2. Raised period after Venezuela. Two broken lines in lower part of stamp frame. Period after Senor.
- 2A. Same. Upper line in bottom of stamp frame not broken.
3. R of Universelle omitted.
4. Comma after Universelle. Period after Senor.
5. Rosace error in lower frame.
6. Similar to 5 but no misplaced rosace in frame.

The above gives the distinguishing marks of the different formulas, but, as the catalogue says, there are many differences occurring in each one. In some, a line has completely disappeared, or a line has shifted altogether out of place, while in some specimens the printer appears to have inserted a new line in the place of one that wore out.

Again, the formulas appear to have been set with the perpendicular and horizontal lines at right angles with each other, but, almost invariably the lower part of the formula has been shifted to the left, giving most specimens a lop sided appearance.

I herewith append a list of colors of the card board that I have in my collection. It is hard to say whether or not all the formulas appear in any or all of the colors but I do not think so, as I do not possess a single full set of all formulas in any one color. Also I think it useless to even attempt to tabulate what formulas appear in the different colors.

A total of 36 distinct shades. Much of the card board used was not exactly the same color upon both sides, thus giving rise to shades somewhat difficult to describe, both sides having been used to print upon, thus causing many additional varieties to an already long list.

Although I have made every effort to learn something, regarding this remarkable issue, from the Venezuelan authorities, I have been utterly unsuccessful, they not deigning even the courtesy of an answer to numerous letters on the subject. Possibly in the several revolutionary movements that have occurred, the archives that would cast some light upon the cards were destroyed.

In the note quoted above from the catalogue it appears that there are two varieties of rosaces, though as yet I have failed to find but one, although I have examined many hundred cards.

This issue is probably the longest that was ever made by any one country of any one card.

The only used cards I have ever seen have been those either white or nearly white in color, and the thought suggesting itself is, as to whether or not all these numerous varieties were actually issued to the public for use.

If any collector who happens to read this article has further knowledge upon the subject I would be glad to have him communicate with me.

REPRINTS OF SPECIAL ARTICLES.

(We have secured a nice binder of the right size for these reprints that we will send on receipt of 30c, which just pays expense of manufacture and postage. As reprints are issued week by week they can readily be inserted in alphabetical order. This binder is Carter's Modified Multibinder, made to accommodate our WEEKLY reprints and every collector should have one. If two or three can be ordered at one time they will stand handling better.—Ed.)

A WORD ABOUT OURSELVES.

We feel very much gratified at the many warm words of praise that every day brings to us and such expressions only serve to spur us on to greater endeavor.

Even the negative word contained in the letter of reproof when we have singled out some subscriber for the non-receipt of his paper and persuaded the letter carrier to lose it brings with it a sense of satisfaction.

But we want more bouquets of appreciation and we will get them if you will introduce the WEEKLY to your friends on one of these propositions:—

1 yr. and What Philately Teaches, 50c.

2 yrs. and 300 all diff. stamps, $1.00.

The premium can go to you or the new subscriber but if to you it will be necessary for your subscription to have three months yet to run.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Still They Come—A new variety of machine perforated stamp, two cent current issue, has been reported to us and a collector has shown a sheet of the imperforate one-cent current type with perforations down and across the center of the sheet of four hundred of the stamps; evidently, these perforations were applied in order to make the sheet of four hundred imperforates the more readily divided into sheets of one hundred, thus allowing them to be handled with more convenience. Interest in the separation varieties is keen and now that there seems to be no really defined limit to their production, it is advisable to assign to these variations the positions that they may rightly assume. While there may be some controversy as to how the various varieties are to be ranked in order of importance, yet there are several established rules that govern the issues of the stamps in a private and in an official sense. In this connection it may be mentioned that one large society deems the question of sufficient moment to plan to devote one meeting to a discussion of the phases of the stamps with a view to marking plainly the line that separates the official from the private varieties; and no doubt the expressions of opinion on that occasion will be of value.

As a Rule—Those stamps that are sold by the postoffice under certain restrictions even, are certainly wholly philatelic in their aspect. Under this category come the imperforate varieties of the different denominations; those strips of different stamps that were prepared by the government with the specimens perforated at top and bottom but imperforate at sides for use in the mailing machine but which were found to be not wholly satisfactory in their use; and those stamps showing the new style of perforation mentioned in the foregoing item i.e., the imperforate sheets with a single row of perforations between the panes, are collectible on a closely philatelic analysis. The privately perforated stamps such as made by the Schermack machine and other mailers, and there seems to be at least one other, are not governmental issues in so far as they show distinctions of separation and so, they would not be indispensable to the collection. This summary is made in its broad application and the tacit or even active approval of the postal authorities of the creation of special perforation varieties by the mailing machines is not taken into consideration.

As an Argument—It is probable that the argument that would invite some difference of opinion is that inasmuch as the government permits or encourages the perforation change by the mailing machines after the stamps leave the hands of the department, there is an official suggestion to the stamps; but a logical inquiry would dismiss the philatelic claims on the score that the actual operation whereby the change in the condition of the stamps is made is a private procedure, pure and simple. However, as a side line of admitted interest, the privately perforated stamps are a strong attraction and there will be many collectors who will give them much attention, at the same time realizing that they may not properly be exalted to a philatelic position beyond their modest deserts. All this is aside from any consideration of the dangers of imitation of the private perforations in a way to defy detection as described in the issue of two weeks ago.

Making History—The trial of the government with "experimental paper" as told by Chas. R. Morris in the WEEKLY several issues ago is being watched closely by collectors who have been on the lookout for the new paper varieties. Those who have succeeded in obtaining used copies of the stamps on the distinctive paper feel that their vigilance has been well rewarded and they find that the statistics furnished by Mr. Morris on the number of such stamps issued add to their satisfaction in studying the specimens that they possess. It is apparent that the present postal administration is progressive and entering into innovations for the public benefit more largely than ever before and collectors will find it to advantage, no doubt, to give scrutiny to everything in the stamp line that meets their eyes. The watchful collector loses nothing but gains much on occasion.

Sudden Departure—According to information received from different sources, Eben S. Martin, president of the Eben S. Martin Company has suddenly left Chicago, taking with him his personal effects and that part of his stamp stock that was there. Some mystery attaches to Mr. Martin's abrupt departure as at the office of the companies in which he is interested, his former associates profess to be unaware of his destination. Evidently, Mr. Martin took none of his philatelic friends into his confidence as they are at loss to account for his abrupt movement. It is possible that Mr. Martin decided to go to Alabama where he has property interests, as, on occasions, he has expressed a liking for the country there. Mr. Martin is well-known as president of the corporation bearing his name and through his recent publication, the Daily Philatelic Bulletin. It is probable that definite information will be given next week which will explain Mr. Martin's departure.

Revenue Figures—A reader says: "I found this note recently in an old print and you may find it of interest as showing the relation between the 'public die' and 'private die' revenue stamps sold during the year ending September 30th, 1863." Stamps of all denominations printed from the private dies and sold during the year ending September 30th, 1863, 8,259,470, with a value of $142,950.83; stamps printed from public dies and sold during the same period, 99,871,461, with a value of $6,846,717.62.

* * *

Grand Old Stamps—In an English stamp paper, the triangular Cape of Good Hope stamps are called "the best recruiting sergeant philately has ever had." This is a clever characterization and one that the stamps undoubtedly deserve. From the beginning of philately they have had a secure place in the regard of collectors and have exercised an influence on outsiders that has been noticeable. The fascinating suggestions of these beautiful stamps of odd design are apparent and the specimens have always enjoyed an active market. There are philatelists who realizing the popularity of the triangular Capes, made it an object to obtain as many of the stamps as possible; and many a little lot of the stamps is thus held.

A. P. S. LITERARY CONTEST.

Through the kindness of Sec. Adair a contest has been suggested that should result in a spirited rivalry. We quote the following from his letter just at hand:—

"Will you please announce in the next issue that for the three best answers to 'What benefits do I receive from membership in the American Philatelic Society?' will be awarded handsomely bound copies of the Year Book. Also the best answer to 'Why I Should be a Member of the American Philatelic Society?'"

Address all entries to Henry S. Adair, Box 691, Columbus, O.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We have received from W. H. Peckitt, 47 Strand, London, Eng., number three of the Melville Stamp Books and a dainty book it is, dealing with the U. S. postal issues from 1847 to 1869.

We have nothing but words of praise for this beautiful and useful production. Use all the adjectives one may and the collector of U. S. stamps will find himself unable to fitly express his admiration for the enterprise and ability shown in crowding so much of interest into this little book.

We really have doubts as to the need of extended notice. Every serious U. S. collector will possess the book and those who do not belong to this class should become serious at once.

Tastily printed, illustrations on nearly every page, difficult things made easy. We take the liberty of quoting the following from the preface:—

"Closely as these stamps have been studied by specialists in America and in Europe, collectors generally are quite unfamiliar with the points of distinction between the very rare premiere gravures of 1861 and their successors, the second types of 1861. It is not for the want of excellent diagrams in the catalogues or in handbooks. The differences, as illustrated in a diagram, do not seem to impress themselves upon one's memory so readily as an examination of the actual stamp or a photograph. We have therefore, while retaining the diagrams, included enlarged productions of both types.

"One cannot too strongly urge upon the collector the necessity of familiarising himself with such difficulties where they are of so high a degree of interest and importance. Quite recently a premiere gravure of the 10 cents value (the commonest of the series but nevertheless a desirable stamp) changed hands at the price of the later re-engraved series, and a well-known English collector who prides himself on being a careful student exchanged as the common varieties no fewer than three premieres to a shrewd collector who knew what he was acquiring.

"It is the familiar knowledge of these apparently trifling details that gives the student his opportunity. A premiere gravure may lie unrecognised and unsuspected in some collections; one may be offered in a lot of duplicates, and be for sale at the price of the common variety. But one cannot depend upon having a handbook with diagrams and illustrations at the proper moment, so a familiar acquaintance with the points of distinction is the only sure safeguard against the loss of an opportunity which comes all too rarely even to the most enthusiastic student.

"In the collection of United States stamps the collector will find that it is no easy matter to procure even the commoner stamps in fine condition, particularly as regards the centering of the design. Largely owing to a peculiarity of perforating common to nearly all United States postage stamps, the designs are often cut right into by the perforating machine. The hunt for fine copies, well centred, should add zest to the collector's pursuit, however, and if a rule be made to take only specimens that come up to a particular standard of condition the result will be well worth the extra trouble and the comparatively moderate extra expense. A fine copy of a United States stamp with margins perforated all round and well centred is a thing of rare beauty."

Price of book 15c. Set of eight books $1.00. Melville Stamp Books, 47 Strand, London, Eng.

We have received from the publisher, D. Field, 4-5 Royal Arcade, London, England, a review copy of No. 2 of the series of philatelic handbooks reprinted from the columns of the West End Philatelist. The book before us deals with the stamps of the Falkland Islands and is written by B. W. H. Poole, whose name today is second only to that of Mr. Melville as a producer of philatelic literature.

One may well marvel that so large a book as the one before us could be written about the stamps of this colony but Mr. Poole has given the subject attention sufficient to satisfy the most ardent specialist.

The book consists of forty-four pages with cover and can be obtained by remitting 12c to Mr. Field at the above address. We cordially commend it to our readers as being well worthy of a place in their philatelic libraries.

A NEW STAMP TO BE ISSUED.

Truly we are making philatelic history these days. A new 2c stamp is to be issued commemorating the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific section of our national history as it is typified in the Seattle exposition so soon to be opened.

We are indebted to Chas. R. Morris for the earliest information though Marcel E. Taller and Dr. S. E. Young follow with newspaper clippings giving practically the same facts.

The stamp is to be unique in design and the following description will be read with interest:

The new stamp is to be rectangular in form and of the same size as that issued to commemorate the Jamestown Exposition. Panels at the top and bottom contain respectively the words "U. S. Postage" and "Two cents." In the centre of the stamp the larger part of a circle rests on the lower panel and encloses a ribbon bearing the inscription "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific 1909"; the circle frames the picture of a seal standing on a cake of ice. On either side of the stamp is an ellipse containing the Arabic numeral 2, with laurel branches in the background. It is expected that the stamps will be placed on sale about June 1, the opening day of the exposition.

A portion of the above design had been approved by Mr. Geo. von L. Meyer, for an envelope stamp and it would have made a very pretty one with the seal standing out in embossing but it was found that the envelope contractors would not be able to have them ready for distribution in time and it was then decided to have the adhesive. The design was then worked over to suit the

As we go to press Chas. F. Heyerman submits a clipping from the Detroit Free Press, which reads as follows:

OBJECT TO ICE DESIGN.
Yukon Exposition Stamps Excite Remonstrance from Promoters.

SEATTLE, April 9.—The merchants of Seattle, aroused by reports that the special issue of stamps being prepared to commemorate the opening of the Seattle exposition contain in the design a cake of ice on which a seal is reposing, have entered a protest.

A dispatch was sent by the chamber of commerce today to Secretary of the Interior Ballinger urging him to make an effort to have the design changed, as one of the objects of the fair is to show the world that Alaska can raise something besides icebergs.

"BLOCKS OF FOUR."

A Word of Advice to Young Philatelists.

By C. A. C.

Though I have been collecting postage stamps for about thirty years, it is only recently I learned to collect U. S. stamps in blocks of fours. I have seldom seen it advocated in the philatelic journals, and merely considered it a fad of the wealthy philatelists. But I have become such a strenuous convert to its importance that I feel the necessity of urging the younger members to adhere to that method especially in collecting the stamps of his native country. That if he only has 50c or a dollar to invest, that he should purchase his stamps in blocks of fours as far as his financial ability will permit at the time and obtain the other denominations in the same manner at some future period. Also as far as possible to obtain the "plate numbers" with each block for future identification.

In the first place the stamps of today will enhance in value, so that one need not fear the loss of his investment, and the chances are in the future as it has been in the past that he is making an excellent investment of his little capital. Those who have put their money into U. S. stamps will profit more than though they had invested in government bonds.

Again, if at any future time one does not desire to retain so many stamps of each denomination, they are the most desirable stamps to sell or to use as a medium of exchange. No set or issue of stamps will ever be continued indefinitely and the issues of today will after they become "obsolete" increase in value as the years go by.

A desirable feature of blocks of fours is that the inner corners of the four stamps are more carefully preserved for philatelic investigation at least and the closeness of any misperforations do not affect all the stamps in the same place.

True the original cost of such a collection is somewhat greater than the ordinary method of single stamps, but as time goes on their value will become greatly enhanced and one who follows this method will reap the benefit of his investment. How I wish I had blocks of fours of the 60s and 70s stamps now—they were so cheap to obtain then—they are so awfully expensive to purchase now.

Hind sight is always better than fore-sight. Let the advice of one who recognizes his neglect of the past, keep you from committing a similar folly.

We also wish to urge upon the members the uselessness of placing damaged and very cheap stamps in circulation, as we find there is practically no market for such goods, and we only receive objections from those who get books of this character. In future we shall have to return books containing an undue proportion of poor stuff.

One of the strongest features of the Sales Department is the rapid gain in the popularity of the branch system, and we feel especially proud of the energetic and untiring class of men acting as branch managers. They certainly deserve the commendation of the entire Society for their splendid work. It is noteworthy that in every city where branch managers have been appointed, the general interest in Society work and meetings increased notably. We give below a statement of the sales made by the various branch managers thus far in the current year:

1. John W. Haseltine, Phila., Pa.,	$443.97
2. Wm. C. Rhodes, Cleveland, Ohio,	347.65
3. R. J. Mundell, Montreal, Canada,	271.58
4. U.S.G. Clifford, San Francisco, Cal.,	252.85
5. L. A. Van Toor, Milwaukee, Wis.,	228.26
6. A. H. Weber, Berkeley, Cal.,	217.51
7. Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D.C.,	204.46
8. Don R. Bennett, Detroit, Mich.,	175.49
9. W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass.,	132.79
10. B. A. Webber, Providence, R. I.,	102.32
11. W. A. Hemphill, Pittsburgh, Pa.,	63.91
12. W. O. Staab, Milwaukee, Wis.,	48.32
13. H. S. Adair, Columbus, Ohio,	31.68
14. O. E. Lancaster, Scranton, Pa.,	6.11

We will add once more that branch managers will receive 2½% in cash at the end of the year, (August 1909) for sales made through them, provided the total reaches at least $400.00, payment to be made at the end of the year. In addition to the above compensation, I have offered prizes in stamps for the four best results: 1st, $10; 2nd, $5; 3rd, $3; 4th, $2; Scott's catalogue value according to want-list of the 19th Century. The few branches who have not appointed branch sales managers, should consider the question without further delay, and write the Sales Superintendent for particulars on the advantages to be gained in the matter of charge and finer selections, and more economic, interesting and advantageous circulation of the books by one of your own members, who knows best what each individual desires, and also the most economical geographical route upon which to send the circuits in his city or district. It should also be borne in mind that this plan saves the individual members quite a heavy expense in postage and registration, as delivery can be made easily by hand from one member to another.

Respectfully submitted,
PERCIVAL PARRISH, Sales Supt.

QUERIES AND COMMENT.

Our readers are cordially invited to ask the editor for any information desired concerning stamp collecting. Should a personal reply be desired kindly enclose postage. This department is for the beginner as well as the advanced collector. Address, C. E. Severn, 721 Oxford Bdg., Chicago, Ill.

B. P.:—Many stamps have been counterfeited but the catalogue does not mention all cases where counterfeits are known to exist. Outside of a few crude attempts, there are few forgeries of Canadian stamps but proofs of the pence issue from which "specimen" has been removed are warned against.

X.:—There is no license necessary for one to become a dealer in stamps, either national, state or city; if you know anything to the contrary, as a reading of your letter might indicate, notify us.

H. C. H.:—Your single specimen of the 3-cent, 1857 issue, U. S., imperforate vertically even though showing part of the next stamp would not be accepted as proving original part perforation. The stamps of this issue were printed in sheets of two hundred stamps, divided into two panes of one hundred specimens each, ranged side by side; the panes were separated by a blank margin down the center and when this was cut through, the sheets of stamps, one hundred specimens, were ready for sale at the postoffice. While normally the sheets cut down this margin with accuracy, it sometimes happened that the knife or shears veered much to one side, so much so, on occasions, that a liberal slice of the stamp across the way was taken. In many cases, a thin red line ran down the center of the blank margin and furnished a guide in cutting but even this did not obviate the erratic division.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Co-operative Exchange has arranged a set of four premiums that are given on wholesale purchases ranging from $7 to $25. The circular is well worth perusal and will be sent on request.

—The Toledo Stamp Co. would like the address of Geo. W. Groves, San Francisco, Cal., who formerly conducted the Harvard Stamp Co., Cambridge, Mass.

—Following up the announcement made last week by Percival Parrish of the Phila. Stamp Co. we have this week still another announcement by this firm, which will be read with interest. The securing of the Gratz collection of envelopes gives the firm a superb line of these goods in a very remarkable condition.

—Keith Gordon sends us a clipping announcing the issue of a set of ten Italian earthquake labels, to raise money for an orphan's fund. D. Field of London has the agency and the set sells for 30c.

—Maj. J. M. T. Partello, stationed in command of the province of Panang, Mindanao, P. I., has been ordered to the command of the post at Denver, Colo., and will report for duty about the 1st of September. He should make a very welcome addition to the local society at that place.

—Our readers cannot failed to have noticed the fact that we have a new advertiser in the person of C. A. Green of Cleveland. Mr. Green has signed a contract and will be found regularly on column 4 of the editorial page. This is not Mr. Green's first venture in stamp dealing and many of our readers will no doubt remember him as dealing in stamps in Cincinnati some eight or ten years ago. We bespeak for him a goodly share of our subscribers' patronage.

—During the past few weeks a New York stamp business has been offered for sale. The adv. found elsewhere in this issue, though of the same character represents an altogether different proposition. Persons interested will do well to follow up this offer even though nothing resulted from their attention to the first advertisement above referred to.

—The Columbian Stamp Co. reports Harry Haller, 135 S. E. Lake Av., Los Angeles, Cal., as a substituter. Dealers will do well to list from week to week these names as reported.

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as
an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to
this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition,
by holding such selections without purchasing
any, until sufficient funds have been sent by
the dealer to return it to him by registered
mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.Michael, Edward, 72 Dearborn St., Chi-

Total Membership April 17, 1909, 1573

What are YOU doing to help the society that is trying to help you? Have YOU such an interest in the society that you want it to grow and make it attain the place wherein membership will be pre-eminent with every American collector? If so, let's have a little heart to heart talk. The American Philatelic Society stands for advancement, progress, and the uplifting of philately in the fullest sense of the word. It is like unto a huge machine of many parts, each with its own special function to perform acting with precision and regularity that makes the whole a pulsating, throbbing mass of activity accomplishing that for which it was designed. And YOU, my fellow member, are as one of the parts of our machine, you have your part in this machine of ours that must be done to secure a perfect ensemble, teeming with energy, and striving to accomplish that which we know is for the good of all of us. While we are making an effort to do many things for the benefit of all, there is one vital point that must not be overlooked. That by increasing our membership we are increasing our power to do those things so earnestly desired and helping to make the society amount to something more than a Stock Certificate and a Membership Card. Will you not do your part? All that is asked of you is to do your share of getting new members. Can't you make a noise like an application?

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the notice of a contest that should attract the attention of all live wires. Look it up. Contest closes May 8th. Prizes are yours for the asking.

Cheer up 1909 One a day.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF SALES SUPT.

PHILA., April 1, 1909.

Members of the A. P. S.:

I take pleasure in submitting below the quarterly report of the Sales Department for the first three months of the year as follows:

3080 books on hand last report, priced at $64,027.13
208 books received in March, priced at 4,738.26

3288 books now on hand, priced at $68,765.39

Cash report.
Jan. 1st, 1909, balance on hand, $6,879.60
Cash received in January, 851.81
Cash received in February, 828.41
Cash received in March, 953.44Total, $9,513.26
236 books retired to owners (priced at $4,672.69), $1,165.29

Cash on hand April 1st, 1909, $8,347.97

Books have been coming in filled with a better grade of stamps lately and we wish to urge upon the members the necessity for marking catalogue number and value under each stamp, as well as the net selling price, as many of the buyers are busy people, who will not waste time in looking up the prices and values of the stamps in the books, and hence it is greatly to the interest of the member placing his stamps in the Department to indicate clearly just what they are. Sales from books arranged upon this plan are fully 25% better than those where insufficient data is given.

REVENUE NOTES AND OTHER THINGS.

Edited by E. R. VANDERHOOF.

The editor of this department will be pleased to hear from any readers of the WEEKLY who can contribute to its usefulness and readability. Specimens of varieties or oddities submitted will be promptly returned. Address, E. R. Vanderhoof, 2639 Vallejo St., Denver, Colo.

City Meat Inspection.—The stamping of meats by city inspection seems to be occupying the attention of a goodly portion of our cities. For various reasons, not particularly interesting to fiscal collectors, it would appear from general rumor, that in addition to the labels of the general government, there will also be issued local stamps, for branding products for local use. This will mean, if the project is carried out extensively, a multiplicity of varieties of gaudy labels for the collectors along this line.

Oleomargarine Legislation.—Congress has, besides talking on various subjects, as important as the cocoa-nut crop of Timbuctoo, diverted itself by a vigorous upheaval of every dead and live issue relating to the manufacturing, distribution, sale, and taxation of oleomargarine. The bills introduced by Congressman Burleson and Penrose seem to be varied and opposed to each other, to such an extent that, if either be passed, there will be a new set of oleomargarine stamps, as well as special license stamps for the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer.

New Revenue Stamps.—While dwelling on speculative lines, and wondering whether these proposed things will come, many of us are wondering if the government will revert to the documentary and proprietary tax again in order to meet the deficit that postage stamps will not meet. There has been considerable newspaper talk about it, and, while it will make the masses dig down into their pockets to buy the stamps, yet there is one feature about it that will be interesting to revenue stamp collectors. We will have more varieties to play with. It will be rather uncommon, to have a set of revenue stamps following a Universal Peace Congress, instead of a Treaty Congress, but if the stamps do come, we will get all we can and look as pleasant as possible.

Another Discovery.—I would like to chronicle a discovery that has recently been made in our quiet little village. We have made several lately, and to let one go by without some mention would hardly be fair, even though we are claiming a little more than our share right now. The provisional beer stamps, with printed surcharge, of the 1898 issue, are supposed to bear diagonal surcharges only. We have at hand the one-fourth barrel of this issue with the surcharge appearing at the top of the stamp in two horizontal lines. The wording of the stamp is a little different from the regular variety, and, emanating from the source from which it did, we have no reason to doubt its authenticity.

New York State Revenues.—The interesting stamps of this state are developing into a good field for specialism. I have seen the two cent value, second issue, with single numerical surcharge in a marked greenish black color instead of the customary, blue-black.

The fifty cent value, fourth issue has also appeared. It is in orange, with surcharge in multiple, like the rest of the set. These multiple surcharge issues are, to my notion among the prettiest fiscals I have ever seen.

The one dollar value with single surcharge, has also appeared being the last to come to my notice. It is in carmine, and is a very pretty stamp. I am reliably informed that these values complete the third and fourth issues. There are a great many minor varieties, and they are well worth some attention to all collectors, being interesting, pretty, bear possibilities of research, and make a nice appearance. They are also all obtainable at reasonable figures, as they are in common use.

Another Essay.—Mr. Seagrave submits a beautiful essay, odd, and striking, so much so, that I desire to again call it to the attention of collectors. It has no doubt been mentioned years ago, but the rising generation should be glad to hear about it. In the sixties this design was submitted to the government as having features designed to prevent the washing and re-using of the stamps. There was placed on the back of each stamp, a small tablet-like excrescence—a percussion cap; and the intention was to cancel the stamp by hitting it and thus exploding the cap, which was supposed to burn out the center. Unfortunately, it not only did this, but it burned the document as well, thus condemning itself forever as an essay, and not a stamp. The item submitted was a pair in blue, each 21 by 23 mm., bearing the head of Secretary of the Treasury McCullough. Diagonal Surcharge on Provisional 1898.—I have seen recently a block of the two cent, I. R., on postage normal position, 1898 provisional revenue stamp with diagonal surcharge. From the appearance of the block, it would seem that the sheet, while taking the impression, did not feed properly, and was thrown out of proper alignment, so as to cause a diagonal overprint of some thirty degrees instead of the customary horizontal surcharge. There is also a faint trace of a double strike. Has any one seen this on the one cent value, or on any of the inverts?

ICE CAKE WILL NOT ADORN STAMP.
Government Officials Signify Willingness to Make Alteration in Design.

(Following close upon the heels of the information published last week Henry Fox sends us, amongst several other clippings, one from the Seattle Times of April 11 in which our readers will be interested. We reprint such portion of the article as seems advisable.—E.D.)

Through the efforts of Senator Samuel H. Piles, it is probable that the post-office department will be induced to substitute the head of William H. Seward in place of the seal on a cake of ice on the Commemorative Alaska-Yukon-Pacific stamps.

The criticisms that were heaped upon this picture with which it was first proposed to adorn the stamp came to the attention of the postoffice officials, who immediately took the matter up with Senator Piles. The senator had been advised of the sentiments opposed to the seal design, and immediately set about to have the postal department change it as per the following:—

"George E. Boos, Secretary Seattle Commercial Club: Postoffice department informs me they have seen criticisms in the public press indicating that the design for Exposition commemorative postage stamp is not satisfactory to exposition people. Might prevail on department to substitute head of Seward in place of seal. They say space is too small for mining scene or similar design. Department inclined to drop matter if the design is unsatisfactory. Will you take this up with exposition officials and wire me?" S. H. PILES."

A conference of exposition officials was called at once and the change discussed, with the result that favorable action was taken.

The objection to the seal design is that one of the principal features of the exposition is to correct the impression of Alaska being nothing but a wilderness of icebergs and snow, and the proposed design indicated that such is the case rather than discouraged the idea. Mr. Boos and the exposition officials are confident that the substitution of the Seward design will be acted upon favorably by the postoffice department.

A news story was sent out by the publicity department of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition protesting against the issuance of the commemorative stamp proposed. The fair authorities said they would prefer to have no special stamp issued unless the design could be changed. Alaska men who were acquainted with the objectionable design joined in voicing a protest.

—The Detroit Free Press of Monday, April 19, had a nice illustration of the current 2c stamp. Clipping received from Gen. Coolidge.

EDITORIAL.

Well Said—Charles C. Conroy, Los Angeles, Cal., calls attention to an inconsistency that it would be well to correct, in order that the new collector, especially have a clear understanding of the uses of certain stamps. Mr. Conroy writes: "Some years ago, attention was called to the use of the term 'Unpaid Letter Stamps' by Scott's catalogue, and the substitution of 'Postage Due Stamps' urged in lieu thereof. There is another point which I consider out of place in the catalogue and that is the employment of the term 'Newspaper Stamps' for the low values of certain countries. The catalogue exhibits marked inconsistency in this respect. Our own newspaper stamps, of course, are correctly described as such, but why list the 1, 2 and 5 centime stamps of Belgium and the 1 and 2 centesimi stamps of Italy under such designation? They perform other postal duties than that indicated by the description 'Newspaper Stamps.' Or again, if the 5 centime value of Belgium is a newspaper stamp, why not are the 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 centimes of France, the 2 and 5 centimo of Spain, the low values of Austria, Hungary, Greece and Roumania classed under this heading? Our own current one-cent stamp is just as much a 'newspaper stamp.' Why not be consistent, separate it from the rest of the set, and let it rest in lonely grandeur at the end of the list of 'regular postage stamps?'"

Method in This Case—While the remarks of Mr. Conroy are not without their force, yet it could be shown that there is warrant for the segregation of certain of the Belgian stamps under the head of newspaper stamps, as will be seen from the following statement in one of the Bouvez articles on the stamps of Belgium: "The post offices were required to keep an account of the receipts which were prepaid in cash for postage on journals and printed matter. produce satisfactory results it was necessary to do this daily on the total of the shipments. As this was a constant hindrance to the dispatches, the administration, in order to keep a regular and efficient check, decided to generalize the use of postage stamps for the prepayment of postage on newspapers and printed matter, the stamps to be affixed by the senders. . . . On September 15th, 1873, the Belgian Postal Administration decided that all the stamps of lower values than 10 centimes, which had thus far been used exclusively for the prepayment of newspapers and printed matter might in future be used on any articles whatever."

Universal Terms Wanted—Apropos of the lack of uniformity in stamp terminology, Ewen's Weekly Stamp News speaks of the various descriptives used to denote the postage due stamps and recommends that a common name be given to this class of stamps. In the past, writers have pointed out how it was advisable to decide upon one name for universal use among philatelists. Our cotemporary says: "The Grazer Briefmarken-Zeitung is much agitated because Senf has changed the German name for postage due stamps from Nachpostmarken to Portomarken simply. Here in England, we have no such stamps and no fixed name for them, the usual description being either unpaid letter stamps or postage due stamps. It would, we think be a great advantage to philately if the names of the different kinds of stamps could be fixed and especially if the equivalents in the various languages resembled one another. . . . Will someone kindly discover or invent a philatelic lingua franca?" Let some philatelists who is advanced in philology blaze the way to this desired end.

Dreaming—While on the subject of reform in philately, we make space for the following from an old collector, M. D. Kant, San Francisco, who claims nothing more than originality for his composition, which is entitled, A Dream of the Future: "After a hearty dinner the other night consisting of all the good things of which California can boast, I had a very peculiar dream that may prove interesting to my stamp friends. I dreamed that I was attending a meeting of the Universal Philatelic Union, where the subject for discussion was: The real value of each postage stamp according to the actual stock on hand throughout the world. Finally, an old stamp collector presented the following resolution: 1. Resolved, that all philatelic societies of the world combine to regulate the price of all stamps through a committee duly appointed and to be paid for its services. 2. That said committee notify all stamp dealers and large collectors to make an inventory of all their stock on hand each year and send the inventory to this committee for regulation of prices. 3. That said committee compile the number of each stamp that is available and price the stamps according to their merits and issue a catalogue that will be a true reflex of value. The resolution was carried by 9999 against 99 and the minority was almost wholly dealers." After reading Mr. Kant's dream and recognizing its foundation of logic, we say to him, in the words of the poet, Dream on. If Located—Eben S. Martin, president of the Eben S. Martin Co., concerning whose sudden departure from Chicago, some speculation was indulged in last week has gone to Alabama, as had been surmised. It is probable that he will continue his business in his new abode and no doubt announcement will be duly made of his intentions in this regard.

Pushed Aside—The department of Queries and Comment, a feature of the paper that appeals to many readers has been pushed aside from pillar to post for some time past by reason of the press of live matter for space in our columns. It will not be long before the inquiries again will be given their wonted place and we ask that readers who are awaiting attention will bear with us patiently during this time of the year which is the most active of the season.

Hitting Condition Cranks—Has the pendulum swung to the extreme and is it slowly receding to a position that marks the golden mean? At a recent meeting the Chicago Philatelic Society devoted the evening to a debate on the question whether condition exactions as now imposed were harmful to the continued well-being of philately. The result of the vote showed that the members were almost unanimous in the belief that the condition question has been carried too far. Some time before, another society passed resolutions practically to the same effect and if these indications count for aught the condition crank will soon be running to cover.

"SOURDOUGHS" BALK AT STAMP.

(E. A. Klebba sends us the following clipping from the St. Louis Star, a typical write-up in present day journalism. We reprint the same for what it is worth.—Ed.)

SEATTLE, WASH., April 17.—A seal, rampant, with whiskers, argent, caressing a chunk of ice, couchant, on a field, azure, does not appeal to the "sourdoughs" of Alaska as a coat of arms, wherefore, has a mighty yell gone up over the designs announced from Washington, D. C., for the postage stamp to be struck off in honor of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

Exalt the turnip of the Tanana, proclaim the gentle spud of Dawson, or glorify the red radish of Nome, say the "sourdoughs", but don't hand us a hunk of refrigerated blubber as the symbol of the Northland.

After this stamp incident Postmaster General Hitchcock will have a hard time convincing the pioneers of the gold belt that he ever "tended bar" anywhere north of 54:40. If he had he would have given his seal a parasol and a mint julep instead of stacking it up against an iceberg.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is primarily for the purpose of convincing a whole lot of folks who don't know it, that Alaska's biggest future is in its agriculture; that its marvelous gold mines are merely an incident; that pantries grow in Fairbanks and daffy-down-dillies thrive in Sitka. In a word, it will seek to unshoulder from the great North the burden of ice and snow and horror with which romanticists have afflicted it.

Despite all statements to the contrary, the citizen of Alaska is strong with civic, or better, national pride. He is proud of his great big empire and the things it has done. He plays its game straight up on numbers and will lay a bet any time that the seat of the National Government will be a whole lot closer to the pole within the century.

Ask him about icebergs and he will tell you indefinitely that he has heard there are some up north of Nome, and that once he saw a seal somewhere off St. Michaels, but that will be about all—don't print any Alaska stamps with refrigerating plants on them.

Position Wanted

The present Manager of a large Stamp Business, employing about thirty people, desires a change. Has had over ten years experience and, of course, is well known to the stamp trade, of unquestionable character and a hustler. Capable of taking full charge of any stamp and publishing business and working same up to the largest possible proportions for capital supplied. No attention paid unless backed by a fair capital and a willingness to allow a salary commensurate with ability.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—C. R. Harbaugh submits a specimen of the 2c carmine on blue entire envelope in albino form, every vestige of color removed, but the design clear and distinct. We have, however, already chronicled this freak in Mr. Kidder's department.

—Clippings acknowledged with thanks from Elmer Heise, and Herbert S. Johnson, M. D.

—Arthur E. Tuttle of the Bogert & Durbin Co., Phila., Pa., called at the WEEKLY office the past week. He assured us that business was good and expects to do even more advertising with the WEEKLY in the future than the firm has done in the past.

—Mr. Eagle calls our attention to two errors in his article of April 10. On page 131 "for Scott 1894" should read "J. W. Scott" and on page 132 the word "Marsden" is repeated when it should read "Mercado, $13.00".

—Supplementing what was said last week in regard to a new 2c stamp, Walter Bowman sends us a clipping from the Syracuse Journal indicating deep dissatisfaction with the "cake of ice" design. Among other things the despatch says:—

A scantily clad Indian picking strawberries or a miner with his head enshrouded in mosquito netting while he works under a blazing sun would not be amiss, but a seal cooling his flippers on a cake of ice is as inappropriate as a fur lined coat in the Panama Canal Zone.

—We are indebted to the following subscribers for copies of the WEEKLY dated Feb. 20: Samuel Leffel, D. H. Bacon, Dr. H. S. Johnson, T. B. Fobes, Dr. W. E. Booker, John Wills, Henry Norman, G. S. Dates, Jr., John Arnold, J. Finney Engle, R. F. Sabine, L. L. Batchelder, G. T. Gregg, W. H. Foote, F. A. Dunham and H. N. Mudge.

—Vol. I, No. 1, of the Stamp News published monthly by A. C. Roessler, 1958 Wash. Av., N. Y. City, is at hand. Though it may well be called a "yellow" sheet, to the philatelist it will appear all right. It is a house organ and though small in size is giving itself an opportunity to increase in favor.

—On May 1st, the Chicago Philatelic Society will move to its new clubroom, 112 Fifth Ave., fourth floor, and on that date, P. M. Wolsieffer will hold a sale there, thus properly christening the quarters. The coming auction sale includes the Gookin collection and, consequently, offers some exceptional items in U. S. cut square envelopes, and stamps such as the 3c scarlet and several special printings.

—"There is a mistake in my ad this week which will make folks wonder what I am talking about. I said 'The Lincoln coins that were printed on this paper are all sold out. There will be no more printed, etc.' but the typesetter made it read that 'There will be more printed'." —CHAS. R. MORRIS.

—A clipping from the Syracuse Journal, sent in by Elmer Heise, informs us of the death of Joseph E. Perkins of Syracuse. An antiquarian of the most pronounced type, his old book shop has been in the past much frequented by book, coin and stamp collectors and lovers of the antique.

—F. W. Grahame (see A. P. S. year book for address) is desirous of securing exchange relations with members of the A. P. S. and requests the WEEKLY to give publicity to this, thinking possibly other members of the Society might be glad to engage in exchange relations. We will note in the WEEKLY any such requests that may be sent in.

—Fred J. Melville has succeeded Mr. Nankivell as editor of the Postage Stamp. The many friends of Mr. Melville upon this side of the Atlantic will heartily congratulate him upon acquiring this responsibility, which he will fill with credit to himself and the entire world of philately.

—E. C. Dodd, LaGrange, Illinois, who has begun to advertise in the Trade Column, is the old-time dealer and member of the C. P. S., who has gained no mean

STAMPS WITH FREMONT'S PORTRAIT.

(Wm. J. Gardner favors us with a clipping from the San Fran. Evening Globe which carries with it its own explanation. We have seen nothing official to corroborate the statements herein made. —ED.)

The Fremont Memorial association, through F. D'Evelyn, chairman of the executive committee, has written a letter to Postmaster General Hitchcock, asking that the next issue of stamps bear the prototype of General John C. Fremont.

In a letter written several days ago to Assistant Postmaster McClaughrey of the San Francisco office, the committee asked his assistance in obtaining the necessary permission from Washington to have the head of the noted general placed on United States stamps.

It is considered no more than fitting that Fremont, who played a most important part in bringing California into the Union and thus affixing the thirty-first star in the banner of Old Glory, should receive due recognition at the hands of the present-day Californians.

In an informal letter from Postmaster General Hitchcock, which the California promotion committee received a day or two ago, it was understood that as soon as the picture of Fremont is received the stamps would be issued.

Imperforate Bargains (U. S.)

Possibly you may never have a chance to procure these as cheap again. This is a very special offer, good only for a short time while our limited supply lasts. We make this offer simply to get in touch with new customers, as these stamps are probably well worth the higher rates usually asked for them.

WRITE ME

I may not have the "largest stock" nor in fact do I claim to have a big stock—large stock means a large interest account—but if I don't have your wants I usually know where they are to be had, hence I turn over my investment 2 1/2 to 3 times each year. My motto "S. P. Q. R." (Small profit quick returns!)

Mr. Haseltine exhibited a collection of the encased postage stamps of the United States, those phila-numismatic links used for currency during the scarcity of coins at the time of the Civil War. A vote of thanks was extended to the gentlemen affording the entertainment. The meeting was then adjourned.

NOTE.—For the information of those inquiring, I would state that the amalgamation of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society with the other societies of Philadelphia will in no way affect the standing of Branch No. 18, A. P. S., as that organization will be maintained.

Regular meetings 3rd Monday at Schmidt's Hall, 516 9th St., N. W.

The 40th regular meeting was held April 12, 1909, at the home of C. R. Morris. Eleven members and visitors were present. The first part of the evening was spent in arranging dissected stamp puzzles. The business meeting was called to order at 8.20 P. M. Minutes of previous meeting were approved. The Treasurer's report showed: Dues received, $2.00; Disbursements, $4.50; leaving balance in General fund $25.84, Library fund $4.00 and Insurance fund $7.24.

The members were pleasantly entertained by an exhibition by projectoscope of a collection of souvenir postal cards illustrating the trip of the United States fleet around the world, starting at Hampton Roads and ending at Gibraltar.

Dayton D. Lore, second class electrician on the Kentucky who had mailed the cards to the folks at home, told of interesting incidents in connection with the trip, especially the account of his initiation, by Neptune, in celebration of his first crossing of the equator. Refreshments were served by the host. A vote of thanks was given Messrs. Lore and Morris for a very pleasant evening.

SINGER, Cft. Expert; DR. H. B. F. HEATH, CHAS. LEHMAN, PROF. LOWMY, GUST. SCHROEDER and THEO. STEINWAY, Trustees.

NEW YORK, April 15, 1909.

President Wilford called the meeting to order at 8.30 P. M. with 23 members present. Applications for membership: Emil Freed, 116 Duane St., proposed by Uhlmann, seconded by Wilford; Miss Wilhelmina Stroh, 195 Alexander Ave., proposed by Klein, seconded by Dicke. The next meeting will be held on May 6, and besides being the 115th meeting will mark the fifth anniversary of the founding of our society. A competitive exhibition of several superb collections of Belgium is to be held and the members attending will certainly be afforded a rare treat in this interesting country. After having appeased their philatelic appetites, they may satisfy the cravings of the inner man by a sumptuous banquet to be served in our club-room, and at which it is hoped all of our members will be present and make this one long to be remembered event.

EXPERIMENTAL PAPER
Only 1700 sheets of this paper were made into Lincoln stamps and their sale was then forced in every branch P. O. in this city, the result was that they were on sale for only about ten days. I have therefore had to raise my price for these to five cents each.

Lincolns.....5 cents each
The one and two cent regular, the only other stamps printed on this paper, I can still sell at 40% over face, as 4000 sheets of each were prepared.

2 Cent 1903 Issue Imperfor.
The supply of these stamps is now exhausted but what few I have left I will sell at 40% over face.

1908 9 Issue Imperfor.
I have all denominations of these including the Lincolns and can furnish them with either normal or inverted watermark at the same price. They are as follows: 1, 2 Washington, 2 Lincoln, 3, 4 and 5. All you want at 40% over face.

1908-9 Issue Imperforated
I will act as agent for anyone desiring the new issue of stamps and purchase as good specimens as can be obtained on 10% commission and return postage.

JAMESTOWNS

Postage extra on all orders under 50 cents. [57]

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

Only five applications this week. Guess the opening of the Base Ball Season was a little bit too much for the prosaic effort needed in securing new members. Or maybe it was just "fishin". You can fish all summer but we only have until the last of July to get those applications that we need. Just imagine that there is two out in the ninth inning, two men on bases and three runs needed to win. You are at the bat. Wouldn't you

ST. LOUIS BRANCH NO. 4.

The regular meeting of St. Louis Branch No. 4 was held on the evening of April 13th in the rooms of the Missouri Manufacturers Association, Wright Building. In the absence of President Cornwall, F. N. Chase took the chair. After the reading of correspondence the following nominations for Board of Directors of the American Philatelic Society for the year 1909-10 were made on the motion of H. A. Diamant, seconded by R. W. Boisselier: For Pres., H. N. Mudge of Illinois; Vice Pres., F. R. Cornwall, Adalbert Strauss, Chester Myers, all of Missouri; Sec., H. S. Adair of Ohio; Treas., Dr. W. P. Wherry of Nebraska; Int. Sec., L. Harald Kjellstedt of Pennsylvania; Directors, Gen. C. A. Coolidge of Michigan and A. H. Weber of California. A motion to adjourn was then in order.

GEO. WOOD, Sec.

BRANCH NO. 18.

The regular meeting of the Philadelphia Philatelic Society, Branch 18, A. P. S., was held at the School of Industrial Art on the evening of April 7th.

The Committee on Consolidation of Philadelphia Stamp Societies reported, recommending the proposition. It was decided to join with the other societies in the open meeting of April 20th.

The Committee on Atlantic City convention reported progress and stated that they had made arrangements for Convention Hall, and hotel accommodations for the dates of the convention. After the transaction of other routine business, Henry Chapman of Philadelphia exhibited the gems from the Gratz collection of stamps, which he had lately bought, as well as two groups of stamps from his previous collection, also the stamps of Spain practically complete; the stamps he exhibited listed upwards of $10,000.

Percival Parrish read a paper on the stamp collection of the late Jas. W. Paul of Philadelphia, giving an account of the very rare stamps contained in this prominent collection, and memoranda showing in whose collections the known stamps of the first issue of Mauritius are located. (Continued on preceding page.)

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A "HAS-BEEN".

By EDWARD H. HALL.

I came to light at Wolfboro, N. H., in 1857. Near the close of the civil war my mother died, and, my father then being in the Government service and stationed at Portsmouth, I was sent to live with an uncle at Meredith, in the same state. It was here, at the age of ten or eleven years, that I began to collect stamps. I was attracted by the variety in color and design of the few stamps which came within my notice, and started to save them, as did no doubt many another early collector, without the knowledge that any other person upon the globe was similarly interested. I ransacked the attic of my uncle's house, his law office, and the attics of the neighbors, and culled such stamps as I wished from thousands of letters. The stamps were mostly the one and three cent values, 1851 to 1861, also many of the hideous two cent Jacksons. I also remember a large find of the Canada beaver stamps. The one cent and three cent U. S. envelopes were numerous. I found none of the 1847 issue; in fact I never saw a stamp of this issue until years later when I contracted a decided weakness for them. If I found any Millburys or Brattleboros they didn't appeal to me.

A playmate joined in the search for old stamps, and it was not long before we learned that not only were other people collecting stamps, but some persons there were who actually made a business of selling old stamps. Possibly this information came to us in the advertising pages of Our Young Folks, a juvenile periodical of that day. I have a package of boyish letters written to my father in the late '60s which I secured at the time of his death twenty-one years ago. Interspersed with requests for Gulliver's Travels and the books of Oliver Optic and Mayne Reid, are frequent requests to "please send me some foreign stamps."

A party, W. L. Terhune by name, had gone from Boston to Portsmouth and embarked in the hat business. He also dealt in stamps on the side. I soon had my indulgent dad on his trail, and oh, the wonderful stamps I received! I will remember the early Uruguay, Colomb. Repub. and other stamps of the vintage of S. Allan Taylor. They surely looked awfully good to me, how I gloated over them!

In 1872 I went to Portsmouth to live. In the high school I found many ardent collectors, and soon was in the thick of the fray as "agent" for a dealer in Birmingham, England. Will some old timer kindly tell me his name? Was it Metz? I am not sure. I sold stamps from his sheets and enriched my own collection with stamps as commissions.

I well remember a trip to Boston with my father when I hunted up the office of Mr. F. Trifet. I think he was upstairs in a narrow office. I bought a packet or two, and he made them up for me from small drawers filled with stamps. In those days the triangular Cape was the king of stamps in my boyish estimation, and, by the way, I had a nice little lot of them in my last collection sold only a short time ago. In time my tastes began to change. Firstly, I had "a girl;" secondly, I learned to dance. Money was required to keep up a girl, attend dances and buy oyster stews.

My stamp collection! At the first opportunity I took it to Boston and offered it to Mr. Trifet. He glanced through the book and made me an offer which I feebly spurned, and some time later I sent the collection to a youthful friend in New York City who sold it to a dealer for a few paltry dollars.

Thus ended my interest in stamps for many long years, and the first chapter of my philatelic autobiography.

The year of 1882 found me in Colorado in search of health and demonetized silver. Three years later I went back to Portsmouth for "the girl," and soon business and family cares relegated all hobbies to the forgotten past.

One day late in 1893 I was at my postoffice box examining mail, when a voice at my shoulder said,—"Mr. H. will you kindly let me have the stamp on that letter?" I turned and stared at the youngster in amazement. Soon a flood of memories surged into my bewildered brain. "What," I exclaimed, "do you mean to tell me that people still collect postage stamps?" I had forgotten the habit and never dreamed that it still endured. "Yes, indeed," replied the boy. "Bring your collection to my office," I said. "Thank you, I will," said

NEXT AUCTION SALE MAY 15th

NEW YORK BUYERS

Owing to the frequent requests from our New York buyers to examine our auction lots, we have made arrangements with Mr. H. Wertheim at 32 E. 23rd St., New York City, to exhibit all our sales for at least one week at his office at above address. The next sale will be on exhibition at the above address from May 1st to May 8th.
The sale will contain a very fine collection of U. S. stamps, including Postage, Departments, Proofs, Essays, Trial Colors, etc. It will also contain a good portion of foreign stamps, the property of a local collector.
The catalogue is out, and we hope that our patrons will mail their bids as early as possible.

EXPERIMENTAL PAPER

Only 1700 sheets of this paper were made into Lincoln stamps and their sale was then forced in every branch P. O. in this city, the result was that they were on sale for only about ten days. I have therefore had to raise my price for these to five cents each.

Lincolns 5 cents each
The one and two cent regular, the only other stamps printed on this paper, I can still sell at 40% over face, as 4000 sheets of each were prepared.

2 Cent 1905 Issue Imperforates.
The supply of these stamps is now exhausted but what few I have left I will sell at 40% over face.

'908-9 Issue Imperforates.
I have all denominations of these including the Lincolns and can furnish them with either normal or inverted watermark at the same price. They are as follows: 1, 2 Washington, 2 Lincoln, 3, 4 and 5. All you want at 40% over face.

1908-9 Issue Perforated
I will act as agent for anyone desiring the new issue of stamps and purchase as good specimens as can be obtained on 10% commission and return postage.

JAMESTOWNS
I have 75 sets of these stamps as finely centered as you can ask for which I will sell for 10 cents per set. I will not break sets.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

BY CHARLES R. MORRIS.

The change in the Exposition stamp was occasioned by the kick that was registered by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. The members do not want the people of the country to think that all Alaska could raise was icebergs. Secretary Seward was selected as he was Secretary of State at the time of the purchase and consummated the deal.

Mr. Ralph, Director of the Bureau was very much surprised that there had been enough difference in the inks of the new stamps to make them noted by some dealers with a difference in price. He called in two of the men who are responsible for such things and they said they did not know there had been the slightest variation and Mr. Ralph told them he wanted them to use even more care than before, so the different shades of the 1, 2, 3 and 5 that are being advertised are not authorized.

I have had some inquiries regarding the part perforated stamps that are being put out. These are only another variety of the vending machine stamps and are not prepared at the Bureau.

Speaking of vending machines reminds me that those machines in this city which vend the stamps with corners cut off are doing away with the five cent stamp and in its place is passed out a small bit of folded oil paper cut in the same way and enclosing two twos and a one. There is too little sale for the fives and a great many people don't happen to have pennies in their pocket when they do have nickels.

All of the experimental paper stamps have been sold out. Whether the experiment was satisfactory or not I have not learned.

I noticed a few days ago that the Comptroller of the Treasury in rendering a decision to the Postmaster General last October, said that while there was no law authorizing the exchange of adhesive postage stamps of one denomination for those of another, that it was within the discretion of the P. M. G. to issue a regulation permitting such exchange. After seeing that decision I wrote to the P. M. G. and was courteously referred to the printed regulations where such exchange is prohibited.

A GREAT COLLECTION OF VICTORIA.

The well known Henry Grey specialized collection of the stamps of Victoria which were recently exhibited at a meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, by the owner, Henry Grey, Esq., has been purchased by Charles Lathrop Pack, the well known American specialist in the stamps of Australia and British North America. The collection has just recently arrived in this country and has been seen by a few of Mr. Pack's friends. It contains a wealth of unused early stamps of Victoria, including some 40 copies of the various printings of the first type of the 1 penny. There are also such unused rarities as a block of 4 of the 2d of 1864, the 4d watermark 5 shillings, and the dark blue 3d on laid paper. There are perhaps a hundred copies of the first type of the 3d of various printings, but the gem of the collection is perhaps a splendid unused copy of the 6d orange of 1860. This collection is now being remounted and amalgamated with Mr. Pack's splendid Victoria collection. When completed the result will be the finest specialized collection of Victoria outside of England, and some, who are competent to judge, believe that it will be at least the equal of any English collection of the kind, with the exception perhaps of that owned by Mr. Hausburg. The collection fills four or five Oriel albums.

GOLDEN WEST STAMP EXHIBITION.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an appeal by Mr. Kjellstedt that we hope will be heartily responded to. An exhibition of U. S. stamps under such wide-awake auspices should receive favorable consideration.

The managing editor takes the liberty of quoting as follows from a personal letter just at hand from Mr. Melville, editor of the Postage Stamp:

"This is just a line to inform you that we are going to hold an Exhibition of United States Stamps this summer, starting in May, at the Earls Court Exhibition in connection with the big American Industries Exhibition.

"The notice we have of this is very short and I would be glad if you would at once urge your readers, who are interested in the subject to send any interesting items bearing on postal matters, stamps, proofs, revenues, United States colonials, pamphlets, documents, pictures, to the Hon. Secretary of the Exhibition, H.F. Johnson, 44, Fleet St., London, E.C.

"At the same time you might interest your readers, a number of whom will probably be visiting England in the summer time, and induce them to make a special point of visiting the Stamp Exhibition, which will be open from about May 8th until October 1st."

The following from an advance copy of the Postage Stamp gives more of the particulars:

"With the number of exhibitions which have been and still are on the tapis for the present year, it will no doubt come as a big surprise that the Junior Philatelic Society has an exhibition 'up its sleeve' for London. The show will be a fairly large one in point of area to be covered, but it will be limited in subject to the issues of the United States and its Colonies.

"The locale of the Exhibition is Earls Court, where from May to October this year will be held the great 'Golden West and American Industries Exhibition' in connection with which the Juniors have arranged the forthcoming philatelic event. Every visitor to Earls Court knows the magnificent Ducal Hall. It is in the left wing of this hall that the Stamp Exhibition will be held from May to October.

"As already stated the display will deal with U. S. postage stamps, U. S. Colonials, and probably U. S. fiscals, which are of very handsome designs and will assist in providing, a very popular show. But no doubt the greatest interest in the experiment will be aroused by the bands of collectors who will assemble in the enclosed wing of the Ducal Hall to 'swap' stamps and to gossip on matters philatelic. The presence of a number of dealers' exhibits and some brisk dealing at a few trade stalls will go far towards making Earls Court the stamp bourse of the summer.

"Some idea of the size of the space allotted to the Exhibition of Stamps may be gathered from the fact that the longest wall is about 50 ft. in length. There is over 140 ft. run of wall space which can be covered with three of the J. P. S. Exhibition frames deep without inconvenience to the visitor in making his examination of the exhibits.

"Within this outer wall space there is ample accommodation for numerous exhibits in show cases which will be utilized to the utmost advantage with the material which is placed at the disposal of the J. P. S. Authorities.

"The lighting arrangements are of the utmost importance to a stamp exhibition which is to be open for a long period.

"NO PAPER LIKE THE WEEKLY!"

How often we hear these words and what a satisfaction it brings us: "No paper like the WEEKLY!" We give all the live news, maintain an up-to-date chronicle, answer all the questions put to us, sandwich in an occasional story and yet every week use the first page for a "heavy" article.

What a fine menu we spread before our readers every week, just the menu needed for a live newspaper! Not too scientific in contents, nor yet the organ of the novice but a good wholesome purveyor of stamp news.

Not the least of our admirable features is the department of advertising—some say its most attractive. Patrons are constantly writing our advertisers:—"I always look for your advertisement the first thing."

Enough said! Every stamp collector reading a stamp paper will save many dollars every year. Send 25c for 6 mos. and receive free that packet of 200 diff. foreign stamps.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Great Work—The appearance of Henry J. Crocker's magnificent work, "Hawaiian Numerals" gives cause for philatelic rejoicing as it is a triumph in philatelic publication and because it presents an increased sum of philatelic knowledge of the issues of that dependency of the United States, Hawaii. The fascinations of the early stamps of the islands have developed the keenest interest in the specimens and the unremitting study of those who are in a position to indulge their preferences for Hawaiian rarities has developed the fullest information on the subject of the Missionaries and Numerals. There is a difference between the extent of the knowledge available on early Hawaiians today and that obtainable, say, about forty years ago, when Dr. Gray in his highly advanced catalogue, for the times, said in a note, on the first issue: "It is said that a variety of the 13 cents of the above type exists with H. I. and U. S. Postage as the upper inscription."

Old Hawaiian Days—The type-set "missionaries" and "numerals," in an indirect way attract attention to the printing facilities that were to be found in Hawaii about the time of these issues. It may be of some interest to know that the printing industry flourished and that there were many books and papers. So early as 1822, the American missionaries began to use the printing press in the islands; and in an old work, we find the following account of the curiosity excited by the operation of the first press: "The natives flocked about. Liholiho, Kalanikou, Boki, and other chiefs and numbers of the people flowed in to see the new engine, the printing press, to them a great curiosity. Several were induced to undertake to learn the art of printing, and in time succeeded. Most of the printing done at the islands has been done by native hands. When the king first examined the press, a sheet of white paper being laid on, he pulled the lever round and was surprised to see the paper covered instantly with words in his own language." This king was Liholiho or Kamehameha II, who reigned from 1819, the date of the death of Kamehameha I, to 1824. It was this king who, when invited by the missionaries to attend services at church, said "I am tipsy, and it is not right to go to church drunk; when I have got through, I will come."

* * *

Missionaries—Many of the early original covers with Hawaiian stamps bear addresses of ministers of the gospel in this country. It was natural that the missionaries in Hawaii correspond with their brother clergymen in America who were anxious to learn of christianity in the islands. The postal demands of the American missionaries influenced the first issue, which, commonly, is called after the workers among the heathen. Necessarily, all of the christian laborers were persons of some scholarly attainments and naturally, it follows of letter-writing proclivities. It may be asked why missionary zeal was particularly strong in the Hawaiian Islands and how it came that the islands were selected as a field for earnest christian endeavor. We shall explain briefly, as we do not remember having seen the connection between America and the "Sandwich Islands" in this regard, illustrated in philatelic print.

Bit of History—Two Hawaiian lads, from a "boy's notion" as one of them said, but directed by the finger of Providence according to religious view, sailed to America with the captain of an American trader and landed at New York in 1809, where for a time, they lived the freer life of the city, somewhat to the impairment of their morals. They were rescued by the captain of the ship, who took them with him to New Haven, Conn., where the boys attracted much sympathetic attention and where their spiritual welfare was well conserved. After several years spent among elevating influences, their conversion was accomplished and the gratitude of the boys for the Christian instruction was genuine. "Acquaintance with these youths and their engaging intelligence, called attention to others who came from time to time, from the same country. The friends of Christ were led to look upon these sons of Paganism, providentially brought to their doors, as having a claim for sympathy, care and instruction in the Christian doctrine, and attempting to meet this claim, they cherished the reasonable hope that suitable efforts to enlighten and convert them, would tend to the evangelization of their nation." In 1816, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, established a school at Cornwall, Conn., for the sons of heathen peoples, where their dark superstitions were readily displaced by academical and Christian teachings. In 1820, the first missionary band landed in the Hawaiian Islands and from that time, the propaganda advanced with increased success.

After Them—Some sensational news comes from abroad. In England, two stamp dealers have been arrested for being concerned in the traffic of stamps, "purporting to be used in British North Borneo." The two dealers, Henry R. Harmer and John S. Lowden, both of London, were held in heavy bail. As the Colonial Office Journal in its last number contained the following, an evident connection is shown between the operators in Paris and London: "There have been extensive forgeries in Paris of British North Borneo Company stamps. About 2,000,000 forged stamps were seized on the premises of a printer and correspondence was found which it is stated showed how an order had been given for them by a London firm. The Paris police also found evidence that Transvaal and Fiji stamps had been forged." According to Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, the forged Borneo stamps are the issues of 1887 and 1889, small arms design. If France will attend to the punishment of the guilty so effectively as we are sure that England will, the stamp forging industry will receive a body blow.

In Number—Three varieties of private perforation of the current imperforate U. S. stamps have been shown us and no doubt there will be more to follow. H. M. Clark says that he has been informed that one of the denominations of imperforates has been issued on the experimental paper. The specialist in United States stamps is having a glorious inning which he is enjoying to the utmost, but it will not be long before he will begin to consider just where the activity will end. Then, on the horizon, the new issues of revenue stamps appear and the Seattle exposition stamps have been decided upon. If new issues of a country stimulate interest in its stamps, United States stamps are at perihelion.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Our dealers receive a great many conundrums in a day's mail. Here is a quotation from a letter to the Toledo Stamp Co.—"If you want agents for your stamps I have a great deal of leisure time for selling them and if you will send me twenty billions, one billion in a packet, I will sell them for you at $5.00 per million on a basis of one-half the receipts. This is a large place and everyone is collecting stamps."

—A correspondent calls our attention to the fact that a reputable firm is sending out sets of the army franks that we have condemned so frequently in days gone by. The WEEKLY suggests that any firm handling this trash lays itself open to criticism, and advertisers in the WEEKLY who have any of these labels in stock are urged to burn the same, the sooner the better.

—In addition to the acknowledgment extended last week to friends sending in back numbers of the WEEKLY we also wish to thank Orville Norcross, A. Gould, and J. Rotch, Jr.

—The Keystone Philatelic Society, with five charter members, was organized April 22 in Phila. Information as to dues, etc., can be obtained from L. S. Bishop, Sec., 6660 Germantown Av., Phila., Pa.

—We are indebted to the following for stamp clippings just at hand: Louis C. Perlman, H. C. Kendall and W. A. Cullers.

—The Nassau Stamp Co. held its 13th auction sale Tuesday and Thursday evenings of this week when the first part of the collection of H. E. Wilson of Pittsburg, Pa., was sold.

—Warning.—H. F. Colman, 723 11th St, Wash., D. C., places in our hands correspondence showing a fraudulent transaction upon the part of one Chail, Hazelwood Sta., Pittsburg, Pa. An approval selection was sent the party Jan. 21 but letters recently sent him are all returned as "undeliverable". Interested parties will kindly communicate with Mr. Colman. Make a note of the name for future reference.

—In case you have any other complaints against the following I will turn them over to Mr. Goodhue. They all owe me more or less and I have been unable to get answers to my letters, which were not returned as undeliverable. F. W. Otto, 53 W. Washington, Chicago; R. H. Whitner, Jr, 11 Cone, Atlanta; G. W. Grover, Gen. Del., Denver.—ELLIOTT PERRY.

CHANGE IN DESIGN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—(Special despatch to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY).—Design of Seattle stamp changed. Secretary Seward's head facing left substituted for the seal, otherwise the same. Approved yesterday.—CHAS. R. MORRIS.

NEW EXPOSITION STAMP.

Official Circular as Sent Out by the Postal Authorities.

1. Postmasters are notified that the Department is now preparing a new postage stamp of special design, which will be ready for issue about June 1, to commemorate the development of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific territory.

2. This stamp will be rectangular in shape 49-64 by 1 3-64 inches in size, and of 2-cent denomination only; color, red. At the top and bottom are panels containing respectively the words "U. S. Postage" and "Two Cents." In the center the larger part of a circle rests on the lower panel and incloses a ribbon bearing the words "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific 1909", and in the center of the circle appears a portrait of William H. Seward, who as Secretary of State, conducted the negotiations for the purchase of Alaska from Russia. The name "William H. Seward" appears under the portrait. On either side is an ellipse containing the Arabic numeral 2 with laurel branches as a background.

3. The new stamp will not be issued in book form.

4. There will be no commemorative issue of stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, or postal cards.

5. The stamps of the Alaska commemorative issue are not to be sold exclusively in place of stamps of the regular series. A supply of the latter must be carried in stock by all postmasters. Stamps of the commemorative or of the regular issue will be supplied according to the preference of the purchaser.

ALLEGED FORGED STAMPS.

We quote the following from a London letter just at hand:—

"On Wednesday last, April 14, Harmer & Lowden, (H. Mack & Co. and West End Stamp Co., &c., &c.) were hauled up at the instance of Brown of Salisbury and the British North Borneo Company for frauds upon the revenues of the latter Company by means of bogus stamps. The magistrates were reluctant to let bail, but they did upon sureties of $5,000 each—so you see is not half serious."

"Of course both men have been in like shady cases before,—Lowden being in that one with Ewen a short time ago, when under the name of Moore he sued Ewen for libel for saying he made or dealt in forged stamps. As you know the result, Ewen won, and some of those concerned nearly got 'time'."

From a clipping at hand we quote in part:—

"The accused were two stamp dealers, John Stewart Lowden, twenty-nine, of Villiers street, Strand, and Henry Harmer, thirty-nine, of Preston-road, Westcliff-on-Sea.

"They were charged with conspiring to obtain money and securities by fraud from persons who should deal with them, or the West End Stamp Company or with Herbert Mack and Co., Ltd., in buying stamps purporting to be used for postage purposes in British North Borneo.

"In the offices of both prisoners it was stated that a large quantity of British North Borneo stamps were found.

"Chief Inspector Stockley said that Harmer when arrested, asked who were the persons supposed to have been defrauded.

"When told that one of the persons was a Mr. Brown, of Salisbury, he replied: 'Yes, I have done business with him. I think you are wrong, as there is an explanation to this.'

"He added, 'I have severed my connection with Mr. Lowden long since.'"

LONDON EXHIBIT OF U. S. STAMPS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

In a communication, dated April 8th, my friend, Fred J. Melville, informs me that an exhibition will be held in London this summer, dealing exclusively with American industries. "Earls Court Exhibition" is the name of this undertaking, and with its usual enterprise, the Junior Philatelic Society of London, headed by Mr. Melville, has secured a very big section which will be filled with a special display of U. S. Postage Stamps. This exhibition will also be made a philatelic rendezvous for the summer.

As International Secretary of the American Philatelic Society, I desire to call the attention of my fellow members to this splendid opportunity of advertising American philately. What better occasion could you possibly find than an exclusive exhibit of American postage stamps held in the philatelic center of the world? Many of our members own beautiful collections of United States postage and proofs, which, if exhibited, would be of lasting credit to our society and philately. Mr. Melville solicits exhibits by American collectors and assures me that such exhibits will be heartily welcomed and well taken care of.

Exhibits as well as inquiries should be addressed to H. F. Johnson, 44 Fleet St., London, E. C., England.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—Kendall P. Smith reports having seen the current 2c carmine envelope on white, size 14, with "1903" watermark. Apparently Mr. Hollinger was not so far wrong as it was claimed.

Charles A. Townsend sends us several impressions from the roll used in overprinting the Akron, O., precancels, which explain why it is so difficult to procure well centred and nicely printed specimens. Apparently the roll has spread considerably. When originally made it just about covered three stamps, but at the present time, the three names are spread over four stamps. Of the issue of 1902 all values 1c to 10c inclusive received this impression, but of the 1908-09 series only the 1c, 2c, 3c and 5c have been precancelled.

R. J. Tarry reports having seen the 1c current envelope, size 13, on "1903" paper.

W. A. Budlong sends us used copies of the current 1c stamp on the experimental paper. He also sends the 1c 1908, precancelled Fort Wayne, Ind., in the familiar type,—ruled border, with curved top.

Frank B. Eldredge reports the following new precancels:

Chicago, Ill., 60c 1908, normal.
Racine, Wis., 2c 1908, reading up.
Providence, R. I., 5c 1908, normal.
McAllister, Okla., 1c 1908.
Boston, Mass., 2c 1908, inverted.
Akron, Ohio, 3c 1908, inverted.

LeRoy Pratt reports the following minor variety in the 2c Lincoln. The third stamp from the bottom, second from the right of plate No. 4982 has the period after "12" joined to the tail of the figure "2".

CANADA.—A. McKechnie favors us with a recent copy of the Canadian House of Commons Hansard, with an interesting passage regarding the Tercentenary stamps. Two questions were propounded by a member, as follows: 1. What was the total amount received by the Post Office Department from the sale of the special Tercentenary stamps? 2. What part of this sum would probably have been received as ordinary revenue if there had been no special issue of stamps?

To these questions the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster General, responded: The following was the issue to postmasters of the Tercentenary postage stamps:

75 var. 75 diff. countries, cat. value $3.50 for 75c
75 var. U. S. Postage, no Env. or Revs., includes Depts., catalog value $2. 25c

The department has no knowledge whether the stamps in question have all been sold, as during their issue the ordinary postage stamps were also on sale, both issues being in use as preferred by the public. The proceeds derived from the sale of stamps of the two issues were not kept separately, but treated as arising from a common source. It is, therefore, impossible to state to what extent the issue of the Tercentenary postage stamps may have affected the ordinary revenue. At the ordinary period fixed by the department for squaring these accounts, it may be possible to give the approximate value.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Greene Bros. have shown us a new print of the 1/4d stamp, in a very much darker shade of brown than the original print.

CRETE.—Frank P. Brown has shown us a number of provisionals and new surcharges from this country. The word "Ellas" now appears in a much larger type, the 1l bistre, the 2l of 1902 and the provisional 2 on 20l having appeared in this type. There are also two types of the word meaning provisional, and we have seen these varieties:

1l bistre, large "Ellas" and small provisional; 5 on 20l, large "Ellas", small provisional; 2l purple, large "Ellas"; 5l green, large "Ellas"; 2 on 20l postage due, large "2", large provisional, large "Ellas"; 2 on 20l postage due, old type "Ellas", large provisional, small "2". The 2l purple and 5l green, noted above, have the new type "Ellas" in red. The 1l postage due has also received the new "Ellas" in black.

GUATEMALA.—The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. has shown us a new provisional from this country, the 50c of 1902 having been surcharged "1909—Seis 6 Seis—Centavos" in three lines, in black. We are informed that 75c of the same issue has received a similar surcharge in red, converting it into a 2c stamp.

Provisional Adhesives.

6c on 50c red brown and blue.
2c on 75c gray lilac and black.

MARTINIQUE.—In No. 949 we chronicled the lower values of the new set, all being of the large upright type, with head of a Creole woman. The balance of the set has now appeared, there being two other designs, the second showing a view of Fort de France, and the third a full length figure of a native woman. The 20c is in the first type, the values 25c to 75c inclusive in the second type and the franc values in the third type, the latter being upright like the lower values. We give the whole set here for convenience of reference.

Adhesives.

PARAGUAY.—Philip Wolff reports having received the 60c maroon, with the 1908 surcharge.

PERU.—Thanks to the New England Stamp Co. and Philip Wolff, we are now able to give nearly a complete set of the new stamps, as noted last week. We give the list in full as far as we have seen the stamps.

Adhesives.

1c gray.
2c green.
4c red.
5c lilac.
10c dark blue.
12c pale greenish blue.
20c red brown.
50c orange yellow.
1p lake red and black.

RHODESIA.—A complete new set of stamps has been issued for this Colony, which has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. Incidentally four provisionals have been made by surcharging several values in the set. The stamps used as foundation of the new set are the small sized stamps of the British South Africa Company, all of which have been overprinted "Rhodesia" in bold black type, with large initial letter "R". All the provisionals have the value at the bottom obliterated by long lines of rule, and the figures in the upper corners by small pieces of rule. The 5d, 7 1/2d and 10d have the new value in very large black type, with the value in figures, while the new 2sh stamp has the new value spelled out in very much smaller type.

We have also been shown these stamps by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co.

Adhesives.

TASMANIA.—Miss Amy L. Swift submits a copy of the current 2d pictorial, which appears to be printed on double paper. Miss Swift says: "It came in an ordinary lot, and I put it to soak to clear the paper off the back. When that was off, the edges of the perforations looked so uneven and rough that I suspected double paper, and inserted a needle in a promising one, finding little difficulty in prying the two surfaces apart far enough to insert a bit of paper between them. With care I think the two surfaces could be completely separated. This is the only such copy I have ever noticed. The postmark, '20 Feb., '09' shows recent use, and all in all the indications are that the United States may not be the only country using experimental paper."

of June. The secretary and Chas. W. Stiles were appointed a committee to arrange for same. There were no applications for membership. After the business meeting two very fine collections of British Colonial stamps of the 20th century were exhibited, that by Wm. G. Bail being arranged in the latest form of mounting, viz., in stock books, thus leaving every stamp in mint state in the true acceptance of the word. That of the secretary was mounted in a blank album and according to auction catalogues was in mint state, but not as was Mr. Bail's, whose stamps were never hinged. Meeting adjourned at 10.30 P. M., to meet the second Tuesday in May.

REVENUE NOTES AND OTHER THINGS.

Edited by E. R. VANDERHOOF.

The editor of this department will be pleased to hear from any readers of the WEEKLY who can contribute to its usefulness and readability. Specimens of varieties or oddities submitted will be promptly returned. Address, E. R. Vanderhooft, 2639 Vallejo St., Denver, Colo.

Numerical Surcharge.—A correspondent desires me to notice a red, rubber stamp surcharge appearing on the small snuff stamps. I refer in particular to the one ounce value, current issue. This surcharge I have seen with numbers as high as 20, and as low as 1. I am told that they run as high as 35. Those shown are said to come from one pound packages. Surcharge and plate fiends, please get busy. Any one who can explain the phenomenon, kindly communicate.

Cocoa-Cola.—There is an interesting item about the 1898 revenue law of special interest to this department's readers. Perhaps it is familiar to the many, yet worth having again called to your attention. The manufacturers of the Cocoa-Cola beverage were made to pay a tax on their product during that period; which tax they resented to such an extent as to bring suit against the United States in Federal Court at Atlanta, Ga., securing refund to the extent of some sixty thousand dollars unjust tax. Any of us who can recall seeing barrels of this beverage in transit at the time can no doubt recall the appearance of the side of the barrel decorated with large blocks of the five cent proprietary. Thus, a small block in one's collection bears an association of merit to the possessor. These are the small things which, when studied and remembered, cause the value of certain items to bear unestimable value to the collector—from a point of pure love alone, intrinsic, or monetary value not considered. A proper application of anecdote and history combined is what makes our little trouble-dispelling vocation a science indeed—not a mere hobby.

Tape Worm Stamp.—Two correspondents ask concerning the above. The celebrated Tape Worm Stamp is a variety of embossed paper of two cent denomination. Design "A" as in Sterling's old catalog, and Mr. Henkels' recent list published in the WEEKLY. The peculiar thing about the stamp is that one impression overlaps the one directly underneath so that the top impression alone is entire, while about one-third, being the bottom portion is shown of all other impressions. The specimen that I own bears 57 impressions, a face value of $1.14; it is stated however that they exist bearing impressions of 54 and upwards. All that I have seen or heard of are printed in an orange color, while single specimens are usually in black, although there are various colors in existence. This odd stamp was used on the Clearing House Specie clerk's statement, and was named "Tape Worm", no doubt from its being possessed of features that so closely simulate that particular individual's peculiar formation, whose segments overlap each other to obstinate length.

ciple to shear it. Its brightness of color, clearness of impression, and the untrammelled appearance of the paper first caused me to dub it a proof until it inadvertently dropped into the benzine pot, causing the tell tale watermark to appear. It would indeed be interesting if some one found a block of four from this sheet. Then our comment would be at an end, but until then, we invite comment.

More About Soaking and Cleaning.—Since last writing about this subject, several months ago, I have received several letters containing information in addition to what has already been placed before our readers.

One party writes in substance that shellac is quite soluble in alcohol and will hurt nothing but aniline and fugitive colors; and even they will stand it if not subjected to rubbing. Hot or warm water is a dispeller of glue. Varnish disappears before the attacks of turpentine. If after the turpentine application the stamp appears sticky, a bath in benzine will recomp it.

Another party recommends cleaning stamps first in turpentine and then in alcohol. Parties having occasion to experiment may find some virtue in the above. In experimenting, would I be considered presumptuous to suggest that the commoner specimens be processed first?

Imperf. Vogler Meyer and Co.—We have at hand a beautiful uncanceled copy of the Vogler Meyer and Co. one cent vermilion stamp, No. 2526, watermarked and imperf. Of course, it is not catalogued imperforate, but it bears all of the ear marks of an imperforate variety, and all that could be desired in a single specimen. The design measures 17½ by 23 mm., while the stamp, extreme measurements is 22 by 25 mm. From these figures it is readily apparent that there are generous enough margins to make it worthy of mention, even if some one had little enough prin-

Total membership May 1, 1909, 1603

The American Philatelic Society has received an invitation from the Junior Philatelic Society of London, England, through its president, Hon. Fred J. Melville, to be represented at a grand exhibition of United States Stamps, in connection with the American Industries

Exhibition, at Earls Court, which opens some time in May. It is to be hoped that our members possessing representative collections of our own country will respond to the hearty invitation given them, and will write at once for information to H. F. Johnson, 44 Fleet St., London, E. C., England. Let's show this enterprising Society that there are

"hands across the sea" in philately.

Last week the secretary wrote an urgent appeal for new members, and this week we have only two applications.

The secretary will keep quiet this week and see if the members can appreciate it by sending in the largest number of applications yet.

the evening was postponed until the next meeting. Meeting adjourned at 9 30 P. M. Next meeting May 12th, 1909.

JOS. MIZERA, Sec.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 55th regular meeting was held April 20th, President Mason in the chair and 12 members in attendance. Mr.
Pierson of Waterbury, Conn., was present as a visitor. The secretary being compelled to leave early, J. F. Ranney was appointed secretary pro tem. Following passive members were proposed by Mr. Adair: Major J. M. T. Partello, Iver R. Johnson.

Communications were read from St.
Louis Branch No. 4 and from the Philatelic Literature Society of London, of which latter the Columbus Collectors' Club has been elected a member. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the suggestion of L. Harald Kjellstedt, regarding the publication of a specialized catalogue of United States postage stamps, stamped envelopes and revenues, to be undertaken by the American Philatelic Society, is heartily endorsed.

The subject for the evening's study was "The One Cent Stamps of the United States", the varieties being shown by the members, and readings were given from Mr. Luff's book on U. S. stamps. After the usual drawing, an auction of philatelic literature was held, the society's duplicates being placed on sale.

J. F. RANNEY, Sec. Pro Tem.

A RECRUITING WORD.

The May make-up of the Recruiting Committee will be made public next week. May we suggest that members get busy in the quest of applications?

Elsewhere we publish an offer from Mr. Dunning, which is well worth perusal. If we had one hundred members with Mr. Dunning's energy and public spirit things would move even more swiftly than at the present time.

Why not join our national society and do your part in increasing its size and influence? We shall be very glad to propose your name upon receipt of application accompanied by $1.00 for share of stock and 40c for dues to next August.
Send age, occupation and business reference.

If not fully decided send for an illustrated booklet describing all the advantages of membership in the Society.

The regular meeting of the New England Philatelic Association was held on the evening of April 12, 1909, at 28
School St., Room 1, Boston, Mass.
Meeting called to order by the president,
H. W. Legg. Minutes of the March meeting read and approved as correct.
Treasurer's report read and accepted, showing a balance in the treasury of $40.52. On motion duly made and carried, it was voted that the secretary arrange with MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for a continuation of service as official organ on the same terms as last contract was made. On motion duly made and carried it was voted to have the usual summer

FISCAL ISSUES OF STATE OF NEW YORK.

By E. R. VANDERHOOF.

(This article will be reprinted uniform with our previous attempts in this direction and supplied at 5c each, mailed in a pasteboard tube. These reprints are made so that they may be inserted in the leading blank albums. Valuable for reference if kept in a binder which we can supply at 30c each, which just pays cost of manufacture and postage.—Ed.)

As a means of invoking the curiosity and interest of neophytes, and of deepening the scholastic impulses of the initiated, I endeavor to place before the readers of the WEEKLY what information is at my command relating to the fiscal issues of the State of New York. Used for the purpose of legalizing transfer of stocks on Wall Street, and holding in their realm fine fields for the hair splitting prospector, they are found to be very acceptable to many collectors as a side-line for spare moments—a line replete with minor varieties and shades—paper varieties, modes of surcharge and separation. They are commanding no little attention right now, and though the bulk of the varieties will be shortly obsolete, most of them can be picked up for trifling sums.

Of course, some of them are scarce, especially in the minor varieties, but I will endeavor to list only those so diversified that they will be apparent at sight, leaving the development of further varieties to the pleasure of the student.

The stamps have all been engraved and printed by Quale & Sons of Albany, New York. They are printed in sheets of one hundred stamps each. Each sheet is composed of ten rows of ten stamps each. All but the first issue, which is unwatermarked appear on paper watermarked "State of New York". The first issue is rouletted—all following being perforated.

The evident demand for the $10.00 and $20.00 is so small as to necessitate no change in those designs throughout. Readers will note that these values appear in the first design only. These two values, with single surcharge, and properly belonging to the second issue, are still in use. Nor have I heard rumor of any new design for these values.

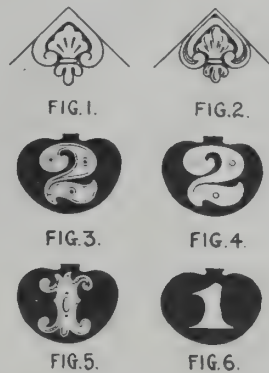

The ink used in applying the surcharges dissolves freely in water and great care should be exercised in cleaning the stamps—better not soak them at all as the paper will usually come readily enough from the backs of the stamps without soaking.

Finding these stamps without cut cancellations is like a systematic search for the proverbial hen's teeth, but it only adds zest to the search.

— FIRST ISSUE, JUNE, 1905.

The design of this first issue measures 23 1/2 by 31 1/2 mm. It is printed on light weight white, wove paper. The upper center is ornamented by a circular tablet bearing the arms of the State of New York on colorless background, this coat-of-arms being surrounded by a band bearing the inscription "State of New York Stock Transfer Tax"—in colorless letters. The background of the rest of the design is composed of vertical lines of color. Each corner is ornamented by a design closely resembling the "Spade" of a deck of cards, only with more ornaments. A small oval surrounded by foliage and immediately underneath the coat of arms bears the numeral of value, while directly underneath this label is another bearing the denomination in letters. There are four elongated tablets, one at either side of the stamp bearing heavy vertical lines which graduate the color to a nicety.

Below is a list of the values and varieties that have come to my direct notice, omitting all of the trifling minor varieties, which for good and sufficient reasons I do not consider worthy of mention in this humble article.

sends us an albino envelope which has passed through the mails. The postoffice clerk had drawn a blue pencil line around the stamp, and marked it "O K" in the same blue letters.E. F. Roy sends us several freak envelopes, including a copy of the 2c current envelope, which has received too much ink and is therefore badly smudged, and a 2c red brown envelope, with a round white "O" covering the lower part of the "U" and a part of the "N" of "United". Mr. Roy also sends a 2c stamp which has a line of perforation running along the colored line which marks the separation of the sheets. This might possibly have come from a stamp book, though there is nothing on the stamp to indicate it, except that the right hand edge is imperforate, the colored perforated line being at the top.Axel E. Johnson reports having seen a copy of the 2c shield stamp of the 1902 series, with only one-half to one-quarter printed, the balance of the design being blank. There were 20 specimens of this freak in a lot of 10,000 stamps bought for a large corporation.D. R. Langhorn reports having a cover from steel plates for this country, by Perkins, Bacon & Co., Ltd, of London.

The series comprises 10 values, from 1c to 75c, but the same designs have been printed in different colors, and surcharged "O S" in the script character used on the 1906 set. Strikingly original as was the 1906 set, this issue, which may be called the "landscape series", certainly surpasses it. The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the two sets. The different stamps are described as follows:1c—View of a coffee plantation in Liberia, with hills in the distance, the frame being simple arabesque in style, with numerals in the upper corners and a few coffee beans at the sides.2c—Small portrait of President Barclay, with ornamental frame, and numeral in the left bottom corner.5c—Liberian gunboat "Lark", with steam up; rope frame, with knots, and with the numerals in life buoys in the lower corners.10c—Triangular in form, with allegorical figure representing Commerce, with anchor, etc.15c—Native woman making cotton thread, sitting under a huge tree, with her bowl of carded cotton; holding the spool high in her left hand, she twists it rapidly and the thread is drawn off rapidly by the right. The vignette is overshadowed by palms. The numerals appear in the lower corners.20c—One of the "plant series", showing the Malaguetta pepper plant, a native of Liberia, with its leaves and flowers.
The frame, with numeral in lower left corner, is a suggestion of Borassus palm leaves, blending very prettily with the pepper plant.25c—Native view of palms, with hills in the background.30c—Larger and more striking portrait of the President, giving an effect only possible in plate work.50c—Pronounced the most beautiful of the series, shows four natives in a "dug out" canoe, three rowing and the other steering, on a broad river, with jungle foliage in the background. The frame shows the wonderful "Traveller's" palm tree at each side.

75c—Shows an album of native views.

All the stamps are perforated 14, by the comb machine, with the exception of the 10c, which is rouletted.

ANOTHER LARGE HUSSMAN ADVT.

The Hussman firm gives us this week another demonstration of the hustle that has characterized its business career.
The large advertisement that must be noted by every reader of the WEEKLY will give our subscribers food for reflection and stamps for their collections.This firm promises that from time to time, during even the summer months, large advertisements shall be inserted in the WEEKLY and we compliment the firm upon its aggressiveness.The wise advertiser will push his wares in season and out and the subscriber will readily read "dull business", "nothing doing" or "stagnation" where an advertiser pulls out his advertising during the summer months.

EDITORIAL.

Soon to Arrive—Official circulars have been sent to postmasters throughout the country, directing their attention to the forthcoming set of stamps to celebrate the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, and soon, collectors will have the privilege of adding to their albums, stamps that will be prominent among U. S. issues, if, for no other reason than their size. Advantage will not be taken of this opportunity to discuss at the usual length, the effect of the coming issue on philately and whether its influence will be pernicious or beneficial. On the occasion of the previous special issues, we indulged in long dissertations, in explanation of the philatelic feeling on the subject of these issues; and arrived at conclusions that seemed to be justified by the conditions existing at the time. We think that the interest created by our special issues wanes with each successive set so far as the habitual philatelist is concerned; and the actual appearance of the stamps will not excite any particular emotion in him. However, it must not be forgotten that there are many new collectors made in the intervals between special issues and these newcomers are the ones who have the warmest interest in the commemorative, and strictly speaking, unnecessary, issue; they will view the stamps with fresh enthusiasm and feel the full force of their fascination. So, the effect of the new stamps on the old collector will be one that is momentarily quickening, while on the new collector it will be distinctly favorable and sustained.

Change of Heart—We in America know that no "speculative taint" attaches to the later issues of American commemorative stamps but abroad, the circumstances under which the issues are ordered are not so well understood. The worst that may be said about these stamps is that they are not created in response to genuine postal demands; in a sense, they are political issues that are made because precedent has been established and because influences are exerted in their favor. The postal department, it has been pointed out, does not invite them and the general public does not demand them. After the Trans-Mississippi issue of 1898, the department told the Washington correspondents that the commemorative issues were at an end as too much work and expense without adequate return were involved in the preparation, production and distribution of such issues. Whatever determination the department had on the subject was changed under pressure of some kind, as subsequent events proved.

The Expected Revenues—The prospective issue of revenue stamps under the provisions of the new tariff bill has brought some inquiry as to what may be expected in this regard. We have not been able to obtain up to this moment any definite particulars but so soon as the bill is completed, its provisions will be heralded broadcast. R. J. Tarry, Gilson, Illinois, sends a copy of a journal devoted to the interests of the drug trade and from its leading editorial, we take the following paragraph: "It appears that those who have been predicting the revival of the old stamp tax on medicines had good reason for their apprehension. When the bureau of engraving and printing begins printing the stamps before there is any legislation calling for their use, it seems strong enough evidence that a general stamp tax will be imposed." The authority for this observation seems to be based on a newspaper item that appeared some weeks ago to the effect that "unusual activity at the bureau of engraving and printing in the installation of machines for the printing of stamps and the working overtime of the entire printing force, gives color to the belief that the new tariff bill will contain clauses re-enacting the stamp taxes that were levied during the Spanish-American war period."

Inside Workings—In Gibbons Stamp Weekly, dated April 24th, 1909, is an article by Major E. B. Evans, entitled "Cayman Islands Case," that reveals some of the inside history of developments that have attracted the attention of the philatelic public for some time past. The creating of surcharged stamps in limited number and the manner in which they were distributed have afforded a basis for complaint from not a few sources but at the same time, it is but fair to say that the postal department at Grand Cayman has had its defenders. It seems evident that speculation in different of the stamps was rife but that it proceeded in so artless, if not bungling a way, as to argue that those concerned had little thought of the irregularity. In the documentary evidence in the extraordinary article is the following letter: "Long Beach, California, August 28th, 1908. Miss Gwendolyn Parsons, George Town, Cayman Ids. Dear Madam:—As a collector of postage stamps for nearly forty years I am naturally interested in the stamps of your island, and as I speculate some in provisional issues, beg leave to make you the following proposition and give you my word as a mason that all correspondence on the subject will be strictly confidential. My proposition is to purchase of you £10 worth of 1d stamps which on receipt by myself I will have surcharged 'Halfpenny' in a certain type and return same to you—you to officially record the issue of the £10 worth as ½d stamps just on sale the day of receipt by you, and register me a letter of that date bearing some of the stamps in prepayment of postage. At the time I return the surcharged stamps to you I will enclose another £10 for your trouble in the transaction. I trust that you will receive this in the spirit in which I wrote it, as a strictly business proposition, and I believe as I said, that the whole matter will be considered entirely between ourselves. Very truly yours, Brewster C. Kenyon. P. S.—If accepted on what office shall I draw P. O. order, or would you prefer the money in some other form? I regret that I have no other return postage than the 3d Jamaican." Further, it is said: "In replying to the letter of the Commissioner, the Colonial Secretary says: 'A copy of your letter and its enclosures has been sent to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, as an illustration of the methods of action of the class of persons who have been complaining that they cannot get surcharged stamps from the Postal Authorities at Grand Cayman.' Thus, a sinister reflection is cast upon stamp dealers in general, as Major Evans observes, and it is likely that indignant protest will follow, in due time.

Greeting—We congratulate our cotemporary, Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, upon having issued its five hundredth number on April 24th, 1909, and we sincerely trust that its weekly visits will be continued to the end of philately, which, is equivalent to saying, forever.

SPECIAL TO MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

By Wm. Ward.

New Postage Stamp Editor.—American Collectors will appreciate with interest that Fred J. Melville, President of the Junior Philatelic Society, and Editor of the Stamp Lover, besides numerous Text-books on Stamps, has entered the Editorial Seat on the Postage Stamp, vacated by the late E. J. Nankivell. All will agree that a better or more capable manager could not be desired. If anything the new Editor will be found somewhat staid and more philatelic (that is from a deeply scientific point of aspect) than his lamented predecessor.

Non-recognized Queen's Heads.—The clipping from a London daily regarding demonized Victorias, mentioned in the WEEKLY of March 27th, has already aroused interest here. The insinuation of the quotation is by no means entirely unfounded. Certainly the WEEKLY Editor was quite right in saying "This is very fishy and cannot be accepted as reliable." A few weeks ago I received a couple of letters from Queensland surcharged 8c and 16c each, notwithstanding that they bore a 2 penny, and two 2 penny stamps respectively. Course I complained to the Chief office, as the letters were not overweight. They informed me quite seriously that the stamps used were not good for postage! As politely as possible under the circumstances I told the Enquiry Clerk his business, and incidentally a little information about postage stamps gratis. I also drew the attention of the Deputy Postmaster to the matter. I got my postal fines back, with an expression of regret at the mistake, a wonderful condensation for British red tape.

A Portrait Mystery.—All collectors are familiar with the alleged "death mask" on the Coronation stamps of Serbia, but I wonder how many are aware of the "Lady" upon the current stamps of Great Britain and Colonies—that is all stamps printed by De la Rue bearing the Fuch's head of King Edward. I believe I was the first to discover it some years ago, and at least the King himself had not seen it before my drawing the attention of his Confidential Secretary to the peculiarity. Once the reader has seen "Her Ladyship", he will always afterwards notice when handling a British stamp. Take a current English stamp. The King's eye represents the head, the eyebrow, a hat, whilst the nose on one side and the shading on the cheek at the other show the lady's either arms in a position of just pinning on her head-gear. The shading down to the moustache is the body, whilst the latter tonsorial appendage serves a useful end as a cloak. Of course this little picture will not be found upon the stamps of Canada or Newfoundland, as these were not engraved by the Austrian Fuchs.

Insinuation of Charles I.—In mentioning the designer of our current British stamps, Herr Fuchs, I am reminded of a very good story that is told. When the first designs were presented to King Edward for His Majesty's approval, the King said that the head was leaning too far forward, whereupon the Austrian said that the fault of the head lay upon the block! (In England cuts are generally and always referred to as blocks.) "What!" cried the King, assuming a mock anger, "Is it not ominous to refer to a head and a block to a King of England?"

Popularity of U. S. Imperfs.—The notorious Caymans and British Hebrides are put completely in the shade by the recent and current U. S. Imperforates. Everybody is wanting them, and it would be hard to say which country they are most popular—the land of origin or way back on the little island. Of course the fine new U. S. set has done an enormous lot to increase the enthusiasm for American stamps. I can remember the time when it was really hard to dispose of U. S. stamps. Not so now. The difficulty at present is not the disposal but getting hold of. The only fault with the new set is that the famous picture gallery has been done away with.

Where could one find finer and more stately heads to grace a postage stamp than those of McKinley, Madison, Jefferson, Harrison, Garfield or Grant?

New Austrian F. P. O. seem to have quite upset some people. Last January the 1 piastre and 25 centimes values of the Austrian Foreign Post Office were issued upon white paper instead of blue as when they first appeared. I refer to the Jubilee types. As the Turks have been boycotting all things Austrian, few letters have been coming through, so that the change has not been noticed. Dealers have not troubled to procure these, thinking to wait until the stamps got as common as the Austrian Jubilees or old Levants. But now it is too late. Nobody has any. A few months ago the 1 piastre on blue paper was selling at 1c each, now today the price is anything from 6c to 10c each. The 12c orange-red of Argentine provides another object lesson. Nobody has bothered about them until too late. A short while ago they were selling for 2c each. Now the price is 15c each—and few procurable at that price.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A. M. Trujillo, who had been conducting the Universal Stamp Co. of New York City, died suddenly on the 20th inst. Mr. Trujillo was well known as an expert and was considered one of the best authorities on the stamps of Spain and her colonies. A widow and three children survive him.

—F. D. Goodhue informs us that the Cincinnati postoffice is in receipt of a large consignment of 2c Lincolns.

—Geo. E. Marx of Canaan, N. Y., has gone to Europe on a two months' pleasure trip. He sailed on the "Vaderland".

—F. D. Goodhue sends us correspondence that places the Burmac Co., Toronto, Can., in the list of frauds. An envelope addressed to the Company is returned marked by the postal authorities "Supposed to be fraudulent". We are of the opinion that this Company is closely connected with the Canadian Collectors' Journal, which has already been given publicity for fraudulent transactions.

—A. S. Clausen & Co. calls our attention to their change of address and we in turn "pass it along". Please note that the same is now 1414 N. Sawyer Av., Chicago, Ill.

—A. W. Dunning sends us a sample of his coupon presenting a choice of eight premiums in return for application for membership in any one of the leading societies. The premiums are as follows: (1) 3 var. "Aguinaldo" P. I. stamps (Senf 60c); (2) 25 var. Africa; (3) 25 var. Asia; (4) 25 var. Australia; (5) 5 different foreign covers; (6) 10 different foreign pairs; (7) a useful memorandum book; (8) 25 stamp envelopes 3x5, thin paper. Address Mr. Dunning at Newton, Mass.

—Will dealers please file with F. D. Goodhue, Cincinnati, Ohio, any existing claims against the Potomac Stamp Co., 42 K St., N. E., Wash., D. C. The manager of this concern is W. E. Rose.

—The J. M. Bartels Co. reports unsatisfactory correspondence with "C. Grantham, 28 Victoria Sq., Montreal, Canada". Mr. Bartels states that he gave as reference the Bank of Toronto but inquiry at the bank reveals the fact that they do not know the party nor can they find his address in the directory, nor any such address as 28 Victoria Square.

—F. W. Grahame thanks the WEEKLY for A. P. S. exchange notice recently extended him and expresses the hope that other members will show their appreciation of the privilege granted.

—Wanted.—Copies of the WEEKLY dated Jan. 9, 16 and 30. In return for favor we shall be very glad to send current foreign stamp papers in exchange.

—F. D. Goodhue informs us of the death of Warren H. White of Riverdale, Md., which occurred Feb. 8 last. He was a very promising young man, intense-

PHILADELPHIA STAMP CLUB.

The four philatelic societies of Philadelphia met in open meeting at the School of Industrial Art on the evening of April 20th and ratified their consolidation.

In spite of the inclement weather thirty-five members were present. W. R. Kellar was chosen chairman of the meeting and A. F. Henkels secretary. After the usual forms were complied with, a Constitution and By-Laws was adopted. Percy McG. Mann was elected president; F. Hahman, vice president; Forrest P. Hand, secretary; Edgar L. Green, treasurer; H. S. Rotzell, sales manager and W. R. Kellar, librarian. The new organization is to be known as The Philadelphia Stamp Club, and starts with a roster of about one hundred members. A feature instituted in the new club is the Junior Active membership to include members under twenty-one years of age.

The outlook for the P. S. C. is very bright. Conservative members predict that the membership will be two hundred and fifty before a year has passed. It is the intention of the club to have a club room and philatelic library for the use of its members and visiting philatelists.—A. F. HENKELS.

STILL MORE... BARGAINS!!!

Our last half page adv. in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY (issue of April 3rd), seems to have been appreciated by many readers of the WEEKLY. We have received more cash orders from it than from any similar adv. we have ever published, which is gratifying proof to us that our goods and prices are about right.

We are informed that a certain dealer made the remark that we were "slaughtering stamps" and that "we offered certain lines cheaper at retail than he could buy them!!"

The Secret:

We buy direct, generally in large lots. We pay cash and buy at right prices! We are satisfied with a moderate margin of profit, don't expect to get rich in this business over night. We deliver the goods, every stamp offered in this adv. is in stock when this issue of the WEEKLY appears.

We are sold out of Nyassaland Sets, Prussia Off. Sets, Surinam 2½gld, and one or two other items from our last ½ pp. adv., having had an unusually large number of orders for them. We have a very fair stock of all goods offered herewith, and will fill orders same day as received.

We had over $400.00 in direct cash orders from our April 3rd adv. This adv. ought to bring us at least double this amount. Look at the goods we offer, look at the prices!

A Few U. S. Cheap, like the rest of our offers in this adv.

SALES DEPARTMENT RESULTS.

High Percentage of Sales Make a Remarkable Showing.

During the past week the Sales Superintendent has retired a large number of books and remitted $2,358.78 in cash to owners. A cursory investigation of the results secured reveals a very high selling power for stamps in good condition, which are given proper catalogue number and price, as well as the net selling price. The percentage of sales in many cases has run to 50% and even better. We take pleasure in quoting a couple of letters just received from members which will give an excellent idea of the results attained.

MR. PERCIVAL PARRISH,
Sales Supt., A. P. S., PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Dear Sir:—I have your registered favor of the 17th instant, enclosing 17 of my books retired, with check to balance account of sales from same,—$221.29. The total valuation of these books was $469.91. I consider the sales as most remarkable, especially as I have been told that sales from A. P. S. sales books do not average over 20% or 25% of value of stamps entered. The results are especially good as these books, just retired, contain the poorer portion of my stamps. My books still in your Department are: Spcl. 10, books valued $850.53, Circuit East 14, 7 books valued $538.23 contain a much better class of stamps, and should average as well as, or better than the books just closed. Results thus far show sales of nearly 60% (total value $469.91—sales $251.42) actually 67 1/4%. I will be pleased to have you quote me.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD F. HALL.

FORT COLLINS, COLO.

Another letter just received from W. H. Bruce of Hartford, Conn., is as follows:

Dear Sir:—Returns on Book No. 8 at hand. Sales of nearly 50% is certainly a good showing. * * *

Truly,
W. H. BRUCE,
HARTFORD, CONN.

Box 283,
We wish also to thank members for the almost uniform courtesy and consideration which has been accorded us by nearly everyone.

There is at the present time a great demand for books of clean salable stamps of the better grade,—that is stamps worth from 25c to $5.00, and as before stated the results are always vastly better when the owners place catalogue number and value, as well as net selling price under each stamp. This saves the busy collector time in referring to a catalogue, and in hunting for watermarks, perforations, etc. Send along your good stamps just as fast as possible, and if you observe our suggestions based upon experience with the members who have been placing stamps in the Department successfully during the part two years, we believe there is no doubt that you will be satisfied and delighted with the results we can secure for you. There is no reason why your percentage of sales should not reach the 50% mark as in the cases above cited.

PERCIVAL PARRISH, Sales Supt.

RECRUITING WORD.

You will pardon us a personal word this week. Note our score—103 members. Our record last year was 130 new members and this record we want to surpass. We have nearly three months left—who will send in their applications?

We have "made over" the Roll of Honor this week. Mr. Barnum has a fine record for the year and others too are deserving of praise. Remember we have a nice supply of booklets, to be had just for the asking.

The thing for you to do, Mr. Non-member, is to write today your age, occupation and business reference (enclosing $1.00 for share of non-assessable stock and 30c for dues to next August) when we will at once get busy and present your name.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The latest addition to the "Librairie Charles Mendel, Paris," is "Les Timbres Cantonaux de la Suisse," a work of over 100 pages, with thirty engravings. The text is after that of A. de Reuterskiold, the celebrated specialist in the stamps in question and so may be regarded as absolutely accurate. The great value of the study lies in the fact that illustrations of the genuine Swiss cantonal and the false are given, supplemented with detailed explanations of the points of difference between specimens. In this way, the student is equipped with information that will enable him to do much in the way of expertizing, himself. Needless to say, the scarce Swiss cantonal stamps present many difficulties to the collector who tries to determine the character of such stamps, as the privilege of comparison of suspected specimens with those known to be genuine is not always available. The book under notice will serve a practical end and it is quite indispensable to any working philatelic library while the collector who has anything more than a passing interest in cantonals will find the book a necessity.

The price of the volume is reasonable;

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to
this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition,
by holding such selections without purchasing
any, until sufficient funds have been sent by
the dealer to return it to him by registered
mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

Total membership May 8, 1909, 1616

In the WEEKLY of April 17, our efficient International Secretary, L. Harald Kjellstedt, advocated the publishing by this society of a specialized priced catalog of United States stamps. What better effort than this could be made to arouse and stimulate the interest in the issues of our own country?

And who is better equipped than the American Philatelic Society? A work of this nature would be of lasting benefit to every member and would serve as a guide and an authority to the entire world. If for no other reason it would serve to show our English cousins who say we are "non-productive" that we are capable of producing as good as the best.

As Mr. Kjellstedt says, I do not believe that the membership of the American Philatelic Society could have placed in its hands a publication which would give more satisfaction, be of more lasting value or furnish better reason for pride in our Society. Think what this means to us. How many members of the American Philatelic Society would subscribe for one or more copies at $1.00 or even $2.00 a copy? Just write your name on a postal card, with the number of copies and your subscription, and mail at once to the secretary. We must know so that when the matter is presented before the convention, we can present it in the most favorable light, and not run the chance of having it defeated by the howl of "too much expense". The secretary stands ready to subscribe for five copies at $2.00 a copy. How many do you want? Let's hear from you too, at once.

Will all officers of the American Philatelic Society and chairmen of committees who have reports to submit to the 24th annual convention at Atlantic City kindly make out their reports in triplicate and forward two copies so that they will reach the secretary not later than two weeks prior to the date of the convention. This is important.

Have you ever seen the "hit and run" play worked? It's a daisy. Just hit that friend of yours for his application and then run and get another one. It's a winner. Getting close to the ninth inning now, game's almost over, it takes hits to win a game,—what's your batting average now?

CLEVELAND BRANCH No. 30.

The third quarterly meeting was held at 1429 Williamson Building, April 28, 1909. After reading of minutes, roll call, etc., several communications were read, including nominations made by the respective branches at Philadelphia and
St. Louis, both asking for endorsement.
Owing to the strength of each ticket, and the difference of opinion among our members, it was decided to take no action

THE A. P. S. CATALOGUE.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

(At the Columbus convention last year the publishers of the WEEKLY used every honorable means to delay the establishment of a quarterly magazine. We believed that such a publication would ultimately prove a great financial burden, while at the same time the magazine would add but little to the publishing prestige of the Society. The Managing Editor strenuously maintained that works of permanent value should be issued and he is not only pleased to endorse Mr. Kjellstedt's suggestion but gratified that his article so heartily approves the position taken by the WEEKLY. We waged the contest last year as our judgment led us. This year all the members can express their minds and decide for themselves. The WEEKLY did what it thought best and if its course is not endorsed—we shall bow gracefully to the expressed will of the members.—Ed.)

My suggestion of a specialized catalogue of United States postage issues, published by the American Philatelic Society, having met with favor in many quarters, I feel encouraged to go further into the subject. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that we should do something in the publishing line for the benefit of the membership and in order to demonstrate to the rest of the world that we are not a philatelic society in name only. It was this opinion which gave the proposition of a quarterly publication such an enthusiastic reception at the Columbus convention. To use an expression of the auction catalogues, a quarterly would prove "very desirable," but still I think, that if the members who are interested in the unsurpassed postage issues of their own country—and who are not—would give the publishing venture their careful consideration, they would agree with my opinion, that while a quarterly is something to be desired, a specialized collector's catalogue of United States issues is an actual need, felt for long time, and of which we are forcibly reminded every time we scan the pages of the U. S. section in our albums.

A quarterly will furnish pleasant reading during a few fleeting moments. Its most valuable articles may cover a field in which you and I take little or no interest. A specialized, rationally priced catalogue of the issues of the United States, means more than a pleasant study, it means dollars and cents added to the value of your collection, it means the recognition of many scarce and interesting minor varieties which your careful search has brought to light but which have failed of recognition in the dealers' lists. In the specialized approval selections sent out by the dealer these minor varieties are recognized by ample price markings, but if you have to offer your collection for sale at auction or over a dealer's counter, you will find that they have little or no standing. The blame for this condition is not to be laid at the feet of either dealer or auctioneer, it belongs to the lethargy displayed by us in our willingness to be satisfied with catalogues of general nature, which do no justice to the subject in hand, and are of no aid in our work of specializing the issues of our country. Is there any reason why we should continue in the same old rut? We are agreed that we have to do something. We are imbued with the publishing spirit. Well, let us then first of all cater to the most crying need of the American collector of today. Let us undertake one thing at the time and do it well. A postponement of the quarterly will work no harm. The specialized catalogue in our hands will help us to collect, study, and invest in, our own country's issues more intelligently and more securely than ever before.

As the Philatelic Society of Sweden is already doing for Swedish philately what I am suggesting that we should do for American philately, it may be of interest to learn something of the way they are doing it. The society's entire membership of 1,000 has been invited to cooperate in the work. In order to encourage such cooperation, six series of competitions have been arranged. Thus the first series covers the issues of 1855, 1858, 1862-67 and the local stamps. Nine prizes are awarded in this series to the members furnishing the most valuable material in the form of information or loan of stamps of interest. The competition within the first series closed March 15. In the sixth series, which covers the entire, it will close Nov. 15 of the present year, and the catalogue will be out in two languages, Swedish and German, during the spring of 1910. The total number of prizes awarded in the six series are valued at over $500.00 and have been presented for the purpose by a few of the leading members. The

J. M. BARTELS GOING ABROAD.

We stated last week that the J. M. Bartels Co had discontinued their advertising for the present. While this statement told the truth, it did not tell the whole truth, and may convey a wrong impression, which we should deeply regret.

Mr. J. M. Bartels, the motive power back of the firm, leaves for Europe the latter part of this month for a vacation trip and will be gone three months, during which time the preparation of advertising copy will be out of the question.

His efficient corps of office employees will be able to fill all orders and his many patrons will no doubt profit by this pleasure trip in the considerable number of philatelic treasures that will be secured by Mr. Bartels.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—D. T. Eaton reports that he has been informed by the manufacturers that there is no 1903 paper left over, other than the white, therefore collectors need not look for the watermark in the colored papers.

B. D. Foster has shown us a copy of the new stock transfer stamp of the state of New York. The denomination is 2c, the color being brown on lavender. The value not only appears in the design but also appears in surcharge eight times in figures 4x5 mm. in size, the figures being arranged in three vertical lines, having three figures on each side and two in the middle. The surcharged figures are printed in purple that reflects bronze in the light, and there are also overprinted lines on the stamp, designed to prevent fraudulent washing and use.

Theodore Fobes reports having seen the current 1c precancelled "Lynn, Mass." reading down, in a rule frame, which has been used over "Permit No. 2, 2c paid" of Lynn, Mass.

Frank B. Eldredge reports having the Curtis & Brown medicine stamp, Scott's No. 3345, on watermarked paper. Scott gives it only on old and silk paper.

We are indebted to W. W. Bliss, Frank B. Eldredge, E. J. Post and John A. Solomon for the following new list of precancels:

Chicago, Ill. 2c Lincoln.
Cincinnati, O., 2c Lincoln, reading up.
Providence, R. I., 2c 1908, inverted.
Warren, Pa., 2c, normal.
Buffalo, N. Y., 1c 1908, new type, normal.
Chattanooga, St. Elmo Sta., Tenn., 1c 1908, normal.
Lowell, Mass., 1c 1908, normal.
Minneapolis, Minn., 1c 1908, new type, normal.
Philadelphia, Pa., 15c 1908, normal.
Scranton, Pa., 2c 1908, normal.
Warren, Pa., 4c 1908, normal.
La Park, Pa., 2c Lincoln.
Pittsburg, Pa., 1c 1908.
Chattanooga, Tenn., 1c 1908.

Akron, O., 3c 1908, Cincinnati.
Cincinnati, O., 3c 1908, double.

In regard to these precancels, Mr. Solomon suggests that those interested in this side line would save time and trouble for all concerned if they would keep a list of those printed and thus avoid duplicating each other's lists. Mr. Solomon says: "The 1908 issue has done a lot of good to revive interest in precancels, which were on their last legs before the new issue. However, am surprised to find so many United States specialists, who at this late day are forming collections. One well known collector wrote me that precancels are an interesting side line that goes well with his United States lines, and I certainly agree with him."

CANADA.—H. L. Chandler reports that the current 2c stamp can be bought at Ottawa in imperforate condition, in sheets of 100 stamps.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Benedict Prieth also reports having received the 1sh black on green, chalky multiple paper.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Explanation—Through the courtesy of Jesse Lockie, Riverside, Ill., the following letter is presented as referring to an imperforate sheet variety that was mentioned in this place some weeks ago and which has excited some controversy: "Hon. R. P. Goodwin, Assistant Attorney General for the Post-office Department, has communicated to this office that portion of your letter stating that you have purchased a sheet of 1c stamps at the Chicago postoffice which is without perforations except a single line through the center, and asking how this could happen. The matter was referred to the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the stamps are made, and he has reported as follows under date of April 26: 'So far as the records of this Bureau show, no sheets have been issued perforated in this manner, and I am unable to state where or by whom the sheet was perforated. It is possible that some sheets furnished to stamp vending concerns in whole sheets, unperforated, may have been perforated by them in this way and afterwards exchanged with the postmaster for other sheets.' The sheet of stamps in question will be replaced if presented to the Postmaster at Riverside, who will receive a copy of this letter for his information and guidance. Respectfully, A. L. Lawshe, Third Assistant Postmaster General." It is perhaps superfluous to say that the sheet will not be handed in for exchange by the present holder.

sell the sheet in question, originally, in the condition noted, even though later, it may have been disposed of over the postoffice counter. It is evident that the department follows keenly and intelligently all the developments in the case of the imperforates, that are so full of interest to collectors. In this connection an item that appeared in the issue of May 1st must be corrected. It was said that either the one or two-cent imperforate had been issued on experimental paper, on the authority of H. M. Clark; this statement was erroneous, and it should have read that one of the denominations had been used as precanceled stamps.

Figures—The following statistics of the number of imperforate stamps of the present issue up to April 19th, 1909, has been furnished by the department at Washington: one-cent, 3,681,400; two-cent, 5,230,800; three-cent, 91,600; four-cent, 65,600 and five-cent, 88,600. Lincoln, two-cent, 1,219,200.

* * *

Early—We advance the following stamp as the first example of pre-cancellation, in United States stamps. We are aware that Mr. Phillips has cited the three-cent, 1851, as used by the Wells, Fargo Company as the first pre-canceled variety but the following specimen seems to meet all the requirements of the present-day regulations and to go a bit further. The cover before us bears a one-cent, 1879, canceled by two red lines vertically and four horizontally; these lines may have been printed by printers' rules that extended across and from top to bottom of the sheets, although they appear to have been carefully ruled by double lined pens with red ink. Just to the left of the stamp is the following postmark after the regulation circular form, printed in black ink: Lancaster—Feb. 25, 1879—Pennsylvania. The envelope enclosed printed matter from the Lancaster Watch Company, Penna., and we should judge that the mailing was a very heavy one as we find the state printed on the cover under notice, as well as "Dealer in watches, jewelry, etc." under the line for the name of the addressee.

* * *

Published—We have just received a review copy of Henry J. Crocker's sumptuous work, "Hawaiian Numerals," to which we referred in the issue of May 1st; and we have good reason for repeating that it gives cause for philatelic rejoicing and that it is a triumph in philatelic publication. We shall pay tribute to the work in the next issue. The list of "United States Private Tobacco Proprietary Stamps" compiled by J. DeLano Bartlett and John W. Prevost, of Springfield, Mass., has appeared. It is the first list of these stamps that has been published since 1883, say the publishers, and its value will be seen at first glance. The collectors who are interested in this class of stamps will acclaim this list.

As It Really Was—In a recent number of Redfield's Stamp News, the editor, Mr. Quackenbush, discusses American Philatelic Society policies in an interesting way but in advocating a so-called reformatory plan, he makes certain representations that fairly may not pass unchallenged. The proposal to debar the publishers of the official journal from the right to hold proxies is avowedly a retaliatory measure, or to put it more gently, a precautionary one, the inception of which was coincident with the defeat of the scheme for the quarterly magazine. It is farthest from the thoughts of Mr. Quackenbush to distort the facts, but, unwittingly he does so, when in speaking of the vote on the question of the quarterly, he says: "But the representatives of the official journal refused to countenance the project and it went down to defeat by virtue of the proxies they controlled." The publishers of the WEEKLY voted their instructed proxies according to the wishes of those who entrusted them with their proxies and not in conformity with their individual views. The uninstructed proxies were voted accordingly to a pro rata arrangement that has been described. So, the vote on the quarterly was an approximately correct register of the wishes of those who authorized the publishers of the WEEKLY to act for them. It would be untruthful by inference not to say in modification of this statement that important considerations entered into the voting and these we shall now discuss briefly.

Further—The quarterly question was developed on the floor of the convention and those who were not at Columbus, of course could not follow the trend of argument that placed so favorable a construction on the plan. If proxies that were instructed against the quarterly had been voted for it, there would have been adverse criticism against this course, even in view of the auspicious showing made ultimately for the quarterly; of this, we have been assured by several of those whose proxies we voted and who likely enough would have been influenced for a quarterly by the debate at Columbus. Either line of procedure on our part would have been open to argument. If the plan for the quarterly as unfolded at the convention had been incorporated in a preliminary announcement and discussed before the date of the convention, many of those who instructed against the quarterly would have changed their opinion, it is very likely. As it was, the vote as recorded reflected the instructions of those the WEEKLY served as proxy holders.

NEW OFFICE OPENED.

The Manhattan Stamp Co. has changed its quarters and is now located at 24 E. 23 St., N. Y. City. A goodly number of dealers may be found in this locality, but judging from recent advertisements we should feel that the Manhattan people will be able to secure their full share of the trade. The firm has used goodly space in the WEEKLY throughout the winter and has an advertisement this week which will be read with interest.

RETURN OF F. W. REID.

We are always glad to welcome the new advertiser to our columns but even more glad to welcome back the old. F. W. Reid, who has been out of the WEEKLY for a few weeks, is back again, as will be seen by his advertisement on page 4. A regular location will shortly be assigned him and it will be an easy matter for our readers to again establish profitable and satisfactory business relations. Note the new address, 1549 Arapahoe St., Denver, Colo.

PERCIVAL PARRISH.

PRESIDENT OF THE PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY.

Mr. Parrish, whose features are pictured above, has met with a large measure of success not only in connection with the business of the Philadelphia Stamp Co. but as Sales Superintendent of the American Philatelic Society. In the latter capacity he has inaugurated a branch system of sales that is meeting with much favor. Mr. Parrish was born in Philadelphia Nov. 15, 1872, and was graduated from Swarthmore in 1896. The WEEK-LY is glad to present our readers with the likeness of one who believes in our paper and expresses this faith week by week with tangible patronage.

TO THE ENVELOPE.

By CHAS. H. FOWLE.

Read at the 2nd annual dinner of the American Envelope Society, April 29th, 1909.

Here's to the envelope, quickly cast aside,
It is the safe carriage in which all letters ride;
We seal it and mail it, its soon out of sight
And we know from experience it will get there all right.

How many a scandal it has kept free from gaze,
The heart aches its covered would fill with amazement,
The joy it has brought, the love it has spread,
With smiles for the living and tears for the dead.

It has brought the bad tidings as well as the good
But covered them up just as long as it could,
And we in return just threw on the floor
The weary old envelope when its journey was o'er.

We push it aside as unworthy of thought
As we eagerly scan the letter it's brought,
Forgetting that often if it did but tarry
Our dearest of schemes would surely miscarry.

Let us treat it more kindly for what it has done,
For a more faithful servant you'll not look upon,
And when we are gathered for feasting and story
Let us to the poor envelope accord its due glory.

The adhesive's all right of him I'm a lover,
But for good solid worth just give me the cover;
Now let joy and hilarity go on with sobriety
And all have a good time with the "Envelope Society".

PART PERFORATES.

We have received a lengthy letter from
C. H. Mekeel calling attention to a statement in the WEEKLY of May 1 by Mr.
Morris to the effect that the part perforate stamps were not prepared at the Bureau in Washington. Mr. Mekeel proved his case effectually that the part perforates were prepared at the Bureau and in a letter just received from Mr.
Morris he writes:

"It has been brought to my attention from several sources that my statement that the part perforates were not prepared at the Bureau was incorrect. I was even sent some of them with the wrapper that had enclosed them and with that as evidence I again called on Mr. Ralph, the Director of the Bureau of Engraving, who had given me the first information and he said that the mailing machine strips with straight edges were prepared at the Bureau but he had understood that I wanted to know if any whole sheets were being sent out part perforated. I must therefore apologize for having given out misinformation due to a misunderstanding."

In concluding his letter to the WEEK-LY Mr. Mekeel writes:—

"The P. O. Dept. has been strongly appealed to, to prepare the peculiar 'special perforations' required by the mechanical intricacies of various vending and mailing machines and that these part perfs. are a concession to certain of the machines that are able to adapt the regular governmental perf. Others strongly insist that their own devices of perforation be applied by the P. O. Dept.
for their benefit and it is not impossible that it may be done."

—A promising stamp club has been formed in Harrisburg, Pa., with the ambitious name "Harrisburg Philatelic Association."

—J. R. Reed, 39 Rindge Av., North Cambridge, Mass., informs us that a new stamp society has been born, known as the Imperial Philatelic Association, of which Mr. Reed is Sec.-Treas. Further information may be obtained from Mr.
Reed.

—Louis E. Ewing, 601 W. Cherry St., Bluffton, Ind., offers a large lot of stamp papers to any applicant who will pay carriage. Mr. Ewing prefers to bestow the papers upon some philatelic society.

—J. Gregg Layne sends us a clipping from the Los Angeles Examiner, portraying the experiences of a letter that travelled 15,000 miles for two cents.
Posted at Wayne, Me., it travelled to Pt.
Barrow, Alaska, back again to Wayne and across the continent to Los Angeles.
The time consumed was eighteen months.

—Take Notice.—All officers and committees of the A. P. S. are urged by Sec.
Adair to file their annual reports in triplicate. This co-operation will prove of great value in conducting the work of the Atlantic City convention.

—The U. T. K. Stamp Co, Utica, N.
Y., reports unsatisfactory business relations with E. J. Dempsey, 593 Quincy St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; D. Cunningham, 726
Lincoln Av., Alameda, Cal., and Henry H.
Williams, 43 Henry Av., Pittsfield, Mass.

—Owing to an erroneous impression, which seems to have become current,
that the party advertising for a position recently in our advertising columns was located in the Metropolis, the WEEKLY is requested to state that the advertiser for a position is not connected with any
New York stamp house.

—W. Haack, 81 4th Av., N. Y. City, formerly an active advertiser in the WEEKLY, has after some months resumed active operations and his advertising will hereafter be regularly found in our columns.

TRADE COLUMN.

The Sales Department now has on hand quite a large number of sheets of envelope stamps, both foreign and United States, and a particularly good stock of entire, U. S. and foreign, which will be sent out to members on request. As a general thing they are marked very reasonably, and are in good condition. One could not find any better way to add to his collection of these stamps than by receiving circuits. Boston collectors may look over circuits at the office of the superintendent, and save the cost of postage.

EDW. W. HEUSINGER, F. R. G. S., Pres.; HENRY SAYLES, JR., and CHAS. M. NEWMAN, Vice-Pres.; G. C. CUENOD, P. O. Box 273, Galveston, Tex., Sec. Treas.; ROBERT HENDERSON, Santa Anna, Tex., Ex. Supt.; CHAS. ROEMER and WALTER RUMMEL, Associate Trustees.

The 13th annual general meeting was held on Monday, April 19, at San Antonio, Texas, with Edward W. Heusinger, President, Chas. Roemer, Exchange Superintendent, and D. C. O. Wilson present. There being no quorum, those present resolved themselves into a general committee and proceeded to count the ballots received for the election of new officers with the following result: For Pres., Edward W. Heusinger, 5; Vice Pres., first, Henry Sayles, Jr., 6; second, Chas. M. Newman, 5; Sec. Treas., G. C. Cuenod, 6; Associate Trustees, Chas. Roemer and Walter Rummel, each 6. The nominee for office of Exchange Superintendent having declined to accept the office, if elected, the appointment of a Superintendent was left to the Board of Trustees, as well as the transaction of other business that otherwise should have come before this meeting. The meeting was held during the hours of 11.45 and 12.15 A. M.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Texas Philatelic Association held at San Antonio, Texas, May 4th, 1909. Present: Edward W. Heusinger, President, presiding; Chas. Roemer and Walter Rummel. Chas. Roemer was appointed Secretary of the Board. The reports of G. C. Cuenod, Sec. Treas., and Chas. Roemer, Exch. Supt., for the year 1908-9, were read and approved, and the resignation of Chas. J. Lukin from membership was accepted. The report of the Sec. Treas. shows a balance of $67.65 in the General fund and of $107.47 in the Insurance fund. The cash on hand on April 21, 1908, was $48.85; donations from two members towards recruiting expenses, $10.00; dues received from members, $31.50; total of receipts, $90.35; less expenses paid, $22.70; balance $67.65.

The Insurance fund, which was $102.98 on April 21, 1908, was credited during the year 1908-9 by $4.07 for interest from the Loan Co., and by insurance collected by Exch. Supt., 42; making the total as above of $107.47. Robert Henderson of Santa Anna, Texas, was appointed Exch. Supt. for 1909-10, and Sec. Cuenod was

It surely pays to watch our advs. We doubt whether you can ever obtain stamps like above at a lower price--they are a good investment. Kindly read our advs. in this issue on pages 171, 173, 174, 178. We don't see how you can possibly help sending us some kind of an order! Our last big advs. simply flooded us with orders. Our prices on above are lower than ever. We trust MEKEEL'S WEEKLY readers will appreciate this and profit by these big cuts in prices!

NEW ENGLAND BRANCH No. 20.

Boston, Mass., May 15, 1909.

There will be a meeting of New England Branch No. 20, at Room 506 Kast Building, Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, May 18th, at 7 o'clock P. M.

Several matters of importance will come before the meeting for action, and a large attendance is earnestly requested. JAMES C. WOOLLEY, Sec.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 56th regular meeting was held May 4th, President Mason in the chair, ten members in attendance. Minutes of 55th meeting were read and approved. Action of the Board of Directors in securing the publications of the Philatelic Literature Society of London for 1908 by the payment of the subscription for that year was approved. It was moved and seconded that Columbus Branch No. 21 endorse the nominations of St. Louis Branch No. 4. Same was unanimously carried. Major J. M. T. Partello and I. R. Johnson were elected to Passive membership. After a small display of the 1847 to 1861 issues of U. S. stamps and the usual drawing, meeting adjourned. GEO. K. SMITH, JR., Sec.

Members who have not paid their dues for the first half of 1909 will please communicate with the secretary at once.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HAND BOOKS.

Your committee would report that the recent competition was not a success from a competitive standpoint. One entry was received that was deemed worthy of publication and (the findings of the committee having been passed upon favorably by the Board of Vice Presidents) the second prize of $30.00 has been awarded Carroll Chase, M. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

A second entry was received several weeks after the closing date and this was returned to the author without passing upon the merits of the mss., with the suggestion that it be held over to the Atlantic City convention for entry in a possible competition the coming year.

ONWARD, STEADILY ONWARD!

Note the steady progress the A. P. S. is making. Fifteen applications in all this week, a fine record, but this number is the average to land 1800 members before the Atlantic City convention. We can do it, will we?

The WEEKLY has six to its credit this week which shows that we have not been idle, nor shall we take a vacation until our 6000 subscribers are enrolled as members.

Support our national society by your membership. All the expense is but a trifle, $1.00 for share of non-assessable stock and 30c for dues to next August. Send us your name, with residence, age, occupation and bank or commercial reference and we will fix you up.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays at Club Room 506 Kast Bdg., 7.30 P. M.

Boston, Mass., May 15, 1909.

The 204th (regular) meeting of the Society will be held at the Club Room on Tuesday evening, May 18, at 7.30 o'clock.

There will be one competitive exhibition of the "Ten most interesting stamps from a philatelic standpoint". Here is a chance for individual fancy as well as philatelic acumen! Use your own judgment and pit it against the other fellow's, and we shall have a most interesting and instructive exhibit. Last month's exhibition was a fine one; make this still better!

The special exhibition for the evening will be the Panama Collection of our honorary member, Geo. H. Worthington. We have seen some fine Panama collections already, but knowing Mr. Worthington's capabilities for surprising us when he favors us with a view of his special collections, we can promise our members a rare treat when they see this.

The following names will come up for action as candidates for membership: JAMES M. HUNNEWELL, Boston, Mass.; proposed by Frederick S. Cook. H. LAWRENCE DEAN, Hyde Park, Mass.; proposed by R. Williams.

The International Stamp Dealers Asso. at Berlin sends us two copies of the lecture given by W. Sellschopp of Hamburg on Jan. 28, 1909, before the convention of this important organization. The subject is "Postage Stamps, Reprints and Reissues". In this lecture special attention is given to the reissues of the U. S. and the Hawaiian Islands.

The Entertainment Committee announced eleven competitive exhibits received. The competition calls for "Twenty or more stamps of any British Colony, main varieties only". Owing to the superior merits of the collections shown, it was voted to print in the official organ the following report of the judges, with the names of the owners of the collections.

To the Boston Philatelic Society,

Gentlemen:--Your committee have completed their pleasant, though unenviable task, pleasant because no one, collector or otherwise, could look through eleven collections like those submitted with any feelings but those of pleasure and admiration; unenviable because, with eleven collections, ten of which were complete, ten of which were in the finest possible condition, and all of which were admirably arranged, it was no sinecure to pick winners, and we are by no means sure that all will agree with our decision, which follows:

Completeness.Condition.Arrgt.Total
1	Cayman Is.	60	30	10	110
2	So. Nigeria	60	30	10	100
3	Seychelles	60	30	10	100
4	Gambia	60	30	10	100
5	Seychelles	60	30	8	98
6	Seychelles	60	30	9	99
7	Papua	55	30	9	94
8	So. Nigeria	60	30	9	99
9	Cayman Is.	60	30	9	99
10	Cayman Is.	60	30	8	98
11	Gibraltar	60	25	9	94

Collections Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 were clearly the property of one member, and we have therefore awarded him but one prize, the first.

To Collection No. 9, Cayman Is., we have awarded the second prize.

To Collection No. 8, So. Nigeria, we have awarded the third prize.

Respectfully yours,
A. W. BATCHELDER, Chmn.,
CHAS. H. STONE,
W. E. COBURN.

The owners were: Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, E. F. Sawyer; No. 5, C. A. Howes; No. 6, A. P. Brown; Nos. 7, 8, 11, E. M. Carpenter; No. 9, J. B. B. Smith; No. 10, F. S. Cook.

In justice to the owner of the Papua collection, it should be stated that the 25h 6p stamp of the last issue, for which space is provided in the album, has been announced in Europe, but none have as yet been seen in this country.

The meeting adjourned at 9.40 p. m.

J. M. BARTELS, Sec. pro tem.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

In the WEEKLY of April 17, our efficient International Secretary, L. Harald Kjellstedt, advocated the publishing by this society of a specialized priced catalog of United States stamps. What better effort than this could be made to arouse and stimulate the interest in the issues of our own country? And who is better equipped than the American Philatelic Society? A work of this nature would be of lasting benefit to every member and would serve as a guide and an authority to the entire world. If for no other reason it would serve to show our English cousins who say we are "non-productive" that we are capable of producing as good as the best. As Mr. Kjellstedt says, I do not believe that the membership of the American Philatelic Society could have placed in its hands a publication which would give more satisfaction, be of more lasting value or furnish better reason for pride in our Society. Think what this means to us. How many members of the American Philatelic Society would subscribe for one or more copies at $1.00 or even $2.00 a copy? Just write your name on a postal card, with the number of copies and your subscription, and mail at once to the secretary. We must know so that when the matter is presented before the convention, we can present it in the most favorable light, and not run the chance of having it defeated by the howl of "too much expense". The secretary stands ready to subscribe for five copies at $2.00 a copy. How many do you want? Let's hear from you too, at once.

Will all officers of the American Philatelic Society and chairmen of committees who have reports to submit to the 24th annual convention at Atlantic City kindly make out their reports in triplicate and forward two copies so that they will reach the secretary not later than two weeks prior to the date of the convention. This is important.

Have you ever seen the "hit and run" play worked? It's a daisy. Just hit that friend of yours for his application and then run and get another one. It's a (Continued on preceding page.)

issues. Every listed variety is included. They have been carefully collected and arranged according to perforations including the compound and mixed perfs. of recent years in blocks of four. The unused section is followed by the same issues in used condition. Shades have in all cases received special attention, while the appearance of the pages has frequently been greatly improved by including a block, strip or pair. Several of the sets are complete in blocks of four, which always make a splendid showing.

Those who have had any experience in collecting early New Zealand will know something about the great difficulty in obtaining fine copies. In this respect Mr. Pack has been especially careful, and no unsightly specimen is ever allowed to detract from the beauty of the pages. The entire country now fills four volumes of Oriel Albums.

Mr. Pack very kindly exhibited his New Zealand collection at a recent meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society. It attracted a great amount of interest and proved one of the finest exhibitions ever held by the society. The following day several members requested the privilege of a special examination and study of this wonderful collection of which Mr. Pack can be justly proud.

PRIVATE DAILY POSTAL DELIVERY.

By J. WARREN WEISHEIMER, A. P. S. 3227.

In Hartford, there has been established a company, which has underbid Uncle Sam in delivering first-class matter. This was called to the attention of the postal authorities who ordered this practice to be stopped. Quoting from a local paper: "The postal authorities have been looking into an irregularity in connection with a story that a former letter carrier for the Hartford post office has been delivering letters about the city of Hartford for business houses and others, this being in conflict with the government's provisions, which do not allow of competition in this line. A man can fix a cheaper rate for delivery than for Uncle Sam's postage rate for first class matter and not only save money for those who make uses of his services and make quite a comfortable income himself, but naturally the government frowns upon this saving and making of money at its expense.

"It is understood that the man who has been delivering the letters has not been doing so in deliberate violation of the postal regulations, as he had what he had reason to believe was expert advice to the effect that what he proposed to do was all right. Accordingly, it is said, there will be no more serious action in the matter than notifying him that he must discontinue the work."

This was in Monday's paper and on Wednesday we received at the house a letter delivered by this man. All this may not be anything very wonderful except for the fact that our friend had a private postmark. Some day, perhaps, some of our post-mark collecting friends might hold a copy of this and could not find a suitable explanation of its origin. So, I will attempt to describe this freak.

It is round in shape with a double circled border. The outer ring is about one millimeter in width, next a distance of the same space, then a hair line circle. Following the line at the top are the words "Daily Delivery" and at the bottom "System". These are in capital letters about 3 mil. high. In the center appears "H. A. D." and on a line below "CO." This is in the same type as the other words. The date is lacking. The form is of rubber and the cancellation black.

A GREAT LONDON BUSINESS.

By LONDONIENSIS.

One of the most notable houses in the stamp trade of Europe is that of Mr. W. H. Peckitt who is a constant advertiser in the columns of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and has, we have no doubt, the largest across-Atlantic trade of any European dealer. We have been pleased to recently show some first class cuts of Mr. Peckitt's fine store on the famous London thoroughfare of the Strand, and a few particulars of the man at the wheel and his philatelic career will doubtless interest readers generally.

Mr. Peckitt who is still on the sunny side of forty has been for twenty-two years in the stamp business. He started directly after he left school. For a short while he conducted his business from his father's home, but after a couple of years or so he went to London to open right away in a first floor office on the Strand. That was at number 441 where he had only the first floor twenty years back. Business prospered with the young dealer and before long he added the second floor offices in the same building to his establishment. After about five years the shop next door, No. 440, was offered him and he took it retaining also his two floors at 441.

Six years ago these premises were required for the building of Coutts' Bank and Mr. Peckitt's lease having expired he was fortunate in securing very handsome and commodious premises on the opposite side of the road at No. 47 Strand where he is to this day. The present premises are entirely taken up by his business as a stamp dealer, the basement being occupied by the great built-in strong room shewn in this issue. Here there are large safes in which valuable stock books and collections are ranged on shelves. Several smaller safes are devoted entirely to the use of individual customers, and a series of iron boxes on the safe deposit plan has been in use ever since he went into the new premises. These iron boxes are available for the use of customers free of charge and as each box has a distinctive key the customer may retain the key in his own custody.

Stacks of large flat boxes are also to be noted in the strong room. These contain the quantities of mint sheets which are being constantly imported for the very large circulation of recently issued stamps in the New Issue Service.

The ground floor of the building is occupied by a very handsome store, with Mr. Peckitt's office in the rear. On the first floor there is a finely equipped private room for study which Mr. Peckitt places at the disposal of visitors and clients generally. Magnifying glasses of a great variety of kinds and a powerful microscope are there for the student and it is not too much to assume that many of the controversies between leading philatelists in Great Britain have been settled once and for all in this magnificently equipped philatelic study. Other private rooms are also available when this one is occupied, and the remainder of the four floors are taken up with accommodation for the staff, which is a highly trained and efficient one.

The careful conduct of the business is its especial feature. One might truthfully say that Mr. Peckitt enjoys the confidence and friendship of all his best customers, and their transactions with him are treated in a manner that begets a confidence and trust which is never belied. Few well-to-do collectors like to have their philatelic affairs needlessly gossiped about, and Mr. Peckitt anticipates and respects their wishes.

The most notable side of the business is the handling of rare stamps and superb collections. And when one mentions rare stamps one is reminded that Mr. Peckitt has negotiated copies of all the first class rarities. He has had the 2 cents Hawaii and he has had no fewer than four different copies of the 1d Post Office Mauritius three of which have passed through his hands several times. He has bought and sold the 2d Post Office Mauritius, and three copies of the circular 2 cents British Guiana. This is to mention only a few of the great particular rarities all of them at the top of the list, most of the other well known rarities he has handled over and over again in the course of business.

But where Mr. Peckitt has led the way in the English stamp trade has been in the purchase of finely specialised collections of single countries. Though he has often purchased large general collections he feels that these do not so efficiently meet the standard requirements of his business. The collector having too wide a field has not given sufficient attention to the perfect condition of his stamps.

So Mr. Peckitt, who makes a feature of fine copies of rare stamps, prefers to buy highly specialised collections in which he gets the crème de la crème of copies of all the stamps. For collections of this class he has paid up to £10,000 for a single collection and so substantial are the resources of his business that he makes it a rule to pay cash.

One of his earliest purchases in this class was the Blest collection of Queensland, New Zealand and New South Wales.

Other well known collections he has purchased were those of His Highness Prince Doria, The Right Hon. the Earl of Kintore, Major General F. W.

Lampton, the Ravaisson collection; the Bagshawe collection of Straits Settlements, the Hastings Wright collection of English, and the Yardley collection of Transvaal. Comparatively recently he purchased the famous Vernon Roberts collection of the Cape of Good Hope which contained more than half a dozen of the Woodblock errors and from four to five hundred ordinary woodblocks, besides the other triangulars in fine large mint blocks. Readers of MEKEEL'S are doubtless familiar with many of his more recent purchases which have been advertised in these columns. They include superbly specialised collections of Tasmania, British North America, Barbados, Nevis, Turks Island, St. Vincent, British Guiana, etc. All were specialised to a very high degree and contained only copies which would not merely satisfy but delight the most extreme exponent of "condition".

As an English dealer Mr. Peckitt has particularly specialised in the sale of the stamps of Great Britain. This he has done ever since he started in business and he has practically a monopoly of the greater rarities of Great Britain.

Customers often ask why Mr. Peckitt does not issue a catalogue. He explains that his business is more a matter of private and confidential arrangement between dealer and collector. He prefers, too, to let the collector see the condition of the stamps he is buying.

Mr. Peckitt has also contented himself hitherto with only the occasional issue of printed lists and periodical circulars. He has however lately arranged to publish a series which for its elegance of production and the careful philatelic study is quite in line with the rest of his business. His new publications, "The Melville Stamp Books" promise to be in every way a splendid success, the first two having received a large mead of praise both from the press and from the foremost specialists and collectors.

It would be a mistake to suppose that in handling more rare stamps of the first degree than most of the other dealers Mr. Peckitt neglects the medium collectors who is no doubt the backbone of the stamp trade. He has all classes of stamps from the commonest upwards, but he will only take them in the best condition. Condition he argues is as important a factor in a present day common stamp as in a rare one.

It may be not so familiar to medium and young collectors that Mr. Peckitt maintains four distinct forms of approval books. The first is in the form of fine specialised collections in albums priced up at moderate prices, the second is in the familiar large books containing selections from £300 to £500 or over; the third series is for the medium collector and these books which are known as "Blue Books" are small and contain a representative selection of all but the very high standard of efficiency. This important service which he started at the outset on the demand on the part of collectors for a prompt supply of new stamps as issued has grown to very great proportions, nor is this surprising seeing that he only charges a uniform rate of ten per cent over face for all new issues supplied to the subscribers to this service. WASHINGTON NOTES.

By CHAS. R. MORRIS.

Eight plates have now been prepared of the Alaska stamps and will go to press on the 11th. The P. O. Dept. has ordered 150,000,000 and they are to be sent out only on requisition of the postmasters.

I have heard some inquiries lately as to whether the Lincoln stamps were all gone. I even saw an article of a very sarcastic sort in one of the English philatelic papers referring to the stamps being issued in such limited quantities and rather indicating that we Americans were using our great and good Lincoln for speculative purposes only. There are still 30,000,000, almost the entire last printing of them, on hand at the Bureau awaiting requisitions from postmasters. Why don't some of you admirers of Lincoln insist upon your postmaster ordering some? If you don't it will simply mean that in a short time the Bureau will get tired of holding them and they will be forced on the Washington public the way all other left overs are. Not that we would consider it a hardship to have the Lincoln stamps forced on us, far from it, for I believe Lincoln is as much revered in this city as anywhere in the United States, but when we have these "left-overs" forced on us, it rather looks as though other parts of the country fail to do their duty.

A new type of vending machine perforation is soon to appear on the market. An order has been placed with the P. O. Dept. for 10,000,000 stamps, the vertical perforations to be normal but the horizontal perforations, while of the same size as usual, every other one will be missing, that is, on the machines which do the horizontal perforating, every other tooth will be removed. This will give a little more strength to the strip for feeding purposes and save the mending machine manufacturers from preparing a special cut.

Speaking of vending machines, the manufacturers of some of the machines using peculiar cuts have appealed to the P. O. Dept. to prepare their stamps with their various perforations. It is not known at this writing whether any favorable action will be taken on such requests or not. If the government adopts some of these machines as it is considering doing, it would seem as though it "was up to them" to prepare the stamps for their own machines. The vending machine is almost certain to remain with us, it is constantly being improved upon and the outcome will probably be that some day the machines will be perfected so that they will be seen in every drug store (or other place where the public now seek stamps) and then it is almost certain the necessary cuts and perforations will have to be made by the government.

It has been suggested that a 12c Special Delivery stamp would be a good idea. This would combine the postage and special delivery features in one. If the P. O. Dept. would prepare a 13c stamp which would cover postage and registration to foreign countries, why may it not act upon this suggestion? I would vote for it. Anything to get a different design from the awful "Merry Widow" stamp we are using now.

EDITORIAL.

Campaigning—The Open Letter published in the WEEKLY of April 3rd and addressed to the members of the American Philatelic Society has not passed unnoticed. Its statements have received the approbation of many members but they have been adversely criticized in some sections. The letter presented two general propositions; one was that the WEEKLY wanted to serve as official journal for another year and the other was in the nature of a protest against the proposed legislation having for its object the denial of the publishers of the official journal of the right to hold proxies. It was shown that it would be arbitrary and oppressive to bar the publishers of this paper from a privilege that we believe is carried inherently in a share of stock in the corporation. The manifest injustice of placing this restriction on the publishers of the WEEKLY and allowing other aspirants for the official journalship to have free rein in soliciting proxies has been remarked by several observers. A method was suggested for avoiding the accumulation of proxies in the hands of a few; that the plan proposed could be improved upon is possible but even as it stands it is entitled to favorable consideration. No member or coterie has a monopoly of interest in the society and the records of the past prove that the publishers of this paper have worked at all times for the welfare of the society.

* * *

Platform—The WEEKLY feels that it is entitled to recognition for the work that it has done to further the welfare of the society during the past year; and on this platform it asks for the votes of members in its behalf as official journal. The record of Mr. Wylie is convincing but without having employed the subscription list of the WEEKLY in proselyting for members, he could have secured but a small fraction of the hundred and more members that he has proposed for membership had not the WEEKLY permitted a liberty in this regard that may be called unparalleled. Even on its subscription renewal blanks, attention is called to the desirability of our readers of joining the American Philatelic Society. It is all very well to say, as a rival candidate does that "constant growth in membership is by no means the sole criterion as to the real vitality and power of a society" but the splendid showing as reflected in the particulars furnished with the applications for membership during the past fiscal year makes such an insinuation unwise, indeed, at this juncture; and we should imagine that the new members would feel none too enthusiastic over this gracious greeting.

* * *

Martial and Medicinal—That grim old warrior, Brother Nast of the Stamp Journal, has buckled on his armor and he slashes away in a manner that excites his own admiration. The fiercely rampant author of the Comic Farmer wields the double-edged sword of satire in a way to make us wince. He says: "Bro. Charles Esterly has forgotten the Quarterly. Oh! Doctor, I feel that pain coming on again. Never mind, dear, we will fix that; you just forgot to take your medicine, that's all." Epigram and cryptogram rolled into one; powerful words and fraught with deep significance. Further, he says: "We have no objection to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY as official organ; and if, as the proprietors say, that is all they want, let them stay on that reservation. But we know they won't." How does he know "they won't?" Before the Columbus convention last year, the WEEKLY publishers invited instructions from proxy givers giving a printed list of subjects that would be considered at the convention; care was taken not to attempt to influence legislation that was in prospect.

He Jests—Our friendly critic lunges wildly when he says: "Well, will the proprietors of the WEEKLY tell us whether they, as editors, who are constantly voicing their opinions on every thing else connected with the association are in favor of a Quarterly, or are they going to fight it 'tooth and nail' as heretofore?" We suppose that this remark is intended to be taken in a playful sense as it is known that the WEEKLY has refrained studiously from airing the views held individually by its publishers. Indeed, this course has been persisted in so noticeably that the attention of some of the members have been drawn to the circumstance and they have intimated that they would prefer the official journal to be more outspoken in its preferences of society policy but we have persisted in having no opinions editorially. In this connection, the reservation of the privilege of soliciting the honor of official journal is always made.

* * *

General and Personal—Last year, before the Columbus convention, the hope was expressed editorially that the society would be in a position to publish an official journal of its own in a comparatively short time. It was suggested by several who addressed us that any publication that appeared less frequently than every other week, at least, was not suitable for our purpose. The files of the WEEKLY a year ago will show just how the question of a journal or publication for the society was discussed. The Quarterly question was not developed in its fullest and most favorable light until the convention. There was no reason for the WEEKLY to be antagonistic to a Quarterly; no selfish ends could be served by combatting the proposition. Any individual stand made by the publishers was due to personal conviction. Mr. Wylie cannot accept the Quarterly without personal protest; his position is to be understood as one of belief of the right policy for the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Severn thinks that the growth of the society during the past year does much to place the society in a position to handle such an enterprise with a fair show for success; he will vote for it. These are the views of two members.

* * *

Plain Enough—We have no desire to dictate on this or any other matter. The vote to be taken in August will decide whether the members want a Quarterly; the question will be voted on when the proxies are sent out. In the meantime, the WEEKLY does not seek to influence any member as to that person's vote, nor will it endeavor to do so, nor allow its columns to be used for or against the proposition. Further, in deference to the wishes of the Board of Directors of the society, the WEEKLY will refuse to allow proxies to be advertised for in the official journal.

DEATH OF C. S. F. CROFTON.

With deep and sincere regret we record the death, at the all too early age of 36, of C. S. F. Crofton, until lately editor of the Philatelic Journal of India. It was a great shock to see Mr. Crofton's name among the "Deaths" in the Daily Telegraph of April 28th, for it is only a few short weeks since he gave over the charge of the Indian Society's organ to Mr. Wetherell after editing it most brilliantly for the past year. The death occurred at Ahmednagar from cholera. "India," as B. Gordon Jones writes us in a grief-laden letter, "that accursed land of regrets, has claimed another of our best." It is indeed a bitter blow to philately, and, to quote Gordon Jones again, "an irreparable loss to the Philatelic Society of India." Mr. Crofton wrote the Indian Telegraph section of the recent Indian Handbook; he also collab-

I have a block of 36 (6x8) New South Wales, Gibbons No. 379, extra well centered, mint, cat. by Gibbons $40.00 each, for which I will accept, quick cash, $150, about one-tenth cat.

This stamp has been unpriced in S. G. for many years, leading Australian dealers do not price it, and I never saw an unused copy during five years dealing in Sydney, N. S. Wales.

A snap for a specialist, or anyone with exchange relations in England. 36 is all I have. Single copies $5.00 each, but will keep block unbroken for one week after date of paper.

1904 GRASSET TYPE OF INDO-CHINA.

BY WM. WARD.

The very able article upon the recent stamps of France by Mr. Howes, in the last French Special, has without doubt created renewed enthusiasm. The writer was, however, a little incorrect technically in one particular—that the rejected designs of 1900, drawn by M. Grasset, were slightly modified and used for French Indo-China. The "modified"— if we can use such a term—designed by the Colonial office for French India was that submitted as far back as 1896 to the home authorities. To use a Hibernianism, the "modified" design was not "modified". Strictly speaking, the 1904 issue of the Chinese Protectorate was a "positive" of the artists' negative.

The original drawing was submitted in a competition for a stamp design, and was accepted, but as it eventually turned out was not made use of. I have had in my possession an essay of the premier proof, details of which I give alongside that of the Asiatic emission, below.

Original Grasset Design Submitted to the French Authorities.

1. Background white
2. Figures of value in top right hand corner double-lined on white ground.
3. Insignia right opposite face of "Peace" consists of plinth surmounted by "Cap of Liberty", and with laurel wreath round either side.
4. Inscription at base, colored letters on white ground, "Republique Francaise".

Subsequent Grasset Type, "Modified" for Indo-Chine.

1. Background, solid color.
2. Figures of value, thick type figures upon white ground.
3. Insignia altered to a cabled anchor.
4. Same, but first word altered to "IndoChine"

A comparison between the numbered points I have given will show that whilst the whole design was retained, the optical aspect was altered. If anything, the change has greatly improved the design, which is one of the neatest and prettiest of all the French Colonial issues.

Few stamps have received the criticism of the world more than those in mention, but their appearance cannot be honestly decryd. They are not dissimilar to the Exhibition issue of France for 1900, and very probably M. Eugene Mouchon, the designer of the latter, derived his ideas from them for the "de l'Homme" issue that so annoyed the woman suffragist movement in France at the time.

The beautiful colors in which the Indo-China Grasset stamps are printed make them worthy of any album space. They are neither gaudy nor washed out, but deep, yet subdued tints, and it is a pity they have been withdrawn to give room to such an ultra-design crowded stamp as at present in use.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

It is out of the question for the WEEK-LY to publish all the kind words spoken in its favor but a letter just at hand must be quoted. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago W. F. Gregory used an entire page in the WEEKLY. Read what Mr. Gregory writes:—

"Last advt. was a daisy! Brought in so far over $500.00 cash and quite a little more coming."

In almost the same mail a letter was received from Felix Cohen of Port Said, Egypt. Writes Mr. Cohen:—

"I must say that since I have inserted my name in your valuable paper I have had a great success, which I never have obtained with any papers of Europe.
The business thus resulting is beyond my expectation as I continue to receive letters from the U. S. and elsewhere."

Truly MEKEEL'S WEEKLY is "King of stamp papers and the stamp paper of kings." Others may claim to be "largest and best," but they are only imitations.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centres.
Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for

—"Under the heading of 'Revenue Notes and Other Things' in your May 1st issue, Mr. Vanderhoof gives a description of the so called tape worm stamp, which is somewhat misleading to the collector who is not familiar with the creature.
In the first place the stamp is not embossed, being simply a surface print the same as all of the stamped paper of the Civil war series. Another misleading point is that one impression does not overlap the one directly under it. The die used to print the tape worm stamp was made by using the regular 2c design used on stamped paper at that date, 1864-6 (Sterling's design A) and repeating the lower one third of the same design directly under the stamp as many times as required on the clearing house statements, so that it has the appearance of stamps being overlapped. In reality the stamp was made by one impression."— that the American Red Cross Society is preparing an exhibition of the more than six hundred designs received in the com-

—The Canadian Postal Guide for

—The Trenton Philatelic Society held its regular semi-monthly meeting May 13 at Lawrenceville, N. J. The society was entertained in a very hospitable manner by Edward Jamieson, the host of the

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We are in receipt of a nicely printed book listing "United States Private Tobacco Proprietary Stamps" printed on both tinfoil and paper and including all known essays. The last eight pages are given over to a list of tin foils made by the Crooke Co., but of which the compil-ers, Messrs. Prevost and Bartlett, say:—
"We are inclined to believe that these are simply foil wrappers upon which an adhesive stamp was used."

Over seven hundred varieties are listed and as the last list published was dated 1883, the value of the book to this "side line" of philately may well be understood though the industry and patience necessary to produce the book cannot be fully appreciated. Largely a labor of love upon the part of Messrs. Bartlett and PROPOSED PENNY POSTAGE BETWEEN W. I. AND BR. GUIANA AND U. S.

(Through Mr. Kjellstedt, Int. Sec. of the A. P. S., a copy of some correspondence comes to hand that will be read with interest. Accompanying it is a letter from A. D. Ferguson, Sec. Br. Guiana Philatelic Society, from which we quote the following:

"Our society has been interesting itself in endeavoring to obtain penny postage between the United States and the West Indies and British Guiana. At our last meeting it was resolved, that a copy of this society's letter to our government on the subject be sent to your society with the object of your bringing the matter before your members; believing, as we do, that you will use your endeavors on your side to bring about this very desirable end."

We suggest immediate action upon the part of the A. P. S. board of vice presidents and hearty co-operation.—ED.)

To the Govt. Sec. of Br. Guiana:

The members of the British Guiana Philatelic Society being interested generally in postal communication between all countries, and more particularly in that of the British Empire and its inter-postal arrangements at home and abroad, desire to approach the government with the object of strongly supporting the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce for the establishment of a penny postage between the United States of America and the West Indies and British Guiana, same as now exists between the United Kingdom and the United States.

We may be permitted to point out that at present the curious anomaly exists of the postage of a letter from Demerara to New York being 2½d, whereas the postage of a letter sent on to Canada via New York is only a penny, with perhaps a thousand or more miles to travel from New York by rail.

With the establishment of penny postage between the United Kingdom and the United States as from the 1st of October, 1908, it has been brought to our notice that numerous misapprehensions have arisen both in the states and in the colonies as to the application or limits of the new reduced rate, and much inconvenience has arisen on both sides in consequence of the imposition of a surtax for short postage on letters posted in good faith under the impression that the new arrangement extended to and from all British colonies.

We further desire to draw the government's attention to the fact that the imports from the United States have materially increased during the last ten years:—1897-1898, £341,738-16-0; 1907-1908, £508,202-5-0. And this naturally causes increased correspondence. Experience has shown that the lowering of postal rates in other countries has not cost a loss in revenue but rather the reverse, and we see no reason to think that this would not be the case in this instance.

We venture to hope that the government will communicate with the proper authorities and endeavor to bring about the lowering of the postal rates between this colony and the United States from five cents as it is at present to two cents, the rate charged between the United Kingdom and the United States.

A. D. FERGUSON,
Sec. Br. Guiana Phil. Soc.

Other subscriptions received published next week.

These subscriptions are but the guarantee to provide against loss should the society undertake the publication of this Priced Specialized Catalog of United States Stamps. Should the publication be successful from a financial standpoint these guarantees will be released and copies supplied to all subscribers at the regular price, to be determined by the Board of Publication. If you want to help make this publication possible, what better way to express your desire than by sending in your subscription as a guarantee and help assure this most worthy project? And don't forget to instruct your proxy in favor of its publication.

Send in your name on a postal card with the number of copies and the price.

With the society about to issue a handbook and the Priced Specialized Catalog in sight, it ought to be an easy matter to get your friends lined up right. It is the intention to give the handbook free to every member, as the secretary understands it. Let them but once understand what is on the "tapis" and it will be just like falling off a log to get them. There is no time like the present. Don't wait for opportunity to break down the door, for if you do you will get left. Have the hand ready waiting for them. Yours for better or worse,

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—ED.)

CAIRO, EGYPT, March 20, '09.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

I have read with much pleasure the interesting articles published by you, on the Sudan stamps and I beg to thank these two gentlemen for having brought to the notice of collectors much information not known even by the philatelists of this country.

As an old stamp collector and a specialist of Egypt and Sudan, I am in a position better than any other person to be informed on the particulars of these stamps, so I believe it will interest your numerous readers to publish the following corrections:—

The 1897 issue was surcharged in Cairo, in panes of sixty stamps, and not 120 as Mr. Howes says. Three panes of the 5 mil. were found with inverted surcharge, and five of the 1 mil. besides one pane of sixty and two of the 2 piastres were found with inverted watermark. One entire pane of the last one is still in a local collection.

The whole issue amounted to a very large value and not only to £700 as said for the remainder of a face value of £410, was sold to a local collector and comprised about 60,000 of 1 mil. and 2000 of the 10 piastres. It is for this reason that these two values are easily found unused in the market.

The 5 piastres Camel issue was surcharged at Kartoum "5 millièmes" as the supply of this last stamp was short but in panes of 30, and not as stated by Mr. Howes, in sheets of 120, and by Mr. Klein in sheets of 60. It is said that 60,000 stamps were surcharged in this manner. Six panes of thirty were found with inverted surcharge, the greatest part of them having passed through my hands.

Of the 1 millième O. S. G. S. printed at Kartoum in panes of 30 stamps, the 1st stamp of the 4th row had an oval O, the entire 5th row had circular period, while the 24 other stamps have square period. One pane only of 30 had inverted surcharge.

Of the Army Official, a variety not yet mentioned is the horizontal surcharge. Two panes of 30 being misplaced had this surcharge, making several varieties, very scarce. The remainder of the Army Official stamps was burnt at Kartoum and not sold to a London dealer as stated.

The regular issue printed at London appeared in December 1898. I am informed at last moment that the 10 piastre postage has been issued with watermark Crescent and Star, and that the 1909 issue of Army Service, printed a few days ago, comprise only 100 of the 10 piastre.

LEONCE COLUCCI.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

Inasmuch as the interest in the stamps of British New Guinea and Papua seems to be increasing and as none of our catalogues contain a complete list of these interesting stamps, I am going to enumerate the varieties I have in my collection and trust that this list will be supplemented by those of your readers who specialize in this country. I am omitting all varieties of paper and errors in surcharge, such as inverted "d" for "p", dropped "pua", double surcharge, etc., as I am afraid that this would make my list too long.

DONATIONS REQUESTED.

(It will be a cause for much rejoicing upon the part of A. P. S. members to learn that the good work formerly done by the Pacific Philatelic Society is about to be resumed. Henry J. Crocker writes to Mr. Adair that the old society has been re-organized under good auspices and a renewed interest in philately has been inspired. We quote from Mr. Crocker's letter:—"The members are going to work energetically to build up with new material and we expect soon to have a place to welcome the travelling philatelist as we did in the days gone by." The following appeal by Robt. E. Cowan should be responded to readily, and tangible evidence given that the bond of philately represents indeed a true fraternity.—ED.)

In the recent great disaster the Pacific Philatelic Society lost its entire library which had been in process of collection for many years and was both extensive and historically valuable. The Society, upon reorganizing in March 1909, has decided to replace this loss as far as may be possible. To this end we solicit the assistance of kindred societies elsewhere. Donations of philatelic material of any kind and in any quantity will be most gladly received and duly acknowledged. It is hoped that this appeal will not be without results, as San Francisco philatelists, while of the faithful and sincerely enthusiastic, are widely isolated from the greater philatelic centers.

Word has been received by the secretary of the death of Ben M. Carpenter, Albuquerque, N. M., on April 12. Mr.
Carpenter was formerly member No.
2762 of the society.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of the American Philatelic Society have passed the following measure by a unanimous vote:

"That advertising in the Official Organ soliciting proxies be condemned, and the Publishers of the same be requested by this Board to discontinue such as not being for the best interests of the Society which they represent as Official Organ."

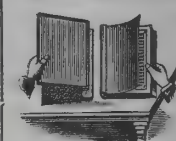

This is probably the first favor a Board of Directors of this Society ever request-

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—J. J. Pendergast has shown us specimens of the current 2c envelope, sizes 5 and 13, on 1903 paper.

Edward W. Bridge reports having albinos of the current 1c wrapper, having found four in one lot of 100 wrappers.

C. G. W. Carlson has shown us an albino wrapper of the current 2c denomination.

E. Wanless reports having the current 1c envelope, size 13, on 1903 paper.

W. C. Phillips reports having the current 2c envelope, die A2, size 5, on amber, with 1907 watermark; and also the 2c envelope, die C, size 3, on white, 1903 watermark.

J. N. Morse reports having a provisional permit, reading "1c Paid—Boston, Mass.—Permit No. 247," first printing. A large "2" has been printed over the "1," all being in black ink.

Geo. L. Toppan informs us that the firm of H. F. Colman has just located a 10c Uniontown on gray-blue paper. Heretofore this has only been known on white paper.

Frank B. Eldredge, William Evans, J. J. Pendergast and Edward W. Bridge have given us notice of the following precancelled:

Binghamton, N. Y., 1c 1908; normal.
Pittsburg, Pa., 1c 1908; reading up.
Cincinnati, O., 2c 1908; reading up.
Chicago, Ill., 10c 1908; normal.
Rock Island, Ill., 1c 1908; three lines separated by two bars.
Torrington, Conn., 5c 1902.
Belfast, Maine, 8c 1902; diagonal.
Providence, R. I., 4c 1908

Mr. Bridge reports having the current 2c precancelled "Cincinnati, Ohio," in two lines, the printing being misplaced so that the last half of overprint comes first. This precancellation reads up.

ARGENTINE.—Lemaire's Journal says that the current series of stamps, with portrait of San Martin, will be retired from circulation in 1910, to be replaced by new series which will be called "Del Centenario," and whose appearance will coincide with the fetes attending the Centenary of Independence. The new stamps will represent various episodes in the history of the country, and it is promised that they shall be very artistic.

AUSTRALIA.—Lemaire's Journal notes that the 10sh and 20sh postage due stamps have now been issued with the transverse bar after the shilling mark.

AUSTRIA.—The New England Stamp Co. calls our attention to a change that has been made in the 60h Jubilee stamp, which materially changes the aspect of the stamp. The change consists of the removal of the horizontal lines in the sky, thus bringing into greater prominence the Emperor's head. That the change has been made by re-engraving the old plates is shown by the fact that in all the specimens seen, there is a little spot of the horizontal lines left just above the horse's head, giving him a halo, as it were. Perhaps some of our readers can fix the date when the change was made. The query arises, will the 50h be similarly treated?

Offices in Crete.—The 25c of the Jubilee issue of 1908 is now issued on white paper, instead of blue.

Offices in the Levant.—The 1pi stamp of 1908, Jubilee issue, has now been printed in blue on white, instead of in blue on blue.

CANADA.—In reference to the imperforate Canadians noted in previous numbers, A. McKechnie confirms our previous information, having been officially informed that the imperforate stamps will not be available for about three weeks.

CANAL ZONE.—Allen H. Blake, M. D., informs us that a friend in the Canal Zone writes that he has seen the new 2c Panama stamp in the printing office being surcharged, and that it will be issued shortly. He also says he "saw a sheet with inverted surcharges, but probably that will not get out." We wish we could feel as confident of this as Dr. Blake's friend seems to be.

The J. M. Bartels Co. is the first to show us the 2c Panama stamp, surcharged "Canal Zone", reading down. The portrait is the same as that on the previous issue, Fernandez de Cordoba, but the head is larger and more effective. The color of the frame is a pretty shade of vermilion red, the design being an entirely new and attractive one. The figures of value appear in square frames at the sides. The oval containing the portrait being formed by "Republica de Panama" around the top, and "Dos Centesimos" around the bottom, "Correos" is printed at the top and "de Balboa" at the bottom, both being in straight lines. The ornamental lines are simple, yet graceful. Each stamp has the imprint, "American Bank Note Co. N. Y." Geo. E. Toppan has also shown us this stamp.

Adhesive.

2c vermilion red and black.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—A correspondent, writing to inform us of the issue of the 1sh black on green chalky multiple paper, says:

"The first supply of 6,000 of this denomination, single watermark, was exhausted a few months after the new issue was put on sale last year and for almost a year there has not been a stamp of the 1sh denomination on sale at the post offices in the Cayman Islands Dependency. This new supply was received and put on sale, I think, either the latter part of March or the first of April, at which time the 1/4d stamp in the dark brown shade was also received and put on sale. Regarding the 4d stamp, which has also been out of stock since last summer, my correspondent advises that it is doubtful if any more will be issued. I can't understand the reason for this, but in the May 1st issue of Gibbons' Stamp Weekly, which has just come to hand, I find mention made of the fact. So there must be some truth in it."

CRETE.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us some new varieties of the surcharged stamps of this country. In No. 957 we mentioned the fact that a new type of the surcharge, "Ellas" had appeared. There are at least two other types, all of which we have seen. The 25 lepta and the 1dr stamps have the extended type noted in No. 957; the 10 lepta and 20 lepta have type of substantially the same size, but of a fancy character. The 5dr stamp has appeared with this latter face of fancy type, but larger and more extended.

FINLAND.—Lemaire's Journal is informed that correspondence from that country is now stamped with the ordinary Russian stamps, thus marking the complete suppression of the autonomy of Finland.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke has shown us two values of the new issue

SPECIAL BARGAINS!

—P. M. Wolsieffer, Chicago, will hold his next auction sale on June 5th, and the catalog which has been distributed, shows a very representative line of offerings of the kind that is calculated to appeal to the great mass of buyers. There is a flavoring of rarities in the lots and the sale may well be called a popular one.

MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Probable Reason—The information was given in a recent number that the Canadian postoffice department was prepared to furnish the two-cent stamp, current design, in imperforate sheets of one hundred stamps each. In the Quarterly Supplement to the Canadian Official Postal Guide, April, 1909, is the following departmental order: "(II.) Unperforated Sheets of Postage Stamps. In view of representations which have been made to the Department, it has been decided to permit the sale of the 2-cent denomination of Canadian postage stamps of the current issue in sheets of 100, without the usual perforation. Applications for the same should be made to the Postmaster at Ottawa." Unless it is that the activity of the mailing machine companies has made it advisable that the Canadian authorities cater to them, or rather, to their convenience, in the way that this country has done, it becomes apparent that the issue is made in consequence of the circulation accidentally of the sheet of imperforates; much publicity was given these stamps in the WEEKLY.

Checkmate—That the Canadian government was interested in the imperforates was shown conclusively at the time; Mr. Severn had the stamps sent to Ottawa for examination and they came back promptly with the observation that they were printers' waste and had been blown or thrown out of a window of the stamp establishment. It was intimated, further, that it would be safer not to attempt to dispose of the sheet in view of the circumstances under which it reached the public. It was suggested that Mr. Severn might be "recouped" the amount that he paid for the stamps if he relinquished them. As he thought that by doing this he would enhance the interest carried by the imperforates that were not in his possession but supposedly scattered in a way to make the return of them very improbable, he did not act on the suggestion. Now that Mr. Lemieux, the finder of the imperforates, has received the Quarterly Supplement alluded to, containing the order creating the imperforates neatly blue-penciled, it is assumed that the issue of the stamps in this form has been made with the idea of rendering the sheet that escaped the department of no value. Thus philately plainly has its influence in this new emission.

* * *

Good Move—We approve of the course of the postal authorities of our northern neighbor, prompted, no doubt, by the desire to destroy what may be called an accidental monopoly of a stamp, the issue of which was not intended previously. Not having taken advantage of the offer to be "recouped" no complaint is made or sense of injury felt at the action of the authorities. Rather, we join in any song of satisfaction over the issue of the interesting variety that is now presented to collectors in the regular way. Of course, it is likely that the imperforates would have been issued even if the other imperforates had not got out but from the wording of the order, "In view of representations which have been made to the Department," it is thought that we have given the correct explanation.

Our Inning—In connection with the Golden West Exhibition, Earls Court, London, May to October, 1909, there is being held a stamp exhibition under the auspices of that "pushful" and progressive organization, the Junior Philatelic Society. With a feeling of pride it will be learned that the stamps of the United States and Colonies are the elect on this occasion; and the following particulars furnished by the secretary should be read attentively. "The Junior Philatelic Society propose holding an Exhibition of the stamps of the United States of America and Colonies, including General Issues, Departmentals, Confederates, Locals, Fiscals and anything of interest relating to the Postal History of the Country. The Society hope to receive the hearty support and co-operation of collectors, and appeal for Exhibits of the nature specified above.

... Collections will, however, be acceptable as late in the season as August, to supplement others, which will of necessity have to be returned. If you are willing to assist by lending any stamps, etc., I shall be glad if you will fill in and return the attached form at your earliest convenience. Fuller particulars will be sent to you on application. Herbert F. Johnson, Hon. Exhibition Sec., 44, Fleet Street, London, E. C."

The important consideration of insurance of exhibits is adequately handled and at no expense, whatever, to the exhibitors.

latest. One firm has had the exclusive use of these precanceled stamps, we have been informed. Referring to the precanceled one-cent, 1879, described in this column two weeks ago, a reader says that he can confirm the existence of the stamp. He says that some time ago, he found one of the envelopes of the Lancaster Watch Company and noticing that the postmark was printed on it and that the red lines ruled on the stamp did not run on the envelope, he decided from his cursory examination that the envelope had not passed through the post.

Added—When mention was first made of Mr. Crocker's Hawaiian book, we took occasion to digress and describe the circumstances that lead to the selection of the Hawaiian Islands as the field for peculiarly active missionary work. Two readers have asked that we supplement the remarks that were made with others of similar kind. Our intention was to show the connection between the missionaries and the stamps that were named after them and we do not know what to add further unless it is to say that the first missionary band to the islands consisted of two ordained preachers and translators, a physician, two schoolmasters and catechists, a printer and a farmer, the wives of the seven, and three Hawaiians. Passage for the company was engaged on the brig Thaddeus for $2,500 and on the 23rd of October, 1819, said was set for the distant islands, from Boston. It was not until March 30th, 1820, that the destination was reached.

Novelty But Not New—A reader has shown us an impressed or envelope stamp, design of the 25-cent red Wells, Fargo & Company local, adhesive, 1860; the impression is just to the right of that of the three-cent 1861, red on white, United States envelope. This variety is new to us and we are hopeful of obtaining some information regarding it.

6c U. S. ORANGE PART PERFORATE.

(In our issue of May 15 the Economist Stamp Co. advertised a 6c U. S. orange, part perforate. The following communication is self-explanatory but we cannot refrain from calling the attention of our advertisers to the impracticability of advertising wares upon the mere prospect of stocking them. We have had similar occurrences before and feel that this plain word must needs be spoken.—ED.)

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

We are sending the following communication to certain of our customers:—

"Your favor to hand ordering United States 6c part perforate, and thank you for the same. Very sorry to say that we cannot fill your order, therefore refund your remittance and return postage. When we ordered these from the postmaster, we thought they were going to deliver them imperforate between, but instead they can only be had perforated at sides and imperforate at top and bottom in strips which, of course, have no philatelic value or interest whatsoever, as any perforated all-around stamps can be cut or trimmed off and have the same appearance as these. Regretting very much to have caused you this inconvenience, we remain, evening of May 12th. Pres. Leonard Michael called the meeting to order at 8:30 P. M. with eight members and two visitors present. The minutes of the last two meetings were approved as read.

A communication from the St. Louis Branch No. 4 was read, asking the Chicago Branch for their indorsement and support of officers nominated by St. Louis Branch No. 4 for election at the next A. P. S. convention. The secretary was instructed to answer as follows:

GEO. WOOD, Sec.,
St. Louis Branch, No. 4, A. P. S.

Dear Sir:—Your formal letter of April 15th was duly received and brought to the attention of our members at the regular meeting of May 12.

In response I am instructed to advise you as follows. As you are aware the Philadelphia Branch honored one of our members as have you, by placing him at the head of its ticket. Subsequently the Philadelphia Branch solicited our formal indorsement, which we withheld.

We now feel that with two good tickets in the field, with the members referred to heading each, the interest of the society will be served best, by refraining on our part from formally endorsing either ticket, thus leaving the question of support wholly to our members as individuals.

Thanking you for the recognition accorded this Branch and trusting that you will recognize the propriety of our stand, I remain

Fraternally yours,
JOS. MIZERA, Sec.,
Chicago Branch No. 1.

A communication from L. H. Kjellstedt was read and a motion was carried to the effect that the idea of a specialized catalogue of U. S. issues published by our society be endorsed. A short discussion of the philatelic subject took place. Meeting adjourned at 10:30 P. M. Next meeting June 9th.

JOS. MIZERA, Sec.

PACIFIC BRANCH NO. 3.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21, 1909.

The regular meeting of the society took place on this date at the "Old Poodle Dog" restaurant, Bush street, San Francisco. The earlier part of the evening was devoted to a dinner, which invariably secures a good attendance, fifteen members being present. The ends of the table were fittingly occupied by Pres. Henry J. Crocker and Vice-Pres. H. B. Phillips. This part of the session, as might be inferred, was spent with profit and pleasantly.

The business session was called by Pres. Crocker at 9 P. M. Plans and details in continuance of the reorganization of the society were presented and discussed, the objects being to render the society a source of usefulness as well as of enjoyment.

The following were elected to membership: Messrs. Bartlett, Gleason, Kant, Kuch and Lazarus. The names of six candidates for membership were placed on file to receive action at the next meeting.

It was decided that at the next meeting A. H. Weber should present a dissertation upon the stamps of Gambia, accompanied by a general exhibit of the issues of that country, and later, an exhibition of Western Franks and Locals will be presented by H. B. Phillips. These latter, of peculiar historical interest, have not received the attention in the literature of philately that they have deserved but will, it is hoped, in the near future.

The nomination of A. H. Weber as one of the officials of the American Philatelic Society was endorsed by unanimous consent of the members of the Pacific Philatelic Society.

Through Mr. Phillips, the Berkeley Philatelic Society extended an invitation to the members of this society to visit the former at their Berkeley rooms. It is presumed that the members availed themselves of this courtesy.

In the universal disaster of three years ago the Pacific Philatelic Society suffered in common with others the entire loss of its library. Its collection was an extensive and valuable one, and for many years had been added to and carefully preserved. Some of it can never be replaced, but it is designed to form another collection that will in a measure supply the loss. For this purpose a circular letter in the form of an appeal for all sorts of philatelic material has been sent to the secretary of the American Philatelic Society, and it is hoped that this will be the means of restoring some portion of the material so unfortunately lost.

Several very interesting specimens were shown during the evening, but the most interesting were the sheets of Mr. Crocker's monograph on the Hawaiian numerals since issued from the press. This is a work of the greatest historic importance and to be considered the definitive work upon the subject. A large number of plates show in reproduction the plated sheets of these many issues, and in the accompanying descriptive text the author has had access to material never before published, and entirely unknown. The work is a fine specimen of the printer's and engraver's arts, and is without doubt one of the most valuable monographs ever issued in America or abroad.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Koenig, who, as the Committee of Entertainment proved equal to the task, and discharged his duties acceptably and to the satisfaction of all present.

Meeting adjourned.

COLUMBUS BRANCH NO. 21.

The 57th regular meeting was held May 18th, with seven members and one visitor in attendance. Minutes of 56th meeting read and approved. Carl D. D. Stotz made application for active membership. Mr. Mason displayed his U. S. collection and the 2, 3 and 6 cent stamps of the issues from 1851 to '88 were studied. After the usual drawing, meeting adjourned. Next meeting June 1st.

The 205th (informal) meeting of the Society will be held at the Club Room on Tuesday evening, June 1, at 7:30 o'clock. BOSTON, MASS., May 18, 1909.

The 204th (regular) meeting of the Society was held at the Club Room this evening. President Green called the meeting to order at eight o'clock, and 34 members and friends were present.

The records of the April meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Nevin presented the following

C. A. HOWES, Com.

The following applications were posted:—

EDWARD E. HARDY, Boston,
FRANK LOWELL KENNEDY, Cambridge,
both proposed by A. W. Dunning.

A letter was read from Charles M. Abbott, accompanying the gift of a framed print entitled "The Postage Stamp in the United States, the History of Domestic Letter Postage". This was a very succinct account of U. S. postal history, illustrated with specimens of all the stamps used for letter postage, as far as design goes, except the 5c of 1847. Its educational value if displayed in schools and libraries, to say nothing of its missionary purpose, should be a strong inducement to have it placed where it will do the good work that it is intended for. A vote of thanks was passed to the donor.

The following were elected to membership:—

No. 507. James M. Hunnewell.

No. 508. H. Lawrence Dean.

Inquiry was made concerning the change in the By-Laws giving the Supt. of Auctions 8% commission instead of 5%, and it was voted to have the Secretary look the matter up.

Mr. Rothfuchs presented two alternative amendments to the "Rules for Competitors", but it was pointed out that these rules were in the hands of the Exhibition Com. Nevertheless, as they asked for instructions, it was finally voted to be the sense of the meeting that no restriction be placed on the number of entries by one individual for any competition, but that no individual should take more than one prize.

The Library Committee announced that the West End Philatelist, the Stamp Lover and the Postage Stamp would hereafter be placed on the reading table among the current magazines.

The Library Com. was authorized to publish a general appeal for cash or stamps to be sold for the benefit of the Library, inasmuch as this year's appropriation was somewhat restricted.

Prizes were presented to the winners in last month's competitive exhibition as follows: Blue ribbon to E. F. Sawyer, red ribbon to J. B. B. Smith, and white ribbon to E. M. Carpenter.

The President called our attention to the just issued work of our fellow member, H. J. Crocker, upon the Hawaiian numerals, a copy of which sumptuous volume was before him. It is certainly the acme of philatelic work, both in authorship and production, and caused most favorable comment from those who examined it.

The announcement by the Secretary that John F. Seybold of Syracuse, N. Y., had communicated to him his intention of making the Boston Philatelic Society the recipient of his fine philatelic library, when he should be through with it, caused great enthusiasm among the members, who thoroughly appreciated this compliment to our Society, yet who hoped this library would still prove useful to its present owner for many years yet.

Mr. Bartels reported no entries in the competitive exhibition, but had with him four volumes comprising the Panama collection of Geo. H. Worthington. To say this was an "eye-opener" is putting it mildly, as the multitudinous varieties of this prolific State were there in profusion, from single copies up to entire sheets, and though there may have been some few things lacking, it was hardly evident.

NOTICE.

The growth of our Library is such that the appropriation granted it this year will hardly meet our needs in keeping up with magazine subscriptions and new literature, after providing increased space for accommodation, binding, etc., etc., and an appeal for more funds was made at the last Society meeting. This was generously responded to by the following members, each of whom pledged one dollar toward our needs: Messrs. Kelley, Batchelder, Lyons, Risdon, Carpenter, Dodge, Howes, Hutchins, Bartels, Nevin, Green, Sawyer, Smith, Rothfuchs, Stone, Osgood, Greeley, Powers, Wheeler and Fowle.

Join the procession, you gentlemen who were not present, and help to keep our Library one of the best Society libraries extant! Cash or stamps to be sold will be gratefully acknowledged by the Secretary or C. K. B. Nevin, 6 Beacon St., Boston.

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unse-lected selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to

this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect

yourself and others against further imposition,

by holding such selections without purchasing

any, until sufficient funds have been sent by

the dealer to return it to him by registered

mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

The answer to our call for subscriptions to the Priced Specialized Catalog of U. S. Stamps has been very gratifying so far, but there are many yet to hear from and it is hoped that they will see the necessity of helping make this publication possible. Just drop the secretary a card with your name and number of copies desired. As published last week the list made a fine showing, but we want your name on the list too. 'Twill make it look better.

Let's hear from you, too.

There is so much interest shown in the Catalog that there is some danger that it will overshadow the Quarterly proposition. Do not by any means let your enthusiasm lead you to forget that the Quarterly is by far the best piece of legislation attempted in years. Do not let the cry of "too much expense" throw you off the track, for the Quarterly will not cost any more than an Annual publication and probably much less. There will be quite a saving in postage, as we would get second class rates, and the advertising should reduce the expense considerably. If you want a quick report of the Convention proceedings you will get it in the Quarterly, but not in an Annual, as it must wait the period covered by the Constitution and By-Laws before a list of members with dues paid can be published. The Quarterly is a step in the right direction,—it is progress. Don't let it be said that we can assimilate only one thing at a time. We are surely old enough to have two or even three things on our plate at once. We are either going forward or backward, there is no middle course and our ticket reads Straight Ahead. Bury the past and let's look to the future. Progress is the word.
Progress spells Success. That's us.

By the way, progress means get those friends as members. No backsliding now. We have set the pace and must hold it to the finish. The mourners' bench is filled with broken promises.
Now is the time to redeem yourself and make good. Let's hear from you, too.

logs, but is for issue throughout the foreign post offices, together with the other centimes values, upon samples, and newspapers. A Turkish piastre is only worth 3 1/4 cents, and whilst carrying a letter for nominally 5c it was found impossible to carry newspapers, etc., under 5c net for the given weight of 10 ounces. Hence the issue of stamps in the U. P. U. official cash basis of centimes and francs. The Germans have also instituted this manner of protecting the postal accounts in centimes, and the British in pence.

Straits Currency.—Here is another place where the changes in money value effect the post offices. The reduction of postage from 4c to 3c has given us several interesting varieties in Straits Settlements postage stamps. The list of 3 and 4c stamps today make a very nice display and quite a philatelic study in single stamp specialism. They are as follows:

3c purple, single wmk.
3c purple, multiple wmk.
3c purple, chalky.
3c red, multiple wmk.
4c purple on red, single wmk.
4c purple on red, multiple wmk.
4c purple on red, chalky.
4c red on white, multiple wmk.
4c purple, multiple wmk.

The Malay States have also followed suit, and probably Hong Kong will get in line.

A. P. S. QUARTER CENTENNIAL IN 1911

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

(We feel that we are justified in calling attention to the excellent suggestions made in this article. While it may be considered "proposed legislation", it has not reached that stage where it is a football of discussion or of acrimonious debate. Under the circumstances we venture its publication, heartily commending the general purpose of the article. —Ed.)

The twin sister of the A. P. S., the Philatelic Society of Sweden, is already laying its plans for the celebration at Stockholm, on September 18, 1911, of its 25 years jubilee. With knowledge of the constant activity of this society, which now numbers 1000 members, headed by the crown princes of England and Sweden, it can safely be assumed that the occasion will be made a red letter event, worthy of the celebrating society and Swedish philately in general.

Four days earlier, on September 14, 1911, comes the 25th anniversary of the American Philatelic Society, the largest national philatelic society in the world. As we are becoming better acquainted and closer allied with our sister societies the world over, it is only natural that our doings are being followed with interest in the foreign press. The picture of our seal, frequently carried to other lands, announces the date of our birth and it is not merely locally that the question will be asked: "What will the American Philatelic Society do on its 25th anniversary, 1911?" Yes, what will we do? It may appear too previous to ask such a question two years ahead, but it should be borne in mind that a creditable undertaking can not be carried out without due and careful preparations. It is with a full appreciation of this fact that the Swedish society is now planning for and awakening an interest in an occasion which will occur two years hence. Interest and pride in our American society prompt me to offer as suggestions a few ideas which have come to my mind, born of a desire to see our 25th anniversary made worthy of a separate chapter in the history of American philately.

Taking into consideration the time necessarily consumed by a committee which has to carry out most of its transactions by mail, an "Anniversary Committee" should be appointed by the coming convention. The membership of this committee should consist of the secretary of the A. P. S., chairman, and the secretaries of all the Branches. The secretaries, as a rule, have been selected for their important offices on account of their efficiency, activity, enthusiasm and willingness to work, and it is that kind of material we need on a committee which is to make our quarter century anniversary a success and a credit to our Society. Each secretary in his turn would keep his own branch alive and interested in the coming event. The time for the annual convention of 1911 should be fixed so that the anniversary day comes within the convention week and the locality should be as central and convenient as possible. As the main feature of the celebration we should by all means have an exhibition, international if possible, otherwise only open to American collectors and dealers. The "Year Book", or "Quarterly", of 1911 should contain a concise history of the American Philately Society from the date of its organization. In this connection it may be well to point to the fact that the year books of the Internationaler Philatelisten Verein Dresden contain such a history of the society mentioned, with the chief achievements of the last year added in each succeeding year book. What does the average member of the A. P. S. know about the society's past? Nothing. If the members knew more of the struggles in days gone by, and the men whose constructive work we have to thank for the prosperity and the success of the present day, I believe their loyalty would take deeper roots and their interest in the future would be quickened. The close of 25 years of achievements is the proper time for the appearance of a history of these achievements, and, once written, this history can be kept up to date from year to year with little work. This feature, so appropriate to the celebration of our 25th anniversary, should not be longer postponed, because, the time is not distant when those who were intimately associated with the constructive work of early days will no longer be in our midst. The recording of this work is a duty to our society, to American philately, and to them by whom the work was done.

The distribution to societies all over the world, as well as to the members of our society, of an A. P. S. specialized catalogue of United States issues could not be laid to any period more fitting than the year of our 25th anniversary. It would serve as a permanent memorial of the occasion and open up a new era of interest and philatelic activity in the beautiful issues of our own country. These are only a few suggestions of one member and many other and better may be offered, but whatever we do, let us for once demonstrate to the world that we are not so completely tied down by the proverbial struggle for dollars that we can not find time and spirit to properly celebrate the 25th birthday of our own society, the American Philatelic Society.

—A two-cent Hawaiian missionary stamp, the right-hand bottom corner of which was torn off, was sold at auction May 27 by M. Lemaire, the Paris dealer, for $4,640.00. We are indebted to J. B. Robertson for clipping from the N. Y. Herald giving particulars.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

Entered as Second Class Matter February 10, 1906, at the Post Office at Boston, Mass., under the Act of Congress of March 1, 1879.

RENEWAL—Arrearages are shown by the label on your wrapper. If the number on your label has been passed by the whole number on the first page of this issue kindly remit 50c for a year's subscription. Better still send $1 for a two years' subscription.

EXCHANGES—Send one copy as below and a second to C. E. Severn, 721 Oxford Bldg., Chicago, Ill. We will reciprocate with two copies when desired.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS—In notifying us of any change of address subscribers should be sure to give their old as well as new address.

EARLY RECEIPT OF COPY.

We thank our patrons for their prompt response to our appeal for an earlier receipt of copy. Some few, however, need another word and here it is:—"By all means get your copy into the Boston office Saturday, Saturday, SATURDAY!"

This applies to society secretaries even more than it does to advertisers. Advertising copy we are prepared to accept at the last moment but records of meetings cannot be inserted any week unless in the printer's hands at 9 A. M. Monday and for this purpose the Boston office must have them Saturday.

If we go to press without your matter
you will understand the reason.

EDITORIAL.

Old Revenue Stamp Cuts—Some interest is being manifested in fac-similes of United States private proprietary stamps of the Civil War period and as we have secured some data on the subject of these labels, we shall speak of the curiosities. When the war tax was imposed, not a few of the manufacturers welcomed the provision that allowed them the sole and exclusive use of a distinctive stamp, thereby gaining a means that in some measure prevented the substitution of spurious decoctions of similar name and style of package for their widely advertised remedies.
In 1866, Hostetter & Smith said: "In order to guard against dangerous impositions, the public are requested to take special note of the beautiful engraved proprietary stamp, through which the government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of Hostetter's Bitters. This shield thrown by the government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection, is placed conspicuously across the cork and over the neck of each bottle, and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most casual observer. Nothing that purports to be Hostetter's Bitters can be genuine unless the stamp is there." In his almanac of 1869, J. H. McLean, St.

Louis, pictures his well-known stamp and says: "Here is an exact copy of my private Die, engraved for me by United States authority, from which our government furnishes me exclusively for all my medicines. The design is a representation of my store and laboratory, with my name across the front. The United States stamp no person would dare to counterfeit. If that stamp is not on, don't touch the medicines." A list of the McLean medicines follows telling of the number of stamps that should be on each package. On the last page of the same almanac, the McLean stamp is shown again, with the words: "Once more a copy of my stamp is inserted.
It is printed for me by United States authority. . . . I am particular about the stamp. It is on the outside of the wrapper, because I have been informed that there are a few unprincipled druggists" and so on. We could name other manufacturers who used the facsimile of their stamp in different advertising ways, during the period of the operations of the war tax.

Evading the Law—When the government prohibited the practice of illustrating the private proprietary stamps for their exclusive use, some of the companies used the salient features of the stamp designs, omitting "U. S. Internal Revenue" at all events, as trade marks;
and so, to this day, these trade marks in some cases bear a strong resemblance to the old stamps that were used under the tax. In 1873, J. H. Zeilin & Company, said in reference to a cut in red, which followed the design of the two-cent stamp of the company, except that
"U. S. Internal Revenue" was omitted:
"The stamp at the top is a copy (except the official marks) of our private Revenue Stamp, engraved for us, by United States authority, which the government furnishes us exclusively (and it is a felony against the Government to imitate)."

One Ambition—In view of the conditions that have arisen this year, the publishers of the WEEKLY will not advertise for proxies and neither will the use of our columns be allowed for the soliciting of proxies in behalf of others.
Primarily, the course is adopted in conformity with the expressed wishes of the Board of Directors of the American Philatelic Society but our acquiescence to the suggestion shows that we harbor
no design to "dominate" any legislation.
The one ambition that we cherish is to serve the society as official journal, and on that score we solicit support. The past performances of the WEEKLY in promoting the welfare of the organization are accomplished facts; what has been done may be taken as a guarantee of what will be done in the future. The paper is thriving in a circulation sense and every new reader becomes a "prospect" as a member of the Society. It is reasonable to say that the WEEKLY is rapidly attaining a position where the greatest benefit may be derived from its cooperation by the Society. We ask that each member who sends in a proxy instruct his representative to vote for the WEEKLY as official journal for what it has done and is doing for the prestige of our Society. We have upheld the moved their offices to No. 231 Broadway, Room 2, opposite the General Post Office, where they have opened the largest and most accessible stamp office in Greater New York.

It is within two to five minutes walk of the following:

ton Street Stations.

Sixth Avenue "L" at Park Place.
Ninth Avenue "L" at Barclay Street.

Broadway surface cars at the post office.
The Chambers and Fulton Street crosstown lines at Broadway.
The Broadway, Seventh, Columbus, Lexington and Amsterdam Ave. surface cars pass the door.

American Philatelic Society with performance; and if one good turn deserves another, the WEEKLY is the logical choice for another year.

* * *

Somewhat to the Contrary—An analysis of the votes on the Quarterly at the American Philatelic Society convention as cast by the publishers of the WEEKLY is attempted by Redfield's and the findings are so much at variance with the facts as they existed that refutation must be made. We quote: "Mr. Severn voted at first 4 Yes and 47 No, but changed the vote of 11 Omaha proxies at the request of Dr. Wherry of Omaha, who stated that the Omaha Branch was strongly in favor of the proposition." The majority of the proxies held by Mr.
Severn were given to him direct; the Chicago and Omaha members in good number, were represented by him. The Chicago Branch opposed any publication but advocated the appointing of a committee to consider the publishing plans that might be submitted. The Omaha proxies were sent with a list of instructions by the secretary of the Omaha Branch and in this list was the unrelieved instruction to oppose any publication by the society other than the Year Book. Dr. Wherry of Omaha in consultation with Mr. Severn during the voting was asked by Mr. Severn, if under the circumstances the Omaha instructions were to be regarded as inviolate; he could not answer with assurance. The voting proceeded and in deference to what he conceived was Dr. Wherry's inclination, in view of the developments on the floor,
Mr. Severn voted a number of the Omaha proxies in favor of the Quarterly. Through an excess of caution,
Mr. Severn voted more proxies for the Quarterly than he had need to do, as in the compilation of instructions there was just one vote for the Quarterly.

* * *

Looking Backward—Before the convention last year the publishers of the WEEKLY requested instructions on seven questions and among these questions was one: "Year Book as a quarterly." Those members who gave their proxies to the publishers of the WEEKLY were almost a unit in instructing against the Quarterly; and we say that later, it appeared that the vote reflected the impression of many members that the proposed Quarterly would replace the WEEKLY as official journal. Through a misunderstanding for which no one was responsible this belief prevailed and so, it was natural that the friends of the WEEKLY would instruct against supplanting our paper by another. We shall have something to say in reference to the "pro rata" voting at Columbus in a coming number.

LOUISVILLE CLUB ANNIVERSARY.

Wm. E. Ault favors us with a menu of the "Phirst Philatelic Phreed" of the Louisville Philatelic Club held at Bruen's Cafe on May 27. Mr. Ault submits a specimen of the menu card, which, however, is designated as a "Want List". It is made in the form of a blue print representation of a block of four U. S. stamps, the head of Washington being shown drawn in profile. We feel sure the members of the club were greatly interested in the philatelic menu provided.

THE ACME ALBUM

CHEAPEST MOVABLE LEAF ALBUM EVER OFFERED.

With 80 quadrilled leaves lithographed in grey, grooved hinges and handsome title page. All contained in strong spring back double binders, substantially bound in cloth for permanent use, not merely as a temporary collecting book. Marvellous value.

Price Only $1.60

including postage (by book post) to any part of the world. Postage will if desired be prepaid by means of cut square embossed envelope stamps of various values used as adhesives.

The "Acme" Album is equal in quality and durability to anything sold in America at $3.50. It is of full size, the cover measuring 11 1/2 x 10 inches.

The "Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly" says:—

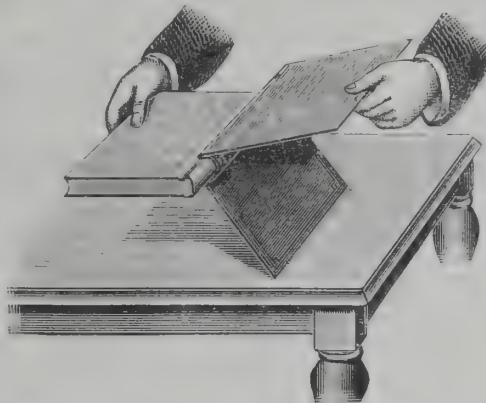

"It justifies all that has been claimed for it in advance. It is difficult to believe that this handsome book at the low price charged can really be a sound business proposition from the point of view of its manufacturers. One would say that the margin of profit must be exceedingly narrow."

Major E. B. Evans, editor of "Gibbons' Stamp Weekly," writes us:—

"The Acme Album is wonderfully cheap."

The late Mr. Nankivell wrote in "The Postage Stamp":—

"It certainly is a positive marvel of cheapness."

THE STANDARD ALBUMS. Either in bound volumes or with linen-hinged movable leaves in spring back binders.

WHITFIELD KING & CO.,

ESTABLISHED 1869.

NOTES FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

BY THEODORE SIDDALL.

The matter of forming a branch of the A. P. S. here is now in the hands of Mr. Anderson, lately admitted to membership, and we hope to be able to present an application for a charter at the next convention.

I have seen stamped envelopes of the current issue of the Philippines on various colored papers not heretofore chronicled, as follows:

- 2 centavos green on manila paper, ungummed.
- 4 centavos red on amber paper.
- 4 centavos red on oriental buff paper.
- 4 centavos red on blue paper.
- 4 centavos red on manila paper, ungummed.

Never having heard of any of these, I inquired at the post office, and was informed that they had never seen any of them either, but they accounted for them by saying they had been informed that an order for 500 of each had been filled for someone in the United States, and that the Philippine postal bureau had received credit for the amount of the stamps, but the envelopes themselves had never been in the islands, and the copies I showed them were the first they had seen. The envelopes were without the customary return notice that is supposed to be required on special request envelopes. Here anyone ordering these envelopes is required to order a full thousand of each variety.

Late printings of the current stamps show very slight differences in shade from the former printings, but hardly enough to warrant their being catalogued, except possibly in the cases of the 6, 8 and 26 centavos.

I found an unsevered pair of 20 centavo special delivery stamps in a lot of stamps I bought recently. They were surcharged "O. B.", the idea of the sender having been, possibly, if one special delivery stamp on a letter insured quicker delivery, still better results might be obtained by the use of two. Not many special delivery stamps are used here.

I have seen the new Siamese 5 atts carmine, surcharged "4" in the lower right corner, and a Siamese word in the lower left corner, over the original numerals. But by the time anything new comes here it has been chronicled in the European papers, so that it is hardly worth while to report novelties from other countries, when they finally reach here.

It might be worth while to remind the philatelic public that it takes about thirty days for a letter to reach here from the Pacific Coast, and longer from inland points and when sending auction catalogue, requests for proxies, etc., requiring answer before a certain date ahead, it would be a good idea to allow for the necessary time of the mails in going and coming. We sometimes get such things before the date set for receipt of reply, but not often.

W. O. STAAB COMMENDS OUR A. P. S. WORK.

Not a week passes that we do not receive messages of encouragement in connection with our A. P. S. work and expressions of satisfaction at the results secured. We quote from a letter from W. O. Staab just at hand:—

"The merits of the proposition as to whether MEKEEL'S WEEKLY should again be chosen Official Journal may best be determined by whether or not you have had the proper amount of concern for the society's welfare. Personally I know it, but the newcomers who are not conversant with all need their attention drawn to facts. Compare the membership figures from the beginning and you will always find the WEEKLY in it. In the past three years the WEEKLY has done what I dare say but few others would attempt to do and I see nothing unselfish from the standpoint of a collector in its attitude upon the several questions for which the paper and its editors have been criticized. Mr. Collector, the criticisms are nothing more or less than the old, old story—any old way to get what you are after."

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—The "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific" stamp has been issued, N. Cobe having shown us a sheet, the stamps being first seen in Boston May 29. The stamps are the same size and shape as the Jamestown stamps, and are printed in sheets of 70 stamps. The portrait of Secretary William H. Seward faces to the left, the circle being formed by the words "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific-1909". The lower part of the circle is cut off by the tablet bearing Secretary Seward's name. There are large figures of value in narrow ovals at each end, surrounded by laurel leaves and conventional ornaments. "U. S. Postage" runs across the top, and "Two Cents" across the bottom, both being in large colorless letters. All the minor inscriptions are in colored letters. Mr. Cobe informs us that the plate numbers thus far seen are 5142, 5143, 5144 and 5145.

The New England Stamp Co. has also shown us this stamp. We have not yet been informed as to how general is to be the sale of this latest exposition stamp. Adhesive.

2c carmine.

Roy W. Bowman sends us several curiosities, including an albino 2c envelope of the current issue, another albino of the same envelope which shows a slight trace of color at the upper left, and a copy of the 2c envelope of 1903, in which the "A" of "Washington" has no cross-bar, and there are several spots of color under the chin and at the back of the neck under the queue. Mr. Bowman also shows us a copy of the 2c adhesive of 1903 which has a large irregularly shaped spot of color at the left covering Washington's eye and part of the nose and extending beyond the edge of the stamp. In height the spot extends from the lower star on the left nearly to the bottom of the left figure "2".

L. C. Sharpe informs us that he has seen the current 2c envelope on amber, with full color on both sides of the paper, and also size 6 of the current 2c envelope on white, on 1903 paper.

J. W. Kent shows us a "3c Permit No. 39, Detroit, Mich.," with a 2c and a 1c stamp placed over it. The 2c stamp has many vertical red lines crossing the stamp from top to bottom. Mr. Kent also submits for inspection a copy of the current 3c stamp, precancelled "Chicago—Illinois", with double impression, one being slightly diagonal. Mr. Kent also calls attention to one of the current 2c envelopes, the paper of which is so soft and porous that the ink of the address has spread badly.

WE ARE BUYING COLLECTIONS Also any good job lots or odds and ends of salable stamp stock. AS TO SELLING—We solicit your WANT LIST. NEWS CIRCULAR FREE! THE E. J. SCHUSTER CO., DEPT. 100, ST. LOUIS, MO.

The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a real rarity, unique in its way, being the 10c green of 1861, part perforate, in a vertical pair. There is also a single part perforate stamp of the same denomination in the lot, all the stamps having wide margins.

The New England Stamp Co. has also shown us another curiosity, the current 3c imperforate showing Washington with a little white tuft on his under lip, in the place it was formerly the custom for sporty gentlemen to wear a little patch of whisker. What with a bibulous nose and now a sporting man's whisker, the printers are doing all they can to bring the late lamented G. W. down to date.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Schachne has the following with new date, but no other change.

Post Cards.

No stamp black on buff, '09.
5pf green on buff, '09.
5x5pf green on buff, '09; T3.
10x10pf carmine on buff, '09; T3.

Letter Card.

10pf carmine on blue.

CANAL ZONE.—Last week we chronicled the new 2c Panama overprinted for use here. We have also been shown specimens of this stamp by Gerald D. Bliss and Emil J. Rall.

Mr. Rall also submits for our inspection a specimen of the current issue 1c Canal Zone with inverted head. He writes concerning this stamp: "Only one sheet is known to have been issued, the same having been sold at the Cristobal, C. Z., postoffice to the General Manager of the Panama Railroad Company; and all of the stamps, with the exception of about fifteen that were secured by Dr. J. C. Perry, had been used on official correspondence on the Isthmus when they were accidentally discovered. The appearance of this stamp would seem to also establish the authenticity of the 1c Panama, inverted head, of which I secured a sheet that had been sold at the Panama postoffice."

Adhesive.

1c green and black, invert.

The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the current 1c stamp in a horizontal pair, imperforate between.

GRENADA.—The 3d stamp has been issued in the new color scheme, according to Ewen's Weekly.

Adhesive.

3d lilac on yellow.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—H. H. Hanychurch informs us that a farthing stamp is to be issued for this Colony about July 1.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. Schachne has the double card like the current single, same as noticed in No. 932 for the 1 1/2 x 1 1/2.

Post Card.

2 1/2 x 2 1/2 green on pale green.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke sends us other values of the new permanent Nicaraguan stamps, two values of which were chronicled in No. 961. Like them, the new values were printed from the American plates, with colors changed.

Adhesives.

2c vermilion.
3c orange red.
20c olive brown.
50c dark green.

MELVILLE'S

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE U. S. 1847-1860

This book should be in the hands of every U. S. collector. It is daintily printed on fine paper, the text being in clear type and the entire work a lasting credit to Mr. Melville.

Not the least of its merits is the illustrations, sections of stamps being shown enabling one to see at a glance points of difference between types and varieties of the old issues. The book makes devious paths straight.

WE GIVE THIS BOOK AWAY

For ONE absolutely new subscription to the WEEKLY. Remit 50c. Book may go to new subscriber or to old sending in the new name.

For TWO YEARS RENEWAL of present subscription. Remit $1.00. Makes no difference when your subscription expires—we will date it ahead.

To any subscriber sending in to the WEEKLY during June an A. P. S. application. This is a June offer only. Remit $1.00 for share of stock and 20c for dues to August with age, occupation and bank or commercial reference. May go to member who sends us application or non-member making out an application. We'll do the proposing.

THE RETURN OF AN OLD ADVERTISER.

"Colonials", whose advertising in the past has been a strong feature in the WEEKLY, has during the past few months taken a little vacation in the way of philatelic advertising. In this number, however, the return of "Colonials" will be noted and a regular advertisement will be found on page 3, column 4. While the mail sent to this party is received through an advertising agency, our readers need have no fears but that their orders will receive prompt attention.

ber of the Society shall be allowed to vote more than 50 proxies." And inserting: All proxies shall be assigned to the Committee on Credentials who alone shall have power to cast any and all proxy votes.

The Board of Vice Presidents shall cause to be printed, in referendum form, upon the official proxy blank, all proposed legislation or other business which may be submitted to the convention, so the signer of the proxy may direct the Committee on Credentials how his vote shall be cast.

The Committee on Credentials shall act in accordance with the instructions as marked upon each proxy.

Where no instructions are given by the proxy signers and in all cases of legislation originating during the convention, the Committee on Credentials shall cast all uninsturcted proxies with the majority of votes of the instructed proxies and attending stockholders.

These amendments shall be effective upon their ratification by the stockholders.

To amend by changing Article III, Section 6, to read: "No Director of this Society, Publisher of the Official Organ or Sales Superintendent of the same Society shall be permitted to act for or vote as proxy for any other stockholder of this Society."

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this practice the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing any, until sufficient funds have been sent by the dealer to return it to him by registered mail. Also please report the name of such dealer to the Secretary of the Society.

The subscriptions to the Priced Specialized Catalog of U. S. Stamps are coming in nicely now. With the proper kind of support from the members there is no reason why this can not be assured. Every member should declare his willingness to support the best thing ever attempted for not only American philately, but philately in America as well. Just drop the Secretary a card with your name, the number of copies desired and the price. He will do the rest.

Let's hear from you, too.

Mr. Dealer, how many do you want?

The official call for the convention is published this week and the time will be here before we know it. Are you going to come? The "Old Regulars" read the call and say to themselves, "Where for a like expenditure of time and money can I put in five days that will give me the lasting and equal benefit that I will derive from this convention? Where can I pick up so many new ideas, gain such genuine inspiration, and withal enjoy such good-fellowship as among the members of the American Philatelic Society?"

Will you attend and join us, or does the sun rise and set in your own home and local society? If so, it is time to enlarge your little world and come in touch with men who are outside of your domestic universe.

Do not grow rusty. Don't be resigned to your fate like the Dutch woman who died because she had to. Make your plans to come out and see what the rest of the world is doing. You will enjoy every minute of it and in years to come will look back upon it as an oasis in life's desert.

H. S. ADAIR, Sec.

A RECRUITING WORD.

We are rapidly approaching the 1700 mark and within three weeks that milestone will be in sight. But are you doing your part? That's the all important question.

In every town and city are collectors just waiting to be asked but they are not mind readers and they have no idea that any A. P. S. is in existence. Get right down to mother earth and dig—applications will follow.

By the way, Mr. Reader, that reminds me that your application is due and when you hang up your membership stocking, lots of good things will surely come your way. To cut this word short, remit $1.00 for membership fee and 20c for dues to Aug. with age, occupation and bank or commercial reference and we will take care of you.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MEMBERS.

The competitive exhibition for June 15 will consist of one stamp from each of twenty-five different countries. Rarity shall count 75% and condition 25%, but no stamp shall count more than three points for rarity and one point for condition.

Members intending to exhibit will please send their names to C. F. Rothfuchs, 379a Warren St., Roxbury, Mass.

This is a contest that every member will be able to enter and there is no reason why this exhibition should not be one of the best that the society has held for years.

Entries should be left with Mr. Lyons at the office of the New England Stamp Co., 12 Bromfield St., not later than 1.30 P. M., on June 15, the day of the exhibit.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1st, 1909.

The following call has been issued for the twenty-fourth Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society:

198 Broadway, NEW YORK, May 12, '09.

To the Stockholders of the A. P. S.:

The twenty-fourth Annual Convention of this Society, for the election of directors and the transaction of such business as may legally be brought before it, will be convened at Atlantic City, State of New Jersey, upon Tuesday, the twenty-fourth day of August, 1909, at 10 A. M., and upon succeeding days, until all business shall have been disposed of.

I hereby appoint the following gentlemen to serve as the Committee on Credentials: H. E. Deats of Flemington, N. J., Chairman; W. C. Stone of Springfield, Mass.; Opha Moore of Columbus, Ohio; Leonard Michael of Chicago, Ill.; L. C. Hassler of Louisville, Ky.

I also appoint the following gentlemen as the Committee of Arrangements: Percival Parrish, chairman; Joseph A.

Steinmetz, Charles Beamish, Percy McG. Mann and E. Hahman, all of Philadelphia, Pa.

The headquarters of the convention will be at the Hotel Rudolf, where the business sessions will also be held.

JOHN N. LUFF, Pres.
H. S. ADAIR, Sec.

NEW YORK, June 1st, 1909.

To the Stockholders of the A. P. S.:

Article III, Section 3 of the By-Laws of the American Philatelic Society provides, in part, as follows: "In case one hundred stockholders so request the President shall call for a general vote of the shareholders upon any desired question." The President has received three requests, each signed by more than one hundred stockholders, to call for a general vote, by mail, of the stockholders of the American Philatelic Society, on certain proposed amendments to the By-Laws as stated below. These amendments are set forth upon the ballots and I call upon you to vote upon them.

JOHN N. LUFF, Pres.
H. S. ADAIR, Sec.To amend Article VII, Section 1, to include: An Editor of the American Philatelist.

To amend Article VII to include new section to be known as Section 6A.

Section 6A. The Editor shall edit all reading and advertising matter, shall invite literary contributions from the membership and pass upon same for publication.

He shall solicit and arrange all advertisements and shall collect all moneys due on subscription and advertising accounts and shall turn same over to the Treasurer, quarterly, to be placed in the General Fund and in general act as business

A FEW FACTS PLAINLY STATED

During the years that we have served the American Philatelic Society as Official Journal we have done our best to promote its prosperity in every possible manner. We have given freely of our space and used every endeavor to increase the working efficiency of the society. The records tell the story—figures sometimes being more eloquent than words. The WEEKLY's first official A. P. S. report will be found in our issue of Sept. 5, 1903. We wish to make some comparisons between then and now:

Membership reported 1903,	560 ;	Membership today,	1642
Treasurer's funds 1903,	$2900 ;	Report at Columbus,	$4200
Attendance 1903,	40 ;	Attendance at Columbus,	80

New Members Secured by the Management of the WEEKLY:

1906-7....13	1907-8....138	1908-9....119
--------------	---------------	---------------

A Grand Total of 265 in Less Than Three Years.

In this connection we should give the number of applications secured by the publisher, editor, business manager and office force of Redfield's Weekly, during the past year. It takes only one figure to express it:

We shall not and do not solicit any proxies, nor shall we allow any proxy advertising in the WEEKLY, but we do most respectfully ask that you instruct your proxy holder to vote for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY if you feel that our work in the past is deserving of that recognition.

THE PUBLISHERS OF MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

ness manager in all matters pertaining to the publication of the American Philatelist, excepting on all official matter originating with the President or Secretary.

The Editor's compensation shall not exceed $50.00 per number in addition to postage and printing expenses.

To amend Article X by substituting the following for the entire Article:

Article X, American Philatelist.Section 1. The American Philatelist shall be published quarterly. The first number shall be issued immediately after the adjournment of the Annual Convention and shall contain a copy of the charter and by-laws as last amended, a full report of the last Annual Convention, the rules of all departments, which may not be included in the general by-laws, a list of all branch societies and affiliated societies, a list of the names and addresses of all officers of the society, and the publishers of the official journal, and also literary matter as may be of philatelic or Association interest.

The second number shall be issued about February 1st, and shall contain a list of all active members, arranged alphabetically, numerically and geographically, together with such papers as may be selected.

The third and fourth numbers shall be issued about May 1st and August 1st, and shall contain such official matter as the President or Secretary or Board of Vice Presidents may deem advisable, together with such papers as may be selected by the Editor.

The American Philatelist shall be edited by the Editor and approved by the President for publication.

Advertising shall be admitted subject to the approval of the Editor at a rate to be determined by the Board of Vice Presidents, but said advertisements shall not exceed the amount of space devoted to reading matter.

One copy shall be mailed free to each member of the Society, ten copies to each Director, if he shall so request, ten copies to the Assistant Librarian, and one copy each to such libraries or other institutions as may be approved by the Board of Directors. Copies to the public, or extra copies for members, will be sold by the Secretary at 25c per copy, and the proceeds turned into the treasury. All copies on hand after one year from date of issue shall be turned over to the Assistant Librarian. The expense of publishing it shall be paid from the General Fund.

The Secretary, immediately after the convention, shall advertise in the Official Journal for bids for the printing of the American Philatelist, and the contract shall be awarded by the Board of Directors, who may at their discretion reject any or all bids.

THE BOARDWALK.

Atlantic City's Boardwalk is unique, and nowhere in the world can you find its duplication. A steel structure with a Georgia pine deck, elevated from five to fifteen feet above the beach, six miles long and twenty to sixty feet in width. On one side is an unobstructed view of the ocean and beach, while the other is lined by hotels, places of amusement and bazaars. It is on this structure that you will find a regular kaleidoscopic moving mass of humanity representing every State in the Union and every civilized nation of the earth. "Babel let loose" as one expressed it. In fact, "Meet me on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City" has become one of the world's by-words.

Five piers, each over 1,000 feet in length, extend from the Boardwalk into the sea, and on them one can find amusement, recreation, fishing or a peaceful rest at all times of the year. Open in summer and heated in winter, the music halls provide the very best high-class music. Sitting on the extreme end of the piers in an easy chair, watching the rolling waves, is the full equivalent of a real sea voyage, but lacking the roll and toss of the vessel and the too oft experienced seasickness.

At night one can imagine himself in fairyland under the myriad thousands of small electric lights overhead and all around, for the Boardwalk, and many buildings are one blaze of light. This illumination alone more than repays one for the trip to this city.

Yachting and fishing are two forms of entertainment and recreation always available. Here one can have a sail on the bays and thoroughfares on smooth water or directly on the ocean, where the roll and toss of the waves are fully experienced. Atlantic City is not a port of entry and does not afford the presence of an idle, undesirable, illiterate class of rough, seafaring men. The whole city and Boardwalk are so carefully policed at all times of the day and night that ladies can come and go without escort or fear of molestation.

The Country Club, located at Northfield, seven miles away, affords every opportunity for golf and other outdoor sports at all seasons and can be reached by trolley at any hour. So varied are the many sources of amusement, exercise and recreation that "dull care" never finds opportunity. Stormy and rainy days? Yes, we have a few, but a trip to Atlantic City is not complete without an opportunity to see the "demons of the deep" spray and waves into a fury not soon to be forgotten. Not dangerous when viewed from a hotel window or the Boardwalk, but often disastrous to the poor mariner at sea in a frail craft.

The sewage plant of Atlantic City works on the gravity system. The sixty miles of sewer pipes flow into a common station, whence the sewage is pumped through large pipes into Beach Thoroughfare, several miles back of the city, where billions of gallons of sea water ebb and flow twice daily. So complete is the dilution of the sewage by the time it reaches the ocean in front of the city that it can not be detected by the most delicate tests. Atlantic City is the only seashore resort on the Atlantic Coast that does not discharge its sewage into the ocean directly in front of the city. The plant's average pumping capacity for 1906 exceeded 8,000,000 gallons daily.

WATER SUPPLY.

No purer water supply is given to any city than the mixed artesian and cedar water of Atlantic City. There are fifteen active artesian wells that supply 4,000,000 gallons of the purest, cleanest, sparkling water obtainable at any place. With new appliances being installed, it will be possible to increase the output of these wells sufficiently to supply the entire demand of Atlantic City for water from October to June. The present daily consumption during the months of October to June is 6,500,000 gallons. In August, 1906, it required 10,200,000 gallons daily to supply the city. The additional water comes from a protected cedar-grown watershed entirely free from possible contamination. The last monthly examination of the water supply made by Dr. Henry Leffman and Dr. David H. Bergey, of Philadelphia, showed a strictly safe and potable water, nearly chemically pure, with no suspicious bacteria of any kind. Many of the largest hotels supply their own water of purest quality from artesian wells driven to a stratum 800 to 900 feet deep. There are no fresh-water streams or ponds within six miles of Atlantic City, hence a scarcity of mosquitoes and a positive absence of malarial influences.

CLIMATE.

The climate of Atlantic City is so pleasant, balmy and sunshiny on the average that thousands no longer seek health in the South, but spend their time here. This is more and more recognized each year by physicians, who send their convalescents by the thousands at all times of year. The Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, located in Atlantic City, reports, during thirty-three years, an average of 61 per cent. of sunshine; 123 clear days; 137 partly cloudy days, and 105 cloudy days. The normal temperature in January is 32; February, 33; March, 39; April, 48; May, 58; June 67; July, 72; August, 73; September, 68; October, 57; November, 46; December, 36; annual average 52. These temperature ranges apply to the weather bureau station, but not to the Boardwalk. Here the average winter temperature is from two to ten degrees higher, while the summer temperature is two to ten degrees cooler. This is due to the protected southerly exposure, the warmer water radiations in winter and the cooler in summer. Invalids take advantage of these facts and are able to spend at least 65 to 70 per cent. of their time on the Boardwalk. From October to March the prevailing wind is northwest; from April to September it is southwest.
